Item VI. Recommendations

- C. Action on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School on appeal of non-renewed Petition by the Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education.

The Interim Superintendent recommends that the Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) adopt the revised June 7, 2011 Findings of Fact and the May 10th Report in Support of Denial (Attachments 1 and 2), and take action to deny the charter petition for Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School, received on appeal following denial by the Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education.

California Education Code Section 47605(b) requires that the County Board evaluate the petition according to the criteria and procedures established in law and may only deny a petition if it provides written findings addressing the reasons for the denial. Denial of a petition is limited to the following reasons, as stipulated by Education Code:

- (1) The charter school presents an unsound educational program
- (2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program.
- (3) The petition does not contain the required number of signatures
- (4) The petition does not contain an affirmation of specified assurances
- (5) The petition does not contain reasonably comprehensive descriptions of the 16 required elements of a charter

A summary of the Finding of Fact supporting the denial of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School petition is as follows:

Finding 1: Under EC section 47605(b)(1), the charter school presents an unsound educational program

The educational program is unsound for specific subgroups of students as described under required Element 1: Description of the Educational Program; Element 2: Measurable Student Outcomes; and Element 3:

Means for Measuring Pupil Progress. These three elements would require material revisions to make them reasonably comprehensive which is outside the scope of the appeal process.

Finding 2: Under EC section 47605(b)(2), the petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program

The WAYS governing board was and continues to be unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law with respect to Conflict of Interest and lacks the capacity to effectively govern the school.

The petitioner and the WAYS governing board lack the necessary background in curriculum, instruction, assessment, finance, and business management to effectively govern the school and have no plan to obtain the services of individuals who have the knowledge.

Based on a review of the petition, documents provided by the petitioner and the denying district, and information provided during the Capacity Interview, the Review Team considers the WAYS governing board to be ineffective in governing the school and demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the renewal petition.

Actions proposed in the board's Corrective Action Plan (CAP) have not been taken. Documents submitted to the Charter School Office on May 27, 2011, provide additional evidence of the board's inability to govern the school effectively.

- The board did not permanently replace the executive director. The board action to release and the letter sent to her by the WAYS board state the release is not permanent. The board resolution states, "Once the Corrective Action Plan is in place and the action items are completed, we can reinstate the Executive Director." The "new executive director" is an interim, hired through June 2011.
- The WAYS governing board has not cured the Conflict of Interest resulting from the executive director's self-dealing transaction. WAYS did not fulfill the requirements necessary to secure the Prop 39 sites. LAUSD reported that WAYS did not return the signed Facility Use Agreement (sent March 2011), which binds WAYS to use of the facility and it was non-responsive to the district's request to submit their shared use schedules by the May 31, 2011 due date. The school's failure to comply with the above stated requirements releases LAUSD from its obligation to provide the Prop 39 facilities. WAYS has not provided evidence it has secured alternate facilities that can accommodate the enrollment stated in the petition.

The WAYS governing board has not acted in the best interest of the school. By failing to execute the Prop 39 contract, the board failed to provide a more cost-effective facilities option than leasing from the executive director. Additionally, "buying out" the executive director's contract, in violation of the school's charter, and not requiring her to pay back her profits in the matter of the self-dealing transaction to make the corporation whole as required by the Corporations Code, demonstrates lack of understanding of the gravity of the executive director's action in her "transfer of property" as an intent to deceive.

It appears the maneuverings of the WAYS board are a disingenuous attempt to make it appear that the board is working to resolve the Conflict of Interest; however, the board failed to take the steps that could permanently resolve conflicts, prevent future conflicts, and protect the school.

Finding 3: Under EC section 47605(b)(5), the petition does not contain a reasonably comprehensive description of all required elements

The renewal petition, as it was submitted to the local district, is insufficient to act as the primary contract and accountability document under which the charter would be required to operate should the appeal be upheld.

Eleven (11) of the sixteen (16) required elements are not reasonably comprehensive including, but not limited to: Description of the Educational Program; Measurable Student Outcomes; Means for Measuring Pupil Progress; Governance; Employee Qualifications; Admission Requirements; Annual Independent Financial Audits; Suspension and Expulsion Procedures; and Dispute Resolution.

Due to petition insufficiencies in these required elements, WAYS would not be accountable for specific requirements of law regarding the proposed educational program, fiscal reporting, admissions criteria, and the due process rights afforded to students with regard to suspension and expulsion.

The governance structure described in the petition was the same structure under which the governing board allowed the executive director to engage in self-dealing transactions during the school's first authorized term. The governance structure described in the petition does not prevent conflicts of interest in the future. All changes made to bring the governance structure into compliance with law were made subsequent to the renewal petition and exist in documents that are not part of the petition. As a result, the governing board could make changes to these documents without the knowledge and or approval of the County Board, which could allow the school to circumvent conflict of interest safeguards.

Furthermore, the dispute resolution process outlined in the charter favors the school over the authorizer; exposing the County Board to financial and legal risk should a dispute arise.

Material changes to the renewal petition would be required to make these elements reasonably comprehensive and bring the petition into compliance with EC Section 47607(a)(2) which states, the petition "... shall include, but not be limited to, a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed."

Such material revisions are outside the scope of the appeal process.

Charter School Office
Date: May 17, 2011 Revised June 7, 2011

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Petition, Grades K-5
Appeal of a Petition for Charter Renewal Denied by Los Angeles Unified School District
Board of Education

Findings of Fact in Support of Denial

Charter renewal is governed by EC sections 47605 and 47607 as follow:

Section 47605(b) limits the reasons for denying a renewal petition to the following:

- (1) The charter school presents an unsound educational program
- (2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program
- (3) The petition does not contain an affirmation of specified assurances
- (4) The petition does not contain reasonably comprehensive descriptions of 16 required elements of a charter

The County Board shall evaluate the petition according to the criteria and procedures established in law and may only deny the petition if it provides written findings addressing the reasons for the denial.

Section 47607(a)(2) states: Renewals... of charters... of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in § 47605, and shall include, but not be limited to, a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed.

Section 47607(b) states: Commencing on January 1, 2005, or after a charter school has been in operation for four years, whichever date occurs later, a charter school shall meet at least one of [5 academic performance] ... criteria prior to receiving a charter renewal....

Section 47605(b) states: A school district governing board shall grant a charter for the operation of a school under this part if it is satisfied that granting the charter is consistent with sound educational practice.

The Findings of Fact in support of denial are as follows:

Finding 1: Under EC Section 47605(b)(1), the charter school presents an unsound educational program

1. The educational program is determined to be unsound for specific subgroups of students as described under required Element 1: Description of the Educational Program; Element 2: Measurable Student Outcomes; and Element 3: Means for Measuring Pupil Progress. These three elements would require material revisions to make them reasonably comprehensive which is outside the scope of the appeal process.

REPORT OF THE WISDOM ACADEMY FOR YOUNG SCIENTISTS CHARTER

2. The school has an unstable enrollment and fails to provide a program of educational benefit for all students the petition states it intends to serve. Based on its failure to increase or sustain its percentage of Valid CST scores, the school continues to be classified as a "small school." Valid scores are based on the number of students tested who were continuously enrolled from Census (CBEDS) in early October through the first day of testing. For 2009-10, only 71% of tested students were continuously enrolled. At South Park Elementary, the nearest public non-charter school, 88% of tested students were continuously enrolled. On average, 26% of students who enroll at WAYS withdraw prior to standardized testing based on the "Elementary Principal's Statistical Report" for 2007-08 through 2010-11. The rate of students leaving the school indicates it fails to provide a program of educational benefit to all students it proposes to serve.
3. The school fails to provide a program of educational benefit for specific subgroups of students. Based on enrollment data through 2009-10 (the year prior to renewal consideration) the school failed to provide a program of educational benefit for Hispanic/Latino students, English learners, and students with disabilities based on low enrollment of these students as compared to the LAUSD local district and nearby public non-charter schools.

Finding 2: Under EC Section 47605(b)(2), the petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program

Based on review of the petition, additional documents provided by the petitioner, documents provided by the denying district, and the Capacity Interview with the school's leadership team, the petition does not meet the criteria established in CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(c).

1. The WAYS governing board was and continues to be unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law with respect to Conflict of Interest and lacks the capacity to effectively govern the school.
 - A. The submitted charter states the school will comply with Government Code 1090; however, some members of the board had prior relationships with the school and/or the Executive Director and members of her family. The May 10, 2011 Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Response to Report Findings (WAYS Response) and the undated Board of Directors Corrective Action Plan Re: Conflict of Interest (CAP) submitted to the County Board on May 10, 2011, state that the conflicts reported to the County Board were based on misleading information provided by board members or have been corrected. Nonetheless, the fact that misleading information was provided and conflicts existed indicate the governing board lacks the capacity to prevent these concerns.
 - B. The governing board failed to comply with the terms of the charter by allowing the school to enter into a self-dealing transaction with its Executive Director regarding the school's facilities. There is no evidence that the governing board considered other sites or conducted an independent assessment of lease rates prior to entering into the agreement with the Executive Director.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- C. The governing board allowed other conflicts of interest to exist through the hiring of members of the Executive Director's family and by permitting the Executive Director to supervise these family members. Additionally, the Executive Director's son, originally hired to oversee custodial and gardening services was promoted to Director of Operations, which according to the Executive Director, involves financial responsibilities. The Executive Director stated that her daughter, who is employed as a teacher and dance instructor, owns the dance studio facility used by the school.
- D. The governing board demonstrated its inability to effectively govern the school by its failure to respond fully and in a timely fashion to the September 29, 2010 Notice to Cure from its sponsoring district regarding Conflicts of Interest. The LACOE Review Team reviewed documents received from both the district and the charter school. The documents indicate WAYS failed to provide a sufficient cure. WAYS governing board had eight (8) months (September 2010 to April 2011) to remedy the concerns in the Notice to Cure, and failed to do so.
- E. In the school's response to the Findings of Fact upon which the LAUSD Board of Education denied charter renewal, WAYS submitted documents pertaining to the governance structure of the school in an effort to demonstrate that the school had taken steps to address Conflict of Interest concerns. The LACOE Review Team considered the documents to determine whether they would substantially resolve the conflicts and determined the documents were inadequate to resolve the Conflict of Interest concerns based on the facts presented below:
- i. The board failed to take definitive action to end the conflict. The action taken by the Executive Director after the petition was submitted to LAUSD failed to resolve the conflict regarding her ownership of the property. Documents submitted by WAYS indicate the properties were placed into a revocable trust, which WAYS' attorney stated failed to resolve the conflict in that "the transfer to a holding company through a revocable trust, [was] not transferring the property ownership under California law." (page 3 of the March 25, 2011 Response to LAUSD Findings of Fact) WAYS' governing board allowed the conflict to continue by executing a lease agreement with the holding company and failed to consider the conflict posed by the fact that a relative of the Executive Director signed as the "landlord" on the lease agreement.
 - a. New documents (The WAYS Response to Findings and CAP) submitted to the County Board on May 10, 2011, indicate the action taken by the Executive Director to transfer her property was done improperly, and resulted in a void transaction. The WAYS governing board contends it was unaware of this impropriety at the time they signed the lease with the holding company. The actions of the WAYS board further demonstrate it lacks sufficient knowledge to exercise its fiduciary responsibility and legal due diligence in overseeing the actions of its Executive Director and executing a lease, providing further evidence that it lacks the ability to effectively govern the school.
 - ii. Changes to the governance structure proposed after the petition was submitted to LAUSD continue to be inadequate. The Organizational Chart indicates three (3) positions report directly to the board due to the Conflict of Interest posed by the familial relationships: the Executive Director, Principal, and Director of Operations. This structure places an undue burden on the board to manage the day-to-day operations of the school. There is no evidence the WAYS governing board has the capacity to govern effectively under this structure.
 - iii. The governing board failed to demonstrate the ability to avoid future Conflict of Interests. When asked at the Capacity Interview about potential conflicts arising from the employment of multiple family members, the chain of command, and continued use of the facilities owned by the Executive Director, the board members did not explain how they would prevent future Conflicts of Interest or how they would handle them if they arose. The board did say that additional changes to the governance structure were being considered. Such changes would constitute a material revision to the charter as submitted to and considered by the LAUSD Board of Education, which is outside the scope of the appeal process.

New documents submitted to the Charter School Office on May 27, 2011, indicate the board has not taken steps to permanently end the Conflict of Interest:

- a. The board's release of Ms. Okonkwo is temporary. The board resolution and letter sent to Ms. Okonkwo indicate her release is not permanent. The board resolution states, "Once the Corrective Action Plan is in place and the action items are completed, we can reinstate the Executive Director." The "new executive director" presented to the County Board May 17, 2010, is an interim, hired through June 2011.
 - b. The WAYS governing board has not cured the Conflict of Interest resulting from the executive director's self-dealing lease transaction. WAYS did not fulfill the requirements necessary to secure the Prop 39 sites. LAUSD reported that WAYS did not return the signed Facility Use Agreement (sent March 2011), binding WAYS to use of the facility, or return its shared use needs by the May 31, 2011 due date. The school's failure to comply with the requirements identified above means LAUSD is no longer bound to provide the Prop 39 facilities, and WAYS has not provided evidence it has secured other facilities.
- iv. The renewal petition submitted by WAYS fails to comply with EC § 47607(a)(2) which requires that Renewals...of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in 47605, and shall include...a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed... The petition contains references to outdated laws in Elements 2: Measurable Student Outcomes; Element 4: Governance; and Element 8: Admission Procedures. These deficiencies indicate the petitioner and governing board lack knowledge of the laws under which the charter would operate. Changes to these elements would constitute material revisions to the charter as submitted to and considered by the LAUSD Board of Education, which is outside the scope of the appeal process.
- F. The WAYS governing board failed to take action to cure the Conflict of Interest since the petition was submitted to the County Board on appeal.
- i. The WAYS governing board provided no evidence of an action (e.g. board meeting minutes) to terminate the employment of the Executive Director and continues to demonstrate a lack of fiduciary responsibility to the charter school.
 - a. An email sent from the school's attorney to the County Board on May 10, 2010, states, "I wanted to let you know that the WAYS Board has released Kendra Okonkwo, the Executive Director. As such, the conflict no longer exists."
- To the contrary, CAP (page 5) states the Executive Director's contract will be paid out through June 30, 2011, in contradiction to the petition (page 125) which states employees are hired "at will" which does not require a "buy out" calling into question the board's duty of loyalty to the school and its understanding of Element 5 of the charter.
- b. The WAYS Response to Findings and CAP contains no evidence that WAYS board took the action to release the Executive Director; rather the CAP is a proposed plan of action. The WAYS Response to Findings states:

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

When you review the corrective action plan, you will find the dismissal of the Executive Director as the board's number one option [emphasis added]... (page 9)

- c. Additionally the CAP fails to ensure that there will be no future employment, contract services awarded, or other compensation, including payment for rent, provided to the current Executive Director.
- d. The CAP fails to demonstrate the governing board's understanding the seriousness of the action of the Executive Director in her "transfer of property" as an intent to deceive. The CAP proposes to "buy out" the contract of the Executive Director rather than act in the fiduciary interest of the school as stipulated in the Corporations Code.

The interested officer must disgorge his or her profits in the matter to make the corporation whole by one of the following means:

- Account for any profits made in the transaction and pay them to the corporation, or
 - Reimburse the corporation for the value of any corporate property used in the transaction; or
 - Return or replace corporate property lost in the transaction or to account to the corporation for the proceeds of any property sold and to pay those proceeds, plus interest, to the corporation.
- ii. Acceptance of Prop 39 sites does not guarantee the end of the Conflict of Interest. WAYS governing board has provided no evidence that the Prop 39 sites offered by LAUSD will be used to house the school to the exclusion of the sites owned by the Executive Director.
2. The petitioner and the WAYS governing board lack the necessary background in curriculum, instruction, assessment, and finance and business management to effectively govern the school and have no plan to obtain the services of individuals who have the knowledge.
 - A. The submitted renewal petition does not comply with current legal requirements of charter schools; contains outdated school policies, practices and significant contradictions and omissions regarding key positions of employment. The key elements outlining the instructional program (Elements 1 – 3) are not reasonably comprehensive and do not constitute a sound educational program. In all, eleven (11) required elements are not reasonably comprehensive. Changes to the petition to make the elements reasonably comprehensive would constitute material revisions to the charter as submitted to and considered by the LAUSD Board of Education, which is outside the scope of the appeal process.
 - B. The proposed Governance Structure (Element 4) is insufficient to provide effective school governance as indicated by the chronology of events that transpired between September 2010 and May 2011. Changes to the petition that would make the governance structure reasonably comprehensive would constitute a material revision to the charter as submitted to and considered by the LAUSD Board of Education, which is outside the scope of the appeal process.
 - C. The WAYS Response to Findings, prepared by the school principal, provides further evidence that the school lacks the necessary leadership in assessment to provide a sound educational program. The response indicates a lack of understanding of how API scores are derived and the terminology of assessment and assessment reporting:

On November 2, 2010, WYAS staff attended a professional development workshop hosted by the Los Angeles County Office of Education entitled, "Understanding Federal and State Accountability Systems." During this workshop we were made aware of the different criteria for determining our API as well as criteria for determining AYP. According to our reports received from LACOE at this workshop WAYS CST scores are valid and the growth of the CST is noteworthy... There was no indication in the reports generated by LACOE specifically for WAYS of our CST scores being invalid due to our enrollment and attendance data.

LACOE's Findings of Fact did not state that the CST scores were "invalid" but rather that the CDE calculates API based on "Valid" Scores, which are scores of students who are continuously enrolled from Census day through the first day of testing:

- D. The WAYS Response to Findings also indicates the school lacks leadership in instruction and business management. The principal's statement that the Principal's Statistical Report measures Average Daily Attendance (ADA) not enrollment is incorrect; the report provides data on both. The Report shows the number of students who enter and leave the program each reporting month by grade level clusters in addition to calculating ADA.
3. The petitioner has a history of involvement in education agencies (public or private) considered as unsuccessful.
- A. The Executive Director is listed as the petitioner. Properties she owns and leases to WAYS were previously used to house her private school. CDE records compiled from data supplied by the private school operator through completion of the Private School Affidavit indicate that enrollment declined from 60 to 20 students in the three years prior to the school closing. (Source: <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ds/si/ps/>).
 - B. The WAYS Executive Director closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school. The chronology of public records and statements made by the Executive Director during the Capacity Interview indicate she closed the private school due to insufficient enrollment. The petitioner stated she inquired about the process of becoming a charter school and was informed that the private school would need to be closed for one year prior to becoming a charter. The petitioner purposely closed the private school as required and applied for a charter after the one year required waiting period. Under EC 47605(j)(1), the review of a petition received on appeal is conducted under 47605, as if the review were being conducted for the first time. Because LAUSD did not have findings on this issue does not preclude the County Board from making this finding.

The Review Team considers the WAYS governing board to be ineffective in governing the school and demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the proposed petition for charter renewal.

Finding 3: Under EC Section 47605(b)(5), the petition does not contain a reasonably comprehensive description of all required elements

The following elements would require material changes to the petition to make them reasonably comprehensive. Such changes would constitute a material revision to the charter as submitted to and considered by the LAUSD Board of Education, which is outside the scope of the appeal process.

Element 1: Description of the Educational Program. Not reasonably comprehensive

The 5 CCR § 11967.5.1(f)(1) requires the petition to address eight (8) requirements. The petition fails to meet each of the established criteria rendering aspects of the educational program deficient for specific populations the school proposes to serve: English Learners, low-achieving students, high-achieving students, and students with disabilities. The deficiencies are as follows:

1. Failure to indicate the proposed charter school's target student population, including, at a minimum, grade levels, approximate numbers of pupils, and specific educational interests, backgrounds, or challenges.
 - A. The petition overestimates the number of students to be served in the first year of the renewal charter and provides no build-out plan to support this assumption.
 - i. There is no build-out plan to support the proposed enrollment. The petition states (page 31) 520 students will be served in the first year of operation. At the Capacity Interview, the leadership team indicated that number is attainable only if a new site is obtained with increased capacity. The petition lacks an expansion plan except to state "...scheduled expansion to 25 [classrooms]." No plan was provided during the Capacity Interview.
 - ii. WAYS has never increased enrollment by 250 students in a single year. In 2009-10, the school enrolled 237 students, 46% of which were in grades K-1; in 2008-09, the school enrolled 177 students, of which 43% were in K-1; and in 2007-08, the school enrolled 146 students, of which 60% were in K-1. Historically, the school has seen reduced enrollment in its upper grades, although that trend was not as pronounced in 2009-10, the most recent year for which CDE data is available. At the Capacity Interview, the school stated it currently enrolls about 250 students.
 - B. WAYS failed to meet its goal of serving a target population "similar to that of the surrounding community" defined as 50% Hispanic/Latino and 50% African American (page 34). In 2009-10, 61% of the students were Black or African American and 38% were Hispanic or Latino as compared to LAUSD Local District 7 which was comprised of 18.6% Black or African American students and 80.4% of Hispanic or Latino Students. Additionally, the goal listed in the petition does not reflect the intent of the legislature that the school should reflect the general population of the district in which the school is located.
 - C. The petition lacks specific information regarding its target population for students with disabilities and English learners. It states (page 33) the student population at the nearest non-charter public school is 63% English learners while the CDE reports 7% of WAYS students are English learners. The CDE reports 4% of WAYS students are identified as having disabilities which is half the rate of the two (2) closest non-charter public elementary schools.
2. The inadequate description of the population to be served, and the actual enrollment at the school, results in an inability to compare WAYS to neighborhood or Similar Schools to determine whether it is providing a better educational opportunity for students who are enrolled at the school.
 - A. WAYS small school status results in a less reliable API score and prevents comparison to schools with similar demographics. The CDE does not provide a Similar Schools Rank for small schools. This results in an inability to compare the API of WAYS to other schools with similar demographics locally or state-wide.
 - B. The petition's failure to adequately define the population to be served, and failure to enroll a proportionate number of demographically similar students to those enrolled in neighborhood schools, results in an inability to compare WAYS to those schools to determine whether WAYS is improving educational opportunities for all student groups the petition states it will serve. WAYS enrolls fewer students with disabilities, fewer Latino/Hispanic Students, fewer English learners, and conversely more students whose parents have high levels of education than surrounding elementary schools.

3. Lacks a framework for instructional design that is aligned with the needs of the pupils that the charter school has identified as its target student population.
 - A. The petition lacks detail regarding the grade levels and outcomes for each grade level and there is no framework for curriculum and/or instructional approach for English learners outlining how this population of students will be provided access to core curriculum.
 - B. While the petition states the school will provide more instructional minutes than required by the state, WAYS has been reducing the number of minutes it provided based on its Independent Audit Reports. The year ended June 30, 2009, shows 72,900 actual minutes and the year ended June 30, 2010, shows 70,200 minutes. The petition proposes 53,500 minutes for year 2011-2012; it does not explain the reason for the reductions or how the school intends to maintain its academic performance as instructional minutes are reduced.
4. Fails to indicate how the charter school will identify and respond to the needs of pupils who are not achieving at or above expected levels. The goals (page 47) for low achieving students are not clear and there is no indication of what advanced academic challenges will be provided for gifted and talented students (page 48).
5. Indicates how the charter school will meet the needs of students with disabilities, English learners, students achieving substantially above or below grade level expectations, and other special student populations.
 - A. The element is deficient with respect to English learners because it fails to:
 - i. Describe adequate basic and supplemental resources to provide English learners equitable access to the core curriculum.
 - ii. Provide the manner in which intervention will be given to students who struggle to acquire English language skills outside of the "45 minutes during the school day for focused English language development. This instruction will emphasize vocabulary development, phonemic awareness, and oral and writing English." (page 48)
 - iii. Describe how the Individualized Education Program (IEP) Team determines placement of English learners in need of special education services, state that non-biased assessments used to determine placement must be conducted in the student's primary language under Federal law, and that the IEP must be linguistically appropriate.
 - iv. Demonstrate understanding of the difference between meeting the needs of English learners and meeting the needs of students with disabilities. The petition (page 22) indicates that to ensure the success of English learners, the school will use a collaborative approach that fosters communication between its Resource Specialist and Speech Therapist. These specialists only provide direct services to students identified as having disabilities.
 - B. The element is deficient with regard to students with disabilities because it fails to specify the charter school's special education plan, including the process to be used to identify students who qualify for special education programs and services, how the school will provide or access special education programs and services, the school's understanding of its responsibilities under law for special education pupils, and how the school intends to meet those responsibilities.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- i. It does not describe accommodations and/or modifications that may be used during standardized assessments or how WAYS is responsible for students with disabilities when the IEP Team exempts them from standardized testing.
- ii. There is no mention of how parents of students with disabilities are informed about the school's educational program.
- iii. There are deficiencies with regard to English learners and special education services as stated in "A," above.

Element 2: Measurable Pupil Outcomes. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(2) as follows:

1. It fails to specify skills, knowledge, and attitudes that reflect the school's educational objectives and can be assessed by objective means that are frequent and sufficiently detailed enough to determine whether pupils are making satisfactory progress.
 - A. There are no identified measurable outcomes for students in Kindergarten and first grade who do not participate in Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR).
 - B. There is no ongoing means for measuring English learners' acquisition of English or academic growth in content areas. The petition states the (California English Language Development Test (CELDT) will be administered "periodically" to monitor student progress of English language acquisition; however, it can only be administered annually which is insufficient to evaluate the effectiveness of and to modify instruction. The petition indicates Open Court Reading assessments will be used as formative assessments for English learners; however, they are not designed to measure progress towards English language proficiency but rather language arts skills and concepts. It fails to provide assessments to determine academic growth in other content areas.
 - C. Goals cannot be measured as stated. The petition states the percentage of students achieving proficient and advanced in History/Social Science will increase on the CST by 5% each year; there is no History/Social Science CST for grades K-5.
 - D. It lacks information on how students with disabilities will be assessed on making progress toward meeting their goals and benchmarks.

Element 3: Method for Measuring Pupil Progress. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(3) as follows:

1. It does not utilize a variety of assessment tools that are appropriate to the skills, knowledge, or attitudes being assessed, including, at minimum, tools that employ objective means of assessment consistent with the measurable pupil outcomes.
 - A. Information is limited on how stated internal assessments (text based, benchmark performance, unit level, etc.) are used as objective means to assess student progress consistent with measurable outcomes (page 98). Language is vague and fails to indicate how assessments are used in English-Language Arts, math, science, social studies, and English Language Development.
 - B. There is no information regarding assessment of K-1 students who do not participate in STAR. This is of particular concern since about half the school's enrollment is in grades K-1.

- C. Out of date assessments are proposed in violation of EC § 47606(a)(2). The petition states the school will administer the CAT 6, which is obsolete, and proposes performance objectives based on data from this assessment.
2. It does not outline a plan for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data on achievement of English learners to school staff and to pupils' parents and guardians; and for utilizing the data continuously to monitor and improve the charter school's educational program. There is no mention of English learner's testing performance or academic monitoring of English language levels beyond use of the CELDT. Nor is there mention of providing accommodations and/or modifications for standardized tests for students with disabilities; tests used to determine eligibility for special education programs and services; the manner and type of data maintained for students with disabilities; or how information will be disseminated to parents of students with disabilities.

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(4) as follows:

1. There is lack of evidence of the charter school's incorporation as a non-profit public benefit corporation for the purpose of running a charter school. While the articles of incorporation and bylaws provide evidence of the charter school's non-profit public benefit corporation status, governing a charter school is not listed as the specific purpose of this corporation. The petitioners have failed to amend these documents to reflect the running of a public charter school. As stated above in Finding 3, 3.B, the WAYS Executive Director purposely closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school.
2. There is a lack of evidence that the organizational and technical designs of the governance structure reflect a seriousness of purpose necessary to ensure that:
 - A. The charter school will become and remain a viable enterprise. The governance structure fails to provide adequate oversight of the school's operation and fiscal management. Failure of the articles of incorporation and bylaws to state the purpose of the corporation is to provide for the operation of a publicly funded charter school is further evidence that the structure lacks a seriousness of purpose. The bylaws states the board has only one regularly scheduled meeting, which is insufficient to provide for effective governing of a public charter school. The governing board's lack of effective oversight has jeopardized the school's charter status and there is no evidence that the board can implement the proposed educational program stated in the petition.
 - B. The petition does not provide a clear description of the governance and management structure. It is difficult to know the duties and responsibilities of management. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) conflicts with information provided elsewhere in the petition. The Organizational Chart does not include the position of Executive Director.
 - C. The petition makes no commitment to complying with the Political Reform Act (PRA), which is required of all charter schools. The petition fails to include a Conflict of Interest policy which is required under the PRA.
 - D. The body of the petition states that meetings will comply with the Brown Act (page 109). However, certain provisions of the bylaws appear to be in direct conflict with the Brown Act.
 - i. Section 4.6, Place of Meetings allows for meetings outside California. The Brown Act requires that the Board's meetings be held within the boundaries of the territory within which it has jurisdiction.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- ii. Section 4.7, Regular Meetings authorizes meetings “without call or notice” in violation of the Brown Act. The Brown Act requires that at least 72 hours before a regular meeting an agenda containing a brief general description of each item of business to be transacted or discussed at the meeting shall be posted.
- iii. Section 4.11, Telephone Meetings, authorizes teleconferencing and video teleconferencing to constitute presence but fails to state the necessary safeguards that would render it compliant with the Brown Act such as posting agendas at the teleconferencing location and ensuring those locations are fully accessible to members of the public.
- iv. Section 4.14, Action without Meeting, permits the Board to take an action without a meeting if all the members of the Board consent in writing to such action. This violates the Brown Act requirement that the board not take action on any item of business outside a meeting.
- v. Section 4.7, the Board of the Merle Williamson Foundation is required to meet only once per year, on the last Friday in June; the Brown Act requires regularly scheduled meetings.
- vi. The Agenda for the Special Board Meeting held Saturday, April 30, 2011, documents specific violations of the Brown Act with respect to items discussed in Closed Session.

Element 5: Employee Qualifications. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(5) as follows:

1. There is insufficient information on the general qualifications for the various categories of employees (e.g., administrative, instructional, instructional support, non-instructional support) and whether the qualifications are sufficient to ensure the health, and safety of the school’s faculty, staff, and pupils.
2. It fails to identify those positions that the charter school regards as key in each category and specify the additional qualifications expected of individuals assigned to those positions.
 - A. The petition fails to provide job descriptions and/or minimum qualifications for the following positions listed in the petition: Special Education Program Coordinator (page 96), Academic Co-Principals (page 112), Coordinator of Operations (page 128), and Academic Consultants and Director of Operations (Appendix B). Qualifications for Executive Director are absent.
 - B. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) is deficient. It fails to include an Executive Director, although there is a job description (page 120) outlining critical duties such as “oversee the school-operating budget...instructional program...classroom management...supervise staff...be an active member of the school board.” Based on the job description, it is unclear if the Executive Director is a member of the board. Appendix B lists board members by name; the Executive Director’s name is absent. The Organizational Chart includes a “Director of Operations,” with no job description or qualifications provided for that position. It is unclear if it is the same as “Coordinator of Operations.” The Organizational Chart identifies “Auxiliary Staff,” but lacks specific corresponding positions.
3. Specify that all requirements for employment set forth in applicable provisions of law will be met, including, but not limited to credentials as necessary. Teacher qualifications (page 122) state the CA SB 2042 teaching credential is required; this will exclude teachers who hold Ryan multiple subject credentials and life elementary credentials with added English language certification.

Element 7: Means to Achieve a Reflective Racial and Ethnic Balance. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(7) based on evidence that:

1. During the term of its first charter, WAYS failed to achieve a racial and ethnic balance among its pupils that is reflective of the general population residing within the territorial jurisdiction of the school district in which it is located as indicated on in the chart on page two (2) of this report. Enrollment of Hispanic/Latino students is not comparable to the two (2) closest LAUSD non-charter elementary schools.
2. The description of the student population (required under Element 1) and the proposed recruitment plan show no indication WAYS is aware that it failed to achieve the required ethnic balance and provides no corrective action in its plan. The recruitment plan is vague and lacks benchmarks that could guide the school toward correcting the deficiency.

Element 8: Admission Requirements. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(8) as follows:

1. It does not comply with the requirements of EC § 47605(d) which, by reference, includes EC § 220 and CA Penal Code § 422.55 as the other applicable provision[s] of law in its statement of non-discrimination of protected classes. The petition additionally violates EC § 47607(a)(2) because the deficiency is the result of failing to update the renewal petition. This failure could result in the school engaging in discriminatory practices in its admissions procedures and policies.
2. The process for conducting the lottery is absent from the petition.
3. The preference given to siblings is likely to negatively impact the school from attaining its stated racial and ethnic goal.

Element 9: Annual Independent Financial Audits. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(9) as follows:

1. It does specify the timeline in which audit exceptions will typically be addressed or specify the timelines for statutory reporting requirements including the submission of the preliminary budget.
2. It does not specify that the school's Board of Directors will hire an independent auditor or that the auditor selected will be on the State Controller's list of educational auditors.

Element 10: Suspension and Expulsion Procedures. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(10) as follows:

1. There is no differentiation between offenses for which students in the charter school must and may be suspended and separately, the offenses for which students in the charter school must or may be expelled, providing evidence that the petitioner reviewed the offenses for which students must or may be suspended or expelled in non-charter public schools.
2. There is insufficient specificity regarding the procedures by which pupils can be suspended or expelled. It fails to provide timelines necessary to comply with due process requirements. It refers to due process but never defines it with regard to the suspension and expulsion process. No information is provided regarding how members of the expulsion hearing panel will be selected to avoid Conflict of Interest. The petition lists three (3) standards where "a student's suspension may lead to expulsion..." but lacks criteria for meeting the standards, which could result in capricious and prejudicial practices.

3. It does not describe how parents are informed of their due process rights in regards to suspension and expulsion. The school's Parent and Student Handbook fails to provide parents with information regarding Suspension and Expulsion procedures nor does it apprise them of their due process rights with regard to suspension and expulsion.
4. It fails to demonstrate an understanding of the rights of pupils with disabilities in...regard to suspension and expulsion. The petition references the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) and Section 504 but does not differentiate between them regarding the procedures to be used for suspension and expulsion. The petition discusses Manifestation Determination; however, there is no mention of how WAYS deals with pupils when the behavior is associated with the disability, or ensure the pupil is in the appropriate program/services. There is no mention of how WAYS deals with a student with disabilities who begins displaying negative behaviors, of calling an IEP Team meeting and writing a Behavior Support Plan, or deals with suspensions (cumulative) of over 10 days.

Element 12: Public School Attendance Alternatives. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(12) as it does not specify that the parent/guardian of each pupil enrolled in the charter shall be informed that the pupil has no right to admission in a particular school of any local education agency as a consequence of enrollment in the charter school, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the local education agency.

Element 14: Dispute Resolution Procedures. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the minimum requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(14) as follows:

1. Provides an unacceptable description of how the costs of the dispute resolution process would be funded. LACOE cannot agree to the provision, "Any party who fails or refuses to submit to arbitration shall bear all costs and expenses incurred by such other party in compelling arbitration of any controversy, claim or dispute."
2. It fails to recognize that if the substance of a dispute is a matter that could result in the taking of appropriate action, including, but not limited to, revocation of the charter in accordance with EC § 47607, the matter will be addressed at the County Board's discretion in accordance with that provision of law and any regulations pertaining thereto.
 - A. While the petition states that "any controversy or claim... except [one] that is in any way related to revocation of this Charter must be put in writing," the language does not unequivocally exempt any issue related to revocation from first having to go through Element 14 (Dispute Resolution).
 - B. The Dispute Resolution element provides for unreasonable timelines. For instance, mediation must occur within 120 days to four (4) months after the Issues Conference and there is no timeline within which arbitration, the final step, must occur.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Petition, Grades K-5
 Appeal of a Petition for Charter Renewal Denied by Los Angeles Unified School District
 Board of Education

Background Information

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) petition seeks an application for renewal of their K-5 charter school in accordance with Education Code Section 47607.5. The school's current enrollment is approximately 250 students. The school proposes to grow enrollment to 500 students over the next five (5) years by expanding operations from its two (2) current sites (706 East Manchester 90001 and 8878 South Central Avenue 90002) to a larger facility. WAYS also applied to LAUSD for a Prop 39 site; sites were awarded on April 1, 2011.

The petition states the charter school's mission "is to create a transformational learning climate in which students become 'Empowered to be Leaders Change Agents and True Scientists.'"

The school's vision is "to create an educational program that educates the whole child." Nine (9) goals are stated under the vision.

Year	Growth API		Enrollment Figures
	Growth API	Number of Valid Scores*	Enrollment on First Day of Testing Grades 2-5	Total Enrollment Grades 2-5	Total Enrollment Grades K-1	Total Enrollment Grades K-5

The CDE states "APIs based on small numbers of students are less reliable and therefore should be carefully interpreted." Schools with less than 100 Valid Scores on the California Standards Test (CST) do not receive Similar School Rankings or comparison schools; therefore, it cannot be determined how WAYS' API compares to schools with similar demographics.

The chart compares the demographics of WAYS and the two (2) closest public non-charter schools.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

Racial and ethnic demographic data shows WAYS does not reflect diversity of the community (LAUSD Local District 7) in which it is located or the two (2) closest LAUSD non-charter elementary schools. WAYS also enrolls fewer students with disabilities and English learners than near-by public non-charter schools. Conversely, its parents have a higher education level, which positively correlates with higher levels of student academic achievement.

Reason for Denial by the Local District

The Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) Board of Education denied the petition based on written Findings of Fact that comply with requirements for denial under the following sections of the Charter School Act:

EC § 47605(b)(2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program:

Conflict of interest concerns exist pertaining to members of the WAYS Board of Directors and the WAYS Executive Director and Principal. Specifically, the WAYS founder and Executive Director receives both a salary for her position and lease payments for two properties which she owns that are occupied by the school. She negotiated the leases to WAYS charter school. The WAYS governing board was asked to independently address and resolve the conflicts by the mutually agreed upon date of October 15, 2010; the WAYS Board of Directors' response failed to resolve the issues by that deadline. The WAYS governing board was minimally responsive to staff communications; the Executive Director was the primary respondent to address the Conflict of Interest issues. LAUSD considered the governing board's lack of independent and effective response to the Notice of Concern to be inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility considering that the Executive Director was the subject of the self-dealing Conflict of Interest concerns which called into question the Board's capacity to govern the Charter School and successfully implement the program set forth in the petition. The WAYS Board failed to resolve the Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempted to do so in January 27, 2011.

The WAYS governing board is unfamiliar with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law. Cited examples included inconsistencies between the charter petition and the WAYS' corporate bylaws regarding compliance with the Brown Act which called into question whether the Board is familiar with and complies with the requirements of the Brown Act. Additionally, the Board allowed self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the Board in the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest.

EC § 47605(b)(5) The petition fails to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements: The Educational Program, Method for Measuring Pupil Progress, Governance Structure, Health and Safety Procedures, Means for Achieving a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, Identification of Retirement Systems, Public School Alternatives, Dispute Resolution, Closure Procedures.

Any of the above findings alone may be cause for the denial of a charter under EC § 47605(b).

The Findings of Fact state the academic performance criteria for renewal under EC § 47607(b) were met.

Response from the Petitioner

The petitioner provided a written response to the findings of the local board and submitted it as part of the petition package. The response was considered during the review process.

Appeal to the Los Angeles County Board of Education

The Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) held a Public Hearing to determine support for the petition on April 19, 2011.

LACOE Review Process

The LACOE Charter School Review Team (Review Team) considered the petition according to the requirements of law, California Administrative Code of Regulations, County Board Policy and Regulations, and LACOE review procedures.

The Review Team included staff from the Controller’s Office, Business Operations and Services, Risk Management, Divisions for School Improvement, Curriculum and Instruction, Special Education, Student Support Services, Human Resource Services, Office of General Counsel, and the Charter School Office.

Findings are based on a review of the same petition submitted to the local district and supporting documents submitted by the petitioner, and information provided through the Capacity Interview and other communications with the petitioner and other representatives of the school. The petitioner also submitted proposed changes (technical adjustments) to the petition necessary to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. These changes should reflect the statutory, policy, and structural differences between a county office of education and a local district. These differences include, but are not limited to, the statutory authority of the County Superintendent of Schools to investigate complaints as well as structural differences in the responsibilities with regard to special education services. Proposed changes provided by the petitioner were considered by the Review Team.

Findings also take into account the petition was initially submitted to a local district and contains specific references to that district. The Charter School Office confirmed that LAUSD requires the petitioner to include specific language or content in a petition. This requirement was considered by the Review Team.

Findings of Fact

Finding 1: WAYS met the academic performance criteria for renewal under EC § 47607(b)(1) and (2).

WAYS attained its Academic Performance Index (API) growth target in the prior year, in two of the last three years, and in the aggregate for the prior three years.

Academic Performance Criteria: Met Assigned Growth Targets
Year	API Base	Growth Target	API Growth	Actual Growth
2007-08	782*	5	774	-8
2008-09	775*	5	843	68
2009-10	843*	A	879	36
Aggregate Growth		10		96

*API is calculated for a small school (between 11 and 99 valid scores) which makes it less reliable and should be carefully interpreted.  No growth target for schools where API is 800 or above.

WAYS ranked in deciles 4 to 10, inclusive, on the API in the prior year and in two of the last three years.

Academic Performance: Decile Ranks*
Year	Statewide Rank	Similar Schools Rank
2007-08	6	N/A*
2008-09	5	N/A*
2009-10	8	N/A*

* Not calculated for small schools

While WAYS met the academic criteria necessary to be considered for renewal, there are concerns that the school has not increased or sustained its percentage of “Valid” CST scores indicating an unstable student enrollment base. Valid scores are based on the number of students tested who were continuously enrolled from norm day (CBEDS) in October through the first day of testing. For 2009-10, only 71% of tested students were continuously enrolled. At South Park Elementary School, 88% of tested students were continuously enrolled. On average, 26% of students who enroll at WAYS withdraw prior to standardized testing based the "Elementary Principal's Statistical Report" for 2007-08 through 2010-11.

Finding 2: The petition provides an unsound educational program for students to be enrolled in the school. [EC § 47605(b)(1)]

The program is determined to be unsound for specific subgroups of students as described under Finding 5: Elements 1 – 3.

Additionally, based on enrollment data for Hispanic/Latino students, English learners, students with disabilities, and data showing the number of students who leave during the year, the school is not providing a program of educational benefit for all students the petition states the school intends to serve.

Finding 3: The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program. [EC § 47605(b)(2)]

Based on review of the petition, supporting documents provided by the petitioner, documents provided by LAUSD, and the Capacity Interview with the school's leadership team, the petition does not meet the criteria established in CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(c).

1. Review of the renewal petition submitted on behalf of the WAYS board indicates the WAYS governing board lacked the capacity to govern the school.
 - A. The governing board was unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law with respect to Conflict of Interest. The submitted charter states the school will comply with Government Code 1090; however, some members of the board had prior relationships with the school and/or the Executive Director and members of her family.
 - i. The board president, a business management consultant, lists Wisdom Academy as a client on her resume, which contradicts her statement on the Prospective Charter School Board Member Questionnaire that consulting services were not provided.
 - ii. One board member stated on the Prospective Charter School Board Member Questionnaire that she is the Board President for DeDe Dance Studio, owned by the Executive Director's daughter, and is currently used by the charter school; this indicates a Conflict of Interest.
 - B. The governing board failed to comply with the terms of the charter by allowing the school to enter into a self-dealing transaction with its Executive Director regarding the school's facilities. There is no evidence that the governing board considered other sites or conducted an independent assessment of lease rates prior to entering into the agreement with the Executive Director.
 - C. The governing board allowed other conflicts of interest to exist through the hiring of members of the Executive Director's family and by permitting the Executive Director to supervise these family members while the Principal supervised other similarly employed personnel. The Executive Director's son, originally hired to oversee custodial and gardening services was promoted to Director of Operations, which involves financial responsibilities according to the Executive Director. The Executive Director's daughter, who is employed as a teacher and dance instructor, owns the dance studio used by the school.
 - D. The governing board demonstrated its inability to effectively govern the school by its failure to respond fully and in a timely fashion to the September 29, 2010 Notice to Cure regarding Conflicts of Interest issued by LAUSD. The LACOE Review Team reviewed documents received from both the district and the charter school. The documents indicate WAYS failed to provide a sufficient cure. WAYS governing board had eight (8) months (September 2010 to April 2011) to remedy the concerns in the Notice to Cure, and failed to do so.

2. The WAYS governing board continues to be unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law that would apply to the proposed charter school and lacks the necessary background to effectively govern the school.
 - A. In its response to the Findings of Fact upon which the LAUSD Board of Education denied charter renewal, WAYS submitted documents pertaining to the governance structure of the school in an effort to demonstrate that the school had taken steps to address Conflict of Interest concerns. Although these documents may not have been considered by the LAUSD Board of Education because they were submitted after the deadline to provide evidence, the LACOE Review Team considered the documents to determine whether they would substantially resolve the conflicts. The Review Team determined the documents were inadequate to resolve the Conflict of Interest concerns based on the facts presented below:
 - i. The action taken by the Executive Director, and supported by the WAYS governing board, failed to resolve the conflict regarding her ownership of the property. Documents submitted by WAYS indicate the properties were placed into a revocable trust. WAYS' attorney concurred that this action failed to resolve the conflict in that "the transfer to a holding company through a revocable trust, [was] not transferring the property ownership under California law." (page 3 of the March 25, 2011 Response to LAUSD Findings of Fact) WAYS' governing board allowed the conflict to continue by executing a lease agreement with the holding company rather than requiring the Executive Director to take action that would definitively end the conflict.
 - ii. The governing board failed to disclose that the school had been offered Prop 39 facilities, a viable option to resolving the issue. At the April 19, 2011 Capacity Interview, the Review Team inquired about the school's statement that it had requested a Prop 39 site. Neither the Executive Director nor WAYS board members disclosed that LAUSD had offered the school facilities on April 1, 2011. LAUSD received a letter of acceptance signed by the Executive Director on May 2, 2011. LACOE has yet to hear from WAYS regarding their decision.
 - iii. Changes to the governance structure proposed after the petition was submitted to LAUSD continue to be inadequate. The Organizational Chart indicates three (3) positions report directly to the board due to the Conflict of Interest posed by the familial relationships: the Executive Director, Principal, and Director of Operations. This structure places an undue burden on the board to manage the day-to-day operations of the school. There is no evidence the current board has the capacity to govern effectively under this structure.
 - iv. The governing board failed to demonstrate the ability to avoid future Conflict of Interest situations. When asked at the Capacity Interview about potential conflicts arising from the employment of multiple family members, the chain of command, and continued use of the facilities owned by the Executive Director, the board members did not explain how they would ensure that no future Conflicts of Interest would develop or how they would handles such conflicts if they did occur. The board stated that additional changes to the governance structure are being considered; these options are outside of the scope of this review as they were not available to be considered by the LAUSD Board of Education.
 - v. The renewal petition submitted by WAYS fails to comply with EC § 47607(a)(2) which requires that Renewals...of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in 47605, and shall include...a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed... The petition contains references to outdated laws, policies, and practices, contains significant contradictions and omissions regarding key positions of employment, and provides elements that are not reasonably comprehensive. These deficiencies, reported under Finding 5, indicate the governing board lacks the knowledge of the laws under which the charter would operate.

3. The petitioner has a history of involvement in education agencies (public or private) considered as unsuccessful.
 - A. The Executive Director is listed as the petitioner. Properties she owns and leased to WAYS were previously used to house her private school. CDE records compiled from data supplied by the private school operator indicate that enrollment declined from 60 to 20 students in the three years prior to the school closing.
 - B. The WAYS Executive Director closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school. The chronology of public records and statements made by the Executive Director during the Capacity Interview indicate she closed the private school due to insufficient enrollment. The petitioner stated she inquired about the process of becoming a charter school and was informed that the private school would need to be closed for one year prior to becoming a charter. The petitioner purposely closed the charter school as required and applied for a charter after the one year required waiting period.

The status of the Conflict of Interest issues is unclear. With the acceptance of the Prop 39 sites, the conflict regarding facilities may be resolved only if the school stops leasing its current facilities. The conflicts concerning personnel could only be resolved through a material revision to the governance structure of the charter including, but not limited to, the Executive Director's resignation or release from her current position and with the provision that she hold no future positions funded by the school. Regardless of the potential resolution to the certain Conflict of Interest issues, the Review Team considers the governing board to be ineffective in governing the school and demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the proposed charter.

Finding 4: The petition contains an affirmation of all specified assurances. [EC § 47605(b)(4); EC § 47605(d)]

Finding 5: The petition does not contain a reasonably comprehensive description of all required elements. [EC § 47605(b)(5)(A)-(P)]

Based on criteria provided by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5, (5 CCR) eleven (11) of the 16 elements are not reasonably comprehensive.

Element 1: Description of the Educational Program. Not reasonably comprehensive

The 5 CCR § 11967.5.1(f)(1) requires the petition to address eight (8) requirements. The petition fails to meet each of the established criteria rendering aspects of the educational program deficient for specific populations the school proposes to serve: English Learners, low-achieving students, high-achieving students, and students with disabilities. The deficiencies are as follows:

1. Failure to indicate the proposed charter school's target student population, including, at a minimum, grade levels, approximate numbers of pupils, and specific educational interests, backgrounds, or challenges.
 - A. The petition overestimates the number of students to be served in the first year of the renewal charter and provides no build-out plan to support this assumption.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- ii. Provide the manner in which intervention will be given to students who struggle to acquire English language skills outside of the “45 minutes during the school day for focused English language development. This instruction will emphasize vocabulary development, phonemic awareness, and oral and writing English.” (page 48)
 - iii. Describe how the Individualized Education Program (IEP) Team determines placement of English learners in need of special education services, state that non-biased assessments used to determine placement must be conducted in the student’s primary language under Federal law, and that the IEP must be linguistically appropriate.
 - iv. Demonstrate understanding of the difference between meeting the needs of English learners and meeting the needs of students with disabilities. The petition (page 22) indicates that to ensure the success of English learners, the school will use a collaborative approach that fosters communication between its Resource Specialist and Speech Therapist. These specialists only provide direct services to students identified as having disabilities.
- B. The element is deficient with regard to students with disabilities because it fails to specify the charter school’s special education plan, including the process to be used to identify students who qualify for special education programs and services, how the school will provide or access special education programs and services, the school’s understanding of its responsibilities under law for special education pupils, and how the school intends to meet those responsibilities.
- i. It does not describe accommodations and/or modifications that may be used during standardized assessments or how WAYS is responsible for students with disabilities when the IEP Team exempts them from standardized testing.
 - ii. There is no mention of how parents of students with disabilities are informed about the school’s educational program.
 - iii. There are deficiencies with regard to English learners and special education services as stated in “A,” above.

Element 2: Measurable Pupil Outcomes. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(2) as follows:

1. It fails to specify skills, knowledge, and attitudes that reflect the school’s educational objectives and can be assessed by objective means that are frequent and sufficiently detailed enough to determine whether pupils are making satisfactory progress.
 - A. There are no identified measurable outcomes for students in Kindergarten and first grade who do not participate in Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR).
 - B. There is no ongoing means for measuring English learners’ acquisition of English or academic growth in content areas. The petition states the (California English Language Development Test (CELDT) will be administered “periodically” to monitor student progress of English language acquisition; however, it can only be administered annually which is insufficient to evaluate the effectiveness of and to modify instruction. The petition indicates Open Court Reading assessments will be used as formative assessments for English learners; however, they are not designed to measure progress towards English language proficiency but rather language arts skills and concepts. It fails to provide assessments to determine academic growth in other content areas.

- C. Goals cannot be measured as stated. The petition states the percentage of students achieving proficient and advanced in History/Social Science will increase on the CST by 5% each year; there is no History/Social Science CST for grades K-5.
- D. It lacks information on how students with disabilities will be assessed on making progress toward meeting their goals and benchmarks.

Element 3: Method for Measuring Pupil Progress. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(3) as follows:

- 1. It does not utilize a variety of assessment tools that are appropriate to the skills, knowledge, or attitudes being assessed, including, at minimum, tools that employ objective means of assessment consistent with the measurable pupil outcomes.
 - A. Information is limited on how stated internal assessments (text based, benchmark performance, unit level, etc.) are used as objective means to assess student progress consistent with measurable outcomes (page 98). Language is vague and fails to indicate how assessments are used in English-Language Arts, math, science, social studies, and English Language Development.
 - B. There is no information regarding assessment of K-1 students who do not participate in STAR. This is of particular concern since about half the school's enrollment is in grades K-1.
 - C. Out of date assessments are proposed in violation of EC § 47606(a)(2). The petition states the school will administer the CAT 6, which is obsolete, and proposes performance objectives based on data from this assessment.
- 2. It does not outline a plan for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data on achievement of English learners to school staff and to pupils' parents and guardians, and for utilizing the data continuously to monitor and improve the charter school's educational program. There is no mention of English learner's testing performance or academic monitoring of English language levels beyond use of the CELDT. Nor is there mention of providing accommodations and/or modifications for standardized tests for students with disabilities; tests used to determine eligibility for special education programs and services; the manner and type of data maintained for students with disabilities; or how information will be disseminated to parents of students with disabilities.

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(4) as follows:

- 1. There is lack of evidence of the charter school's incorporation as a non-profit public benefit corporation for the purpose of running a charter school. While the articles of incorporation and bylaws provide evidence of the charter school's non-profit public benefit corporation status, governing a charter school is not listed as the specific purpose of this corporation. The petitioners have failed to amend these documents to reflect the running of a public charter school. As stated above in Finding 3, 3.B, the WAYS Executive Director purposely closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school.
- 2. There is a lack of evidence that the organizational and technical designs of the governance structure reflect a seriousness of purpose necessary to ensure that:
 - A. The charter school will become and remain a viable enterprise. The governance structure fails to provide adequate oversight of the school's operation and fiscal management. Failure of the articles of incorporation and bylaws to state the purpose of the corporation is to provide for the operation of a publicly funded charter school is further evidence that the structure lacks a seriousness of purpose. The bylaws states the board has only one regularly scheduled meeting, which is insufficient to provide for effective governing of a public charter school. The governing board's lack of effective oversight has jeopardized the school's charter status and there is no evidence that the board can implement the proposed educational program stated in the petition.

- B. The petition does not provide a clear description of the governance and management structure. It is difficult to know the duties and responsibilities of management. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) conflicts with information provided elsewhere in the petition.
- C. The petition makes no commitment to complying with the Political Reform Act (PRA), which is required of all charter schools. The petition fails to include a Conflict of Interest policy which is required under the PRA.
- D. The body of the petition states that meetings will comply with the Brown Act (page 109). However, certain provisions of the bylaws appear to be in direct conflict with the Brown Act.
 - i. Section 4.6, Place of Meetings allows for meetings outside California. The Brown Act requires that the Board's meetings be held within the boundaries of the territory within which it has jurisdiction.
 - ii. Section 4.7, Regular Meetings authorizes meetings "without call or notice" in violation of the Brown Act. The Brown Act requires that at least 72 hours before a regular meeting an agenda containing a brief general description of each item of business to be transacted or discussed at the meeting shall be posted.
 - iii. Section 4.11, Telephone Meetings, authorizes teleconferencing and video teleconferencing to constitute presence but fails to state the necessary safeguards that would render it compliant with the Brown Act such as posting agendas at the teleconferencing location and ensuring those locations are fully accessible to members of the public.
 - iv. Section 4.14, Action without Meeting, permits the Board to take an action without a meeting if all the members of the Board consent in writing to such action. This violates the Brown Act requirement that the board not take action on any item of business outside a meeting.
 - v. Section 4.7, the Board of the Merle Williamson Foundation is required to meet only once per year, on the last Friday in June; the Brown Act requires regularly scheduled meetings.
 - vi. The Agenda for the Special Board Meeting held Saturday, April 30, 2011, documents specific violations of the Brown Act with respect to items discussed in Closed Session.

Element 5: Employee Qualifications. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(5) as follows:

1. There is insufficient information on the general qualifications for the various categories of employees (e.g., administrative, instructional, instructional support, non-instructional support) and whether the qualifications are sufficient to ensure the health, and safety of the school's faculty, staff, and pupils.
2. It fails to identify those positions that the charter school regards as key in each category and specify the additional qualifications expected of individuals assigned to those positions.

- A. The petition fails to provide job descriptions and/or minimum qualifications for the following positions listed in the petition: Special Education Program Coordinator (page 96), Academic Co-Principals (page 112), Coordinator of Operations (page 128), and Academic Consultants and Director of Operations (Appendix B). Qualifications for Executive Director are absent.
 - B. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) is deficient. It fails to include an Executive Director, although there is a job description (page 120) outlining critical duties such as “oversee the school-operating budget...instructional program...classroom management...supervise staff...be an active member of the school board.” Based on the job description, it is unclear if the Executive Director is a member of the board. Appendix B lists board members by name; the Executive Director’s name is absent. The Organizational Chart includes a “Director of Operations,” with no job description or qualifications provided for that position. It is unclear if it is the same as “Coordinator of Operations.” The Organizational Chart identifies “Auxiliary Staff,” but lacks specific corresponding positions.
3. Specify that all requirements for employment set forth in applicable provisions of law will be met, including, but not limited to credentials as necessary. Teacher qualifications (page 122) state the CA SB 2042 teaching credential is required; this will exclude teachers who hold Ryan multiple subject credentials and life elementary credentials with added English language certification.

Element 6: Health and Safety Procedures. Reasonably comprehensive

Element 7: Means to Achieve a Reflective Racial and Ethnic Balance. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(7) based on evidence that:

1. During the term of its first charter, WAYS failed to achieve a racial and ethnic balance among its pupils that is reflective of the general population residing within the territorial jurisdiction of the school district in which it is located as indicated on in the chart on page two (2) of this report. Enrollment of Hispanic/Latino students is not comparable to the two (2) closest LAUSD non-charter elementary schools.
2. The description of the student population (required under Element 1) and the proposed recruitment plan show no indication WAYS is aware that it failed to achieve the required ethnic balance and provides no corrective action in its plan. The recruitment plan is vague and lacks benchmarks that could guide the school toward correcting the deficiency.

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(8) as follows:

1. It does not comply with the requirements of EC § 47605(d) which, by reference, includes EC § 220 and CA Penal Code § 422.55 as the other applicable provision[s] of law in its statement of non-discrimination of protected classes. The petition additionally violates EC § 47607(a)(2) because the deficiency is the result of failing to update the renewal petition. This failure could result in the school engaging in discriminatory practices in its admissions procedures and policies.
2. The process for conducting the lottery is absent from the petition.
3. The preference given to siblings is likely to negatively impact the school from attaining its stated racial and ethnic goal.

Element 9: Annual Independent Financial Audits. Not reasonably comprehensive

REPORT ON THE WISDOM ACADEMY FOR YOUNG SCIENTISTS CHARTER

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(9) as follows:

1. It does specify the timeline in which audit exceptions will typically be addressed or specify the timelines for statutory reporting requirements including the submission of the preliminary budget.
2. It does not specify that the school's Board of Directors will hire an independent auditor or that the auditor selected will be on the State Controller's list of educational auditors.

Element 10: Suspension and Expulsion Procedures. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(10) as follows:

1. There is no differentiation between offenses for which students in the charter school must and may be suspended and separately, the offenses for which students in the charter school must or may be expelled, providing evidence that the petitioner reviewed the offenses for which students must or may be suspended or expelled in non-charter public schools.
2. There is insufficient specificity regarding the procedures by which pupils can be suspended or expelled. It fails to provide timelines necessary to comply with due process requirements. It refers to due process but never defines it with regard to the suspension and expulsion process. No information is provided regarding how members of the expulsion hearing panel will be selected to avoid Conflict of Interest. The petition lists three (3) standards where "a student's suspension may lead to expulsion..." but lacks criteria for meeting the standards, which could result in capricious and prejudicial practices.
3. It does not describe how parents are informed of their due process rights in regards to suspension and expulsion.
4. It fails to demonstrate an understanding of the rights of pupils with disabilities in...regard to suspension and expulsion. The petition references the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) and Section 504 but does not differentiate between them regarding the procedures to be used for suspension and expulsion. The petition discusses Manifestation Determination; however, there is no mention of how WAYS deals with pupils when the behavior is associated with the disability, or ensure the pupil is in the appropriate program/services. There is no mention of how WAYS deals with a student with disabilities who begins displaying negative behaviors, of calling an IEP Team meeting and writing a Behavior Support Plan, or deals with suspensions (cumulative) of over 10 days.

Element 11: STRS, PERS, and Social Security. Reasonably comprehensive with specific omission

The petition does not state the staff who will be responsible for ensuring that appropriate arrangements for coverage have been made as required under CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(11).

Element 12: Public School Attendance Alternatives. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(12) as it does not specify that the parent/guardian of each pupil enrolled in the charter shall be informed that the pupil has no right to admission in a particular school of any local education agency as a consequence of enrollment in the charter school, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the local education agency.

Element 13: Post-Employment Rights of Employees. Reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the minimum requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(14) as follows:

1. Provides an unacceptable description of how the costs of the dispute resolution process would be funded. LACOE cannot agree to the provision, "Any party who fails or refuses to submit to arbitration shall bear all costs and expenses incurred by such other party in compelling arbitration of any controversy, claim or dispute."
2. It fails to recognize that if the substance of a dispute is a matter that could result in the taking of appropriate action, including, but not limited to, revocation of the charter in accordance with EC § 47607, the matter will be addressed at the County Board's discretion in accordance with that provision of law and any regulations pertaining thereto.
 - A. While the petition states that "any controversy or claim... except [one] that is in any way related to revocation of this Charter must be put in writing," the language does not unequivocally exempt any issue related to revocation from first having to go through Element 14 (Dispute Resolution).
 - B. The Dispute Resolution element provides for unreasonable timelines. For instance, mediation must occur within 120 days to four (4) months after the Issues Conference and there is no timeline within which arbitration, the final step, must occur.

Element 15: Exclusive Public Employer. Reasonably comprehensive

Element 16: Closure Procedures. Reasonably comprehensive with specific deficiencies

The petition fails to meet the requirements as defined by CCR, Title 5, § 11962 as follows:

1. It does not comply with the requirement for transfer and maintenance of personnel records in accordance with applicable law or state how the school will return any donated materials and property if closed.
2. Closure procedures reflect the LAUSD Board of Education as the authorizer; the petitioner did not submit necessary changes to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. This is of particular importance with regard to special education as WAYS currently operates as a school of the district for special education services and would be a Local Education Agency (LEA) if authorized by the County Board.

Finding 6: The petition does not satisfy all of the Required Assurances of Education Code section 47605(c), (e) through (j), (l), and (m) as follows:

Standards, Assessments and Parent Consultation. Does not meet the condition

The petition does not provide evidence required by EC § 47605(c) that charter schools:

1. Meet all statewide standards and conduct the pupil assessments required pursuant to EC § 60605 and 60851 and any other statewide standards authorized in statute or pupil assessments applicable to pupils in non-charter public schools. It fails to meet this condition due to its stated use of outdated tests and failure to specify correct procedures for students with special needs.
2. The school shall, on a regular basis, consult with their parents and teachers regarding the school's educational programs. It fails to meet the condition as there is no indication that WAYS provides a method for parents of English learners to provide input on programs specific to English learners and there is no mention of how parents of students with disabilities will be informed about the school's educational program.

Effect on the Authorizer and Financial Projections. Does not provide the necessary evidence

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

EC § 47605(g) requires the petition to provide information regarding the proposed operation and potential effects of the school on the authorizer. Requirements regarding the budget and facilities currently under lease were met. Concerns are as follows:

1. The petition does not provide evidence that there are no potential civil liability effects. Due to the Conflict of Interest issues raised by LAUSD and WAYS' failure to resolve those conflicts, there are concerns with the potential liability effects that authorizing the charter may bring to the County Board if the charter is authorized and the conflicts continue or recur.
2. While the current budget and projections for the next two years seem reasonable, the cost of facilities is unknown as the current lease expires in June 2011. The budget reflects an increase to lease expenses for expansion, based on current expenditures; however, if the school were to remain at the current site, it is unknown whether the holding company might raise the rate for the current sites, which would impact the out-year budgets.

Teacher Credentialing Requirement. Does not meet the condition

EC § 47605(l) requires that teachers in charter schools shall be required to hold a CCTC certificate, permit, or other document equivalent to that which a teacher in other public schools would be required to hold...It is the intent of the Legislature that charter schools be given flexibility with regard to noncore, non-college preparatory courses. The petition fails to meet the condition because there is no mention of the type of credential a teacher would need to teach students with disabilities and teacher qualifications limited to SB 2042 credentials as reported under Element 5.

1 Los Angeles County Office of Education
2 Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding¹

3 Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School
4 Charter Authorization Period: July 1, 2011 – June 30, 2016

5 INTRODUCTION

6 The Los Angeles County Board of Education (hereinafter “County Board”) is guided by the intent of
7 the legislature, that quality charter schools are and should be an integral part of the California
8 educational system. The County Board believes that charter schools provide an opportunity to 9 implement accountability-based school-level reform, support innovation which improves student
10 learning, and provide choice for parents. Charter schools operate under the provisions of the charter,
11 applicable state and federal laws, and the general oversight of the County Board.

12 The County Board supports this effort by establishing a defined accountability system for 13 determining the effectiveness of the charter schools it authorizes. Charter schools are public
14 schools; as such, their performance is subject to review and comparison with any other publicly
15 funded school. A charter school’s demographic composition should reflect the community it serves 16 and in which it is located.

17 PURPOSE OF AGREEMENT

18 The State of California enacted the Charter Schools Act of 1992 authorizing the creation of charter
19 schools with the intent that the schools improve student learning through a variety of means,
20 including increased learning opportunities, innovative teaching methods, expanded choice for 21 parents, and performance-based accountability.

22 Education Code Section 47605 requires a charter petition need to provide a “reasonably 23 comprehensive description” of the manner in which the school will operate; it is not a comprehensive 24 document. An agreement is a useful tool for clarifying the expectations, operations, and 25 responsibilities of both parties beyond that which is required in the charter but is required for 26 successful operation and monitoring of a charter school.

27 County Board has established this Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding
28 (“Agreement”) to address matters not covered in the charter in order to clarify the monitoring and 29 oversight expectations and responsibilities. The Charter School Act allows the County Board to 30 authorize charter schools under specified circumstances and by doing so, becomes the authorizing 31 agency of the charter schools. The County Board has delegated to the County Superintendent of 32 Schools, its obligations to oversee its authorized charter schools under the terms of this Agreement, 33 the provisions of the school’s charter, applicable laws, regulations, and County Board Policy and 34 Regulation.

35 The fundamental interest of the Los Angeles County Office of Education (hereinafter “LACOE”) is —
36 on a continuing basis — to be reasonably assured that charter schools authorized by the County
37 Board are:

- 38 • Implementing the provisions of the charter as approved
39 • Adhering to all requirements of federal, state, and local law that apply to charter schools
40 • Being operated reasonably in all respects

¹ Adapted from the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) utilized by the State Board of Education. This agreement reflects changes made for the Los Angeles County Board of Education as the authorizer.

1 writing. This Agreement shall automatically expire upon the expiration or revocation of the charter.
2 The approved Agreement (including any Addendums) continues in existence as long as the Charter
3 School is operational, but automatically expires if the Charter School becomes non-operational,
4 typically because of non-renewal, revocation, or voluntary closure.

5 TERM OF THE CHARTER

6 The Charter School is a public school that is or shall be operating pursuant to a charter (hereinafter
7 the "charter"). On June 7, 2011, the County Board authorized the charter contingent upon the
8 petitioner making any necessary non-material changes to the petition, the signing of the LACOE
9 Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding, and upon inspection and approval of 10 facilities.

11 The Charter School shall operate as a classroom based charter school within the boundaries of Los
12 Angeles Unified School District in the county of Los Angeles. The Charter School shall serve grades
13 K-5 and shall have an approximate enrollment of five hundred twenty (520) students per year for the 14 term of the charter.

15 The Charter School shall be responsible for all the functions of a charter school subject to applicable
16 statutes, the charter, the terms and conditions set forth in the charter, and this Agreement.

17 If applicable, the Charter School will commence its first year of operation between July 1 and
18 September 30, 2011, subject to any conditions that were specified by the County Board in the action
19 it took to approve the Charter. Any condition that was not met through revision of the Charter may be 20 addressed in this Agreement.

21 The Charter School's charter shall have a five (5) year term to expire on June 30, 2016. The 22 provisions of the charter and the Agreement shall be aligned.

23 The County Board reserves the right to approve material revisions to the charter and/or revoke the 24 charter as specified in Education Code Section 47607.

25 SECTION 1: GOVERNANCE AND ORGANIZATIONAL MANAGEMENT

26 The Charter School is operated by a nonprofit public benefit corporation, formed and organized 27 pursuant to the Nonprofit Public Benefit Corporation Law (Corporations Code § 5110 et seq.). The 28 Charter School is a separate legal entity and neither the County Board nor LACOE is liable for the 29 debts and obligations of the Charter School. The Charter School shall use all revenue received from 30 state and federal sources only for the educational services specified in the charter and this 31 Agreement for the benefit of the students enrolled in and attending the Charter School. Other 32 sources of funding must be used in accordance with applicable state and federal statutes, and the 33 terms or conditions of any grant or donation.

34 1.1 Organization

35 The Charter School shall provide to LACOE annually in accordance with Attachment C, Reporting

Attachment A: Student Achievement Plan Guidelines

I. Overview

A Student Achievement Plan is required to be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) if the Charter School fails to meet API growth targets and/or AYP in any year. The Achievement Plan requires the Charter School to establish specific goals and actions the Charter School will take to improve student academic achievement in those areas identified through the API and/or AYP as not meeting performance criteria. The Charter School shall be expected to present an annual update to the County Board of Education on the progress made in meeting goals identified in the Student Achievement Plan. These guidelines make explicit the elements that shall be addressed in the Student Achievement Plan for any subject area or criteria in which the Charter School falls short of targets. Data compiled from this Student Achievement Plan and the annual update, plus confirming evidence gathered during periodic site visits will provide LACOE with evidence of whether the Charter School is on track to its charter being renewed.

In addition to API and AYP, the Charter School may incorporate a variety of additional outcome measures to further demonstrate academic achievement and organizational effectiveness. While these various supplemental measures will not carry as much weight as the required measures in making renewal decisions, they may be important in helping the Charter School achieve its academic goals and distinctive qualities in the Charter School's mission as well as highlight those goals.

II. Required Components of the Student Achievement Plan

For each area in which the Charter School did not meet API and/or AYP targets, the Charter School shall submit a plan to the LACOE describing specific and concrete actions the Charter School will take in order to improve student achievement over the course of the current school year. The Student Achievement Plan shall address, at a minimum, the following elements:

- Methods or system the Charter School uses to examine student achievement data on a regular basis across grade levels, by subject matter, by significant subgroups, and across the Charter School as a whole
- Analysis of the STAR and AYP results that identifies the specific problem in the area(s) not meeting targets and/or criteria
- Specific actions, which follow from the examination of student data, which the Charter School will take to improve student achievement in the area(s) identified as needing improvement, including changes to curriculum, instruction, assessment, governance, and organization
- Professional development plan for teachers and/or other staff that supports the activities the Charter School will implement to improve performance in targeted areas
- Diagnostic assessments that will be used to enable the Charter School to monitor the effects of proposed changes on student performance

The Charter School shall submit a draft Student Achievement Plan to LACOE by October 1 if the Charter School did not meet API targets or AYP in the prior year. LACOE will review the draft plan and either approve it as submitted or request changes to it. If changes are required, the final Plan shall be due to LACOE by December 1.

Further information regarding API may be found at www.cde.ca.gov/italaciap/index.asp on the LACOE website. Information on AYP, including targets and criteria may be found at www.cde.ca.gov/iteac/ayfindex.asp.

Attachment B: Fiscal Oversight Requirements and Financial Reporting

LACOE shall determine fiscal soundness of the Charter School by reviewing and analyzing the financial reports and documents provided by the Charter School. This determination shall be made each month and LACOE shall notify the Charter School in writing of any concerns it may have regarding the financial stability of the Charter School.

By the fifteen of each month the Charter School shall provide the following reports and documents with full disclosure of transactions to the Controller's Office, LACOE for the prior month:

1. Monthly bank statements
2. Monthly bank reconciliations
3. Monthly general ledger
4. Statement of revenue and expenditures
5. Statement of financial position
6. Statement of fund balance
7. Year to date budget to actual statement
8. Notes to financial statements

LACOE may require additional financial related documents and shall request them of the Charter School as needed.

Action of the County Board to Authorize the Charter School

ATTACHMENT F

Necessary Changes to the Charter Petition to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer

To be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education by August 15, 2011. The Charter Office has requested to meet with the Charter School to provide support in making the necessary changes.

Element 1 – Educational Program: Describe the manner in which the school shall comply with the requirement to serve students with disabilities in the same manner as students are served in other public schools (EC 47646 and 56145). The Charter School shall:

1. Inform LACOE whether it intends to remain a “school of the district” or will be an LEA for the purpose of special education services and which LEA the school will join.

If the school shall become an LEA, the petition must specify the charter school’s special education plan, including the process to be used to identify students who qualify for special education programs and services, how the school will provide or access special education programs and services, the school’s understanding of its responsibilities under law for special education pupils, and how the school intends to meet those responsibilities. Including, description of the accommodations and/or modifications that may be used during standardized assessments and how the Charter School is responsible for students with disabilities when the IEP Team exempts them from standardized testing; how parents of students with disabilities are informed about the school’s educational program; how the school shall provide special education services to students who are English learners. Specify services to be provided by employees of the school and those to be provided by contract with the SELPA or another agency.

Describe the target population to be served, how the educational program for students with disabilities reflects the mission of the school and ensures that this student population will achieve content standards. Specifically, respond to Findings of Fact contained in the Report and Recommendation to the County Board with regard to students with disabilities.

2. Provide a five-year build-out plan that describes the number of students and grade levels to be served each year including the location (facility) in which the students will be housed.
3. Describe how the school identifies and responds to the needs of students who are not achieving at or above expected levels.

Element 2 – Measurable Student Outcomes:

1. Revised Section 2.3 (Extent to which all pupils demonstrate that they have attained skills #1 and #2) of the Charter School’s petition shall be revised to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.
2. Describe the measurable outcomes the school uses to determine whether students in grade K and 1 are making progress toward meeting the content standards.
3. Describe the measurable outcomes the school uses to determine whether English learners are making progress toward meeting the content standards in all content areas.

Element 3 – Means for Measuring Pupil Progress:

1. Describe the assessment instruments the school uses to measure ongoing student progress in all academic areas, grade levels, and student populations.

Element 5 – Employee Qualifications:

1. Submit copies of all current job descriptions including any new job descriptions for special education positions.

Element 7 – Means to Achieve a Racial and Ethnic Balance:

1. Submit recruitment plan used for 2011-12 enrollment. Describe the racial and ethnic balance the school is attempting to achieve and show how that balance is reflective of LAUSD.

Element 8 – Admissions Requirements:

1. Describe the process for conducting the lottery.

Element 12 – Public School Attendance Alternatives:

1. Describe how the school notifies the parent/guardian of each enrolled pupil has no right to admission in a particular school of any local education agency as a consequence of enrollment in the charter school, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the local education agency.

Element 16 – Closure Procedures:

1. Closure procedures in the charter petition reflect the LAUSD Board of Education as the authorizer; the petitioner did not submit necessary changes to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. This is of particular importance with regard to special education as WAYS currently operates as a school of the district for special education services and would be a Local Education Agency (LEA) if authorized by the County Board.

The Charter School shall make the necessary technical amendments to the complete charter petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.

2 Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding¹

3 Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School
4 Charter Authorization Period: July 1, 2011 – June 30, 2016

5 INTRODUCTION

6 The Los Angeles County Board of Education (hereinafter "County Board") is guided by the intent of
7 the legislature, that quality charter schools are and should be an integral part of the California
8 educational system. The County Board believes that charter schools provide an opportunity to 9 implement accountability-based school-level reform, support innovation which improves student
10 learning, and provide choice for parents. Charter schools operate under the provisions of the charter,
11 applicable state and federal laws, and the general oversight of the County Board.

12 The County Board supports this effort by establishing a defined accountability system for 13 determining the effectiveness of the charter schools it authorizes. Charter schools are public
14 schools; as such, their performance is subject to review and comparison with any other publicly
15 funded school. A charter school's demographic composition should reflect the community it serves 16 and in which it is located.

17 PURPOSE OF AGREEMENT

18 The State of California enacted the Charter Schools Act of 1992 authorizing the creation of charter
19 schools with the intent that the schools improve student learning through a variety of means,
20 including increased learning opportunities, innovative teaching methods, expanded choice for 21 parents, and performance-based accountability.

22 Education Code Section 47605 requires a charter petition need to provide a "reasonably 23 comprehensive description" of the manner in which the school will operate; it is not a comprehensive 24 document. An agreement is a useful tool for clarifying the expectations, operations, and 25 responsibilities of both parties beyond that which is required in the charter but is required for 26 successful operation and monitoring of a charter school.

27 County Board has established this Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding
28 ("Agreement") to address matters not covered in the charter in order to clarify the monitoring and 29 oversight expectations and responsibilities. The Charter School Act allows the County Board to 30 authorize charter schools under specified circumstances and by doing so, becomes the authorizing
31 agency of the charter schools. The County Board has delegated to the County Superintendent of 32 Schools, its obligations to oversee its authorized charter schools under the terms of this Agreement,
33 the provisions of the school's charter, applicable laws, regulations, and County Board Policy and 34 Regulation.

35 The fundamental interest of the Los Angeles County Office of Education (hereinafter "LACOE") is — 36 on a continuing basis — to be reasonably assured that charter schools authorized by the County
37 Board are:

- 38 • Implementing the provisions of the charter as approved
39 • Adhering to all requirements of federal, state, and local law that apply to charter schools
40 • Being operated reasonably in all respects

¹ Adapted from the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) utilized by the State Board of Education. This agreement reflects changes made for the Los Angeles County Board of Education as the authorizer.

1 Agreement and the charter. (Initial W) The approved Agreement (including any subsequent 2 Addenda) shall continue unless modified in writing. This Agreement shall automatically expire upon
3 the expiration or revocation of the charter. The approved Agreement (including any Addendums)
4 continues in existence as long as the Charter School is operational, but automatically expires if the 5 Charter School becomes non-operational, typically because of non-renewal, revocation, or voluntary 6 closure.

7 TERM OF THE CHARTER

8 The Charter School is a public school that is or shall be operating pursuant to a charter (hereinafter
9 the "charter"). On June 7, 2011, the County Board authorized the charter contingent upon the 10 petitioner making any necessary non-material changes to the petition, the signing of the LACOE
11 Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding, and upon inspection and approval of 12 facilities.

13 The Charter School shall operate as a classroom based charter school within the boundaries of Los
14 Angeles Unified School District in the county of Los Angeles. The Charter School shall serve grades
15 K-5 and shall have an approximate enrollment of five hundred twenty (520) students per year for the 16 term of the charter.

17 The Charter School shall be responsible for all the functions of a charter school subject to applicable
18 statutes, the charter, the terms and conditions set forth in the charter, and this Agreement.

19 If applicable, the Charter School will commence its first year of operation between July 1 and
20 September 30, 2011, subject to any conditions that were specified by the County Board in the action
21 it took to approve the Charter. Any condition that was not met through revision of the Charter may be 22 addressed in this Agreement.

23 The Charter School's charter shall have a five (5) year term to expire on June 30, 2016. The 24 provisions of the charter and the Agreement shall be aligned.

25 The County Board reserves the right to approve material revisions to the charter and/or revoke the 26 charter as specified in Education Code Section 47607. The school may only seek renewal of its 27 charter after successfully operating the school as specified in Section 4.4 of this Agreement. (Initial 28 W)

Attachment A: Student Achievement Plan Guidelines

I. Overview

A Student Achievement Plan is required to be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) if the Charter School fails to meet API growth targets and/or AYP in any year. The Achievement Plan requires the Charter School to establish specific goals and actions the Charter School will take to improve student academic achievement in those areas identified through the API and/or AYP as not meeting performance criteria. The Charter School shall be expected to present an annual update to the County Board of Education on the progress made in meeting goals identified in the Student Achievement Plan. These guidelines make explicit the elements that shall be addressed in the Student Achievement Plan for any subject area or criteria in which the Charter School falls short of targets. Data compiled from this Student Achievement Plan and the annual update, plus confirming evidence gathered during periodic site visits will provide LACOE with evidence of whether the Charter School is on track to its charter being renewed.

In addition to API and AYP, the Charter School may incorporate a variety of additional outcome measures to further demonstrate academic achievement and organizational effectiveness. While these various supplemental measures will not carry as much weight as the required measures in making renewal decisions, they may be important in helping the Charter School achieve its academic goals and distinctive qualities in the Charter School's mission as well as highlight those goals.

II. Required Components of the Student Achievement Plan

For each area in which the Charter School did not meet API and/or AYP targets, the Charter School shall submit a plan to the LACOE describing specific and concrete actions the Charter School will take in order to improve student achievement over the course of the current school year. The Student Achievement Plan shall address, at a minimum, the following elements:

- Methods or system the Charter School uses to examine student achievement data on a regular basis across grade levels, by subject matter, by significant subgroups, and across the Charter School as a whole
- Analysis of the STAR and AYP results that identifies the specific problem in the area(s) not meeting targets and/or criteria
- Specific actions, which follow from the examination of student data, which the Charter School will take to improve student achievement in the area(s) identified as needing improvement, including changes to curriculum, instruction, assessment, governance, and organization
- Professional development plan for teachers and/or other staff that supports the activities the Charter School will implement to improve performance in targeted areas
- Diagnostic assessments that will be used to enable the Charter School to monitor the effects of proposed changes on student performance

The Charter School shall submit a draft Student Achievement Plan to LACOE by October 1 if the Charter School did not meet API targets or AYP in the prior year. LACOE will review the draft plan and either approve it as submitted or request changes to it. If changes are required, the final Plan shall be due to LACOE by December 1.

Further information regarding API may be found at www.cde.ca.gov/italaciap/index.asp on the LACOE website. Information on AYP, including targets and criteria may be found at www.cde.ca.gov/iteac/ayfindex.asp.

Attachment B: Fiscal Oversight Requirements and Financial Reporting

LACOE shall determine fiscal soundness of the Charter School by reviewing and analyzing the financial reports and documents provided by the Charter School. This determination shall be made each month and LACOE shall notify the Charter School in writing of any concerns it may have regarding the financial stability of the Charter School.

By the fifteen of each month the Charter School shall provide the following reports and documents with full disclosure of transactions to the Controller's Office, LACOE for the prior month:

1. Monthly bank statements
2. Monthly bank reconciliations
3. Monthly general ledger
4. Statement of revenue and expenditures
5. Statement of financial position
6. Year to date budget to actual statement
7. Notes to financial statements

LACOE may require additional financial related documents and shall request them of the Charter School as needed.

Re: Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School

Dear Superintendent Delgado:

This letter is sent on behalf of the Merle Williamson Foundation, which operates the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School ("WAYS"). The County Board of Education granted the WAYS charter petition on June 7, 2011. The WAYS charter is authorized through June 30, 2016. For purposes of this letter, we refer to the Los Angeles County Board of Education and Office of Education collectively as "LACOE".

WAYS is pleased to have had its charter agreement granted by LACOE. The school's leadership looks forward to a productive relationship with LACOE staff. However, the relationship appears to be off to a rough start. The remainder of this letter is intended to correct any misunderstanding that LACOE staff may have about the status of the charter, and to explain how the parties should proceed if LACOE staff disagrees.

The WAYS Charter Agreement is Fully-Authorized by LACOE

We understand that the LACOE staff recommended that the Board deny the charter petition. Despite staff's recommendation, the LACOE Board took action to "grant" the petition in accordance with Education Code section 47605(b) at its meeting of June 7, 2011. Therefore, the approved charter is by definition that charter petition document which was before the LACOE Board and which was "granted" at that time. As you know, charter agreements are initially presented to an authorizer like LACOE as a "petition" or "application". Once granted, the petition or application is the actual charter agreement. (See, Knapp v. Palisades Charter High School (2007) 146 Cal.App.4th 708, 714-715.) LACOE's approval of the charter petition is correctly reflected as such in the records of the California Department of Education ("CDE").

November 17, 2011

Accordingly, CDE properly allocates funding to WAYS as a fully-authorized LACOE charter school.

“Written Notification” for Dispute Resolution

Even though it is indisputable that LACOE granted WAYS’ charter petition, we are aware of correspondence from LACOE’s Charter Schools Office staff as recently as last month that incorrectly suggested or implied that LACOE staff would or could “revise” the charter, and that there is no “approved” charter available for public review. That suggestion, if our understanding of LACOE’s communication is accurate, is plainly incorrect as a matter of law. The Education Code is quite clear that the chartering authority “shall either grant or deny the charter” in accordance with the statutory process and timelines. The LACOE Board elected to “grant” the charter on June 7, 2011. There is no subsequent process to revise or change the charter unless WAYS petitions the LACOE Board for such a revision. Certainly, there is no permissible process for LACOE staff to “revise” or otherwise modify the Board-granted charter. Similarly, LACOE staff cannot impose additional contract terms inconsistent with the charter itself.

Element 14 of the WAYS charter as granted by the LACOE Board sets forth the process the parties agreed upon to resolve disputes: “Any controversy, claim, or dispute arising out of or relating to the charter agreement shall be handled first through an informal process in accordance with the procedures set forth below...” (Charter Agreement §14.2.) The charter agreement then sets forth the contractual dispute resolution process, which ultimately results in binding arbitration.

There can be no other terms or conditions imposed by staff that are inconsistent with the charter agreement itself or state law. If you contend otherwise, we dispute that contention. If you so contend, please consider this letter WAYS’ “Written Notification” identifying the nature of the dispute pursuant to Section 14.2 of the charter agreement. We look forward to your Written Response, if any, pursuant to the charter agreement. Your response, if any, should be directed to WAYS’ Executive Director: Edward Cabil.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Response to Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists' Letter Dated May 2, 2012

In response to the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) letter dated May 2, 2012, the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) is available to meet with WAYS' Board and leadership team to discuss the allegations identified in the complaints against WAYS currently being investigated by the County Superintendent of Schools under Education Code section 47604.4. These concerns were discussed at the May 1, 2012 County Board meeting, and as previously identified, allegations against WAYS' Board are as follows:

- Breach of the conditions of authorization
- Fiscal mismanagement
- Breach of fiduciary responsibility
- Breach of duty of care
- Conflict of interest
- Failure to implement the academic program described in the charter

As the WAYS' Board is responsible for the implementation and oversight of the charter, we ask that the Board be available for the meeting. We are requesting that five (5) business days prior to the meeting, WAYS provide LACOE with the following documents:

- Copies of all credit card statements from June 2011 to April 30, 2012
- A listing of all independent contractors including building services and maintenance contracts
- Copies of all contracts executed between June 2011 and April 30, 2012, and evidence of the competitive bidding process as described in WAYS' Fiscal Policy from June 2011 to April 30, 2012
- Any revised or updated Fiscal Policies and Procedures since July 1, 2011
- Copies of all employment contracts and settlement agreements
- Copies of all teacher lesson plans for science from September 2011 to April 30, 2012

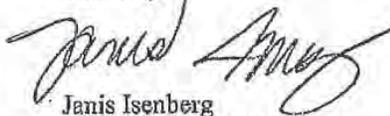

Mr. Edward Cabil

Our staff is available to meet with WAYS' Board on either May 18, 2012 (1:00 – 4:00 p.m.) or May 22, 2012 (9:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. or 1:00 – 4:00 p.m.). Please notify the Charter School Office by May 11, 2012, as to which date and time WAYS' Board prefers.

Pursuant to the County Board Action of May 1, 2012, Dr. Arturo Delgado, Superintendent, will separately communicate with WAYS regarding mediation on the matter of the County Board conditions of authorization.

Re: LACOE Board action concerning mediation with Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists

Dear Dr. Delgado:

This letter follows the LACOE Board meeting of May 1, 2012 wherein the Board acted to request mediation of controversies and disputes related to the matters discussed in your May 1, 2012 staff report. Attached is a copy of your Agenda Item VI.B. and full LACOE staff report (Attachment 1). On May 4, 2012, LACOE sent two letters to WAYS regarding mediation and informal dispute resolution (Attachments 2 and 3, collectively the Written Notification).

WAYS is eager to resolve in good faith any matters that are in controversy or dispute. As we explained at the Board meeting, many of the concerns described in your letters were raised for the very first time last week. In any event, the charter requires that prior to mediation the parties endeavor to resolve any controversy, claim, or dispute through the informal Issue Conference. That LACOE Board contract term is attached as Attachment 4 for your reference. If not resolved, any remaining disputed matter shall be resolved through mediation. Because LACOE staff has raised dozens of controversies, claims or disputes, we deem it essential to sit down at the Issue Conference to discuss what, if anything, is truly in dispute or cannot be resolved without resorting to expensive private mediation.

To that end, we in good faith accept your two May 4, 2012 letters as LACOE's Written Notification of a controversy, claim, or dispute arising out of or relating to the charter agreement as required by the charter. This letter constitutes WAYS' Written Response per the charter. Although the charter allows WAYS up to 20 days to respond, we are responding as quickly as possible as a show of good faith to you and the LACOE Board. Our specific responses to the elements of your Written Notification are as follows:

1. Changes To Petition To Reflect County Board As Authorizer Pursuant To Charter Regulation 5 C.C.R. § 11967

WAYS agrees to fully comply with section 11967, and believes it has done so. Statements to the contrary are simply incorrect and unsupported. Contrary to staff's assertion, WAYS has never “refused” to make those changes. Attachment 5 is a full and complete copy of the WAYS charter petition that fully complies with section 11967 and reflects the County Board as authorizer throughout. Also included as part of the charter is a copy of the County Board minutes approving the charter.

If you believe there is any portion of the charter document that does not accurately reflect the County Board as authorizer, please identify that for us so that we may specifically address it. We do not see any such issues. If there are, they can likely be resolved at the informal Issue Conference rather than through expensive mediation.

2. Conditions of Charter Approval

The motion approving the charter is official memorialized in the Board-approved minutes of that action. We have properly attached that action as the cover document for the approved charter petition, enclosed here as Attachment 5.

Conflicts of Interest

The California Fair Political Practices Commission has determined that charter schools must comply with the Political Reform Act conflict of interest rules, which generally are more stringent than those under the Nonprofit Public Benefit Corporations Law. The County Board motion approving the charter included a condition that WAYS comply with those conflict laws applicable to charter schools. WAYS agrees to do so, and believes it has done so. Neither LACOE staff nor anyone else has presented any documentation or specified any violation since the County Board approved the charter. If you contend otherwise, please explain your concern with specificity rather than your staff’s general statement of “conflict of interest concerns”. It is impossible to have a meaningful Issue Conference and mediation when you do not tell us what your specific, documented concerns actually are.

In your May 1, 2012 report, your staff discussed conflict of interest concerns that all involved a previous executive director. The previous executive director who presented a conflict separated from WAYS in the Summer of 2011. She is not employed by and has no involvement, economic or otherwise, with the operation of WAYS in any capacity whatsoever. WAYS has no intention of ever employing her again. Because she had in prior years extended credit and opened vendor and utilities accounts in her name, it took a few months to fully transfer all those arrangements and contracts from vendors directly to WAYS. That is not unusual. That process has been complete since around October 2011. We note that she does have a child who attends the school. The Charter Schools Act prohibits us from refusing to admit that child.

Page 3 – Letter To Superintendent Delgado

Operational Memorandum of Understanding (“MOU”)

The LACOE staff report ambiguously suggests that WAYS has been uncooperative in negotiating and signing an MOU. We disagree. WAYS agrees to negotiate an MOU in good faith. It is clear from the controversial oversight efforts at issue here that an effective MOU is needed so that both WAYS and LACOE staff have the same understandings of process and timeliness for oversight. We do not dispute that an MOU would be helpful. We suggest that MOU negotiation should be part of the Issue Conference required under the charter.

3. Allegations Of “Complaints” Against WAYS Made To The Charter Schools Office

For more than six months, LACOE staff has alleged that parents and former employees had submitted “complaints” about WAYS to the very same LACOE staff members who urged the County Board to deny the petition. LACOE staff recklessly alleged general allegations of “fiscal mismanagement”, “breach of fiduciary responsibility”, “breach of duty of care”, “conflict of interest”, and “failure to implement the academic program described in charter”. (See, Attachment 6.) WAYS takes those allegations very seriously, and immediately requested that LACOE staff provide copies of the complaint or at least describe any actual “facts” or incidents in particular. (See Attachment 7.) LACOE staff violated the Public Records Act by failing to respond in a timely manner. (See Attachment 8.) When your staff did respond, they failed to produce anything that even remotely suggested there was any management, financial or any other problems with the school. Attachment 9 is LACOE staff’s full and complete response. It is the entirety of your staff’s documentation presented to us to date. Even more outrageous, LACOE staff asserted that it would charge WAYS $0.25 per page for copies of the so-called evidence against us. In any event, the “evidence” is merely several email messages that were solicited by Jan Isenberg, to Jan Isenberg, from disgruntled former board members. Those messages were also many months old.

WAYS was shocked to read LACOE staff’s May 1, 2012 staff report that stated specific allegations for the very first time. Again, the only documentation ever provided to WAYS to date are those few pages attached hereto as Attachment 9. Although it appears that some allegations may be correct (e.g., that the former director remained a signatory on a school account for a short time after separation from the school), they are immaterial. The former director did not sign any checks or conduct any school business after the separation. In any event, the allegations are all old news about incidents that allegedly occurred almost a year ago when the former director was transitioning out of the school. She no longer has any connection to the school whatsoever, except that she is the parent of a child attending the school.

LACOE staff embarked upon a crusade abusing its oversight authority by imposing one unreasonable demand after another. WAYS asked for an Issue Conference and mediation (as you now seek), but staff refused. Attachment 10 includes one of many examples of LACOE staff's abuses.

Your May 4, 2012 letter again poses unrealistic demands under the circumstances. (Attachment 2.) WAYS has no objection whatsoever to reasonable oversight requests and review of our school finances and operations. But harassment and fishing expeditions without any justification are another matter. If you have any reasonable basis whatsoever to impose the demands, we again ask (as we have for months) that you please tell us what that basis is. Attachment 9 is all you have provided. We are eager to discuss and resolve your concerns at the Issue Conference, but it is obviously difficult to do so when you persistently refuse to provide the alleged facts and/or circumstances that concern you.

You suggested that we schedule the Issue Conference for May 18 or 22, 2012. As the oversight authority, you know that WAYS' students are in state mandated testing from May 15 to 25, 2012, which makes timing for the Issue Conference difficult. We therefore propose a four-hour Issue Conference on either (or both) of the following dates: May 29th, or May 30, 2012. We look forward to receiving your documentation well in advance of the Issue Conference so that we may make meaningful progress toward resolution of any remaining issues.

Sincerely,

Edward Cabil
Executive Director

If any changes to Governance or Conflict of Interest were not permanent, it would be grounds for revocation.	Unclear if the condition was met. WAYS did not provide requested information needed to determine if condition was met.

Additional Concerns

- (1) WAYS failed to meet or pursue student outcomes identified in the charter (EC 47607(c)(2)); its 2011 Growth Academic Performance Index (API) score declined 143 points over the preceding year.
- (2) WAYS failed to respond to reasonable requests from authorizer for fiscal information pertaining to the school’s internal controls and fiscal operations (EC 47604.3).
- (3) LACOE received complaints against WAYS, its governing board, and the former Executive Director by a parent, school employees, and former members of the WAYS’ Board. Based on allegations identified in the complaints, the County Superintendent of Schools opened an investigation pursuant to EC 47604.4. The complaints allege WAYS engaged in fiscal mismanagement, the board did not fulfill its fiduciary responsibility or duty of care, conflicts of interest exist, and the school failed to implement the academic program stated in the charter. WAYS failed to cooperate with the County Superintendent of Schools investigation.

Background

WAYS is a K-5 school comprised of three (3) sites located within the geographic boundaries of the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD). Current enrollment is 488 students.

The County Board received the renewal petition as an appeal after denial by the LAUSD Board of Education. LAUSD had denied the petition based on the following findings:

- (1) EC 47605(b)(2) The petitioners were demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program. Specific concerns regarding the WAYS Board included:

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School

- Allowing self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest;
 - Failing to resolve Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempting to do so;
 - Being minimally responsive to staff communications and acting in a manner inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility, calling into question its capacity to govern and successfully implement the program; and
 - Unfamiliarity with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law including the Brown Act.
- (2) EC 47605(b)(5) The petition failed to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School Status of the June 7, 2011 Conditions of Renewal Established by the County Board

Background

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) is located within the geographic boundaries of the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD). The school has three (3) sites; one was approved by the Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) as a Material Revision to the Charter on August 9, 2011. WAYS currently has an enrollment of 488 students (CALPADS Spring 1 Certification, April 2, 2011).

The County Board took action to renew WAYS subject to specific conditions. The renewal petition was received by the County Board on appeal after it was denied by the LAUSD Board of Education based on the following findings:

EC 47605(b)(2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program:

Conflict of interest concerns exist pertaining to members of the WAYS Board of Directors and the WAYS Executive Director and Principal.... the WAYS Board...was minimally responsive to staff communications.... LAUSD considered the governing board's lack of independent and effective response to the Notice of Concern to be inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility...which called into question the Board's capacity to govern the Charter School and successfully implement the program set forth in the petition. The WAYS Board failed to resolve the Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempted to do so....

The WAYS governing board is unfamiliar with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law... [including] whether the Board is familiar with and complies with the requirements of the Brown Act. Additionally, the Board allowed self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the Board in the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest.

EC 47605(b)(5) The petition fails to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements: The Educational Program, Method for Measuring Pupil Progress, Governance Structure, Health and Safety Procedures, Means for Achieving a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, Identification of Retirement Systems, Public School Alternatives, Dispute Resolution, Closure Procedures.

Action to Grant Renewal by the County Board was Subject to Conditions

The June 7, 2011 action to grant renewal was subject to the following conditions:

1. WAYS was to make changes to the petition to reflect County Board as the authorizer as required by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5 section 11967 by June 30, 2011;

2. WAYS' Board was to approve and sign the LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) by June 30, 2011;
3. WAYS was to make application to a Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA) by June 30, 2011;
4. WAYS' former Executive Director was not to be "employed by or at the charter school until such time, if any, that the allegations of conflict of interest be resolved fully in her favor;"
5. WAYS was to comply with all California Conflict of Interest Laws;
6. WAYS was to contract with Michael Cureton as its Executive Director for two (2) years; and
7. If any changes to Governance or Conflict of Interest were not permanent, it would be grounds for revocation.

Status of Compliance with County Board Conditions of Renewal

To date, the school's status on fulfilling the conditions of renewal is as follows:

1. WAYS did not make changes to the petition to reflect County Board as the authorizer. Events relevant to the school's failure to comply with the conditions of renewal are as follows:
 - a. June 2011, WAYS began the revision process under the direction of Executive Director Michael Cureton; LACOE received a draft of proposed changes on August 21, 2011.
 - b. September 15, 2011, Mr. Cureton tendered his resignation effective October 1, 2011. He notified LACOE that Ms. Watson, school principal, would continue to lead the revision process until a new Executive Director is named.
 - c. October 14, 2011, WAYS Board Member, Edward Cabil resigned from the WAYS Board and is appointed interim Executive Director.
 - d. October 21, 2011, WAYS submitted a second revision of proposed charter changes to LACOE.
 - e. November 17, 2011, WAYS' attorney notified LACOE that the charter agreement is "fully authorized" and there "can be no other terms or conditions imposed by staff." The school rescinded previously submitted changes and invoked Dispute Resolution on the requirement to make changes. (November 11, 2011, WAYS Board named Mr. Cabil permanent Executive Director.)
 - f. December 21, 2011, LACOE responded to WAYS stating (1) the County Board has the authority to impose conditions of authorization; (2) WAYS' Board agreed to the changes reflecting the County Board as authorizer by signing the MOU (necessary changes were specified in the MOU as Attachment F); and (3) invoking Dispute Resolution regarding WAYS' unauthorized changes to the petition.
 - g. January 26, 2012, LACOE received a letter from WAYS dated December 11, 2012, which (1) disputed LACOE's ability to impose conditions for authorization; and (2) failed to respond to LACOE's request for an Issues Conference.
 - h. February 2, 2012, LACOE invited WAYS to an Issues Conference to discuss "whether the County Board may, as a condition of authorization, require changes to the charter necessary to reflect the County Board as the authorizer."

pertaining to the school's internal controls and fiscal operations (EC 47604.3).

- a. Based on a review of credit card statements (supporting documents not available for review), and inquiries to WAYS' management and back-office services provider, WAYS exhibits a lack of internal control and oversight over credit card usage. For example, WAYS made credit card payments prior to obtaining receipts and verifying the validity of the charges, which is contrary to its fiscal policies and procedures.
 - b. Controller's Office staff was scheduled to visit WAYS' back-office services provider on November 18, 2011, to make further inquiries and review documentation, but the visit was objected to and cancelled by WAYS. Subsequently, on January 10, 2012, staff met with WAYS Executive Director and Director of Operations to discuss LACOE's concerns regarding WAYS' internal controls. WAYS' Executive Director acknowledged weaknesses exist.
3. LACOE received verbal and written complaints against WAYS, its governing board, and the former Executive Director by a parent, staff, and former members of WAYS' Board. Based on allegations identified in the complaints, the County Superintendent of Schools opened an investigation pursuant to *EC 47604.4*¹. The complaints allege WAYS engaged in fiscal mismanagement, the Board did not fulfill its fiduciary responsibility or duty of care, there were ongoing conflicts of interest, and the school failed to implement the academic program stated in the charter. Evidence supporting the various allegations includes but is not limited to the following:
- a. The former Executive Director interfered with governing board's ability to fulfill its responsibility to oversee the governance of the school.
 - i. Five (5) of WAYS' nine (9) Board members, in office at the time of County Board action, resigned between September 19 and October 20, 2011. The letters of resignation indicate concerns regarding conflict of interest, on-going Board resignations, dissension, the former Executive Director's verbal abuse of Board members, and the precipitous resignation of Mr. Cureton.
 - ii. The former Executive Director failed to comply with the WAYS Board request to remove herself as a signatory on school accounts until after October 28, 2011.
 - iii. Multiple complaints that the former Executive Director was present at and refused to be unseated from the board table at the September 16, 2011 board meeting. The agenda for this meeting included discussion of moving the school to facilities not owned by the former Executive Director. The meeting was disbanded due to unruly behavior by individuals supporting continued use of the former Executive Director's facilities.
 - iv. At the September 22, 2011 special Board meeting, LACOE staff observed that the former Executive Director was seated at the Board table, held private conversations with one Board member during the course of the meeting, and called an absent Board member to ask if they were coming to the meeting. The meeting was disbanded due to lack of a quorum.

¹47604.4(a) In addition to the authority granted by Sections 1241.5 and 47604.3, a county superintendent of schools may, based upon written complaints by parents or other information that justifies the investigation, monitor the operations of a charter school located within that county and conduct an investigation into the operations of that charter school.

- b. The former Executive Director interfered with the day to day operations of the school.
 - i. In July 2011, the former Executive Director represented WAYS in a Department of Labor Relations Division of Labor Standard Enforcement Hearing as reported by the filing party.
 - ii. On August 30, 2011, LACOE staff observed the presence of the former Executive Director at a WAYS' professional development day including her access to confidential student level data. LACOE also obtained written evidence, corroborated by Mr. Cureton, that she had addressed the staff using materials identifying her as the "Chief Executive Officer of Wisdom Academy."
 - iii. On September 30, 2011, Mr. Cureton sent an email stating, "I will resign my position as Executive Director at Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School on October 1, 2011, because I am being constantly harass[ed] by the founder/former executive director and her son."
- c. WAYS has not implemented the academic program described in the charter.
 - i. WAYS has not provided the science-centered curriculum stated in Element 1 of the charter. The petition states WAYS' mission as follows:

The mission consists of three main concepts: Empowering students to be leaders, through high quality education that is anchored in the California State Standards, enabling them to become true scientists who are global citizens as evidenced by their participation in a rigorous content rich science program and expecting them to be leaders who will act as change agents in their local community.
(Emphasis added)

As part of WAYS' renewal application to LAUSD, the district asked the question, "What innovative elements of your charter could be considered best practices and replicated by other schools?" WAYS' response, in part, was its "Science Centered curriculum."

- A. The 2010-11 California Standards Test (CST) for science (administered at fifth grade) indicates only 33% of students scored proficient or above in science. In the previous year, 81% of students scored proficient or above.
- B. Observation by LACOE staff during October 19, 2011, and February 22, 2012, site visits is that the science kits named in the charter are not being utilized and are not present in classrooms. WAYS staff verbally confirmed this observation.
- C. The complaint that textbooks are out of date is corroborated by statements made by WAYS staff that the school is in need of textbooks.
- D. At a December 2011 Board meeting, the WAYS principal reported to the WAYS Board that the school was meeting with a contractor to "bring back" a science program the school previously utilized. There was no evidence of that program during a February 22, 2012 site visit. During that visit, the principal stated the school has deferred the science focus until the school's performance in math and language arts improves.

E. April 2012, LACOE received a complaint against WAYS alleging the school did not provide adequate instructional materials, including textbooks, to implement the educational program.

- d. The WAYS Board failed to fulfill its duty of care and fiduciary responsibility by:
- i. Permitting the former Executive Director access to school financial accounts past her date of employment:
 - A. She remained as a signatory on school bank accounts for more than four (4) months past her date of employment.
 - B. She made charges to a credit card in the school's name between June 13 and June 30, 2011, for travel, accommodations, meals, and gasoline in the amount of $2,155.00.
 - ii. Providing insufficient oversight to ensure adherence to its fiscal policies, including
 - A. The Director of Operations, son of the former Executive Director, approved the check request for the school's credit card payment including charges he initiated.
- e. The following allegations are still pending due to WAYS' failure to cooperate with LACOE's request for information pursuant to EC 47604.4:
- Fiscal mismanagement
 - Breach of fiduciary responsibility
 - Conflict of interest
 - Breach of duty of care
- f. Over the course of the past six (6) months, LACOE issued repeated invitations to WAYS Board and Executive Director to participate in the investigation, only to be met by resistance and later refusal. WAYS even improperly invoked the Dispute Resolution Process to as to what it claims were "false" allegations prompting the investigation. In its last correspondence WAYS maintained its position that it refuses to participate in the investigation.

Dear Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board and Mr. Cabil:

Request to Mediate Pursuant to the Dispute Resolution Process in the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) Petition.

On May 1, 2012, the Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) unanimously voted to approve a motion to request mediation with the WAYS Board under the WAYS's Dispute Resolution Process. Pursuant to that action, the County Board hereby requests mediation with respect to WAYS's failure to make Changes Necessary to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer in accordance with the June 7, 2011 conditions for approval of the WAYS' charter petition.

At its June 7, 2011 meeting, the County Board took action to conditionally approve the charter petition contingent upon WAYS complying with the following conditions ("the June 7, 2011 conditions for approval"):

1. The Former Executive Director not be employed by or at the charter school until such time, if any, that the allegations of conflict of interest have been resolved fully in her favor, and that the school comply with all California conflict-of-interest laws;
2. The then current Executive Director (Mickey Cureton) be contracted for two years;
3. The charter school make changes Necessary to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer;
4. WAYS shall submit to the Charter School Office the signed LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding following the approval by the WAYS governing board;
5. Complete and submit an application to a Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA);
6. Comply with all California Conflict of Interest Laws;

7. If any changes to Governance or Conflict of Interest were not permanent, it would be grounds for revocation.

http://www.lacoe.edu/includes/templates/document_frame.cfm?toURL=documents&id=11019&OrgID=123.

On November 17, 2011, the letter from Mr. John Lemmo invoked the Dispute Resolution Procedure, Element 14 of the WAYS charter:

The LACOE Board elected to “grant” the charter on June 7, 2011. There is no subsequent process to revise or change the charter unless WAYS petitions the LACOE Board for such a revision. Certainly, there is no permissible process for LACOE staff to “revise” or otherwise modify the Board-granted charter.

WAYS further asserted in its November 17, 2011 letter that it refused to “revise or change the charter.”

Therefore, LACOE provided a “Written Response” on December 21, 2011, inviting WAYS to participate in an Issues Conference as required by the WAYS charter Dispute Resolution Procedure.

On January 26, 2012, WAYS responded that it had issued a letter dated “December 11, 2012” to respond to the December 21, 2011 LACOE letter. That letter not only mischaracterizes the holding in California School Bds. Assn. v. State Bd. of Education (2010) 186 Cal. App. 4th 1298, but misstates the issue:

In any event, it appears from your letter that both LACOE and WAYS agree that: (1) the charter document is that as approved by the County Board; and (2) no conditions can be imposed with are inconsistent with the charter itself. Please let us know whether you disagree.

In response LACOE invited WAYS to an Issues Conference and provided tentative meeting dates of February 10, 2012, or February 15, 2012.

On February 6, 2012, WAYS replied by refusing to participate in the Issues Conference, feigning that it did not know what the issue was, when it was WAYS that invoked the Dispute Resolution Process in its November 17, 2011 letter. The February 6, 2012 letter states, “If LACOE has any legitimate concern about the operation of the school or anything else concerning WAYS, you must specify what that is so we may immediately address it.”

Since WAYS has refused to attend the Issues Conference as required under its charter’s Dispute Resolution Procedure, the next step in that Dispute Resolution Procedure is for either party to request mediation. The County Board hereby requests mediation of WAYS’s failure to comply with the June 7, 2011 conditions for approval, including WAYS’s failure to make changes Necessary to Reflect to County Board as the Authorizer.

Should WAYS fail to respond and comply with the mediation requirement of the Dispute Resolution Procedure of the WAYS charter the County Board will file a petition to compel arbitration. Under that provision of the WAYS charter, any party who fails to submit to arbitration shall bear all costs and expenses incurred by such other party in compelling arbitration. If the County Board seeks such an action due to WAYS’s failure to comply with that provision, it intends to recoup any and all costs and expenses incurred in compelling arbitration, including attorneys’ fees.

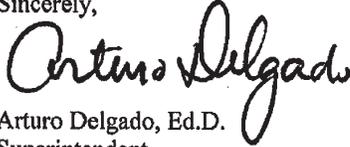

According to the WAYS Dispute Resolution Procedure, the mediation must occur by June 9, 2012. We have filed the attached Request for Mediation with the American Arbitration Association (AAA) as the

May 4, 2012

Charter petition submitted by WAYS provides for mediation by AAA. AAA will contact both parties regarding scheduling and the selection of the mediator.

Please call the Charter School Office at (562) 922-8806 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Introduction & Self Assessment

Introduction

Merle Williamson Foundation doing business as Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) is a public charter school of 265 students with a capacity of 356. WAYS became a charter school in July of 2006. WAYS is located in its original opening location in the South Los Angeles area of Green Meadows Villa. WAYS serves Kindergarten through grade five students. Now in our fifth year of operation, WAYS has quickly gained a strong reputation as an academically high performing charter successfully serving a population of students traditionally labeled as underperforming. As a charter school, WAYS is authorized by the Los Angeles County Board of Education (the "County") and the California State Board of Education, and receives public per-pupil funding, federal and local grants and in-kind donations to support its operations.

In our diligent task of seeking a renewal of the WAYS charter petition, an authentic and reflective examination process has been engaged by the WAYS community. We have thoroughly analyzed the strengths and weaknesses of our school community, and in doing so, highlighted our successful academic and fiscal results as well as made recommended adjustments. As a school community we are inspired by our successes and accountable to our challenges. We are committed to the ongoing vitality of WAYS and will highlight ways in which we seek to better serve our students and families. We respectfully submit this petition for charter renewal for the 2011 - 2012 – 2015 - 2016 school years.

We believe that WAYS provides a proven educational program in which all stakeholders – students, parents, teachers, community leaders and the school administration embrace a shared vision for the goal of providing a high quality, transformative learning experience that is steeped in principles of learning for the twenty-first century and is equitable for every child that joins the WAYS family.

Mrs. Okonkwo is an embodiment of a humanitarian to many and she continues to inspire children of the local community by her overflowing benevolence, words of wisdom and community outreach for South, Los Angeles.

A detailed analysis of the school student achievement data including STAR/CST, API and AYP Data

We believe the viability of WAYS' academic programs can be validated by assessment data that exemplifies WAYS success at educating those students whom the school seeks to educate. Our assessment outcomes indicate that WAYS is making an unprecedented effort in achieving its mission of providing a transformational learning climate by closing the achievement gap for African-American and Latino students. WAYS has consistently exceeded both Los Angeles Unified School District ("LAUSD" or the "District"), state and neighboring school outcomes on the California Standards Test in the areas of English Language Arts, Math and Science throughout the implementation of the charter. According to the following assessment results, WAYS has met the minimum criteria for renewal set forth by Education Code 47607.

These results also, reveal that WAYS is meeting its mission of providing a high-quality public education program when compared statewide, districtwide and locally.

California Standards Test (CST) English Language Arts (ELA) Analysis

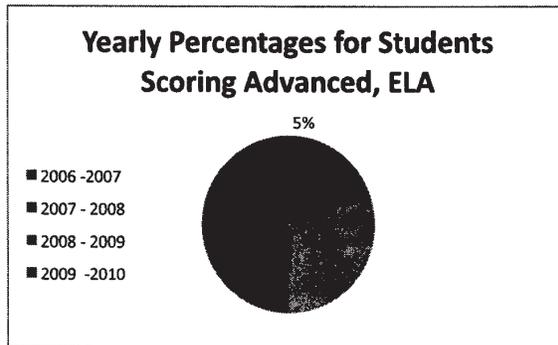

During our petition period, we have met our goal of continuously increasing the percentage of students that score advanced or proficient school wide while decreasing the number of students that score below basic and far below basic. WAYS students continue to show growth and exceed AYP goals with continued enrollment in the charter. This growth demonstrates a significant "value-add" for each year a student spends in the charter:

ELA trend analysis

When we compare school years by conducting an analysis of students scoring advanced and proficient, we find that overall the performance of our students in ELA has given us room for growth. When we analyzed the results of our 2008 assessments we designed new approaches to teaching reading comprehension and writing. We believe that reading comprehension and writing must be taught systematically and explicitly. We conducted an assessment of our ELA curriculum materials and at this time adopted supplemental materials to aid in the teaching of comprehension and writing. We also dedicated considerable time to analyzing student progress in these areas. The results reflect schoolwide growth in our targeted areas with WAYS students who test advanced on ELA achieving yearly gains, growing from 5% during our initial testing year to 43% in 2009 – 2010.

An explanation of how other periodic, formative assessment data is used informatively to guide instruction for all stakeholders

We believe that periodic assessments drive rigor. We regularly and systematically administer periodic and formative assessments that are given to teachers in advance, to be used as a road map to guide instruction. We use these assessments to track student progress through the year to provide meaningful data that can be used to make a difference in instruction. Beginning with the end in mind, teachers first create rubrics and benchmarks for student progress and use curriculum maps to plan their instruction for the year. An assessment calendar is generated that is aligned with curriculum maps and focuses on the standards that need to be assessed and re-assessed for proficiency. The curriculum maps and periodic assessments act as the guide for sound data-driven instruction.

We have seen an improvement in the effectiveness of teaching due to our use of software tools that allow us to successfully aggregate student data and analyze the results for strengths and weakness in instructional delivery, allowing teachers to change strategies in response to changing needs.

The results of periodic and formative assessments are regularly communicated with students and parents as part of our collaborative culture.

A description of best practices that fulfilled our school's mission as well as challenges from the prior petition period

We attribute our accomplishments to a variety of factors

During the initial petition period, WAYS accomplished the following successes

- Effective instructional techniques – By creating an environment that is responsive to each students individual needs and designing lesson plans that differentiate instruction, our teachers are able to closely identify with each Young Scientists.
- High Expectations for Student Achievement – When one examines the programs of our school it is apparent that the strength of WAYS is student achievement. We are most encouraged by our students performance. Schoolwide indicators of success reveal that we are meeting the goals of the charter as it is evident that our students are learning. We acknowledge that our charter is a contracted agreement with the County with student achievement as the foremost expected outcome. We further acknowledge our student achievement results:

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

- We have met any required AYP in every year of operation
 - We have been ranked in API decile 8 among statewide demographically comparable schools
 - The academic performance of our students is greater than the academic performance of the majority of the public schools that our pupils would otherwise have been required to attend as well as the academic performance of the schools in LAUSD taking into account the composition of the student population whom we serve
 - 43% of our students are scoring advanced on the CST in English language arts and 76% are scoring advanced or proficient.
 - 56% of our students are scoring advanced on the CST in math and 85% of our students are scoring advanced or proficient in math on the CST.
 - Less than 19% of our students are scoring at below basic or far below basic on the CST in English language arts, math
 - Less than 10% of our students are scoring below basic or far below basic on the CST in science
- Meeting the needs of Exceptional Students – Another success we have achieved that adds to our strength of diversity is success with our exceptional population of students. Our exceptional students include students with Individual Education Plans with specific goals for Speech and Language Impairments, Development Delay, Specific Learning Disability and Autism.
 - Flexible scheduling – Once we have aggregated and analyzed periodic and formative assessment data, adjustments in the daily schedule are sometimes needed that allow for additional time to master learning objectives that lead to standards mastery. Flexible scheduling also allows our students to delve deeper in concepts they are learning through the application of project – based learning.
 - Extended School Day/Increased Instructional Time – Since the charter's inception, WAYS has provided a longer school day as well as a free after school program for families in need of such service. With the awarding of the ASES grant, we have been able to develop a comprehensive, academically enriched after school program that is tailored to meet the needs of our Gifted and Talented students as well as those who need intervention to progress at minimum one level of proficiency each year as measured by the California Standards Test. Student groups specific to the after school program have been created in Data Director, our assessment software program. This program is used to monitor the effectiveness of intervention and enrichment instruction provided during after school hours as well as communicate progress to parents. Physical fitness and enrichment activities such as STEM, Girl Scouts, Drill Team, Drama, Dance and Art occur during the after school program.

- Integrated Core Curriculum with an Inquiry based approach – The WAYS curriculum is integrated as a whole and connections are made between content, processes, knowledge and skills. We believe providing real time applications of what students learn increases the relevancy and meaningfulness of learning for our students. When you visit WAYS you will see classes in which all subjects are taught, multiple modalities to learning utilized with critical thinking and inquiry being promoted through the use of Bloom's Taxonomy.
- Exemplary Science Education - We believe we are dispelling the achievement myth that exists with underserved students and girls in science. We are making a bold attempt to prepare our students for 21st century career choices that will weigh heavily in the sciences. We are most proud of our accomplishments in science as they relate to our girls with 50% of our participating girls scoring advanced in science on the CST and 78% scoring advanced or proficient in science on the CST.
- Diversity - WAYS is proud to support a learning environment that mirrors our community. The Green Meadows Villa area of Los Angeles is located two miles from the historic Watts area of South Los Angeles. The community has a racial mix of African-American and Hispanic -Latino residents. WAYS' student population is proud to represent both sub-groups. Our Hispanic – Latino student population has grown significantly during the petition to closely reflect that of the neighborhood. Similar to WAYS most students in the Similar Schools Rank qualify for Free or Reduced Lunch.

- Highly qualified leadership, teachers and support staff – Our faculty has been selected for their innovative yet complimentary talents, team attitude, diversity and commitment to urban students and their families. All of teachers and instructional aides are highly qualified and No Child Left Behind compliant. In addition to completing rigorous teaching training programs, many of our teachers have received Clear credential status through participation in the Beginning Teacher Support and Assessment Program. Our faculty embrace the mission of the school and are encouraged to act as change agents in the lives of the students we serve.

- Provided a transformational learning climate by succeeding with underserved students – A feature that sets us apart from traditional charter schools is our efforts to educate the whole child and continuously find ways to meet the individual needs of all of our students. We are proud of our success with underserved students. We have never expelled or “kicked out” a student from WAYS. We utilize interventions such as Student Success Team, parent education and counseling to address the unique needs of our student population.
- Growth in Balance of Racial Ethnicity in Student Population – We conducted a comprehensive outreach program to attract a diverse population of students, however due to our strong academic culture many of our students come to WAYS through the referral of our parents. Community involvement and engagement is an essential component of our success. We make intentional efforts to promote a school climate that systematically promotes communal bonds amongst students as well as encourages community awareness and service. Over the course of the petition period, students have learned to care for and rely on classmates of diverse backgrounds while drawing from the unique attributes of those other personalities and cultures.

- Student, Parent and Community Engagement – We celebrate the success of our students with our parents and enjoy their input during monthly Family Nights. Parents serve on the Parent Advisory Council which is elected yearly. Through their service we have held several successful fundraisers that have enabled our students to form the Student Travel and Research (STAR) program. Through the efforts of our parents, WAYS students have participated in science excursions to Ensenada, Mexico, Sacramento, Lake Arrowhead Ranch Outdoor Science Camp and the Aquarium of the Pacific, Under the Sea Stars overnight stay.

Challenges of initial petition period

Although accomplished in several dynamics, success has come with challenges that we humbly acknowledge and address

- Leadership Transitions –During the first year of operation WAYS was initially led by a leadership team consisting of consultants from California State University, Los Angeles. During this initial year of operation an alternative was sought to placing the leadership of the school at the direction of consultants. The WAYS Governing Board decided to hire a Principal as school leader. The first Principal of WAYS was Jan Lyle. Later during the initial year, Alake Watson joined WAYS as Principal. We are grateful for the contributions of the initial leaders of WAYS. In addition to the principal another leadership transition occurred with the recruitment of Loretta McDonald as Chairman of the WAYS Governing Board. Ms. McDonald has led the WAYS governing board for the past 3 years and has helped to provide sound counsel on fiscal matters as well as strategic leadership for the growth and development of WAYS. Ms. McDonald was chosen to lead the WAYS governing board for her knowledge of charter school operations and her expertise in charter school finance and governance. She is a former charter school business executive. Ms. McDonald is a graduate of USC's Marshall School of Business and USC's Chief Business Operator Program for Charter Schools.
- Outsourcing to a food service vendor – We believe one important aspect of providing a transformational climate for our students involves feeding them a diet that is healthy, sustainable and nutritional in value. For this reason, we have struggled with the concept of outsourcing our meals to a food service vendor. We have made attempts to work with different vendors on menu planning and preparation, however, we feel it is most beneficial to prepare our students meals on-site. The outsourcing of our meal program is a challenge that we would like to remediate during our the new petition period.
- Facility Expansion – Our student population continues to grow along with the reputation of the quality of our school program and although encouraged by the aspect of growth, we are challenged due to a lack of space in our current facility that will accommodate our entire student body. For this reason WAYS has a satellite site nearby in which two kindergarten classes are held.

We've found a number of solutions to remediating our challenges

- To address our leadership challenges and after careful consideration, we made another transition during our first year and hired our second Principal, Alake Watson. Ms. Watson was chosen for her strong commitment to urban education, instructional expertise on implementing standards – based, data – driven instruction and for her ability to lead a dynamic staff as a visionary. We are confident that we have the right person on board as we are experiencing outstanding schoolwide results under her leadership. Ms. Watson is a graduate of Pepperdine University's Educational Leadership Academy and is a current Doctoral Student in Pepperdine's Organizational Leadership program.
- To address our challenge of meal program outsourcing we have constructed a commercial kitchen that has received all necessary clearances for preparation of meals as commercial kitchen. (building and safety requirements)
- To address our facility expansion needs, WAYS is strategically planning to partner with local schools for additional space as well as expand our current site.

A detailed analysis of the extent to which WAYS has achieved its mission intended in the initial charter petition

Achievement of mission

The mission of WAYS is to create a transformational learning climate in which students become empowered to be leaders, self-responsible learners, agents of change, and true scientists. The mission is the center piece of the school's educational plan. The mission consists of three main concepts: Empowering students to be leaders, through high quality education that is anchored in the California State Standards, enabling them to become true scientists who are global citizens as evidenced by their participation in a rigorous content rich science program and expecting them to be leaders who will act as change agents in their local community. We have made measurable strides toward our mission during our past 4 years:

- Closing the achievement gap for underserved students in science – We are proud of our accomplishments in science education and more remarkably our success with dispelling the norm of low performance in science amongst girls. Through a rigorous application of the California

State Standards for science we have been able to strengthen and expand our FOSS curriculum to include meaningful real-time science education for our students through high quality instruction that is standards – based, thematic and partnered with scientific organizations such as Heal the Bay, The California Science Center, The Aquarium of the Pacific, Arrowhead Lake Science Camp. For effective science instruction, teachers use the 5 E model of instruction in which teachers are to Engage, Explore, Explain, Elaborate, and Evaluate. Students learn from these guided principles through hands on activities, such as games, and projects. WAYS' students have participated in hands on science through the extensive care of animals which they were able to "adopt" and care for during non-school hours. Our focus on science is a factor in the strength of our API score. When we benchmark the progress of our students against those in our neighborhood schools we find that our students benefit greatly from an educational program with science as a focus:

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists	81%
Compton Ave.	61%
Watts Learning Center Charter	60%
96 th St.	58%
LAUSD	57%
93 rd St.	49%

Russell Elem.	42%
Grape Elem.	42%
South Park Elem.	37%
Parmelee Elem.	33%

When we examine the results of our neighboring schools on the CST for Science, our results reveal that WAYS leads our neighboring schools in the percentage of students scoring advanced and proficient.

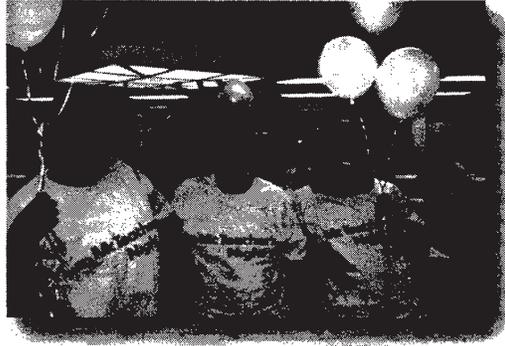

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

- Implementation of a rigorous California standards based education –* WAYS' educational program uses inquiry-based approach to create a student-centered learning community, and address students' individual interests, developmental levels, and learning styles. The curriculum is grounded in the California standards and adheres to the concepts and goals identified in the state frameworks. Instruction emphasizes power standards that focus on depth of instruction instead of quantity of instruction by systematically pacing instructional units. WAYS' program is structured around a dynamic and integrated curriculum that has been aligned with the California core curriculum of English-Language Arts, Mathematics, Science, and Social Science. The infusion of purposeful technology serves to stimulate students' enthusiasm and interest in linking students to the global community in the learning process.
- Partnerships with community service organizations that promote student leadership –* Partnerships with organizations such as the American Leukemia Society and Heal the Bay, give our students opportunities to fulfill the WAYS mission of empowering our students to be leaders. Recently our students raised nearly $700.00 for the American Leukemia Society's "Pennies for Patients" program. In collaboration with Heal the Bay our students have assisted with Malibu and Santa Monica Beach Cleanups, as well as in Coastal Cleanup Day, the world's largest volunteer event that occurs annually in September. WAYS participates as one of only a few sites that are located in the metropolitan Los Angeles area. WAYS students were recently featured in a one – hour documentary on the significance of Coastal Cleanup Day which aired on September on KTLA. WAYS' partnership with Heal the Bay began through a collaboration with the Watts Gang Task Force in which we've partnered to be active participants in remediating gang activity in the immediate area of WAYS. Each year we host Thanksgiving dinner for families and friends of WAYS and give away gift baskets of food provided through a partnership with Neighborhood Outreach Council. This is a student led event in which turkeys are given away to families in need and the entire school community is invited this celebratory event.

WAYS staff members participate in McTeacher night to raise funds for extra-curricular activities.

- Parent Participation - Our parents act as integral part of WAYS helping us to achieve our mission through partnering with us in their child's education. Parents are encouraged to willingly volunteer 30 hours per year as well as participate in parent education and training classes and monthly Family Nights. We created Family Nights as a means of providing our parents a window of opportunity to grasp the concepts and objectives of their child's learning through their participation in fun, hands-on activities with their children that promote the California state standards. (Parents are a part of governing board) (Parents as leaders, leadership roles for parents, committee participation of parents).

How WAYS meets the needs of subgroups African American, Socio-Economically Disadvantaged, English Learners and Students with Disabilities

African American

Our African – American students benefit mostly from a positive growth in school climate where high expectations for learning as well as behavior are upheld. As a Professional Learning Community, we monitor the progress of our students through supportive management tools that are tracked through Response to Intervention and Instruction(RTI²). Through home visits we develop we develop relationships with our students and their families that allow for a team centered approach to helping our students success.

Economically Disadvantaged

The saying, “It takes a village to raise a child” is apparent and observable at WAYS. As a school community, we believe and expect all of our students to become high achievers. We have found success with our African-American students through adopting a whole – child approach to education. We are cognizant of the fact that a child’s education is socially dynamic and therefore must reach beyond the classroom to include families, extended family , teachers, the student and all stakeholders involved in the child’s educational success. As a means of collaboration with our families, we conduct home visits, have monthly Family Nights where dinner is served to all attendees. We also partner with social welfare organizations such as Operation School Bell where children in need receive school uniforms and the Neighborhood Outreach Council which provides free food that is available to families in upon request. At WAYS we maintain an open door policy within our school community where the school administrators and teachers are highly accessible.

English Language Learners

We assess our ELL students systematically throughout the year using both formative and summative of assessment methods. Summative assessments include the CELDT and CST. Formative assessments include the Sacramento County Office of Education (SCOE) Unit assessments for Open Court Reading as well as the SCOE Skills Assessments as well as an analysis of student writing. ELL students receive differentiated instruction inclusively with EO students in the general classroom and the strategies for EL students are shared whole-group to maximize the benefit for all students. This collaborative approach is allowing us to effectively close the achieve gap for our EL students as evidenced by the CST scores for this population of students. Our teachers meet in collaborative groups to develop consensus on strategies that are effective as well as refine teaching strategies. SDAIE strategies, graphic organizers and culturally relevant literature are used to support lessons. Although there are several other languages spoken by WAYS students our most significant group of ELL students are Hispanic. To ensure the success of our ELL students we also use a collaborative approach that fosters communication between our Resource Specialists and Speech Therapists.

CELDT Data

For participating students who test in CELDT annually we have seen the following results:

	2006 – 2007	2007- 2008	2008 – 2009	2009-2010

Until such time, the CA Standards will be used in the following ways:

- Used to map curriculum into units and lessons
- Used to as a guide when writing behavioral level performance objectives for lessons.
- Incorporated into Adopted Text Program outcomes and assessments
- Used as a guide when developing formative and summative unit level benchmark performance assessment rubrics.
- Aggregated into benchmark performance indicators for tri-yearly summative benchmark performance assessment.

WASC Accreditation

To evaluate the strength of our programs, we sought an outside evaluation. As a result, WAYS is accredited with the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. WAYS received initial candidacy status in May of 2010.

Our administrative team participates as WASC Visiting Committee Members to evaluate schools seeking candidacy. Our participation on these visits provides us with a powerful tool for benchmarking the continual growth and improvement of WAYS.

We developed our Expected Schoolwide Learning Results through participation in the accreditation process. Our ESLR's give us a framework for achieving the school's mission of empowering students to become leaders, change agents and true scientists.

An analysis of how data analysis and professional development were used to improve instruction

Professional development at WAYS focuses on improving the ability of teachers to ensure academic success for all learners. Although, the majority of our students are scoring on grade-level on formative and summative assessments, during the initial petition period we have found new ways to refine our instructional strategies for providing more individualized instruction that is strategically designed to meet the academic and social needs of our students. The Professional Learning Community (PLC) and Response to Intervention² models have provided a framework for implementation of our professional development goals. Additionally, strategic planning occurs that is structured by the design of SMART goals. SMART goals are Specific, Measureable, Attainable, Realistic and Timely. An example of a recent SMART goal analyzed the recent performance data of third grade students in ELA, specifically writing conventions. A SMART goal was developed to increase the percentage of students demonstrating proficiency on both periodic assessments and the CST.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Strategies and action steps were developed that addressed scheduling, grouping of students into groups that delineate the level of support needed as intensive, strategic or benchmark. Through collaboration, a key component of the PLC model, grade level teams continue to monitor the performance of students in groups with the expectation of student movement to benchmark groups as well as moving up one proficiency level on the CST, within a designated period of time.

The results of our professional development planning and our expected outcomes are shared with parents at the beginning of the year during Back to School Night and ongoing throughout the year during Family Nights and Parent/Student/Teacher conferences.

How the WAYS' Governing Board has provided leadership for effective implementation of the charter

Our governing board has provided excellent leadership in matters of strategic planning, finance, law, human resources, negotiation and evaluation. Members of the board have received training in and comply with the regulations for open local government meetings set forth in the Ralph M. Brown Act. During the petition period the governing board established a finance committee which provided incentives for increasing student achievement relative to student attendance. Their effective leadership in this area resulted in an increased average daily attendance rate of 95% for the 2009 – 2010 school year. The governing board has also formed special committees for community outreach, and public relations. The governing board meets monthly on the last Thursday of each school month. The board has fulfilled its purpose of ensuring that WAYS carries out the school mission and vision.

The District has benefited from WAYS' existence

Our charter school is a vital component of our community. Most of our students live in the immediate area and are the recipients of a high quality education. The achievement of our students is a most direct benefit of WAYS to the District. We understand our obligation to our students, their families and the District. We are grateful for the opportunity to make the kind of impact on the lives of the children we serve that will influence them to go to college, to study the sciences if they choose and to live as life - long learners.

WAYS desires to continue to make a positive impact in the lives of the children we serve by providing the kind of educational opportunities that have propelled our school to become the leading school of 3 in our local area that has an API score of 800 or above. We believe that diversity is an indication of the strength of our program and we are proud to represent the ethnic groups of our surrounding neighborhood with 57% percent of our students being African-American and 43% being Hispanic – Latino. Our parent testimonials assure us that they are committed to the further growth of WAYS. WAYS owes a great deal of its success to the leadership parents and will continue to give parents opportunities to contribute to WAYS and the community overall.

While we recognize the growth of our neighboring schools, we believe that WAYS provides a choice for a high-quality, enriched education as evidenced by the scholastic achievement of our students who would have otherwise attended other neighborhood schools.

Mission

The mission of WAYS is to create a transformational learning climate in which students become "Empowered to be Leaders Change Agents and True Scientists".

Vision

The vision of WAYS is to create an educational program that educates the whole child. This includes an intentional engagement of development of the child's intellect, physical body, emotions, and spirit.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Our charter school intends to establish a program that educates the whole child.
Our goals include:

- Support each student in meeting the California State Content Standards.
- Create a climate that supports each student's love of learning, psychology of success, inquiry and problem solving skills, and social and emotional growth.
- Incorporate a variety of assessment strategies including the regular use of authentic assessments, standardized tests, diagnostic tests, portfolios, and parent reports. In addition, WAYS will create tailored aggregate benchmark assessments which will be used to measure student performance related to key learning outcomes in core curriculum areas three times a year in all grades and use the results to make decisions related to instructional approaches necessary for the success of individual students, whole class progress evaluation, and program evaluation.
- Improve each student's mastery of language arts and mathematics California content standards as defined in the Measurable Student Outcomes section of this petition.
- Significantly improve student connections among between conceptual understandings, practical applications, skills, procedures, content and appropriate vocabulary pertaining to each (California standards-based).
- Significantly improve student computation skills and mathematical literacy.
- Provide intentional and systematic strategies for the successful progress of our primarily English Language Learner population in their language skill development.
- Include each child's parents in the process of their education.
- Systematically teach and support students in their skills for being healthy, happy, safe, and contributing members of the WAYS community and the community around them.

1.2 School Description

WAYS will be autonomous and responsible for all aspects pertaining to the daily operation and governance of the school, including its on-site administration, professional development, curriculum and methodology development, and delivery of instruction to an ethnically diverse and economically challenged student population.

WAYS will offer parents a creative and innovative educational alternative. Learning will be experientially based. The classroom atmosphere will encourage students to act independently, cooperatively, responsibly and attentively. Our program will incorporate a student-centered curriculum that is aligned with the state content standards. It will incorporate multi-age grouping of students for instruction, team teaching, experiential activities, plentiful choices for students, and an intentionally supportive and humanistic culture—all within an internally motivating environment that promotes student self-regulation rather than punishments and rewards.

We will offer a single track traditional calendar (similar to the LAUSD single track calendar in the first year of operation).

1.3 Projected Student Enrollment

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists' anticipated enrollment is 520 students in grades K-5 for the first school year. The following is the student population by grade level:

WAYS' Projected Enrollment
	2011 – 2012	2012 - 2013	2013 - 2014	2014 – 2015
Kindergarten	80	80	80	80
First	80	80	80	80
Second	80	80	80	80
Third	80	80	80	80
Fourth	100	100	100	100
Fifth	100	100	100	100
Total	520	520	520	520

Identification of Those Whom the School Is Attempting to Educate

The target students will be children between the ages of 5 – 11 from around the greater Los Angeles area with a focus on students from the immediate residential area of Green Meadows Villa.

The nearest existing LAUSD school is South Park Elementary. Last year its student population was 82% Hispanic and 18% African-American. 63% of its students were English language learners. 97% of the pupils qualify for free and reduced price meals. WAYS strives to make its student demographic profile to be similar to that of the surrounding community. We expect to have student population that is 50% African – American and 50% Hispanic – Latino.

We will conduct a comprehensive outreach program to attract a diverse population of students. Community involvement and engagement will be a critical emphasis of the WAYS strategy. We will make intentional efforts to promote a school climate that systematically promotes communal bonds among students as well as encourages community awareness and service. Over the course of their school years, pupils will learn to care for and rely on classmates of many diverse backgrounds while drawing from the unique attributes of those other personalities and cultures.

1.4 Educated Persons of the 21st Century

The successful 21st century citizen must embody an amalgamation of self awareness, adaptability, ambition, internal motivation, intellectual prowess coupled with a broad knowledge base, advanced oral and written communication skills, advanced analytic reading abilities, creative critical thinking ability, confidence to take intellectual and emotional risks, management and collaboration skills—all under the umbrella of social responsibility, and all noted as attributes that are best established during the elementary school years when identities are developing.

Educated persons of the 21st century will require skills beyond the basic reading, writing, and arithmetic. Educated persons will require complex analytical skills combined with mutual respect, integrity, and responsible citizenship to prepare them for an ethnically and culturally diverse global society. They will have a strong and healthy self-concept and see themselves as autonomous, cooperative, respectful and productive lifetime learners. They will be self-disciplined, intuitive, self-motivated, and pro-social toward others and in their personal choices. They will be able to work and live harmoniously with others and the environment and interact in a manner that is flexible, healthy, purposeful, and creative.

Educated persons of the 21st century will understand that life existence is interconnected and interdependent and will see themselves as integral members of a diverse community. They will have developed a broad knowledge base and acquired skills that will allow them to be constructive, successful, and contributing members of society.

Educated persons of the 21st century will be:

- Intrinsically motivated life-long learners.
- Able to reflect on and evaluate one's own learning.
- Able to solve problems effectively and proactively.
- Able to communicate clearly to effectively transmit facts, ideas, emotions and opinions using oral, written, and visual language.
- Able to read, infer, and interpret a variety of print material, i.e. literature, poetry, newspapers, reference sources, texts, graphs, and applications.
- Able to discern mathematical relationships, reason logically, and use mathematical techniques effectively in practical application.

1.5 Goals and Objectives

1.5.1 School-Wide Goals

WAYS is committed to integrity and quality in all phases of its operation. Our commitment to excellence and inquiry is embraced by all members of the WAYS team. We believe that to be a truly effective center of learning, we must ensure that we are an effective learning organism.

WAYS will take a systems approach to developing a school-wide culture of quality, grounded in the California State Standards and the WASSC (Western Alliance for the Study of School Climate) eight factors of Quality School Climate. These eight factors are:

1. Appearance and Physical Plant
2. Faculty Relations
3. Student Interactions
4. Leadership/Decision Making
5. Discipline Environment
6. Learning and Assessment Environment
7. Attitude and Culture
8. School-Community Relations

1.5.2 Learning Outcomes

The learning goals at WAYS are based on the development of self-responsible, intrinsically motivated, critical thinking students. Our goals are that students in grades K-5 will become proficient or better in their ability to gather, analyze and use information, communicate precisely, solve problems, work cooperatively, think creatively, initiate action, and participate in a global society all while gaining English proficiency.

WAYS' educational program will use a technology-rich inquiry-based approach to create a student-centered learning community, and address students' individual interests, developmental levels, and learning styles. The curriculum will be grounded in the California standard and adhere to the concepts and goals identified in the state frameworks. Instruction will emphasize power standards that focus on depth of instruction instead of quantity of instruction by systematically pacing instructional units. WAYS' program will be structured around a dynamic and integrated curriculum that has been aligned with the California core curriculum of English-Language Arts, Mathematics, Science, and Social Science. The infusion of purposeful technology will serve to stimulate students' enthusiasm and interest in linking students to the global community in the learning process.

WAYS will strive to use inquiry as the leading but not exclusive pedagogical approach. Inquiry, interpreted in the broadest sense, is the process initiated by the learner or the teacher that moves the learner from his or her current level of understanding to a new and deeper level of understanding. Ultimately our goals for student learning will mean:

- Becoming proficient with a wide variety of techniques for inquiry including scientific method, concept attainment, concept mapping, inductive and deductive reasoning, classification, and the interpretation of data.
- Developing an orientation toward exploring, wondering and questioning, and thinking independently and creatively.
- Drawing connections among content, ideas, and findings and relating them to one's own life context.
- Researching and seeking information.
- Become skilled at making predictions, designing research, and collecting data.
- Becoming confident in their abilities to make and test their own theories and generalizations.
- Working in research teams. Resolving conflict and differences of interpretation. Stretching their skills in different roles within a group dynamic.

Our educational program will have a positive impact on increasing the interest of girls in math and science to help fill the void of women in science and engineering fields.

1.6 Goals of the Program

We live in an age of continuous and ever accelerating technological evolution. Demand for qualified specialists in the sciences, engineering, information, and computer technology is growing exponentially, and with it comes an increased need for highly educated specialists. As a result, many high tech companies depend on foreign specialists that they retain on work visas. Our goal is to "Grow Our Own" scientists to help fill the void.

1.7 How Learning Best Occurs and the WAYS Curriculum

At the heart of the WAYS Curriculum will be the California State Content Standards. These standards will be mapped onto each grade level curriculum and systematically met throughout each unit of instruction. The standards will be used to benchmark each student's academic progress as well.

Inquiry-based Learning will be the instructional design of preference at WAYS. Working under the principle that the instructional design for any given content or concept should be determined by that concept or content, the WAYS curriculum development process will develop the most appropriate instructional strategies to meet the necessary standards. In many situations, Direct Instruction will be the most appropriate means to teaching particular skills and procedures. Yet WAYS will make a commitment to incorporate inquiry-based designs whenever appropriate. Inquiry-based instructional designs include such strategies as scientific inquiry, concept attainment, mental maps, inductive reasoning, problem-based learning, classification, literature analysis, primary sources data analysis, inductive questioning, and creative and artistic design.

A large portion of the learning at WAYS will be structured using a Project-Based Learning Approach (Ronald J. Newell, 2003). This approach provides a means for students to take charge of their own learning by actively planning, researching, and developing an in-depth study of a topic of interest. Students will be responsible for selecting a topic, implementing the project, and taking part in an assessment and reflection process of their product and process efforts. In many cases, students will be responsible for deciding what processes they will use to achieve the project, according to their individual learning styles. It is the role of the teacher to guide the students, set expectations, facilitate questions, create clear learning targets, and offer support for learners who need more direct intervention.

WAYS will incorporate an Integrated Curricular Approach across content areas. The primary thematic vehicle for curriculum integration will be problem-based science units. Math, reading, and social studies will be integrated into broad themes related to an authentic scientific problem. Data analysis will require the application of math skills, report writing will incorporate language skills, and research implications will inherently involve social implications. However, any of the core subject areas could be determined as the best unit anchor concept and the others would be integrated where meaningful.

Teaching will be conducted with the intention of promoting each student's Psychology of Success or Achievement. As one examines the idea of a success psychology it becomes evident that there are a whole series of ideas that seem to be rooted in this unifying phenomena. The terms, self-esteem, achievement psychology, intrinsic motivation, movement psychology, and success psychology are all characterized by the same fundamental components. A substantial amount of research indicates that all these orientations lead to academic success (Auer, 1992; Benham, 1993; Klein & Keller, 1990; Joseph, 1992; Rennie, 1991; Solley & Stagner, 1956). When we pair the research down to its fundamental components, we see that there are 3 factors that make up ones psychological orientation toward success. They are the following:

- Mastery-orientation vs. helpless-orientation relating to one's self-efficacy.
- Degree of a sense of acceptance and belonging.
- Internal vs. external locus of control.

WAYS will take a Systemic Approach to Learning Context. We hold that all aspects of the pedagogical and leadership process are related. Classroom management is a form of instruction. Assessment is inherently instruction. Instruction is management. Empowering leadership leads to empowered teachers, which leads to empowered students. Deliberate and intentional effort from all members of the team is essential.

WAYS will Celebrate and Support the Diversity of our school family. WAYS will reflect diversity in its choice of curriculum content, in its choices of school traditions, and in its incorporation of the Arts to site a few examples.

WAYS will make a Commitment to Parental Involvement. When it comes to parental involvement and its powerful influence, the knowledge base is broad and clear. The most comprehensive survey of the research is a series of publications developed by Anne Henderson and Nancy Berla: The Evidence Grows (1981); The Evidence Continues to Grow(1987); and A New Generation of Evidence: The Family is Critical to Student Achievement (1995). Citing more than 85 studies, these publications document the profound and comprehensive benefits for students, families, and schools when parents and family members become participants in their children's education and their lives. All references to "parent" in this charter may be interpreted broadly to include the adults who play an important role in a child's family life, since other adults—grandparents, aunts, uncles, step-parents, foster parents, guardians—may carry the primary responsibilities. As students are guided through a curriculum that helps them make connections between what they are learning and their own prior knowledge and experiences, their interest in the classroom curriculum and learning is dramatically increased.

Delta Education – Full Option Science System (FOSS).

In addition, classroom teachers will be encouraged to join and will be reimbursed for membership and conference attendance in the following professional organizations:

- The National Council for Teachers of Mathematics (NCTM)
- The National Association for the Education of the Young Child (NAEYC)

- The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development (ASCD)
- The National Science Teacher Association (NSTA)

1.8 How the objective of enabling pupils to become self-motivated, competent, life-long learners will be met by the school

The objective of enabling pupils to become self-motivated, competent, life-long learners will be met by the school through its employment of inquiry-based learning strategies.

During inquiry-based learning experiences, students explore ideas and phenomena, tackle familiar and unfamiliar problems, then reflect on and analyze their findings with one another.

Teachers closely facilitate this process, encouraging students to inquire and investigate, to analyze, create, develop, describe, reflect on and finally disseminate understandings. Through these experiences, on a daily basis, students learn to make choices and experience autonomy. They become self-motivated and competent learners. Students come to know that their interests, ideas and abilities are respected and valued. These experiences are carefully integrated with the knowledge, skills, and conceptual understanding identified in the California content standards.

1.9 Rigorous, Standards-Based Curriculum

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will offer a rigorous, standard-based curriculum that is composed of core subjects in the areas of English/Language Arts, Mathematics, Social Science, Science, Visual and Performing Arts, and Physical Education. Common themes will be developed that are parallel and correspond to one another. In addition to academic subjects, an interdisciplinary curriculum of inquiry will be designed around themes that incorporate local and global issues in the content, including, but not limited to:

1.9.1 English Language arts Curriculum

The English Language Arts program at WAYS will educate students to be highly capable readers with the ability to apply their comprehension and analytical skills in becoming fully functioning citizens in our democracy. Their high levels of comprehension in all genres of text will build the foundation for academic success as they move into their middle school programs. In alignment with the State Board of Education's Framework for Reading Instruction, WAYS will provide students with reading/language arts skills instruction that will result in their ability to gather and critically evaluate information using varied reference sources, as well as understand and analyze fiction and recognize nuances within it. Reading instruction will be an integral portion of the ninety minute language arts curriculum. Teachers will work together in grade levels to identify state standards on which to focus. All classrooms will provide at least 90 minutes of English Language Arts instruction daily.

Integral to the WAYS Language Arts Curriculum the use of the Open Court Reading Curriculum (OCR), a research-based curriculum grounded in systematic explicit instruction of phonemic awareness, phonics and word knowledge, comprehension skills and strategies, inquiry skills and strategies, and writing and language arts skills and strategies.

Reading fine literature is one of the founding principles of Open Court Reading, and the program literature selections exemplify how different forms of literature can all express a particular theme. Through various genres, children progressively deepen their understanding of the thematic learning units presented in each grade level.

Open Court develops phonemic awareness, the alphabetic principle, and the understanding of how print works. As the program progresses, it explicitly teaches sound-spelling correspondence to support decoding (reading) and encoding (spelling) with the goal being children reading literature independently by the middle of first grade.

Beginning in Kindergarten, Open Court focuses on increasing children's phonemic awareness. Beginning with phonological awareness, children listen for environmental sounds, manipulate words, compare word length, clap syllables, and work with rhymes. Gradually, children begin to work with individual sounds, phonemes, as they learn to blend sounds to make words and segment words into their component phonemes through a clearly defined instructional sequence. At the same time, children are also developing their understanding of the alphabetic principle that sounds can be mapped onto letters as children connect sound and letters and blend them to read words.

Children using Open Court are systematically and explicitly introduced to sounds and spellings. This includes teaching letter shapes, sounds, and spellings with sufficient opportunities for students to practice and apply their phonics knowledge. Adams (1990) notes, however, that teaching sounds and spellings is not enough. Children need specific instruction on how to blend. Blending instruction in Open Court is explicit and has been recognized as instructionally sound and effective.

1.9.1.1.1 Test Scores Gains for Open Court Schools in California

The results in the report "Test Score Gains for Open Court Schools in California: Results From Three Cohorts of Schools" (McRae, 2002) show that Open Court schools out gain Non-Open Court comparison schools by 50 to 75 percent (19 points vs. 12 points for grade 2, 13 points vs. 7 points for grade 3) based on 3-year gain scores involving about 300 schools. The largest differences involve schools serving concentrations of Low Socio-Economic Status students, where the differences over 3 years are most impressive (23 point gains for Open Court schools compared to 9 point gains for Non-Open Court schools). Based on 1-year gains for more than 700 schools, Open Court schools out gain Non-Open Court comparison schools by a factor of four (5.2 points vs. 1.2 points for grade 2). The results of the study provide clear and convincing evidence that students attending schools using Open Court materials acquire basic reading skills faster than students attending demographically similar schools not using Open Court materials.

1.10 MATHEMATICS CURRICULUM

The mathematics program at WAYS will educate students to be powerful mathematicians with the ability to use their deep conceptual understanding of mathematics and their proficiency with basic facts to solve both routine and novel problems. Our math program will be in alignment with the California Mathematics Frameworks and the National Council of the Teachers of Mathematics. WAYS will use a research-based text, a heavy emphasis on the development of conceptual understanding through the use of concrete material exercises, making interdisciplinary connections, and relating math to science and problem-based learning contexts. The WAYS mathematics curriculum will be aligned with the California mathematics content standards and those adapted from the Third International Study of Mathematics and Science (TIMMS).

The proven Saxon Math curriculum will form the discipline specific Math foundation at WAYS. For more than 20 years both classroom results and scientific research have shown Saxon Math to be effective. Saxon's approach to teaching mathematics is supported by solid foundational research in cognitive science, and it has been found to be consistently effective for children of varying ability levels and socioeconomic backgrounds.

The Saxon Math series was developed by first breaking down complex concepts into related increments, because smaller pieces of information are easier to teach and easier to learn. The instruction, practice, and assessment of those increments were systematically distributed across each grade level. Then the daily lessons were extensively field-tested to ensure their grade-level appropriateness and effectiveness.

At the core of the Saxon series is the premise that students learn best if:

- (1) Instruction is incremental and distributed across the level;
- (2) Practice is continual and distributed across the level; and
- (3) Assessment is cumulative and distributed across the level.

The Saxon approach differs from most programs in that, instead of massing instruction, practice, and assessments, Saxon Math distributes them throughout the lessons and school year. Most math programs use a massed approach, whereby instruction, practice, and assessment of a skill or concept occur within a short period of time and are usually clustered within a single chapter or unit. In Saxon Math, as students regularly encounter new increments of instruction, they are also continually reviewing and being frequently assessed over previously introduced math concepts. This approach ensures that students truly integrate and retain math concepts rather than forget them.

1.10.1.1.1 Research Support for the Saxon Approach

Literature suggests there is value in a teaching method that uses small, easily digestible chunks of information (Brophy & Everston, 1976; Ausubel, 1969). Studies by Rosenshine and Stevens (1986) and Brophy and Everston (1976) demonstrated the importance of using incremental steps when teaching new information. Hirsch (1996) pointed out that the human mind can handle only a small amount of new information at one time: A child's mind needs time to digest the new information, fostering memory and meaning, before the child can move on to a set of new information.

Effective incremental development involves teaching increments several times throughout a school year. This method is called "distributed instruction," or "spaced instruction." Distributed instruction is "the tendency, given an amount of time, for spaced presentations of a unit of information to yield much better learning than massed presentations" (Dempster & Farris, 1990). Foundational research has shown that distributed instruction results in greater student achievement than instruction that is not distributed (English, Wellburn, & Killian, 1934). Research has also provided evidence that student recall is superior under conditions of distributed instruction than under conditions of massed instruction (Glenberg, 1979; Hintzman, 1974). Distributed instruction has been found effective in a variety of subjects, including mathematics, science, and reading comprehension (Dempster, 1988; Hintzman, 1974; Reynolds & Glasser, 1964; English, Wellborn, & Killian, 1934). Dempster and Farris (1990) concluded that distributed instruction "is one of the most remarkable phenomena to emerge from laboratory research on learning. In many cases, two spaced presentations are about twice as effective as two massed presentations, and the difference between them tends to increase as the frequency of repetition increases."

Calvery & Wheeler's 1993 study presents the findings from a yearlong comparison of Saxon Math K-3 and the Holt Math Series at the second and third grade. When both second- and third-grade students were combined, the pretest results indicated that the students using the Saxon program scored significantly below the students using the Holt program. However, after a year of implementing the Saxon program, these students made statistically significantly higher achievement gains on the SAT 8 than the students using the Holt program. Despite starting at a lower achievement level, the Saxon program helped these students close the achievement gap and reach the level of higher performing students.

As a supplement to the Saxon program, WAYS will utilize Harcourt Math. During the second year of the initial petition, WAYS adopted Harcourt Math. Harcourt Math was chosen for its strong alignment to the California Content Standards as evidenced by publications of California editions and research based best practices as defined by research. These best practices include

- Practice
- Explicit instruction
- Questioning strategies
- Use of visuals

According Geary (1994), Practice is important for reinforcing students' knowledge and for preparing students to move on to new topics and new types of problems. Review helps students retain knowledge and improve performance. Additionally in Harcourt Math, Explicit Instruction is facilitated by clear development in every lesson. In the Teacher's Edition for all grade levels, explicit instruction is developed through Guided Instruction, which includes questions, that help students connect the lesson topic to previously learned material, facilitate conceptual understanding and efficient skill development, and help students avoid common errors. Regarding Questioning Strategies, in Harcourt Math in a given lesson four or five good, open- ended questions challenge students to analyze, apply, react to, or reflect on content. Providing students time to answer results in more comprehensive, higher-quality answers (Rowe 1974). In Harcourt Math the Use of Visuals accompany questions and teaching suggestions are included throughout the program. Visuals are used to help teachers provide critical scaffolds to understanding and therefore, memory.

1.11 Science Curriculum

Wisdom will utilize the Full Option Science System (FOSS) developed at the Lawrence Hall of Science, University of California at Berkeley. The FOSS developers are dedicated to the proposition that students learn science best by doing science. Teachers and students do science together when they open the FOSS kits, engaging in enduring experiences that lead to deeper understanding of the natural world.

FOSS is a complete and effective K-8 science curriculum. FOSS includes student books, field-tested materials and investigations, a friendly teacher guide, assessment tools, a web site for students, parents and teachers, and much more. FOSS also provides teacher support, including professional development and materials management.

With the FOSS program, teachers and students “do” science together. The science curriculum is taught as an active enterprise that emphasizes students’ abilities and capacities. The FOSS kits are hands-on, engaging, and lead to a deeper understanding of the natural world.

The FOSS program is adapted for Spanish speaking English Learners. It includes interdisciplinary activities for math and language arts as well as activities conducted at home to enhance parent participation.

FOSS will be used in conjunction with teacher made science projects that will cover the California content standards for science.

In her study “Project Inquiry: Effects of Professional Development on Science Achievement” (May 2003), Carol Tempel of the Charleston and Berkeley County schools presents data from a comprehensive evaluation of FOSS. The evaluation design included both Charleston and Berkeley County schools and assessed the relationships between FOSS inquiry-oriented instructional components and science achievement on two different assessments.

Results from the evaluation provide evidence that teachers who were trained by staff to implement standards-based, inquiry-oriented instructional strategies and who use the FOSS science materials purchased by Project Inquiry had students who performed significantly higher on both science assessments. In addition, students whose teachers asked questions requiring application, analysis, synthesis and evaluation performed better on the performance and constructed/open-ended response assessment tasks than students of teachers who asked knowledge and comprehension questions alone.

The basic principles of the science program will advance scientific knowledge by requiring all students to observe objects and events, think about how they relate to what is known, test their ideas in logical ways, and generate explanations that integrate the new information into the established order. Thus the major focus in science will be what we know (content) and how we come to know it (process).

Developmentally appropriate science exploration will be designed for each grade level that are mapped by California Standards and divided into units. In each unit, scientific concepts will be introduced that create and foster cooperative learning groups, projects to result in a deep understanding of natural things. For example, the second grade curriculum will emphasize "How Things Around Us Are Connected and Interrelated" by studying interactions, energy, light and sound; the invisible force, inside and outside the earth. In third grade the larger concept will be build around "How Things Around Us Vary and How We Can Affect Change"—simple experiments; electrical energy; time change; astronomy; classification of organisms; animal studies.

The thinking processes at the kindergarten level will be comparing, communicating, and observing; grades 1-2, beginning organizing, comparing, communicating observing; grades 3-4 – advanced organizing, comparing, communicating observing; grade 5 – relating, organizing, comparing, communicating and observing.

1.12 Social Studies Curriculum

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will maintain our objective of producing citizens who internalize social responsibility. Our students will study diverse peoples, both modern and historical, to highlight the similarities of human needs and goals shared among peoples. Inherent in this lesson is the development of understanding and validation of diverse cultures. A key element of such study is becoming aware of the experiences and perspectives of differing cultures. This requires an in-depth focus in lieu of a superficial, shallow awareness of many different peoples. In our shared commitment to the Ten Common Principles set out by the Coalition of Essential Schools, we simultaneously adhere to Mastery of California State standards to insure that students learn to use their minds well while we engage students in these interdisciplinary "living" studies. We will use the Houghton-Mifflin series of social studies textbooks that are compatible with the California State Social Studies Standards.

1.13 Physical Education

The physical education program will provide a balance between physical fitness, social development and body awareness. There will be units on dance, gymnastics, basic body conditioning, body health and nutrition. Games will be used to promote participation and cooperation skills. The students at the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will learn the importance of maintaining a healthy mind and body. The philosophy is that "Everyone Can" and all students possess the capacity to take care of and feel good about their bodies, and to have positive relationships with others.

The primary goals of the Physical Education program are:

- Movement Skills and Body Awareness.
- Self-Image and Personal Development.
- Social and Cooperation Skill Development.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

1.14 Visual and Performing Arts

The visual and performing arts standards will form a bridge for the students at WAYS to achieve excellence. The arts program will support and extend the learning experiences for students in basic literacy and advance skills in Language Arts, Math, Science, and History-Social Science. The arts program will engage students in meaningful activities and lesson sessions involving analytical and creative thinking and help them practice discipline and team work to deliver student produced products. Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists recognizes the "arts" program as an essential learning dimension to excellent teaching and learning. The arts program will celebrate cultural diversity in dance, painting, music forms and theory from a global perspective.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will offer a visual and performing arts program that is aligned with the national and state learning standards. These standards recommend that students should:

- Be able to communicate in four arts disciplines – music, visual arts, dance and theatre.
- Be able to communicate proficiently in at least one art form.
- Be able to present basic analyses of works of art.
- Have an informed acquaintance with exemplary works of art from a variety of world cultures and historical periods.
- Be able to relate various types of arts knowledge and skills across the arts disciplines.

1.15 SPECIFIC GOALS FOR PROVIDING AND ENSURING EQUAL ACCESS TO ACADEMICALLY LOW ACHIEVING STUDENTS

WAYS will provide and ensure equal access for all learners, including gifted, special education students, English Language Learners and at-risk students, by:

- Creating an environment responsive to the different learners.
- Differentiating the curriculum to meet each learner's needs.

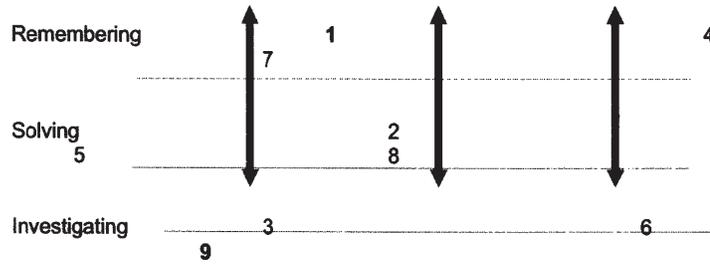

Built in to all inquiry-based learning activities will be a cognitive map to success used by the teacher for each student. The model below depicts this Cognitive Developmental Sequence. All instruction will include a solid grounding in concrete investigation (point #3), and sufficient processing at the representational level (point #6) before assuming students can work confidently with any concepts, theories, principles, or abstractions. As teachers and students each become comfortable working through this sequence, they both gain confidence that there are no students that will be left behind.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Learning targets within the pedagogical task will be clarified so that the teacher can a) intervene in the learning process for those learners that need support and b) provide enrichment and extension activities for those students that have demonstrated mastery of the concept.

Learners of all abilities will be offered curriculum topics that are relevant to their lives and encouraged to make ideas personally meaningful.

A continuous process of pedagogical reflection will be undertaken to find solutions to helping struggling students meet the most challenging standards.

Each learner's knowledge, understanding, and interest will be assessed formally and informally throughout each unit of instruction. Individual learner needs will be assessed using a variety of measures such as school designed tests and performance assignments, state-mandated standardized tests, Open Court Assessments, Saxon Math Assessments, The Paragon Learning Style Inventory, teacher assignments, portfolios, etc. Students identified as Gifted and Talented will be provided more and advanced academic challenges, opportunities to peer tutor, interaction with older students, and individualized home-based projects.

1.16 English Learners

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will meet all requirements of Federal law relative to equal access to curriculum for English learners. The instructional program will be presented in English with provisions to ensure comprehension for English language learners and development of English as a second language. The instructional program for WAYS will be designed to promote language acquisition, oral language development and enriched learning opportunities for all students.

All English Learners will participate in the core standards-based curriculum appropriate for their grade level as fully as their English language fluency will allow. To accelerate learning English and the mastery of the standards-based curriculum, teachers will provide special assistance to them during regular classroom instruction and if needed, tutorial assistance will be provided for them outside of core class time. Students at beginning ELD levels will be mainstreamed with fluent English speaking students and fluent bilingual students in order to support English language development and comprehension of instructional input. In order to enhance EL students' vocabulary development, teachers will regularly work with them in small groups that will be determined by the ELD level of the students. We will delineate 45 minutes during the school day for focused English language development. This instruction will emphasize vocabulary development, phonemic awareness, and oral and writing English fluency.

WAYS will continually explore innovative ways and implement successful practices by which bilingual children can achieve their fullest potential. English learners will receive instruction utilizing the techniques of phonics, sheltered English, cooperative learning groups and experiential activities. Teachers, aides, other students, or parent volunteers will provide primary language support. Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists, wherever possible, will hire personnel and recruit bilingual community support and services to meet the primary language needs of English learners. English learners will be mainstreamed with fluent English proficient students and bilingual students.

Curriculum will be presented to English learners at beginning ELD levels in English utilizing Specially Designed Academic Instruction in English (SDAIE) techniques. This will include instruction utilizing sheltered English, cooperative learning groups and small group instruction. Sheltered English includes strategies that make language comprehensible. This requires an awareness of the student's prior knowledge and experiences, consistently building on background knowledge, using visuals, focusing on 1-2 major concepts and drawing out the main points. Cooperative grouping of students will encourage a peer coaching atmosphere and a high level of motivation to communicate that which might not otherwise exist. Small group instruction will allow opportunity for individualizing the instruction to the needs of those particular students who have additional needs.

Our hands-on curriculum will enrich all curricular areas by emphasizing four critical elements: content, connections, comprehensibility and interaction. Instruction will be organized to assure a high frequency of interaction between students and other students, their teachers and the curriculum activities. English second language methodologies, in close alignment with constructivist practices of our program, will stress the use of students' background knowledge, visual perceptual skills and modeling. We will incorporate modified presentations by using pictures, songs, props, gestures, dramatization, and relevant displays. Appropriate pacing and integration of reading, writing, speaking and listening will be applied.

1.16.1 Assessment for Identifying English Fluency

In the event a student enters WAYS without records and or prior assessment, a Home Language Survey will be completed. If language other than English is indicated on the survey, California English Language Development Test (CELDT) will be used to determine English proficiency. If a student is determined to be an

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

English learner from the CELDT results, the ELD level is determined by reviewing the CELDT level portfolios and teacher assessment. The redesignation test used by LAUSD will be used to determine full academic fluency.

For purposes of NCLB Title 3 accountability, English Learners will meet the federal and state AMAO targets—specifically ensuring that students enrolled in the school make at least one level of growth on the CELDT annually, and the school will ensure that at least 50% of EL students enrolled for four years will be at the Basic level or above on the STAR tests and that all students enrolled for five years will be at the Basic Level or above on STAR tests.

Growth will be monitored and summarized in terms of the strands of the California English Language Development standards; key, specific knowledge and skills; and the curricular goals of the school, establishing a profile of each student’s growth and achievement. Students will be assessed with ongoing classroom assessments, focused assessments in the tutorials, the Standards Master assessments and the regular Benchmark assessments—in addition to the CELDT and STAR programs. ELD portfolios will be maintained for each EL students and incorporate ELA standard acquisition, written observations and work samples.

2.4 Goals for the Demonstration of Skills, Knowledge and Understanding

Students will receive specific instruction centered in the California content standards for each grade level. They will demonstrate measurable growth as identified in the outcomes above, and student achievement will be tracked three times a year in mathematics, reading and language arts for each specific standard using the “Standards Master” assessment system (or a comparable system) as well as the school-wide benchmark assessment system.

Each student will make significant growth in standards-based achievement demonstrated through ongoing classroom assessments, Standards Mastery and/or Benchmark assessments each trimester, and the state’s standards-based assessments. The assessments employed and administered at the school level will be refined over time to ensure that the measures allow students to demonstrate their mastery of the breadth and depth of the standards, and the results will be aggregated and analyzed to ensure the continuing improvement of the school’s curriculum, instructional, and assessment programs. The goal is that all students demonstrate that they are reaching high levels of academic achievement, which allows them to maximize their full potential and prepare them for success in the future.

The school and its administrators and staff are committed to meeting its API and AYP targets—increasing the numbers of students at the proficient and above levels on the STAR tests each year, and ensuring that all students enrolled at the school for two years or more will be at the Basic level or above on the STAR tests.

Teaching staff is committed to conducting a thorough analysis of STAR results at the detailed, reporting cluster level to ensure student mastery of the content on the tests. Analyses will focus on achievement in language arts and mathematics for all subgroups, as specified in NCLB, Title 1 requirements. CELDT test results will be analyzed to ensure that growth in student achievement on this test will fully address the NCLB Title 3 requirements. Evidence of student achievement from the CST will be used by the teaching staff as additional indicators from a nationally norm-referenced source.

California State Content Standards

The California State Content Standards will operate as a guiding framework for both curriculum and assessment development at WAYS. The CA Standards will be used in the following ways:

- Used to map curriculum into units and lessons
- Used to as a guide when writing behavioral level performance objectives for lessons.
- Incorporated into Adopted Text Program outcomes and assessments
- Used as a guide when developing formative and summative unit level benchmark performance assessment rubrics.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

- Aggregated into benchmark performance indicators for tri-yearly summative benchmark performance assessment.

2.9 Process by Which Curriculum, Materials and Instructional Activities Are To Be Selected

The books utilized for each course, course material, and instructional activities at Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists are chosen through a collaborative effort between a team comprised of the principal, teachers and curriculum and instruction consultant. This WAYS curriculum development team has begun an ongoing process of material selection, curriculum mapping, unit development, lesson design, assessment development and identification of teaching strategies for different courses at WAYS. The principal and teachers have selected textbooks from the state approved list that best suit the needs of their students. To encourage innovation, and emphasis on technology, teachers will have the flexibility to use books or strategies that are not on the WAYS recommended list as long as they achieve the required results.

2.10 Delineation Of When And How Pupil Outcomes Will Be Assessed

Students are first assessed (using Saxon Math, CELDT, and McLeod Assessment of Reading Comprehension assessments and a writing prompt) upon matriculation. They then periodically take the Saxon Math and CELDT assessments to monitor student progress. At the end of the school year, they will take CST and CELDT assessments (they will also take the CELDT at the beginning of each year).

See Element 3 for more details related to formative and authentic assessments.

2.11 Identification of Who Will Be Accountable For Student Progress

The following guidelines have been established to guide the development of the curriculum and to keep in sight the goal of improved student learning.

California State Curriculum Frameworks and State Standards will provide the base content for the instructional program.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will chart student progress from year to year on the State of California's adopted standardized and standards-based statewide examinations.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will meet or exceed all County and state standards and will establish a policy to ensure that evidence of improved pupil learning is shared with the parents, the County, and the state.

Advancement from one grade to the next requires demonstration of mastery of the concepts and development of the skills in alignment with the standards required by the California Department of Education.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will make available after-school tutorials, as preventative measures for those students deemed at-risk of being held back.

Specific times will be allocated to provide the opportunity and time for teachers to discuss and share concerns related to student progress before students matriculate to the next grade. Teachers will have time prior to the start of the school year to evaluate students' standardized test scores from the previous year and to identify individual strengths, areas of concern and focus for each student. Student progress reports will be used to monitor student progress. Parent conferencing on student progress will occur twice per year.

Once per year, the Executive Director will be responsible for preparing and presenting a report to the Governing Board that details and summarizes the school's progress toward meeting its goals during the previous school year. The Executive Director is committed to ensuring that a robust assessment and accountability system is in place on an ongoing basis at the school, and that the information be used effectively and in a timely manner to ensure the high quality of the school's program for all of its students. If needed, the Board can take measures, based on this report that will ensure the school is consistently making progress toward its goals. Such an action, may include creating a working committee, made up teachers, parents, administration and students, to take a closer look at elements of the report, conduct research as necessary, and make appropriate recommendations.

In accordance with the provisions set forth in No Child Left Behind, WAYS will track student achievement data in order to ensure students are meeting required proficiency levels. Teachers and administrators will analyze data and use it as a tool when planning curriculum, designing interventions and adopting curricular materials. The administration, to include the principal, teachers, and the special education program coordinator will coordinate all efforts in order to maximize student achievement.

2.12 Student Retention and Promotion

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists strives to ensure that students show progress in their achievements and are ready to be promoted to the next level. For those students who are identified as "at risk" of retention, a meeting will be called that includes the teacher, parents and special education program coordinator. At this meeting it may be determined that a Student Success Team (as described in the Special Education section above) is necessary to develop an educational plan that will include tutorials, special classes and learning strategies that best suit the student. Parent conferencing on the student's progress will occur every couple of months. If necessary the option of summer school and after school enrichment classes will be offered as a measure to curtail retention.

If we believe a student needs to be retained, we will hold a Student Success Team meeting and discuss the repercussions of this action. If the team agrees that this is in the best interest of the child then all measures will be taken to ensure that this will be a positive experience for the student. These measures include:

- Meeting with the team and the student
- Creating an accepting environment in the class.
- Creating many opportunities for success for the student in the classroom.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

- Ensuring that the student receives the necessary assistance and support to ensure future promotion.

Specific times will be allocated to provide the opportunity and time for teachers to discuss and share concerns related to student progress before students matriculate to the next grade.

2.13 Reference to NCLB

WAYS accepts the NCLB premise that all children will succeed and will review its Adequate Yearly Progress annually, with special attention given to the progress of sub-groups. The Principal will recommend and the Board will approve annual action plans to meet Adequate Yearly Progress goals.

At WAYS you will see older children reading with younger children

3 Methods for Assessing Student Progress

3.1 THE METHODS FOR ASSESSING STUDENT PROGRESS AT WAYS WILL INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING:

- CA STATE STANDARDIZED TESTS (I.E., STAR TESTING PROTOCOL, CST, CAT-6)
- Text based pre and post assessments
- Tri-yearly standards-based Benchmark performance assessments
- Unit level standards-based Benchmark performance assessments
- Formal and Informal Classroom assessment (tests, projects, worksheets, presentations, personal communication, surveys, anecdotal records)
- Portfolio evaluation
- Parent Conferences, and Student-led conferences

3.2 Use of Standardized Test Scores in Measuring Pupil Progress

Our students will participate fully in the Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR) program. WAYS agrees to comply with and adhere to the State requirements for participation and administration of all state mandated tests.

Teachers need only review the test results, which will be presented to them in a graphic format. These tests measure student outcomes to monitor progress, highlight student learning deficiencies for teachers, and increase teachers' pedagogical efficiency (teachers can shift time away from test preparation and scoring to other activities).

Assessments will be tied to ongoing teacher, classroom and grade level goals and action plans. The collaboration and monitoring of this information will allow for the sharing of resources and innovative solutions.

Teachers will share data with students and classrooms will work together to establish action plans. Data and action plans can also be shared with parents through class and school newsletters to involve them in the collaborative effort of continuous improvement.

With measures matched to our philosophy and instructional intents, we will develop and will build upon our assessment system, which will enable us to systematically:

- Assess the progress of each individual child in our curriculum, with particular emphasis on their academic, standards-based achievement.
- Evaluate the effectiveness of the school program in meeting its objectives, relative to our own standards and compared to schools serving similar students in the district.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

- Contribute to the continual strengthening of curriculum and instructional processes at the individual, team, and program levels.
- Be accountable to students, parents, our community, the County and the state.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will participate in the state-mandated testing programs. They will enable us to track individual students' and the school's performance from year to year; however, these tests do not fully meet the assessment needs of the classroom teachers nor are they designed to encourage students' self-reflection. For these latter purposes, students will prepare portfolios composed of the projects, daily work, journal samples, self-evaluations, writing samples, exhibitions, reading logs, analytic reflections and other tasks which students complete over the course of the instructional year. To provide a more complete picture of student growth, the school will institute a system of benchmark assessments at the end of each trimester—faculty designed, administered, and scored—tied to the full school curriculum, including rigorous measurement of student standards-based achievement.

ruley 3/24/11 8:20 PM

Deleted: If the charter school does not test (i.e., STAR, CELDT) with the District, a copy of the school's test results must be submitted to the District on a CD on or before September 30, following that spring's test administration. The CELDT results must be submitted to the District no later than two weeks after receipt of the CD from the state's vendor.

3.3 Use of Longitudinal, Survey and other Data in Measuring Pupil Progress

Students will be given a variety of ongoing assessments, including teacher observations, performance-based assessments, grade-level assignments, presentations, and projects, as well as the "Standards Master" assessments, and Unit level "Benchmark" assessments. The Principals will ensure that all necessary assessments are completed in a timely manner and that teachers use the information from the assessments to modify their curriculum accordingly.

California-aligned "Standards Master" assessments developed by Renaissance Learning Co. (a testing and curriculum tool developed by Renaissance Learning Inc. that is aligned to California state standards in math, reading and language arts) or a comparable system will be used to measure students' and classroom growth towards mastery of state standards in mathematics, language arts and reading. These assessments will be conducted three times a year; extensive reports will be generated compiling both classroom and individual student results. Reports will be used to inform both standards based classroom curriculum development and individual student support programs. This assessment and/or other comparable state content standards aligned testing program will be used until our benchmark assessments are completed.

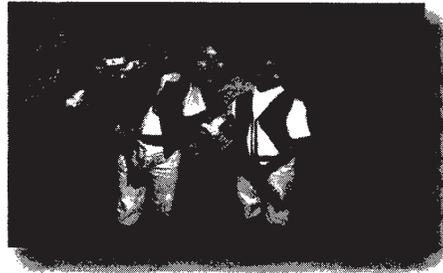

The faculty will come together to agree on benchmark tasks and assessments that represent key objectives for curriculum and instruction to be included in student portfolios and Student Assessment Collections, addressing the state standards and additional criteria by which student performance should be judged. We will examine how the evidence contained in student portfolios can be used to determine each student's progress toward the attainment of specific goals, and develop our portfolio criteria in a manner that maximizes this attainment. The appropriateness of various assessment strategies will be reevaluated by the staff as needed—considering such areas as whole child growth and development (academic, social, physical, creative, critical thinking, etc.), content standards mastery, curriculum effectiveness, level of task difficulty and student mastery.

Of greatest importance is the opportunity for the faculty to establish clear measures of growth that are direct outcomes of the school's full educational goals. The criteria for evaluation of student growth will, of course, reflect achievement in terms of California's content standards, but may also be chosen to include curricular goals measuring the growth of the "whole child" – honoring the richness of the school's broader curriculum goals

Ongoing student assessment will include additional tools such as checklists, narrative descriptions, anecdotal records of observations, parent conference notes, teacher-designed tests, teacher-developed rubrics, rating forms, surveys, personal conference data and student portfolios.

WAYS' students participate in an extra-curricular dance recital. Teachers support students through home visitations and attendance at family events.

3.3.1 Benchmark Assessments

The establishment of our benchmark assessment will begin with Staff work during our professional development days in August and will continue the first trimester of the 2011 - 2012 Academic Year. Both large scale and smaller scale benchmark assessments will be developed and employed.

Small-scale benchmark assessment will be done during each unit of instruction, as well as ongoing performance assessments related to the CSTP and unit goals. These benchmark assessments will act to guide instruction, indicate the need to modify strategies for individuals of whole classes, act as targets for student self-assessment toward their goals, and operate as the primary source of summative unit level grading criteria.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Broad-scale Benchmark assessments will be given in each trimester of the 2011-2012 academic year, evaluated with the aim of using the improved assessment tools from the second trimester as well as a second and additional set to be employed alongside the former set during the final trimester of the 2011 - 2012 academic year. Staff development days in June will be used to review of Benchmark assessment tools employed during the prior year. In this manner, our target goal of a completed and effective Benchmark Assessment Structure can be achieved by the end of the 2011 - 2012 Academic Year of school.

Benchmark assessments of student academic growth will be designed by the faculty to provide an accurate assessment of student progress in mastering grade-level standards and will be essential to the success of our instructional program. Assessments will be designed to for three specific purposes:

1. Entry-level Assessment – Essential questions: Do students possess crucial prerequisites skills and knowledge? Do students already know some of the material that is to be taught? The assessment will contain a range and balance of items, some of which reach back to measure where students are, others will reach forward to identify those students who may already know the new material.
2. Progress Monitoring – Essential question: Are students progressing adequately toward achieving the standards? Teachers will adjust instruction so that all students are constantly progressing. Teachers will continually look for indicators among student responses and in student work. Monitoring will also include checking for understanding during instruction, checking homework, unit/chapter tests or quizzes. Assessment will be tied to items already taught and will be used as the basis for making we-informed adjustments to instruction. Teachers will rely on answers to the following:
 - i. Should I move ahead or spend more time on the current phase of instruction?
 - ii. Are students able to practice what they have learned through independent activities, or do I need to provide additional instruction?
 - iii. Can I accelerate the planned instruction for some or all students, and if so, what is the best way to do that?
3. Summative Evaluation – Essential question: Have students shown concrete evidence that they have met the goals for each unit as defined by each content standard or group of standards?

The Benchmark assessments will be organized around a Student Assessment Collection, including the results of the trimester's on-demand tests. Each piece of the "Student Assessment Collection" (SAC) that is gathered for evaluation in the Benchmark assessments for each student will be evaluated by the classroom teacher for growth over time using criteria reviewed and approved by the faculty as a whole. One additional faculty member will review each (SAC) to establish the validity of the overall evaluation. The faculty will also establish criteria for the evidence to be included in the SAC, a description of the dimensions to be evaluated, and criteria for determining levels of achievement for the collections as a whole, including a clearly defined "Mastery" level.

The Benchmark assessments primarily serve a "formative" function, and will provide a powerful, concrete, and results-focused opportunity for the faculty to refine the school's vision and program, to help each other in their work with students, and to identify and address the needs of individual students in a timely way.

3.3.2 Portfolios

Consistent with our instructional philosophy, portfolios will give students opportunities for choice and to show their individual interests and talents. In addition to offering teachers a tool for gauging students' progress and their strengths and challenges, the portfolio design will include procedures to bring students and parents into the assessment process. By asking students to reflect on their own performance, we will empower them to recognize and be responsible for their own learning.

The full collection of evidence will lead to a student portfolio for teacher will use with students and parents, and the results for all students (with anonymous examples of the variety of student performances) can be used for accountability within the school community and with broader educational stakeholders.

3.4 Specific Standards That Students Must Demonstrate Proficiency In; Process School Will Use to Ensure That Students Meet the Statewide Performance Standards And Evidence Of Improved Pupil Learning

Each grade level teacher will identify, with review and approval by the faculty, one third of the specific state content standards for language arts, mathematics, history-social science, and science for instructional emphasis and student mastery in each trimester. Student progress will be assessed using a variety of ongoing classroom assessments, and at the end of the trimester, the Standards Master and Benchmark assessments. The time unit for demonstrating student learning is the trimester. The results of these assessments will be evaluated formatively to identify content in need of additional instruction and/or summatively to identify and verify specific content mastered.

3.6 Methods to ensure that all statewide standards are met and pupil assessments conducted

To ensure that all statewide performance standards are met and to ensure continual evidence of pupil learning, WAYS shall conduct testing pursuant to Education Code Section 47605(c) as well as its own assessment and evaluation processes. Multiple forms of assessment will be used to measure student achievement and progress, tailor programs of instruction, validate and continuously improve teaching methods, gauge the school's performance in comparison to similar schools throughout the state, and provide the metrics for programmatic audits reported to the County and the California Department of Education (CDE).

3.7 Process school will use to ensure that students meet the statewide performance standards and evidence of improved student learning

Staff has identified what students should know (California state content standards) and what they should be able to do (performance standards) in all learning areas at critical points in their education (see Element 2). Steps in this process include: reviewing the school's mission, purpose, and expectations, reviewing state and district standards, developing exit outcomes and graduation standards, and listing specific academic outcomes that students will demonstrate in each subject area, grade, or skill level.

Linking standards to curriculum and assessment: Standards, curriculum, and assessment are aligned with each other, with state guidelines, and with the school's educational goals. Professional development includes training in the use of data-driven decision making and educators review the alignment of assessment and curriculum with the state content standards at least twice a year.

Determining assessments that will actually measure if curriculum has been learned and monitoring progress toward goals: This includes a combination of portfolios and assessments. Instruments used measure important student objectives and reflect the vision of the school but do not adversely affect the learner. Progress is objectively measured by the annual statewide assessments for each grade (CST, etc.) and by other adopted statewide assessments (CELDT, etc.). Classroom teachers may also measure achievement in a traditional manner, such as through quizzes, essays, tests, and exams.

The staff will:

- Set baseline expectations for incoming students (e.g., information from previous assessments);
- Recommend additional support if needed;
- Administer all assessments, including school, County, and state-required testing (e.g., STAR, proficiency tests, CST);

- Develop evaluative comparisons with similar populations using disaggregated data;
- Set priorities for professional development;
- Assist with the allocation of resources.

3.8 Process for Conducting Pupil assessment Pursuant to EC60602.5

WAYS will administer the CELDT, CST, and other state-mandated assessments as required. It will adhere to the administration protocols specified in the relevant State Department of Education bulletins.

3.9 Identification of the Grading Policy

Trimester progress reports will be issued identifying students' strengths, abilities, interests and areas for improvement. These progress reports will effectively summarize a student's development and progress in Reading, Language Arts, Mathematics, Social Studies, Science, Working Skills, Human Relations and Life Skills and will reflect student's progress toward grade level state standards. The progress report, which lists strategies, attitudes and skills required in each area, along with a rating system, will be implemented. The following is an example:

- E = Exceeds Grade Level Expectations
- M = Meets Grade Level Expectations
- W = Working Toward Grade Level Standards
- R = Requires Assistance

Reading

- Enjoys books and recognizes the power of text
- Reads with grade level fluency
- Uses phonics conventions to sound out unfamiliar words
- Has a grade level appropriate sight vocabulary
- Comprehends and absorbs written ideas
- Uses text as a resource for gathering facts and ideas

Student-Parent Conferences will be held twice per year to discuss the students' development and progress and to set goals on how school and home can support and promote student's efforts toward achievement. The conferences will teach each student to take command of his/her development and learning. The portfolio-based conference allows a student to evaluate current levels of strength and weakness in all developmental areas (academics, creativity and artistic expression, critical thinking, social development and motor development). Students gather evidence of their aptitudes and skills, analyze the evidence, and then set goals for the next progress period (approximately a trimester).

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Parents are invited to tri-yearly conferences where younger students (grades K – 1) display current levels of development in activities centers, and older students (grades 2 – 5) display current levels of development by presenting evidence of work and reflective analysis from their portfolios. Once parents have had the opportunity to observe their child's skills first hand, they will sit with their child and teacher to discuss the student goals for the upcoming progress period, and develop a parent/teacher plan to support the child's attainment of those goals.

Portfolio-based student led conferences have proven to be an essential tool for nurturing student ownership of learning and development, as students are not simply included in the process of evaluation, but in fact put at the helm in the analysis and goal setting process. Additionally, this process involves parents directly in the observation and analysis of student development, and in supporting specific goals for growth. Student-Parent conferences allow each the student support team to celebrate each child's hard work, to share in the process of self reflection, and finally to set attainable goals for the coming months at school and home.

The overall focus of our reporting system (which includes report cards, Student-Parent Conferences and the six year [K – 5] cumulative portfolio) will be: 1) to offer parents information on their children's progress in a form they can understand and use effectively, 2) to certify the attainment of learning goals, and 3) to identify where additional work is needed and set appropriate goals and strategies. The development and refinement of our assessment tools will be continually evaluated and improved upon in order to meet the individual needs of our student population. Assessment tools and reporting systems are to be modified as the goals for students are further developed and evolving methodologies become incorporated into our educational program.

4.1 Process Which Ensures Staff, Students and Other stakeholder Involvement

4.1.1 School Community

The School Community refers to all teachers, support staff, parents, students, administration and community representatives that are involved with the school. The School Community shall have an opportunity to be involved and participate in school wide matters. Opportunities to be involved on the board, advisory council, working committees, etc. are available for all of its members. Whole School Community meetings will be regularly scheduled at an hour that is conducive to parent participation.

4.1.2 Parents

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists recognizes that parents and other family members are the most valuable people in each child's life and that they possess insights into the child's abilities and needs. Therefore, we feel that it is imperative that we work closely with them to develop the most successful and enriched educational experiences possible for each child. Parent involvement is an important and integral part of our program. The following will be implemented at our school to accomplish this goal.

The office staff reviews with parents the Home-School agreement, at the time of enrollment. WAYS will encourage parents to sign an agreement indicating they understand and agree to the level of involvement necessary to optimize success for their child in our program. Teachers and parents will annually review and evaluate this agreement and make any necessary modifications Parents are strongly encouraged to commit to school service and involvement at the requested amount of four hours per school month, in a manner, which is flexible with their work schedules. Parent's interests, skills and availability are discussed to determine how they can best serve the school community. Parents have the option of working in classrooms, on the playground and/or taking some work home to assist the teacher. Although there is no penalty to the student or family who does not meet this standard, a meeting with the parents will be scheduled to discuss the importance of their participation and solutions to those obstacles that are preventing the family from being involved at the school.

Parents will be asked to join the Parent Council, which will be developed and led by the parents. The parent group provides a forum for parents to gather for the purpose of coordinating parent volunteerism, fundraisers and activities that support the school program and goals.

Parents will be asked to form committees, when necessary to provide a forum for parent concerns and standard procedures to address concerns and initiate solutions to said concerns. This may involve working to assist in the development of school policies and procedures.

Parent workshops that share information on skills and techniques that can assist them in areas such as Core Knowledge Skills/Sequence, Standards Based Learning And Assessment, Literacy Development, Social Development And Effective Conflict Resolution, The Successful Learning Environment At Home And School, How To Promote Learning During The Summer, and the like, will be offered on a regular basis. These workshops are intended to help parents gain a greater understanding of our program and how they can work closely with us to help their child succeed in school.

Parents will be provided with information on an ongoing basis regarding the content of the educational program and on-going school meetings and events. Written material will be translated into Spanish to keep all of our families informed.

Staff will advise and consult with parents regarding the school's educational program at the orientation meetings and community discussions. Parents will be encouraged to reinforce the educational program by monitoring their child's progress, responding to written notices and reports, engaging in conversations with school personnel as needed and attending student-led conferences twice per year.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Our school will strive to ensure that parents and family are visible members of the school community. Room-parents responsible for setting up a telephone tree to keep parents informed will be established as part of our school.

Grievance Procedure for Parents and Students

WAYS will designate at least one employee to coordinate its efforts to comply with and carry out its responsibilities under Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Section 504) including any investigation of any complaint filed with WAYS alleging its noncompliance with these laws or alleging any actions which would be prohibited by these laws. WAYS will notify all its students and employees of the name, office address, and telephone number of the designated employee or employees.

WAYS will adopt and publish grievance procedures providing for prompt and equitable resolution of student and employee complaints alleging any action, which would be prohibited by Title IX, or Section 504. We will implement specific and continuing steps to notify applicants for admission and employment, students and parents of elementary and secondary school students, employees, sources of referral of applicants for admission and employment, and all unions or professional organizations holding collective bargaining or professional agreements with the recipient, that it does not discriminate on the basis of sex or mental or physical disability in the educational program or activity which it operates, and that it is required by Title IX and Section 504 not to discriminate in such a manner.

4.1.3 Student Involvement

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists recognizes that the students themselves are the experts when it comes to knowing the interests, abilities and strengths, which they possess. Often times students' strengths are overlooked when they are compared to conventional success criteria. Our goal is to ensure that children know they are valued. We plan to meet our goals by identifying and building on strengths and by encouraging the development of additional skills and thereby implement the following:

Create and incorporate a curriculum that is experientially based in order to maintain a high level of intrinsic motivation in the student and build on his or her inner desire to learn.

Identify children's learning strengths, then use our findings to inform the creation of a powerful curriculum that utilizes these strengths, thus allowing children to experience the values of developing and employing skills mastery.

Build on each child's interests, experiences, culture awareness and appreciation, social skills, and their abilities in an effort to maximize their learning.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

Cross curriculum will be offered that emphasis the importance of science now and in the future as it relates to our natural environment, sharing learning experiences through assemblies, field trips and working on school community events, such as the annual "Science Fair."

4.1.4 Teacher Involvement

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists recognizes the importance of teacher input in matters that directly involve their classroom and student achievement. WAYS will strive to ensure that teachers become more involved in the governance of the school and the development and implementation of curriculum programs in the school. Therefore, the governance structure is set up to be inclusive of the teacher's input and we have purposefully left room to further develop our curriculum, so that teachers along with parents could have some input into the instructional program.

Teachers participate as members of a collective in our ongoing program development, staff development and the administrative decision making process. They participate in designing and running staff development workshops, where teachers share experience and methodology with one another, overseen by the Academic Co-Principals. Through continuous analysis of our philosophy, and weekly reflection on our practices in action, our staff collective works toward greater unification.

Teachers will meet weekly after school with the principal to share concerns, communicate requests, discuss program goals, assess overall student progress, evaluate program effectiveness, develop plans to implement policies and discuss individual student needs. Teachers will be encouraged to serve on working committees to provide input that will help shape policies and effect change.

4.1.5 Community Involvement

We recognize that Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists community is a part of a larger community and should therefore take more effective measures to make it possible for the community to become actively involved. To this end, WAYS has formed a working committee do the following:

Elect representatives from the scientific, business and educational community to serve on the School Board.

Continually seek community partnerships that will enhance the instructional program and support the vision and goals of the school.

Make concerted efforts to establish collegial relationships with the District's elementary schools in the area, for the purpose of increased student achievement within the District.

4.2 Methods By Which Schools Consult With Parents and Teachers Regarding School's Organizational Program

As part of the process of creating a small learning community where everyone has a sense of ownership and purpose, Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board of Directors has been formed of parents, community members, and other stakeholders. Parent and teacher involvement will be ensured in the following manner.

A Site Council composed of teachers, parents and at least one student representative will meet monthly at the school to discuss school issues and policies.

Student-led conferences will be held at least biannually in order to facilitate communication among their business partners (parents), teachers, administration, and students; track the progress of the students; and develop any necessary interventions.

Parent/guardians will be encouraged to form committees that will plan events and fundraisers, review curriculum and policies, or get involved in other areas of interest consistent with the vision, mission, and policies of the school.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists staff will maintain open lines of communication at all times with parents. Beyond meeting with staff at student-led conferences, parents will be advised that teachers will be available for additional conferences as needed.

4.3 Decision-Making Process and Organizational Chart

The governance structure includes the School Board that guides and governs the school. A governance chart is provided (See Appendix B). The school community and the established parent groups will be major stakeholders and vital participants in the school governance. School committees needed to research and work on identified needs of the school will evolve from the school board and parent group. A Site Council that will offer information, support and resources to the Board will be developed within the 1st year of operation.

The Board of Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will be made up of 5 – 15 members that include parent, staff, administrators and community member representatives. The board members are made up of the founding parents, educational consultant, and community members. (see Appendix C). The County has the option of having a representative to serve on the Board as a non-voting member. 5.7 Staff Development Teachers are the key to the success of our program. Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will put forth great effort into recruiting, hiring and training highly qualified teachers. These teachers have chosen their careers primarily out of a deep caring for children and a personal sense of responsibility to the future of our society. . We recognize that supporting teachers is the first step to supporting students. Thus we have carefully selected teachers whose goals are aligned with those of the school and then facilitate each teacher's development process in a manner that respects and supports his or her individual teaching style.

The teachers who will join our staff will recognize the importance of a child-centered learning environment, and continually seek to improve their skills in facilitating such an environment. They will recognize the importance of meeting our educational standards and work to support the needs of individual students in reduced-size classrooms. They demonstrate a value for and embrace a lifelong learning process.

The staff development at WAYS will focus on integrating the interdisciplinary curriculum and rigorous state standards. Teachers will be trained on how to utilize the standards based instructional materials and texts in the process of developing backwards planning and curriculum mapping.

WAYS holds that each teacher brings a unique set of skills, insights and creativity. Therefore, all teachers are provided time to work in team clusters to continue to refine and develop teaching skills. In-service staff development to review goals and objectives, to stimulate curriculum enhancement, and to explore effective methods of assessment, including establishing a uniform portfolio assessment system across grade levels will be implemented. Ongoing staff development outside of our school is encouraged and viewed as opportunities to provide for professional growth and to ensure proper renewal of clear credentials. Team building and conflict resolution skills will also be a part of our staff development program element.

Team teaching will be a major component of our staff development program. Team meetings will be held every week to develop curriculum objectives and theme projects, exchange ideas and information relative to their clusters and their profession, and develop solutions to problems or social conflicts that may have arisen in their classrooms. Mentoring by experienced teachers, who have been in our school more than two years, or by administration is will be a major part of our program. Mentors will make routine observations of new staff, meet individually to offer suggestions, assistance and information vital to learning and incorporating the school philosophy, goals and objectives.

Teachers will participate in weekly grade level meetings to discuss and review/prepare lesson plans, develop benchmark assessments, gather materials, review class work and organize classrooms and learning groups. This time is recognized as crucial to the successful planning and implementing of classroom objectives and student achievement. The Principal will work with the staff to provide assistance as needed. This time will be considered part of the teacher's workweek on which their annual salary is based.

The WAYS in-service teacher training program consists of approximately 10 days before the start of the first year and 5 days of each subsequent school year; 2 days after spring and winter breaks, 2 days staff retreat and 5 days at the end of the school year. During this time, teachers will work on identifying successful strategies for direct and explicit instruction of needed skills. During these days, teachers receive intensive training on the school's educational philosophy and curriculum development to ensure successful implementation of the curriculum aligned with the state standards. Teachers also participate in on-going weekly staff development meetings for approximately 2-3 hours each week. These meetings include teacher support sessions, discussions and training on an

Staff will have the opportunity to review said policies and provide feedback, which may in turn affect said policies.

10.6 Due Process for Students and Procedures For Ensuring Rights of Students

An informal conference conducted by the Principal with the student and his/her parent/guardian, shall follow a suspension. If the Principal determines that an emergency situation exists, the conference may be omitted. An "emergency situation" involves a clear and present danger to the lives, safety or health of any school community members. If a conference is not held for the reason stated, the parent/guardian shall be notified of the suspension and a conference will be held as soon as possible. Written notification describing the events leading to the suspension will be provided for the parent/guardian in either case.

The length of suspension for students may not exceed a period of 10 continuous days unless an administrative recommendation has been made and agreed to by the student's parent/guardian. A plan for cooperative action between home and school will be developed, within five days of a suspension. This cooperative plan must be followed in order to avoid expulsion from the program. All reasonable arrangements will be made to provide the student with classroom material and current assignments to be completed at home during the length of suspension. If a student is recommended for a period of suspension exceeding 10 continuous days, a second conference will be scheduled with the parent/guardian to discuss the timeline of the suspension and the plan for cooperative action.

Aside from those specified grounds for suspension, a student's suspension may lead to expulsion if the Principal finds that at least one of the following has been verified:

- Other means of correction are not feasible or have repeatedly failed to bring about proper conduct.
- Due to the nature of the violation, the presence of the student causes a continuing danger to the physical safety of the student or others.
- The parent/guardian refuses to participate in conferences to resolve the matter.

WAYS will send written notification of the student expulsion to the parent/guardian of any student who is expelled. This notice will contain the following:

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Renewal Petition

- The specific offense committed by the student for any of the acts listed in "Grounds for Suspension/Expulsion."
- Notice of the parent/guardian's obligation to inform any new district in which the student seeks future enrollment, of the student's status with WAYS.

10.7 Expulsion Hearing

Students recommended for expulsion are entitled to a hearing to determine whether the student should be expelled. The hearing will be held within thirty (30) days after the school administrator determines that the student committed an act subject to expulsion. The hearing may be presided over by the School Board or an administrative hearing panel appointed by the Board.

Written notice of the hearing will be forwarded to the student and the student's parent/guardian at least ten (10) calendar days before the date of the hearing. This notice will include 1) date and place of the hearing; 2) statement of the specific facts, charges and offense upon which the proposed expulsion is based; 3) copy of the disciplinary rules which relate to the alleged violation; 4) opportunity for the student or the student's parent/guardian to appear in person at the hearing or to be represented by legal counsel or by a non-attorney adviser to a) inspect and obtain copies of all documents to be used at the hearing, b) to confront and question all witnesses who testify at the hearing, c) to question all other evidence presented, and d) to present oral and documentary evidence on the student's behalf, including witnesses.

10.1 Appeals of Disciplinary Action

The suspension or expulsion of a student is at the discretion of the school's Principal or the administrative designee. Parent/Guardian will be notified in advance to enactment of the suspension or expulsion. Parent/Guardian may appeal a student's expulsion within five (5) working days to the School Board. The student who has been suspended will return to school after number of days suspended have expired. If the board votes in favor of the parent/guardian, the suspension will be expunged from the student's records. The student, who has been expelled, will be considered suspended until the appeal hearing and a decision is rendered. A meeting will be convened by the School Board to hear the appeal within ten (10) working days of the expulsion. Parent/Guardian must attend to present their appeal. The appeal will be heard by a fair and impartial panel of representatives appointed by the School Board. An appeal hearing includes the Principal, the parent of the student, the student's teacher and any other pertinent person. The decision of the panel of representatives of the School Board will be final.

In the event of a decision to expel a student, WAYS will work cooperatively with the district of residence, county and/or private schools to assist with the educational placement of the student. Any incident of violent and/or serious behavior will be communicated by WAYS to the district/school to which the student matriculates, as permitted by law. It is the sole discretion of WAYS to readmit a student who has been expelled from WAYS or admit a student who has been expelled from any other district school.

10.2 Rehabilitation Plan

WAYS will develop and review with the student and family, the rehabilitation plan. This rehabilitation plan will need to be successfully followed in order to lift a student's expulsion. A rehabilitation plan will be based on the grounds for expulsion and may include requirements such as, attending counseling or group therapy, attending an alternative educational program and showing reasonable progress, making restitution, avoiding further illegal activity, etc. Consideration for lifting the suspension will not exceed one calendar year.

Pupils who are expelled from the Charter School shall be given a rehabilitation plan upon expulsion as developed by the Charter School's governing board at the time of the expulsion order, which may include, but is not limited to, periodic review as well as assessment at the time of review for readmission. The rehabilitation plan should include a date not later than one year from the date of expulsion when the pupil may reapply to the Charter School for readmission.

The Charter School's governing board shall adopt rules establishing a procedure for the filing and processing of requests for readmission and the process for the required review of all expelled pupils for readmission. Upon completion of the readmission process, the Charter School's governing board shall readmit the pupil, unless the Charter School's governing board makes a finding that the pupil has not met the conditions of the rehabilitation plan or continues to pose a danger to campus safety. A description of the procedure shall be made available to the pupil and the pupil's parent or guardian at the time the expulsion order is entered.

10.7 Special Education Discipline

In the case of a student who has an IEP, or a student who has a 504 Plan, the charter will ensure that it follows the correct disciplinary procedures to comply with the mandates of state and federal laws, including the IDEA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Plan of 1973. An IEP team will meet to conduct a manifestation determination and to discuss alternative placement. Prior to recommending expulsion for a student with a 504 Plan, the charter administrator will convene a Link Determination meeting to ask the following two questions: A) Was the misconduct caused by, or directly and substantially related to the student's disability? B) Was the misconduct a direct result of the Charter's failure to implement the 504 Plan?

The Charter will comply with all requirements of the Crawford vs. Board of Education, City of Los Angeles court order and the LAUSD Integration Policy, adopted and maintained pursuant to the Crawford court order, by the Office of Student Integration Services (collectively the "Court-ordered Integration Program"). The Court-ordered Integration Program applies to all schools within or chartered through LAUSD. The School will provide a written plan in the charter petition and upon further request by the District outlining how it would achieve and maintain the LAUSD's ethnic goal of 70:30 or 30:70 ratio.

LAUSD retains sole discretion over the allocation of TIIG funding, where available, and cannot guarantee the availability of this funding to the Charter. In addition, the availability of TIIG funding in prior years does not guarantee that LAUSD will allocate these funds to the Charter in any subsequent school year.

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board of Directors:

Notice of Investigation Pursuant to Education Code Section 47604.4

Pursuant to Education Code section 47604.4, "a county superintendent of schools may, based upon written complaints by parents or other information that justifies the investigation, monitor the operations of a charter school located within that county and conduct an investigation into the operations of that charter school."

This Notice of Investigation (Notice) informs Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) that the Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools has received complaints regarding the operation of the school. The nature of the complaints is that the school has not complied with the terms of the charter and lacks the capacity to govern the school and implement the charter. The Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE), under my direction, has begun to investigate these allegations.

On October 19, 2011, LACOE requested a meeting with current members of WAYS governing board and its executive director to determine whether the school has complied with the terms of the charter and has the capacity to govern the school and implement the charter.

On October 26, 2011, the current WAYS board president informed LACOE by email, "I cannot make a sole decision regarding this matter. I will inform the board of your request in the next board meeting...." (Attachment 1)

Agendas for the October 29, 2011 and November 3, 2011 board meetings did not include this item. (Attachments 2 – 3)

This Notice provides WAYS with a final opportunity to meet with LACOE prior to the conclusion of the investigation.

Hi Dorothy:

This is a follow-up to our conversation on October 19, 2011. Due to the resignations of WAYS Board members and the Executive Director, we are requesting that the Board and the acting Executive Director meet with the Charter School Office for a Capacity Interview. The interview will be conducted in two phases:

- The first phase will assist us in determining whether the governing board understands its role and responsibilities, and has the capacity to govern the school. Only voting members of the board participate in this phase.
- The second phase will assist us in determining whether the board and the leadership team have the capacity to implement the charter. Toward that end, questions will focus on petition, the educational program, outcomes, and other elements, the financial plan, and the governance and management structure. The entire leadership team participates in this phase.

Tentative dates:

Friday, October 21, 2011- 10:00 am or 1:00pm; Thursday October 27, 2011 10:00 or 1:00pm. Once the date is confirmed please email us with names of the Board members that will be attending. Thank you for your assistance.

Superintendent
Los Angeles County Office of Education
9300 Imperial Highway
Downey, CA 90242-2890

Re: Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School

Dear Superintendent Delgado:

As the Executive Director of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School ("WAYS"), I am responding to your letter dated November 17, 2011 concerning what you have called a "Notice of Investigation".

First and foremost, you incorrectly cite Education Code section 47604.4 as authority to "investigate" whether WAYS "has the capacity to govern the school and implement the charter." The Education Code provides no such authority. In fact, the Education Code specifically provides the authority to make determinations about the likely success of charter implementation to the LACOE Board as part of the charter approval or denial procedure. Please see Education Code section 47605(b)(2). By granting the charter on June 7, 2011, the LACOE Board implicitly determined that the school is likely "to successfully implement the program set forth in the petition". You have cited no facts or even allegations to the contrary.

You have misinterpreted section 47604.4. That section provides that the County Superintendent may monitor and conduct an investigation into the operations of a charter school. Of course, you must have a reasonable, articulated basis for doing so. And because LACOE is the school's authorizer, your oversight is further affected by the charter itself. Your letter vaguely states that you have "received complaints regarding the operation of the school." However, the supporting documentation you attached to your letter demonstrates nothing of the sort. Rather, it is a series of emails from your staff attempting to schedule what its calls a "Capacity Interview". There is no mention whatsoever of any "complaint". And there is no such process as a "capacity interview" authorized by the Education Code or the charter.

Please immediately provide copies of any and all "complaints" referred to in your November 17, 2011 letter. If there is in fact a complaint, WAYS will respond. To the extent a LACOE investigation is reasonable and appropriate, we will of course fully and immediately cooperate to the extent necessary.

If you do not provide copies of the "complaints" by December 1, 2011, we will presume that no such complaint exists. If there is a problem at the school, we wish to resolve it immediately for the benefit of our students.

WAYS does not concede that you have authority to conduct what appears to be a fishing expedition / witch hunt under authority of the Education Code. If you believe you have a reasonable basis to conduct an investigation about anything whatsoever concerning WAYS, please immediately inform us of that basis and your supporting facts.

We do not wish to engage in prolonged disputes with you concerning charter oversight. If you truly have a specific concern with the implementation of any provision of our charter, please let us know so that we can engage in meaningful dialogue and get any real problem fixed for the benefit of the children. Your vague, unsupported allegations and incorrect read of the Education Code are not helpful.

Sincerely,

Re: LACOE's Violation of Government Code

Dear Superintendent Delgado:

As the Executive Director of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School ("WAYS"), I am following up concerning my letter to you dated November 28, 2011, responding to yours dated November 17, 2011. I am enclosing copies of both letters for your reference.

More than two weeks ago, we requested copies of the records referenced in your letter as "complaints". Due to the serious nature of your letter, we expected a prompt response from you. We asked that you respond by December 1, 2011, or we would presume that no such complaint exists. Unfortunately, you did not respond at all. In fact, you missed the statutory response deadline imposed by the Government Code, and you are now in violation of the Public Records Act. In light of your failure to timely respond, you have waived any objection to our request. Please produce the requested "complaints" and related records immediately, or confirm that the records do not exist.

A few days ago, we received communication from LACOE Financial Operations Consultant Vo Chan. Mr. Chan requested a meeting, but vaguely described the subject matter. It appeared to be the same matter addressed in your November 17, 2011 letter. Nevertheless, I responded in good faith seeking clarification, and informed Mr. Chan that there was a pending records request presented to LACOE concerning what appears to be the same matter. To my surprise, Mr. Chan responded via email that he is "not part of that process", and stated that he does not communicate with your office. Either Mr. Chan's statements are incorrect, or you have no coordination among your staff. Either way, you appear to have an internal problem in that regard.

Again, WAYS does not wish to engage in prolonged disputes with you concerning charter oversight. If you truly have a specific concern with the implementation of any provision of our charter, please let us know so that we can engage in meaningful dialogue and get any real

RE: Response to WAYS Letters Dated November 28, 2011 and December 12, 2011

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board of Directors:

We write this on behalf of the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) and apologize for the delay in providing this response; we did not realize that you had characterized your request as a California Public Records Act Request.

In response to your November 28, 2011 letter, the allegations under investigation are as follows:

- Breach of the conditions of authorization
- Fiscal mismanagement
- Breach of fiduciary responsibility
- Breach of duty of care
- Conflict of interest
- Failure to implement the academic program described in the charter

LACOE received complaints of the allegations above from parents and employees of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientist Charter School (WAYS). The complaints were corroborated through discussions with members of WAYS Board, the Executive Director who held the position at the time of authorization, observations by LACOE staff, and the attached documents of former WAYS Board members and staff. The attached are provided as a courtesy to you. In the future, please note that LACOE charges $.25 per page for any documents produced pursuant to the Public Records Act.

LACOE requested a meeting (Capacity Interview) with the current WAYS Board to provide it with an opportunity to respond to the complaints. Irrespective of the labeling of the "Capacity Interview," LACOE is obligated under the law to investigate the complaints made by parents, employees, and former WAYS Board members given the serious nature of the allegations. Please provide dates of availability for a meeting to be held this month.

Should WAYS Board choose not to participate in the meeting and not provide input, LACOE will indicate such on the investigative report it will complete and provide to the Los Angeles County Board of Education. A copy of the investigation will be provided to you at that time. We anticipate concluding the investigation by January 31, 2012, depending on the participation of the Wisdom Board. Any other documents that may exist and that could be responsive to your Public Records Act request, LACOE hereby claims the deliberative process privilege for any draft documents.

Please contact Ms. Jan Isenberg in the Charter School Office at (562) 922-8806 to provide possible dates of the WAYS Board attendance at the requested meeting and if you have any other questions.

Re: Letter of Resignation

To: Jan Isenberg

Due to the extreme ~~disfunction~~ created by non participating or some participating board members who serve only to stir up chaos and dissention, the ignorant and judgmental thought processes of a large sum of misguided parents, and a the flat out lack of support which created an environment so negative that in one day this school lost two board members and the current Executive Director (Michael Cureton). Prior to that WAYS had already been red flagged for a conflict of interest that should have been obvious to any person who bother to read the elements in the definition of Conflict of Interest.

I maybe could have handle some of those things, and still been able to function. However, the combination of all of these things with the understanding that this experience is the same ,day in...and day out, which makes any type of positive steps forward not possible.

It is with this knowledge that I realize what I came on board to accomplish here, can not be done here, and WAYS will remain in disarray no matter how much time passes because they only want to enforce what they want but WAYS is not sensible enough to realize that is not what they actually need (There is an obvious difference between the two).

Effective immediately I am resigning from my position on this board (Wisdom Academy of Young Scientist). I am not the first person to resign and it is my belief that I will not be, the last.

To Whom It May Concern,

Please accept my immediate resignation from the Board of Directors for Wisdom Academy of Young Scientist, as Vice President of the Board. It is with great sadness that I must tender this letter.

I wish the best for Principal Alake Watson and Principle Lawrence Wynder, as well as the children, parents, faculty and staff of WAYS. I hope the school and the board members are able execute a professional, positive, nurturing and encouraging environment in which everyone involved learns, grows and develops into positive, enlightened community leaders.

My best wishes to you, Mr. Cabil. As Executive Director, you have taken on a serious responsibility. I know you are well qualified for the job. I pray that you continue to act with the same integrity, resilience and consideration, I briefly witnessed during my short tenure.

To the Board, I wish you the best as well. Please don't just sit in your chairs and attend a meeting once a month. Go to the school; engage the students, parents and staff. Watch, listen and learn.

To the students. Take every opportunity afforded to you. Never let anyone or anything stop you from achieving your dreams! You are a blessing and a miracle! You are worthy and you have the world at your fingertips! Reach for the stars and you just may grab hold of the universe! It's your choice, win it all or lose everything for fear of taking a chance on yourself! Be a Winner!

Re: Board Resignation

Dear Jan Isenberg:

In light of recent occurrences, I regretfully submit my resignation from the Governing Board of Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists as of September 30, 2011. I am fully committed to the education of our children, however after the September 16, 2011 meeting I am discouraged by the many attempts from misguided disgruntled parties to dissuade the educational process.

On June 30, 2011, I was asked by the Board President, Board Secretary and the new Executive Director to give the Board ninety days before rendering my decision to resign from the Board. However, at this time I do not see any positive movement in correcting past issues.

The September 16, 2011 meeting was an abusive assault on the Board President. I was so disgusted of by the negative atmosphere I walked out of the meeting with the audience yelling at me from the top of there lungs. When I walked out of the meeting I saw faces of anger and militant behavior by these disgruntled parties. A professional business meeting should not be driven down to this level of misbehaving. The misguided and disgruntled parties involved in this gang warfare are unable to see the big picture of educating our children, what they see is an agenda guided by personal issues.

I wish the school luck.

To: Jan Isenberg, WAYS' Administration and WAYS' Board of Directors

The role of an educational board member is such a serious undertaking and requires commitment and dedication to the system of making sure our children's learning is always at the forefront. The future of the school (WAYS) is at stake and the board is the essential element in assuring the mission of the school is carried out. A board needs information to perform effectively and committees need forming to operate efficiently. The ability of a charter school to carry out its mission and vision depend on the strength of its organizational foundation. A critical element of this foundation is the charter school board itself—it is important to the health of the charter school and its financial base is primary.

When I joined the WAYS' board I witnessed no written description of board roles and responsibilities (there were two members who performed many functions and wore many hats)—no R&Rs in place at the time; there was no Board Development Committee supported by the full board of directors (there were only two functioning members); no recruitment priorities based on analysis of current board and future skills and knowledge assessed; no formal orientation training sessions offered; no written board manual in place; no annual board self-evaluation process in place (was not sure of the process by which the annual review of administrators performance were assessed); well written charter school bylaws and other governance documents; commitment to and active role in strategic planning, and more could be named.

There's no getting around it—it takes time to build an effective charter school board; and, the investment of time and energy creates a board that becomes a self-renewing resource that adds value to the charter school—these are my beliefs as a qualified member and this is what I envision coming on as a WAYS Board member. Learning to govern well requires effort and dedication and is a matter of consistency and discipline.

One of the roles of the board is to ensure a safe and appropriate educational environment is provided to all students and another major role is to set policies and procedures and follow-through. These tasks require a cohesive and strong board with emphasis on supporting the school and its mission to empower students to be all that they can be for successful citizens in a global world.

At this juncture, I can no longer give of my time (As a volunteer board member I have not missed a board meeting since inception), expertise, knowledge, and energy to meetings that are disruptive, chaotic and forced fed with manipulation, hate, and bitterness. Manipulations are not a good practice and I will not be manipulated. The meetings are now appalling and stressful—they are abusive assaults on board members—I am beginning to fear for safety—meetings are not in a spirit that is "forward moving" for the good of the students, families, and community. Our efforts should be about supporting the school and its mission to empower children to become leaders. In light of the present situation at WAYS (gang warfare-like meetings, misguided, disgruntled parties, and personal issues even though they are not on the agenda)-and due to the nature of the many conflicts still in existence, I regretfully resign my position on the WAYS board effective immediately.

RE: LETTER OF RESIGNATION

Dear Jan Isenberg,

I am deeply troubled by the conflict and chaos displayed by the founder and former executive director of Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists who continues to be a disruptive force against the Executive Director's, Administrators' and Governing Board's every attempt to move forward for the betterment of the students, faculty and administrators we are charged to support.

The founder prefers to meddle and manipulate rather than comply with the decrees of the authorizing agency, while quoting the Brown Act to us as if she believed in its principles.

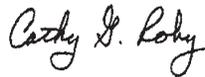

Instead of coming forward in a community spirit for the good of the students, Okonkwo and her supporters prefer to steamroll over established Charter Rules with in-your-face verbal abuse.

The entire situation is appalling.

There can be no orderly transition in this climate of discord. As a volunteer who has already invested excessive time, energy and personal resources to fight this unending battle - to the extent that I jeopardize my own livelihood and now fear for my own personal safety as well as that of parents with young students at meetings-turned-violent – I see that to continue in this vein is an exercise in futility.

As the Board elected Treasurer, I refuse to lend my name to this madness and misconduct. Therefore, I hereby submit my resignation effective immediately.

Yours truly,

Cathy G. Roby

Dear Mr. Cabil:

Written Response to Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS)
Letter Dated December 19, 2011

Please allow this letter to respond to your fax letter dated December 19, 2011, which was received on December 20, 2011.

The Dispute Resolution Procedure in Charter Element 14 requires that the Written Notification identify the nature of the dispute with specificity. Your letter simply fails to clearly identify the nature of any dispute. By merely attaching past letters without specifically identifying the nature of the dispute, WAYS requires the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) to speculate as to what, if at all, the dispute is.

Your letter does assert that LACOE staff members have made false allegations against WAYS over the past several months including the LACOE letter dated December 12, 2011. The letter dated December 12, 2011, states that the allegations under investigation are as follows:

- Breach of the conditions of authorization
- Fiscal mismanagement
- Breach of fiduciary responsibility
- Breach of duty of care
- Conflict of interest
- Failure to implement the academic program described in the charter

If the foregoing are the allegations WAYS is disputing, as a point of clarification, these allegations were not made by LACOE staff. The December 12, 2011 letter clearly states that LACOE received complaints of the allegations above from parents and employees of WAYS. These allegations were then corroborated by WAYS board members. Some of these complaints were made telephonically or in person.

The validity of said allegations, in fact, is the subject matter of the ongoing investigation as stated in the December 12, 2011 letter. LACOE has yet to determine whether these allegations are true.

Mr. Edward Cabil
January 19, 2012

The Charter School Office has extended an invitation to the WAYS Board to be interviewed on more than one occasion, only to be rejected. Rather than address the veracity of the allegations through attempting to invoke the dispute resolution procedure, we encourage WAYS to participate in the investigation itself.

If the WAYS Board refuses to participate in the investigation, it will result in an investigation report without input from the WAYS Board, and all findings and conclusions reached with the information at hand will be assumed to be true.

If the WAYS Board wishes to present its side and address the allegations by partaking in the investigation, LACOE will gladly set up interview times to accommodate the Board's schedule.

We recognize that you have attempted to invoke the Dispute Resolution Procedure in Charter Element 14. That Element states that:

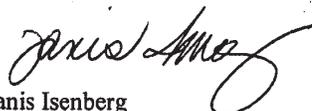

Any controversy or claim arising out of or relating to the charter agreement between the District and WAYS, except any controversy or claim that is in any way related to revocation of this Charter, shall be handled first through an informal process with the procedures set forth below. WAYS Charter, Page 155. (Emphasis added.)

The investigation concerns allegations that may relate to revocation of this Charter, and therefore, it would not be subject to the process as enumerated in the Dispute Resolution Procedure.

Again, it is unclear what the nature of WAYS' dispute is. Please clarify any and all of your points of contention with specificity. Without further detailed information, LACOE is unable to provide a more substantive response.

Please contact me at (562) 922-8806 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Janis Isenberg

Re: Response to your letter dated January 19, 2012 concerning the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists

Dear Ms. Isenberg:

This letter is intended to correct misstatements made in your letter dated January 19, 2012 concerning the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists ("WAYS").

You complain that my December 20, 2011 letter to you did not identify any specific allegations in dispute. That is because you have never articulated any specific allegations. Instead, my letter identified "the nature of the dispute" as is required by the charter. If you have any specific question or seek any specific information, please ask and WAYS will promptly respond.

You suggest that the WAYS Board should "present its side and address the allegations", and that its members should "partake" in LACOE staff's "investigation". WAYS cannot present "its side" when you have not told us what your allegations are, or even identified any problem at all. Again, if you would like information, please ask.

WAYS has not "refused" to participate in an "investigation" as you assert. To the contrary, if you would like information and/or documentation from WAYS, please ask. However, based upon your course of conduct over the past few months, it is clear that you are seeking to manufacture a problem where none exists. First, you demanded to "capacity interview" our individual board members. That was highly inappropriate. Then, you sent a LACOE consultant to do the same thing. Now, you claim that parents have complained about something, but have produced no such complaint despite our specific request that you do so.

Your bad faith conduct is demonstrated by your own offensive threat:

"If the WAYS Board refuses participate in [LACOE staff's] investigation, it will result in an investigation report without input from the WAYS Board, and all findings and conclusions reached with the information at hand will be assumed to be true."

Page 2 – Letter To Jan Isenberg

Of course, no such assumption of truth may be made. Your position violates even the most basic tenets of fairness and due process, and the law. Again, if you truly have “information at hand”, you must tell WAYS what that is and provide the school a meaningful opportunity to respond. Even law enforcement officials and courts do not have the unchecked authority to act as you propose for yourself. You have lost track of the correct nature and extent of your duties and obligations as charter authorizer. We look forward to the opportunity to respond to whatever “findings and conclusions” you may reach.

Lastly, your statement that this matter is not subject to dispute resolution is dead wrong. There is no revocation proceeding pending whatsoever. Therefore, this matter cannot be related to such a proceeding. Further, your selective quote of the charter left this out:

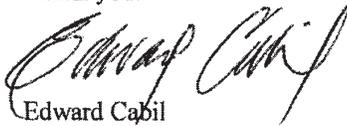

14.2 Process for Resolving Disputes between WAYS and the County

Any controversy, claim, or dispute arising out of or relating to the charter agreement shall be handled first through an informal process in accordance with the procedures set forth below:

(1) Any controversy, claim, or dispute arising out of or relating to the charter agreement, or the breach thereof, must be submitted in writing (“Written Notification”). The Written Notification must identify the nature of the dispute....

Your letters clearly “arise out of or relate to the charter agreement.” Please provide us with whatever information you have “at hand” that suggests WAYS has not complied with its charter or law. We wish to resolve this matter as quickly as possible.

Thank you.

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Response to May 11, 2012 Letter Regarding Investigation Pursuant to Education Code 47604.4

This letter serves as a response to your letter dated May 11, 2012, and accompanying attachments, which were received by the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) by email on May 14, 2012.

Your May 11, 2012 letter responds to two (2) different letters that originated from LACOE, both dated May 4, 2012.

A response to the issues pertaining to the County Board's action of May 1, 2012, will be addressed in a separate letter.

The May 4, 2012 letter (attached) signed by me was sent pursuant to the investigation conducted by LACOE under the authority of a County Superintendent of Schools pursuant to Education Code 47604.4.

Based on allegations and complaints received by LACOE, the Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools authorized an investigation of Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS). To date, the school has not provided LACOE the requested documents necessary to complete the investigation. I am reiterating those requested documents from my May 4, 2012 letter, below:

- Copies of all credit card statements from June 2011 to April 30, 2012
- A listing of all independent contractors including building services and maintenance contracts

Mr. Edward Cabil, Executive Director
Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board
Page 2

- Copies of all contracts executed between June 2011 and April 30, 2012, and evidence of the competitive bidding process as described in WAYS' Fiscal Policy from June 2011 to April 30, 2012
- Any revised or updated Fiscal Policies and Procedures since July 1, 2011
- Copies of all employment contracts and settlement agreements
- Copies of all teacher lesson plans for science from September 2011 to April 30, 2012

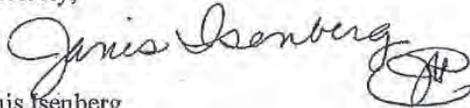

LACOE has offered to meet with WAYS' governing board on multiple occasions to discuss the complaints and allegations. Again you declined to meet on the dates proposed in my May 4, 2012 letter, and LACOE did not receive the requested documents necessary to schedule a meeting. Therefore, LACOE is unable to meet on the dates proposed in your May 11, 2012 letter, and will not be able to meet unless you provide the information requested in my May 4, 2012 letter.

If WAYS submits the requested fiscal information by noon on Friday, June 1, 2012, LACOE can meet with WAYS' governing board on June 8, 2012 (12:30 – 4:30 p.m.), June 11, 2012 (8:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.), or June 14, 2012 (8:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.).

This proposed meeting with WAYS' governing board is not an issues conference pertaining to the dispute resolution process of the charter. It is an opportunity for WAYS' governing board to provide information regarding the complaints and allegations that have been made against it and respond to questions regarding the school's fiscal, educational, and governance practices.

Please contact the Charter School Office at 562-922-8806 if you have any questions and to make arrangements to submit requested documents, schedule the meeting, and inform LACOE of the names and titles of the individuals who will attend the meeting so a suitable meeting space can be secured.

Re: Response to your May 25, 2012 letter

Dear Ms. Isenberg:

Your May 25, 2012 letter requesting to meet with WAYS officials apart from the dispute resolution/mediation process pertains to the very same issues (nearly verbatim) that addressed in your May 1, 2012 staff report to the Los Angeles County Board of Education regarding WAYS. You explicitly sought direction from the County Board to pursue dispute resolution / mediation concerning these very same issues. The County Board voted to direct you to do just that, and we assent to comply. We diligently endeavored for more than three weeks to engage LACOE staff in the dispute resolution conference required by the charter and directed by LACOE Board. We are surprised that the only communication we have received from you in that regard since our May 11, 2012 request is your May 25 letter stating that you do not intend to follow the direction you sought and that LACOE Board approved: dispute resolution and mediation. Your May 25 letter entirely ignores the detailed responses and attachments we sent you on May 11.

Your May 1 report comprised of vague allegations: “fiscal mismanagement”, “breach of fiduciary responsibility”, “breach of duty of care”, “conflict of interest”, and “failure to implement the academic program described in charter”, were presented without any reasonable basis or evidence. It now appears that your office is now seeking to sidestep dispute resolution on these issues because your May 1 report lacked supporting documentation. Furthermore, we have yet to obtain a substantial response from your office after numerous requests to be given evidence of the alleged complaints. Now, we are heading toward mediation and your office appears unable to frame any real disputes with WAYS, simply because your allegations are either long ago cured or unfounded.

We still await your response to our May 11 and May 23, 2012 letters pursuing the process explicitly requested by your LACOE Board as a result of your May 1, 2012 staff report.

Sincerely,

Ed Cabil – Executive Director

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Response to May 31, 2012 Letter Regarding Investigation Pursuant to Education Code 47604.4

This letter serves as a response to Mr. Edward Cabil's letter dated May 31, 2012.

Wholly apart from the issues involved in mediation, the Los Angeles County Office of Education's (LACOE) ongoing request to meet with Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists' (WAYS) governing board has been and continues to be made pursuant to the statutory authority granted to a county superintendent under Education Code section 47604.4. LACOE has repeatedly proposed dates for such a meeting six (6) separate times, but WAYS has refused to agree to meet and thus far has refused to provide the documents requested by the Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools.

To date, the school has not provided LACOE the documents requested in letters dated May 4, 2012, and May 25, 2012, necessary to complete the investigation. The Charter School Office is requesting that you provide the documents by June 25, 2012. Upon receipt of the documents we will provide WAYS with dates to meet. If the requested documents are not provided, LACOE has no other alternative but to request the County Board to issue a Notice of Violation for failure to comply with Education Code section 47604.4.

Sincerely,

B. Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School failure to fulfill conditions of authorization

The County Board approved the renewal of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) on June 7, 2011. The County Board received the renewal petition on appeal after it was denied by the Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education.

The June 7, 2011 action of the County Board granting renewal of the WAYS charter was subject to seven (7) conditions, including a condition that WAYS make changes to the petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer as required by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5 section 11967. Changes were to be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) by June 30, 2011.

On May 1, 2012, the County Board received a report on the status of the school's compliance with the conditions of authorization. The report identified the school's failure to make changes to the petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.

Based on the findings of the May 1, 2012 report, the County Board received a recommendation to initiate mediation pursuant to the Dispute Resolution Process stated in the renewal petition. The Board approved this recommendation on that same date.

WAYS and LACOE entered into a Mediation Agreement on June 15, 2012. The agreement required the school to make changes to the petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer as specified in the LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding Attachments F, "Necessary Changes to the Charter Petition to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer" and Attachment G, "Changes to the Charter Petition Necessary to Comply with Education Code Section 47607(a)(2)"

To date, WAYS has not complied with the condition of authorization to reflect the County Board as the authorizer or with the terms of the June 15, 2012 Mediation Agreement. Petition deficiencies remain in the Affirmations and Assurances; Educational Program (Element 1); Measurable Outcomes (Element 2); Employee Qualifications (Element 5); Racial and Ethnic Balance (Element 7); Suspension and Expulsion (Element 10); and Dispute Resolution (Element 14).

The full report on WAYS Charter School is attached.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School Status of the June 7, 2011 Conditions of Renewal Established by the County Board

Background

The Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) approved the renewal of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) on June 7, 2011, after the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) Board of Education (Board) denied renewal of the school's charter.

The LAUSD Board based its denial on the following findings:

EC 47605(b)(2): The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program based on concerns regarding the following:

Conflict of interest concerns exist pertaining to members of the WAYS Board of Directors and the WAYS Executive Director and Principal.... the WAYS Board...was minimally responsive to staff communications.... LAUSD considered the governing board's lack of independent and effective response to the Notice of Concern to be inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility...which called into question the Board's capacity to govern the Charter School and successfully implement the program set forth in the petition. The WAYS Board failed to resolve the Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempted to do so....

The WAYS governing board is unfamiliar with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law... [including] whether the Board is familiar with and complies with the requirements of the Brown Act. Additionally, the Board allowed self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the Board in the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest.

EC 47605(b)(5): The petition fails to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements: The Educational Program, Method for Measuring Pupil Progress, Governance Structure, Health and Safety Procedures, Means for Achieving a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, Identification of Retirement Systems, Public School Alternatives, Dispute Resolution, and Closure Procedures.

County Board Action to Grant Renewal was Subject to Conditions

The June 7, 2011 action of the County Board granting renewal of the WAYS charter was subject to the following conditions:

1. WAYS was to make changes to the petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer as required by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5 section 11967 by June 30, 2011;
2. WAYS' Board was to approve and sign the LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) by June 30, 2011;
3. WAYS was to make application to a Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA) by June 30, 2011;
4. WAYS' former Executive Director was not to be "employed by or at the charter school until such time, if any, that the allegations of conflict of interest be resolved fully in her favor;"

5. WAYS was to comply with all California Conflict of Interest Laws;
6. WAYS was to contract with Michael Cureton as its Executive Director for two (2) years; and
7. If any changes to Governance or Conflict of Interest were not permanent, it would be grounds for revocation.

May 2012 Status Report to the County Board

On May 1, 2012, the County Board received a report on the status of compliance with the conditions of authorization and a recommendation to request mediation pursuant to the Dispute Resolution Process. (Attachment 1) The County Board approved this recommendation.

Status of Compliance with the First Condition of Renewal

WAYS will make changes to the petition to reflect County Board as the authorizer as required by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5 section 11967 by June 30, 2011

The necessary changes were identified in the LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) as Attachment F, "Necessary Changes to the Charter Petition to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer." The attachment specified the necessary non-material changes to Elements 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 12, 14, and 16.

Review of Events Prior to Mediation: (From the May 1, 2012 Report to the County Board)

1. June 2011, WAYS began the revision process under the direction of Executive Director Michael Cureton; LACOE received a draft of proposed changes on August 21, 2011.
2. September 15, 2011, Mr. Cureton tendered his resignation effective October 1, 2011. He notified LACOE that Ms. Alake Watson, school principal, would continue to lead the revision process until a new Executive Director is named.
3. October 14, 2011, WAYS Board Member, Edward Cabil resigned from the WAYS Board and was appointed interim Executive Director.
4. October 21, 2011, WAYS submitted a second revision of proposed charter changes to LACOE.
5. November 17, 2011, WAYS' attorney notified LACOE that the charter agreement is "fully authorized" and there "can be no other terms or conditions imposed by staff." The school rescinded previously submitted changes and invoked Dispute Resolution on the requirement to make changes. (November 11, 2011, WAYS Board named Mr. Cabil permanent Executive Director.)
6. December 21, 2011, LACOE responded to WAYS stating (1) the County Board has the authority to impose conditions of authorization; (2) WAYS' Board agreed to the changes reflecting the County Board as authorizer by signing the MOU (necessary changes were specified in the MOU as Attachment F); and (3) invoking Dispute Resolution regarding WAYS' unauthorized changes to the petition.
7. January 26, 2012, LACOE received a letter from WAYS dated December 11, 2012, which (1) disputed LACOE's ability to impose conditions for authorization; and (2) failed to respond to LACOE's request for an Issues Conference.

8. February 2, 2012, LACOE invited WAYS to an Issues Conference to discuss “whether the County Board may, as a condition of authorization, require changes to the charter necessary to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.”
9. February 6, 2012, WAYS sent LACOE a letter stating the purpose of the Issues Conference had not been identified. The letter states, “It is our position (as should be yours) that the WAYS charter document speaks for itself, as does the County Board’s action approving the charter.”
10. May 1, 2012, LACOE reported to the County Board on which conditions of authorization WAYS had and had not fulfilled. The County Board took action to direct staff to enter into mediation with WAYS.

Review of Events from Mediation Forward:

1. On June 15, 2012, WAYS and LACOE met with a mediator. The terms agreed to as the result of mediation were as follows:

WAYS and LACOE agree that WAYS will revise its charter to reflect LACOE’s conditions of approval and MOU attachments F and G. WAYS will submit a draft document to LACOE CSO by 8/3/12. LACOE shall review the document and affirm compliance or shall provide specific comments and request further revision by 8/31/12.

WAYS will submit any further revisions by 9/14/12.

Except as amended, all other terms and conditions of the MOU and agreements remain in effect.

MOU Attachment F, “Necessary Changes to the Charter Petition, to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer” specified the necessary non-material changes to Elements 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 12, 14, and 16.

MOU Attachment G, “Changes to the Charter Petition Necessary to Comply with Education Code Section 47607(a)(2)” required the school to bring the petition into compliance with current law. It stated that the renewal petition did not comply with EC § 47607(a)(2) which requires that renewal petitions shall include ... a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed.... The attachment stated, “The sections that shall be brought current include...Element 2: Measurable Student Outcomes; Element 3: Method of Measuring Student Progress; Element 4: Governance; and Element 8: Admission Procedures.”

2. On August 3, 2012, WAYS submitted a revised petition as required by the Mediation Agreement. LACOE reviewed the changes and on August 29, 2012, provided WAYS specific feedback on which changes were insufficient and made a request for further revisions.
3. On September 14, 2012, WAYS submitted a second revised petition. After review, Superintendent Dr. Arturo Delgado notified WAYS on December 4, 2012, that it had failed to comply with the terms of the Mediation Agreement because it failed to make all of the changes specified in the August 29, 2012 communication from LACOE. (Attachment 2) Dr. Delgado’s letter stated:

*While the Mediation Agreement does not require that LACOE provide WAYS with additional opportunity to comply, LACOE is extending the school a final opportunity to make the necessary changes to the petition. An analysis of the submitted petition is attached. (Enclosure 4) The final submission is due to the Charter School Office (CSO) by 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, December 19, 2012.

The County Board was informed of the school's failure to comply with the Mediation Agreement.

4. On December 19, 2012, WAYS submitted a third revised charter petition. LACOE reviewed the document and concluded the petition still did not fully comply with the Mediation Agreement.
5. On January 10, 2013, Dr. Delgado notified WAYS the petition was not compliant, identified the remaining deficiencies, and informed the school that the County Board would be apprised of the school's failure to comply. (Attachment 3) The County Board was informed of the school's failure to comply with the Mediation Agreement.

To date, the WAYS Charter School has failed to comply with the conditions of authorization established by the County Board and as stipulated in the June 15, 2012 Mediation Agreement. The following is an overview of remaining key deficiencies:

Affirmations and Assurances: Missing required assurances stated in original petition

Educational Program (Element 1):

- Inadequate description of special education program
- Build-out plan does not reflect last material revision to charter (enrollment, facilities/location, grades to be served)

Measurable Outcomes (Element 2): Insufficient outcome measures for English learners

Employee Qualifications (Element 5):

- Positions do not match governance structure and some materially revise the organizational structure
- Does not indicate how contractor effectiveness is determined (the school has had difficulty maintaining compliant special education programs and services provided by a contractor)
- Contradictions and lack of clarity with regard to supervisory roles

Racial and Ethnic Balance (Element 7):

- Lacks demographic data necessary to ensure the plan is adequate
- Does not reflect county authorization by inclusion of LAUSD court-ordered integration

Suspension and Expulsion (Element 10):

- Does not differentiate between mandatory and permissive causes for suspension and expulsion as required by law
- Procedures include due process concerns

Dispute Resolution (Element 14):

- Timeline remains excessive
- Language from original petition regarding revocation was removed

A detailed matrix of the deficiencies was provided to the school as an attachment to Dr. Delgado's January 10, 2012 letter and is included as a component of this report through Attachment 3.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School Status of the June 7, 2011 Conditions of Renewal Established by the County Board

Background

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) is located within the geographic boundaries of the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD). The school has three (3) sites; one was approved by the Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) as a Material Revision to the Charter on August 9, 2011. WAYS currently has an enrollment of 488 students (CALPADS Spring 1 Certification, April 2, 2011).

The County Board took action to renew WAYS subject to specific conditions. The renewal petition was received by the County Board on appeal after it was denied by the LAUSD Board of Education based on the following findings:

EC 47605(b)(2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program:

Conflict of interest concerns exist pertaining to members of the WAYS Board of Directors and the WAYS Executive Director and Principal.... the WAYS Board...was minimally responsive to staff communications.... LAUSD considered the governing board's lack of independent and effective response to the Notice of Concern to be inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility...which called into question the Board's capacity to govern the Charter School and successfully implement the program set forth in the petition. The WAYS Board failed to resolve the Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempted to do so....

The WAYS governing board is unfamiliar with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law... [including] whether the Board is familiar with and complies with the requirements of the Brown Act. Additionally, the Board allowed self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the Board in the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest.

EC 47605(b)(5) The petition fails to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements: The Educational Program, Method for Measuring Pupil Progress, Governance Structure, Health and Safety Procedures, Means for Achieving a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, Identification of Retirement Systems, Public School Alternatives, Dispute Resolution, Closure Procedures.

Action to Grant Renewal by the County Board was Subject to Conditions

The June 7, 2011 action to grant renewal was subject to the following conditions:

1. WAYS was to make changes to the petition to reflect County Board as the authorizer as required by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5 section 11967 by June 30, 2011;

2. WAYS' Board was to approve and sign the LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) by June 30, 2011;
3. WAYS was to make application to a Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA) by June 30, 2011;
4. WAYS' former Executive Director was not to be "employed by or at the charter school until such time, if any, that the allegations of conflict of interest be resolved fully in her favor;"
5. WAYS was to comply with all California Conflict of Interest Laws;
6. WAYS was to contract with Michael Cureton as its Executive Director for two (2) years; and
7. If any changes to Governance or Conflict of Interest were not permanent, it would be grounds for revocation.

Status of Compliance with County Board Conditions of Renewal

To date, the school's status on fulfilling the conditions of renewal is as follows:

1. WAYS did not make changes to the petition to reflect County Board as the authorizer. Events relevant to the school's failure to comply with the conditions of renewal are as follows:
 - a. June 2011, WAYS began the revision process under the direction of Executive Director Michael Cureton; LACOE received a draft of proposed changes on August 21, 2011.
 - b. September 15, 2011, Mr. Cureton tendered his resignation effective October 1, 2011. He notified LACOE that Ms. Watson, school principal, would continue to lead the revision process until a new Executive Director is named.
 - c. October 14, 2011, WAYS Board Member, Edward Cabil resigned from the WAYS Board and is appointed interim Executive Director.
 - d. October 21, 2011, WAYS submitted a second revision of proposed charter changes to LACOE.
 - e. November 17, 2011, WAYS' attorney notified LACOE that the charter agreement is "fully authorized" and there "can be no other terms or conditions imposed by staff." The school rescinded previously submitted changes and invoked Dispute Resolution on the requirement to make changes. (November 11, 2011, WAYS Board named Mr. Cabil permanent Executive Director.)
 - f. December 21, 2011, LACOE responded to WAYS stating (1) the County Board has the authority to impose conditions of authorization; (2) WAYS' Board agreed to the changes reflecting the County Board as authorizer by signing the MOU (necessary changes were specified in the MOU as Attachment F); and (3) invoking Dispute Resolution regarding WAYS' unauthorized changes to the petition.
 - g. January 26, 2012, LACOE received a letter from WAYS dated December 11, 2012, which (1) disputed LACOE's ability to impose conditions for authorization; and (2) failed to respond to LACOE's request for an Issues Conference.
 - h. February 2, 2012, LACOE invited WAYS to an Issues Conference to discuss "whether the County Board may, as a condition of authorization, require changes to the charter necessary to reflect the County Board as the authorizer."

pertaining to the school's internal controls and fiscal operations (EC 47604.3).

- a. Based on a review of credit card statements (supporting documents not available for review), and inquiries to WAYS' management and back-office services provider, WAYS exhibits a lack of internal control and oversight over credit card usage. For example, WAYS made credit card payments prior to obtaining receipts and verifying the validity of the charges, which is contrary to its fiscal policies and procedures.
 - b. Controller's Office staff was scheduled to visit WAYS' back-office services provider on November 18, 2011, to make further inquiries and review documentation, but the visit was objected to and cancelled by WAYS. Subsequently, on January 10, 2012, staff met with WAYS Executive Director and Director of Operations to discuss LACOE's concerns regarding WAYS' internal controls. WAYS' Executive Director acknowledged weaknesses exist.
3. LACOE received verbal and written complaints against WAYS, its governing board, and the former Executive Director by a parent, staff, and former members of WAYS' Board. Based on allegations identified in the complaints, the County Superintendent of Schools opened an investigation pursuant to *EC 47604.4*¹. The complaints allege WAYS engaged in fiscal mismanagement, the Board did not fulfill its fiduciary responsibility or duty of care, there were ongoing conflicts of interest, and the school failed to implement the academic program stated in the charter. Evidence supporting the various allegations includes but is not limited to the following:
- a. The former Executive Director interfered with governing board's ability to fulfill its responsibility to oversee the governance of the school.
 - i. Five (5) of WAYS' nine (9) Board members, in office at the time of County Board action, resigned between September 19 and October 20, 2011. The letters of resignation indicate concerns regarding conflict of interest, on-going Board resignations, dissention, the former Executive Director's verbal abuse of Board members, and the precipitous resignation of Mr. Cureton.
 - ii. The former Executive Director failed to comply with the WAYS Board request to remove herself as a signatory on school accounts until after October 28, 2011.
 - iii. Multiple complaints that the former Executive Director was present at and refused to be unseated from the board table at the September 16, 2011 board meeting. The agenda for this meeting included discussion of moving the school to facilities not owned by the former Executive Director. The meeting was disbanded due to unruly behavior by individuals supporting continued use of the former Executive Director's facilities.
 - iv. At the September 22, 2011 special Board meeting, LACOE staff observed that the former Executive Director was seated at the Board table, held private conversations with one Board member during the course of the meeting, and called an absent Board member to ask if they were coming to the meeting. The meeting was disbanded due to lack of a quorum.

¹47604.4(a) In addition to the authority granted by Sections 1241.5 and 47604.3, a county superintendent of schools may, based upon written complaints by parents or other information that justifies the investigation, monitor the operations of a charter school located within that county and conduct an investigation into the operations of that charter school.

- b. The former Executive Director interfered with the day to day operations of the school.
 - i. In July 2011, the former Executive Director represented WAYS in a Department of Labor Relations Division of Labor Standard Enforcement Hearing as reported by the filing party.
 - ii. On August 30, 2011, LACOE staff observed the presence of the former Executive Director at a WAYS' professional development day including her access to confidential student level data. LACOE also obtained written evidence, corroborated by Mr. Cureton, that she had addressed the staff using materials identifying her as the "Chief Executive Officer of Wisdom Academy."
 - iii. On September 30, 2011, Mr. Cureton sent an email stating, "I will resign my position as Executive Director at Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School on October 1, 2011, because I am being constantly harass[ed] by the founder/former executive director and her son."
- c. WAYS has not implemented the academic program described in the charter.
 - i. WAYS has not provided the science-centered curriculum stated in Element 1 of the charter. The petition states WAYS' mission as follows:

The mission consists of three main concepts: Empowering students to be leaders, through high quality education that is anchored in the California State Standards, enabling them to become true scientists who are global citizens as evidenced by their participation in a rigorous content rich science program and expecting them to be leaders who will act as change agents in their local community. (Emphasis added)

As part of WAYS' renewal application to LAUSD, the district asked the question, "What innovative elements of your charter could be considered best practices and replicated by other schools?" WAYS' response, in part, was its "Science Centered curriculum."

- A. The 2010-11 California Standards Test (CST) for science (administered at fifth grade) indicates only 33% of students scored proficient or above in science. In the previous year, 81% of students scored proficient or above.
- B. Observation by LACOE staff during October 19, 2011, and February 22, 2012, site visits is that the science kits named in the charter are not being utilized and are not present in classrooms. WAYS staff verbally confirmed this observation.
- C. The complaint that textbooks are out of date is corroborated by statements made by WAYS staff that the school is in need of textbooks.
- D. At a December 2011 Board meeting, the WAYS principal reported to the WAYS Board that the school was meeting with a contractor to "bring back" a science program the school previously utilized. There was no evidence of that program during a February 22, 2012 site visit. During that visit, the principal stated the school has deferred the science focus until the school's performance in math and language arts improves.

- E. April 2012, LACOE received a complaint against WAYS alleging the school did not provide adequate instructional materials, including textbooks, to implement the educational program.
- d. The WAYS Board failed to fulfill its duty of care and fiduciary responsibility by:
- i. Permitting the former Executive Director access to school financial accounts past her date of employment:
 - A. She remained as a signatory on school bank accounts for more than four (4) months past her date of employment.
 - B. She made charges to a credit card in the school's name between June 13 and June 30, 2011, for travel, accommodations, meals, and gasoline in the amount of $2,155.00.
 - ii. Providing insufficient oversight to ensure adherence to its fiscal policies, including
 - A. The Director of Operations, son of the former Executive Director, approved the check request for the school's credit card payment including charges he initiated.
- e. The following allegations are still pending due to WAYS' failure to cooperate with LACOE's request for information pursuant to EC 47604.4:
- Fiscal mismanagement
 - Breach of fiduciary responsibility
 - Conflict of interest
 - Breach of duty of care
- f. Over the course of the past six (6) months, LACOE issued repeated invitations to WAYS Board and Executive Director to participate in the investigation, only to be met by resistance and later refusal. WAYS even improperly invoked the Dispute Resolution Process to as to what it claims were "false" allegations prompting the investigation. In its last correspondence WAYS maintained its position that it refuses to participate in the investigation.

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Noncompliance with June 15, 2012 Mediation Agreement

This letter informs the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) that after careful review and consideration, the revised petition submitted September 14, 2012, does not conform to all of the requirements specified in Enclosures F and G of the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) as required by the June 15, 2012 Mediation Agreement. (Enclosures 1 - 3)

While the Mediation Agreement does not require that LACOE provide WAYS with additional opportunity to comply, LACOE is extending the school a final opportunity to make the necessary changes to the petition. An analysis of the submitted petition is attached. (Enclosure 4) The final submission is due to the Charter School Office (CSO) by 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, December 19, 2012.

Additionally, a letter to WAYS dated September 25, 2012, from the CSO (Enclosure 5) indicates that, to comply with the terms of the mediation agreement, the petition shall contain no material revisions. Therefore, any change that is considered a material revision, including all references to adding a sixth grade, shall be removed.

Should this final opportunity to comply with the terms of the mediation agreement be unsuccessful, LACOE will apprise the County Board and make a recommendation to begin the revocation process.

If you have any questions, please contact the CSO at (562) 922-8806.

Sincerely,

Necessary Changes to the Charter Petition to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer

To be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education by August 15, 2011. The Charter Office has requested to meet with the Charter School to provide support in making the necessary changes.

Element 1 – Educational Program: Describe the manner in which the school shall comply with the requirement to serve students with disabilities in the same manner as students are served in other public schools (EC 47646 and 56145). The Charter School shall:

1. Inform LACOE whether it intends to remain a "school of the district" or will be an LEA for the purpose of special education services and which LEA the school will join.

If the school shall become an LEA, the petition must specify the charter school's special education plan, including the process to be used to identify students who qualify for special education programs and services, how the school will provide or access special education programs and services, the school's understanding of its responsibilities under law for special education pupils, and how the school intends to meet those responsibilities. Including, description of the accommodations and/or modifications that may be used during standardized assessments and how the Charter School is responsible for students with disabilities when the IEP Team exempts them from standardized testing; how parents of students with disabilities are informed about the school's educational program; how the school shall provide special education services to students who are English learners. Specify services to be provided by employees of the school and those to be provided by contract with the SELPA or another agency.

Describe the target population to be served, how the educational program for students with disabilities reflects the mission of the school and ensures that this student population will achieve content standards. Specifically, respond to Findings of Fact contained in the Report and Recommendation to the County Board with regard to students with disabilities.

2. Provide a five-year build-out plan that describes the number of students and grade levels to be served each year including the location (facility) in which the students will be housed.
3. Describe how the school identifies and responds to the needs of students who are not achieving at or above expected levels.

Element 2 – Measurable Student Outcomes:

1. Revised Section 2.3 (Extent to which all pupils demonstrate that they have attained skills #1 and #2) of the Charter School's petition shall be revised to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.
2. Describe the measurable outcomes the school uses to determine whether students in grade K and 1 are making progress toward meeting the content standards.
3. Describe the measurable outcomes the school uses to determine whether English learners are making progress toward meeting the content standards in all content areas.

Element 3 – Means for Measuring Pupil Progress:

1. Describe the assessment instruments the school uses to measure ongoing student progress in all academic areas, grade levels, and student populations.

Element 5 – Employee Qualifications:

1. Submit copies of all current job descriptions including any new job descriptions for special education positions.

This page sent to WAYS via
email 8/9/12

Element 7 – Means to Achieve a Racial and Ethnic Balance:

1. Submit recruitment plan used for 2011-12 enrollment. Describe the racial and ethnic balance the school is attempting to achieve and show how that balance is reflective of LAUSD.

Element 8 – Admissions Requirements:

1. Describe the process for conducting the lottery.

Element 12 – Public School Attendance Alternatives:

1. Describe how the school notifies the parent/guardian of each enrolled pupil has no right to admission in a particular school of any local education agency as a consequence of enrollment in the charter school, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the local education agency.

Element 14 – Dispute Resolution Procedures: Minimally, this section shall be revised to come into compliance with County Board Policies and Regulations and the terms of the petition shall not place LAGOE or the County Board in the position of being adversely impacted.

1. As written, the charter petition provides an unacceptable description of how the costs of the dispute resolution process would be funded. LAGOE cannot agree to the provision, "Any party who fails or refuses to submit to arbitration shall bear all costs and expenses incurred by such other party in compelling arbitration of any controversy, claim or dispute."
2. The charter petition fails to recognize that if the substance of a dispute is a matter that could result in the taking of appropriate action, including but not limited to, revocation of the charter in accordance with EC S 47607, the matter will be addressed at the County Board's discretion in accordance with that provision of law and any regulations pertaining thereto. The charter petition does not unequivocally exempt any issue related to revocation from first having to go through Element 14 (Dispute Resolution).
3. The Dispute Resolution element provides for unreasonable timelines. For instance, mediation must occur within 120 days to four (4) months after the Issues Conference and there is no timeline within which arbitration, the final step, must occur.

The Charter School agrees to submit changes to the petition that adhere to the concerns identified above, no later than August 15, 2011. (Initial: WMM)

Element 16 – Closure Procedures:

1. Closure procedures in the charter petition reflect the LAUSD Board of Education as the authorizer; the petitioner did not submit necessary changes to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. This is of particular importance with regard to special education as WAYS currently operates as a school of the district for special education services and would be a Local Education Agency (LEA) if authorized by the County Board.

The Charter School shall make the necessary technical amendments to the complete charter petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.

Changes to the Charter Petition Necessary to Comply with Education Code Section 47607(a)(2)

To be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education by August 15, 2011. The Charter Office has requested to meet with the Charter School to provide support in making the necessary changes.

The Charter School's renewal petition fails to comply with EC § 47607(a)(2) which requires that Renewals...of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in 47605, and shall include...a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed....

The sections that shall be brought current include, but may not be limited to: Element 2: Measurable Student Outcomes; Element 3: Method of Measuring Student Progress; Element 4: Governance; and Element 8: Admission Procedures.

Yes	Yes	Restore crossed out job description for RST. As its own LEA, WAYS must demonstrate it knows the legal qualifications to provide special education services such as RST, Psychologist, S/L Specialist, S/L Aides, OT, PT, etc. The petition does not show the school has sufficient knowledge about these qualifications to be an LEA. The description of "Director of Operations" was not in original petition but text is not identified as new; must so indicate. The description says the D of O supervises classified employees. Under Human Resources, it states "personnel evaluations" but does not specify which staff. The lack of clarity results in the following conflicts: (1) the responsibility list for Principal identified as "personnel management"; (2) S.5.1.7 states, "all staff other than teachers report to and are evaluated by the principal"; and (3) In Element 4, the petition states the Principal supervises the teachers. In Element 5, there is no indication who evaluates/supervises the Executive Director, T.A., Special Ed Staff, On-site Financial Mgr. calling into question whether the D of O does this under "personnel evaluations" because it states the D of O reports to and is evaluated by the Board. The job descriptions in Element 5 do not support the Org Chart submitted with the Original Charter and can therefore be considered a material change to the charter, which would require County Board Approval unless corrected. In Element 4 it does state the Principal supervises the teachers and the principal reports to the ED. The petition lacks mention of the position of "vice principal" yet documents submitted by the charter assign this title to two staff members. There is no "vice principal" on the organization chart and no job description for this position, yet the school has identified staff with this title in documents submitted to LACOE. While reporting/supervision lines have been clarified, they do not match the organization chart submitted with the petition. Changes to the organizational structure are material revisions, which is beyond the scope of the mediation agreement. Under Executive Director, the phrase "all related subsidiaries" is not clear (p. 107) There is no indication of how contractors that provide educational or instructional services are evaluated. There is a contradiction between the role of the Principal and Director of Operations with regard to supervision

There is no indication where the petition reflects changes to the law since the petition was first authorized by LAUSD. Such revision is required by Ed Code for each renewal and each material revision.
2. The County Board approved a material revision in Aug. 2011, which added a site and changed the enrollment. That material revision is not reflected in the petition changes submitted by WAYS on August 3, 2012. 8/9/12 LACOE informed WAYS' ED/D of O via phone conference the item had not been addressed.	resolved	Not compliant. Salvation Army site approved by County Board by August 2011. Material Revision was not included in the charter as required by Ed Code.
3. Although the submitted charter reflects the addition of a sixth grade in some parts of the petition, changes to Elements 1, 2, and 3 are inconsistent regarding the addition of a sixth grade and are insufficient to support a positive recommendation of such a material revision. 8/9/12 LACOE informed WAYS' ED/D of O via phone conference that they had been given the process for submitting a material revision in May 2012, and that the August 3 submission of a revised charter petition was insufficient to fulfill that process. The process for submitting a material revision was provided again in a letter dated August 8, 2012.	partially resolved	Not compliant. The mediation agreement states, "All other terms and conditions of the MOU and agreements remain in effect." The MOU clearly indicates that any change to grade levels served is a material revision to the charter. WAYS has not submitted a request for a material revision, but made unilateral changes to the petition changing the grade levels to be served.

Dear Mr. Cabil:

Response to September 14, 2012 Email and Petition Submission

This letter is a response to your email and petition submission of September 14, 2012. Your email states, "In good-faith and compliance with the June 15, 2012, Agreement regarding the material revisions to WAYS' Charter per Mediation." [Emphasis Added]

The Mediation Agreement provided for revisions to the Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists (WAYS) Charter only on the conditions of authorization; it does not provide for material revisions. To be clear, the petition revisions submitted September 14, 2012, pursuant to the June 15, 2012 Mediation Agreement (Attachment 1) do not constitute material revisions to the (WAYS) Charter, and any material revisions unilaterally made by WAYS shall not be considered under the terms of the mediation agreement.

The Mediation Agreement states, "WAYS will revise its charter to reflect LACOE's [Board] conditions of approval and MOU attachments F and G." Attachment F contains "Necessary Changes to the Charter Petition to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer." Attachment G contains "Changes to the Charter Petition Necessary to Comply with Education Code Section 47607(a)(2)." These are the only changes to the charter that will be considered pursuant to the mediation agreement.

The Mediation Agreement further states, "All other terms and conditions of the MOU and agreements remain in effect." The terms and conditions of the Charter specify that WAYS may serve students in grades K-5. County Board Policy states, "A material revision is a change to the content of an authorized charter that affects substantively the process or manner in which the charter school operates. Some examples of material revisions include... grade levels or number of pupils to be served.... Material revisions may be made only with County Board approval."

Therefore, if WAYS wishes to make material revisions to its charter, the proper procedure must be followed. The Charter School Office (CSO) provided WAYS with the process for submitting a Material Revision to the County Board in a letter dated August 8, 2012 and the email dated Wednesday, May 2, 2012 (Attachment 2).

Good Morning,

Being that there are available classrooms that we are not using at the Salvation Army site, our 5th grade parents have asked us to keep their children at WAYS for the 6th grade year. We have responded to their request by asking the board to first approve the addition. Now, I need to know what steps and process must I take to move forward. Would you please share with me this process?

On another subject, I shared with Judy that Ms. Colette, the aunt of three of our students, is not the legal guardian, and she has no educational rights. This was confirmed in my second conversation with Ms. Colette yesterday evening. She finally admitted that she anticipates receiving educational rights at next Wednesday's court hearing. She is on a relentless mission to get custody of the children and place them on SSL. Don't you think the courts should know that this woman has acted outside of her legal authority by attempting to coerce WAYS' officials to side with her repeated requests for an IEP against the will of the mother, who adamantly does not want her children tested?

Thanks for your cooperation concerning the above request.

Blessings,
Ed Cabil

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Notice of Noncompliance with June 15, 2012 Mediation Agreement

This letter informs the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) that after careful review and consideration, the revised petition submitted December 19, 2012, does not conform to all of the requirements specified in Attachments F and G of the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) as required by the June 15, 2012 Mediation Agreement. (Enclosures 1 - 3)

While references to adding a sixth grade were removed, the petition otherwise failed to comply with requirements of the Mediation Agreement as detailed in Enclosure 4 of my December 4, 2012 letter. (Enclosure 4)

Areas that continue to be noncompliant are specified in the document entitled, Review of Charter Petition Revisions Submitted August 3, 2012 through December 19, 2012 to Fulfill Conditions of Authorization. (Enclosure 5)

As the final opportunity to comply with the terms of the mediation agreement was unsuccessful, LACOE will apprise the County Board of this status and recommend that it issues a Notice of Violation and pursues its legal remedies.

If you have any questions, please contact the Charter School Office at (562) 922-8806.

Sincerely,

Necessary Changes to the Charter Petition to Reflect the County Board as the Authorizer

To be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education by August 15, 2011. The Charter Office has requested to meet with the Charter School to provide support in making the necessary changes.

Element 1 – Educational Program: Describe the manner in which the school shall comply with the requirement to serve students with disabilities in the same manner as students are served in other public schools (EC 47646 and 58145). The Charter School shall:

1. Inform LACOE whether it intends to remain a "school of the district" or will be an LEA for the purpose of special education services and which LEA the school will join.

If the school shall become an LEA, the petition must specify the charter school's special education plan, including the process to be used to identify students who qualify for special education programs and services, how the school will provide or access special education programs and services, the school's understanding of its responsibilities under law for special education pupils, and how the school intends to meet those responsibilities. Including, description of the accommodations and/or modifications that may be used during standardized assessments and how the Charter School is responsible for students with disabilities when the IEP Team exempts them from standardized testing; how parents of students with disabilities are informed about the school's educational program; how the school shall provide special education services to students who are English learners. Specify services to be provided by employees of the school and those to be provided by contract with the SELPA or another agency.

Describe the target population to be served, how the educational program for students with disabilities reflects the mission of the school and ensures that this student population will achieve content standards. Specifically, respond to Findings of Fact contained in the Report and Recommendation to the County Board with regard to students with disabilities.

2. Provide a five-year build-out plan that describes the number of students and grade levels to be served each year including the location (facility) in which the students will be housed.
3. Describe how the school identifies and responds to the needs of students who are not achieving at or above expected levels.

Element 2 – Measurable Student Outcomes:

1. Revised Section 2.3 (Extent to which all pupils demonstrate that they have attained skills #1 and #2) of the Charter School's petition shall be revised to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.
2. Describe the measurable outcomes the school uses to determine whether students in grade K and 1 are making progress toward meeting the content standards.
3. Describe the measurable outcomes the school uses to determine whether English learners are making progress toward meeting the content standards in all content areas.

Element 3 – Means for Measuring Pupil Progress:

1. Describe the assessment instruments the school uses to measure ongoing student progress in all academic areas, grade levels, and student populations.

Element 5 – Employee Qualifications:

1. Submit copies of all current job descriptions including any new job descriptions for special education positions.

This page sent to WAYS via
email 8/9/12

Element 7 -- Means to Achieve a Racial and Ethnic Balance:

1. Submit recruitment plan used for 2011-12 enrollment. Describe the racial and ethnic balance the school is attempting to achieve and show how that balance is reflective of LAUSD.

Element 8 -- Admissions Requirements:

1. Describe the process for conducting the lottery.

Element 12 -- Public School Attendance Alternatives:

1. Describe how the school notifies the parent/guardian of each enrolled pupil has no right to admission in a particular school of any local education agency as a consequence of enrollment in the charter school, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the local education agency.

Element 14 -- Dispute Resolution Procedures: Minimally, this section shall be revised to come into compliance with County Board Policies and Regulations and the terms of the petition shall not place LACOE or the County Board in the position of being adversely impacted.

1. As written, the charter petition provides an unacceptable description of how the costs of the dispute resolution process would be funded. LACOE cannot agree to the provision: "Any party who fails or refuses to submit to arbitration shall bear all costs and expenses incurred by such other party in compelling arbitration of any controversy, claim or dispute."
2. The charter petition fails to recognize that if the substance of a dispute is a matter that could result in the taking of appropriate action, including but not limited to, revocation of the charter in accordance with EC S 47607, the matter will be addressed at the County Board's discretion in accordance with that provision of law and any regulations pertaining thereto. The charter petition does not unequivocally exempt any issue related to revocation from first having to go through Element 14 (Dispute Resolution).
3. The Dispute Resolution element provides for unreasonable timelines. For instance, mediation must occur within 120 days to four (4) months after the Issues Conference and there is no timeline within which arbitration, the final step, must occur.

The Charter School agrees to submit changes to the petition that adhere to the concerns identified above, no later than August 15, 2011. (Initials) WMS

Element 16 -- Closure Procedures:

1. Closure procedures in the charter petition reflect the LAUSD Board of Education as the authorizer; the petitioner did not submit necessary changes to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. This is of particular importance with regard to special education as WAYS currently operates as a school of the district for special education services and would be a Local Education Agency (LEA) if authorized by the County Board.

The Charter School shall make the necessary technical amendments to the complete charter petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer.

Enclosure 3

ATTACHMENT G

Changes to the Charter Petition Necessary to Comply with Education Code Section 47607(a)(2)

To be submitted to the Los Angeles County Office of Education by August 15, 2011. The Charter Office has requested to meet with the Charter School to provide support in making the necessary changes.

The Charter School's renewal petition fails to comply with EC § 47607(a)(2) which requires that Renewals...of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in 47605, and shall include...a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed...

The sections that shall be brought current include, but may not be limited to: Element 2: Measurable Student Outcomes; Element 3: Method of Measuring Student Progress; Element 4: Governance; and Element 8: Admission Procedures.

As its own LEA, WAYS must demonstrate it knows the legal qualifications to provide special education services such as RST, Psychologist, S/L Specialist, S/L Aides, OT, PT, etc. The petition does not show the school has sufficient knowledge about these qualifications to be an LEA. The description of "Director of Operations" was not in original petition but text is not identified as new; must so indicate. The description says the D of O supervises classified employees. Under Human Resources, it states "personnel evaluations" but does not specify which staff. The lack of clarity results in the following conflicts: (1) the responsibility list for Principal identified as "personnel management"; (2) S.5.1.7 states, "all staff other than teachers report to and are evaluated by the principal"; and (3) In Element 4, the petition states the Principal supervises the teachers. In Element 5, there is no indication who evaluates/supervises the Executive Director, T.A., Special Ed Staff, On-site Financial Mgr. calling into question whether the D of O does this under "personnel evaluations" because it states the D of O reports to and is evaluated by the Board. The job descriptions in Element 5 do not support the Org Chart submitted with the Original Charter and can therefore be considered a material change to the charter, which would require County Board Approval unless corrected. In Element 4 it does state the Principal supervises the teachers and the principal reports to the ED. The petition lacks mention of the position of "vice principal" yet documents submitted by the charter assign this title to two staff members. There is no "vice principal" on the organization chart and no job description for this position, yet the school has identified staff with this title in documents submitted to LACOE. While reporting/supervision lines have been clarified, they do not match the organization chart submitted with the petition. Changes to the organizational structure are material revisions, which is beyond the scope of the mediation agreement. Under Executive Director, the phrase "all related subsidiaries" is not clear (p. 107) There is no indication of how contractors that provide educational or instructional services are evaluated. Additional Feedback of Submitted Revision		LACOE Analysis of Petition Submitted 10/6/12
1. Changes to the petition identified in MOU Attachment G – The revised petition submitted August 3, 2012, did not identify any changes to comply with the requirements set forth in Attachment G.	resolved	Not compliant. There is no indication where the petition reflects changes to the law since the petition was first authorized by LAUSD. Such revision is required by Ed Code for each renewal and each material revision.
2. The County Board approved a material revision in Aug. 2011, which added a site and changed the enrollment. That material revision is not reflected in the petition changes submitted by WAYS on August 3, 2012. 8/9/12 LACOE informed WAYS' ED/D of O via phone conference the item had not been addressed.	resolved	Not compliant. Salvation Army site approved by County Board by August 2011 Material Revision was not included in the charter as required by Ed Code.
3. Although the submitted charter reflects the addition of a sixth grade in some parts of the petition, changes to Elements 1, 2, and 3 are inconsistent regarding the addition of a sixth grade and are insufficient to support a positive recommendation of such a material revision. 8/9/12 LACOE informed WAYS' ED/D of O via phone conference that they had been given the process for submitting a material revision in May 2012, and that the August 3 submission of a revised charter petition was insufficient to fulfill that process. The process for submitting a material revision was provided again in a letter dated August 8, 2012.	partially resolved	Not compliant. The mediation agreement states, "All other terms and conditions of the MOU and agreements remain in effect." The MOU clearly indicates that any change to grade levels served is a material revision to the charter. WAYS has not submitted a request for a material revision, but made unilateral changes to the petition changing the grade levels to be served.

The description of "Director of Operations" was not in original petition but text is not identified as new; must so indicate. The description says the D of O supervises classified employees. Under Human Resources, it states "personnel evaluations" but does not specify which staff. There are not changes in the petition identified as fulfilling this requirement.
2. The County Board approved a material revision in Aug. 2011, which added a site and changed the enrollment. That material revision is not reflected in the petition changes submitted by WAYS on August 3, 2012. 8/9/12 LACOE informed WAYS' ED/D of O via phone conference the item had not been addressed.	resolved	Not compliant. Salvation Army site approved by County Board by August 2011. Material Revision was not included in the charter as required by Ed Code.	Not compliant. The submission did not address this issue. Language is identical to previous submission regarding the location of the school.
3. Although the submitted charter reflects the addition of a sixth grade in some parts of the petition, changes to Elements 1, 2, and 3 are inconsistent regarding the addition of a sixth grade and are insufficient to support a positive recommendation of such a material revision. 8/9/12 LACOE informed WAYS' ED/D of O via phone conference that they had been given the process for submitting a material revision in May 2012, and that the August 3 submission of a revised charter petition was insufficient to fulfill that process. The process for submitting a material revision was provided again in a letter dated August 8, 2012.	partially resolved	Not compliant. The mediation agreement states, "All other terms and conditions of the MOU and agreements remain in effect." The MOU clearly indicates that any change to grade levels served is a material revision to the charter. WAYS has not submitted a request for a material revision, but made unilateral changes to the petition changing the grade levels to be served.	Compliant.

The arbitrator must be an active member of the California State Bar or a retired judge of the state or federal judiciary of California. Each party shall bear its own costs and expenses associated with the arbitration. The arbitrator’s fees and the administrative fees of the arbitration shall be shared equally among the parties.”

The recommendation is to enter into binding arbitration with WAYS on the issue of the charter school’s failure to comply with the terms of the June 15, 2012 mediation agreement.

AMERICAN ARBITRATION ASSOCIATION

Attachment Regarding The Nature of the Dispute

The Los Angeles County Office of Education ("LACOE") hereby submits this demand for binding arbitration against Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists ("WAYS") in order to compel compliance with a memorandum of understanding executed between the parties. WAYS is a public charter school authorized by the Los Angeles County Board of Education ("County Board"). At the time of authorization, LACOE reviewed the charter petition and presented Findings of Fact to the County Board which identified numerous deficiencies in WAYS' charter petition. Thus, the parties executed a memorandum of understanding to correct these deficiencies and ensure that WAYS operated in compliance with the California Education Code and all applicable laws.

Pursuant to California Education Code section 47605, a charter petition must contain a reasonable description of a number of required elements in order to establish a charter school. When the petition is for renewal of a charter, the document must also be brought current to reflect changes in law since it was originally authorized or last renewed. When the petition is not approved at the local level and is appealed to the County Board, the petition must also contain changes to reflect the County Board as the authorizer. The original charter petition did not comply with these three requirements, so the parties executed a memorandum of understanding to bring the charter petition into compliance. WAYS failed to comply with the provisions of the memorandum of understanding regarding these required elements so that LACOE was forced to initiate the dispute resolution procedures contained in the petition. Pursuant to the dispute resolution procedures, an issue conference was held where the parties discussed the dispute. The dispute was not resolved, and on June 15, 2012, the parties met for mediation. The parties executed a "mediation agreement" which provided for WAYS revising its charter petition in order to come into compliance with the memorandum of understanding and provided a time frame for doing so. WAYS has failed to comply with the mediation agreement and the memorandum of understanding resulting in LACOE's demand for binding arbitration.

The specific deficiencies in WAYS' charter petition that are at issue for this proceeding are as follows:

- The description of the educational plan, including the build-out plan including where students will be served is non-compliant.
- Measurable pupil outcomes regarding outcomes for English language learner students are non-compliant.
- Employee qualifications including copies of current job descriptions and job descriptions for special education employees are non-compliant.
- Demographic data regarding racial and ethnic balance is non-compliant.
- Procedures regarding student suspension and expulsion are non-compliant.
- The material revision to the charter petition regarding the addition of a school site is non-compliant.

Attached to this Demand for Arbitration as Exhibit One is Section 14 of the charter petition entitled "Dispute Resolution" which provides that the parties will utilize the American Arbitration Association and as Exhibit Two, memorandum of understanding in which the County Board authorized the charter petition with provisions to correct the identified deficiencies.

Downey, CA 90242

Dear Superintendent Delgado:

The contract between the Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT) and the Los Angeles County Office of Education to provide an Assembly Bill 139 extraordinary audit of the Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists (WAYS) was signed in May 2013 and returned to FCMAT in June 2013. Specifically, the agreement stated that FCMAT would perform the following:

Scope and Objectives of the Study

1. Evaluate the charter school's internal control structure, policies and procedures to test transactions and reporting processes to determine if adequate procedures are in place to safeguard assets, including physical objects, charter school data, and intellectual property.

Evaluation of policies and procedures will include the following:

- i. Review compliance with policies and procedures including, but not limited to, those related to human resources, finance, purchasing, granting agencies, and state and federal government programs and funding.
 - ii. Review document and records retention procedures to determine whether the charter school provides reasonable assurance that asset records are safeguarded and transactions are correctly recorded.
2. Evaluate the reliability and integrity of information used for internal management decisions and external agency reports.
 3. Determine if authorization procedures are appropriate and consistently followed. Review administrator and manager approvals and whether signature authority is delegated only to authorized employees.

4. Determine whether proper segregation of duties exists. The team will evaluate personnel, payroll, accounts payable and cash transactions, and will do the following:
 - i. Review the authorization process for cash receipts
 - ii. Determine if protective measures are in place for safeguarding assets, processes and data.
 - iii. Determine whether safe combinations are changed periodically and anytime a staff member who knows the combination terminates employment.
 5. Evaluate reporting processes. The team will do the following:
 - i. Evaluate monitoring and verify that controls are operating properly.
 - ii. Evaluate controls that prevent management from overriding internal controls and thus prevent the potential misappropriation of funds.
 - iii. Evaluate whether clearly established lines of authority and responsibility exist within and between departments for proper review and reporting purposes, and if these are shown on organizational charts.

This final report contains the study team's findings and recommendations in the above areas of review. FCMAT appreciates the opportunity to serve the Los Angeles County Office of Education, and extends thanks to all the staff for their assistance during fieldwork.

Sincerely,

Joel D. Montero

About FCMAT

FCMAT's primary mission is to assist California's local K-14 educational agencies to identify, prevent, and resolve financial and data management challenges. FCMAT provides fiscal and data management assistance, professional development training, product development and other related school business and data services. FCMAT's fiscal and management assistance services are used not just to help avert fiscal crisis, but to promote sound financial practices and efficient operations. FCMAT's data management services are used to help local educational agencies (LEAs) meet state reporting responsibilities, improve data quality, and share information.

FCMAT may be requested to provide fiscal crisis or management assistance by a school district, charter school, community college, county office of education, the state Superintendent of Public Instruction, or the Legislature.

When a request or assignment is received, FCMAT assembles a study team that works closely with the local education agency to define the scope of work, conduct on-site fieldwork and provide a written report with findings and recommendations to help resolve issues, overcome challenges and plan for the future.

Studies by Fiscal Year

FCMAT also develops and provides numerous publications, software tools, workshops and professional development opportunities to help local educational agencies operate more effectively and fulfill their fiscal oversight and data management responsibilities. The California School Information Services (CSIS) arm of FCMAT assists the California Department of Education with the implementation of the California Longitudinal Pupil Achievement Data System (CALPADS) and also maintains DataGate, the FCMAT/CSIS software LEAs use for CSIS services. FCMAT was created by Assembly Bill 1200 in 1992 to assist LEAs to meet and sustain their financial obligations. Assembly Bill 107 in 1997 charged FCMAT with responsibility for CSIS and its statewide data management work. Assembly Bill 1115 in 1999 codified CSIS' mission.

AB 1200 is also a statewide plan for county offices of education and school districts to work together locally to improve fiscal procedures and accountability standards. Assembly Bill 2756 (2004) provides specific responsibilities to FCMAT with regard to districts that have received emergency state loans.

iv

ABOUT FCMAT

In January 2006, SB 430 (charter schools) and AB 1366 (community colleges) became law and expanded FCMAT's services to those types of LEAs.

Since 1992, FCMAT has been engaged to perform nearly 850 reviews for LEAs, including school districts, county offices of education, charter schools and community colleges. The Kern County Superintendent of Schools is the administrative agent for FCMAT. The team is led by Joel D. Montero, Chief Executive Officer, with funding derived through appropriations in the state budget and a modest fee schedule for charges to requesting agencies.

Introduction

In May 2013, the Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT) received a request from the Los Angeles County Office of Education for an Assembly Bill (AB) 139 extraordinary audit of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists charter schools. The county office had received allegations of multiple fiscal irregularities, questionable expenditures and inappropriate related-party transactions at WAYS charter school. Concerned that these allegations may have violated various government and education codes related to fraud and/or misappropriation of assets, the county superintendent initiated an investigation to determine whether sufficient evidence of fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities may have occurred to report the matter to the local district attorney's office for further investigation. Under the provisions of Education Code Section 1241, FCMAT entered into a contract with the Los Angeles County Office of Education to conduct an AB 139 extraordinary audit.

FCMAT interviewed employees and reviewed documents to determine if instances of fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal practices occurred that would warrant further investigation by the local district attorney's office.

Study Guidelines

FCMAT provides a variety of services to school districts and county offices of education upon request. Education Code Section 1241.5(b)(c) permits a county superintendent of schools to review or audit the expenditures and internal controls of any school district in that county if he or she has reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices have occurred that merit examination. According to the Education Code, the review or audit conducted by the county superintendent will focus on the alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices and is to be conducted in a timely and efficient manner. This is in accordance with Education Code Section 42638(b), which states as follows:

If the county superintendent determines that there is evidence that fraud or misappropriation of funds has occurred, the county superintendent shall notify the governing board of the school district, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the local district attorney.

Therefore, FCMAT focused on the allegations of misappropriation of assets, misuse of grant funds and conflict of interest to determine whether Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School and/or its personnel were involved in or committed fraudulent activities.

Audit Fieldwork

Investigating allegations of fraud requires a number of steps that include interviewing potential witnesses and assembling evidence from internal and external sources. The FCMAT study team conducted initial county office interviews in June 2013 during the schools' summer vacation and then visited the three charter school campuses in November 2013 to conduct interviews, collect data and review documents. Based on new information, additional interviews and fieldwork were scheduled in December 2013 through February 2014. Specifically, FCMAT reviewed, analyzed and tested records that included audited financial statements, financial records, grant documents, board minutes, the charter petitions and other documentation from independent third party sources. The review also included interviews with a board member, management personnel, business service provider, and former charter school employees to evaluate information concerning any alleged mismanagement, fraud, or abuse.

The fieldwork focused on determining whether there is sufficient information to ascertain fraud, misappropriation of funds, conflict of interest particularly with related-party transactions, self-dealing through privately owned company transactions of management and key employees and the former executive director of the charter school, and breach of fiduciary duty.

Although there are many different types of fraud, a conflict of interest and breach of fiduciary duty exists when officers or employees of the organization have a personal financial interest in a contract or transaction and is considered to be a form of misappropriation of assets.

All fraud has common elements including the following:

Knowingly making an untrue representation or a false claim of a material fact;

- Intent to deceive, or concealment of the act;
- Reliance on untrue information; and
- Damages or a loss of money or property.

This report is the result of that investigation and is divided into the following sections:

FISCAL CRISIS & MANAGEMENT ASSISTANCE TEAM

Background

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) operates under the Merle Williamson Foundation, a non-profit 501(c)(3). WAYS charter school was authorized as a charter school by the California Department of Education (CDE) in September 2006. The first-year enrollment of 141 grew to 267 pupils by June 30, 2012.

Originally approved by Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education, the charter school was denied renewal of the petition effective July 1, 2011. The district cited several instances of Education Code violations that included:

1. Conflict of interest concerns between related parties, the executive director, the principal and members of the Board of Directors including self-dealing;
2. Violations of the Brown Act;
3. An ineffective governance structure; and
4. Failure to provide a reasonably comprehensive description in the petition for 12 of 16 required elements pursuant to EC 47605(b)(5).

The WAYS governing board is responsible for fiscal accountability and proper governance over all financial transactions but has limited involvement in the schools' financial affairs. The inability for the governing board to exercise due diligence and implement internal controls has effectively allowed the former executive director, current executive director and related parties unrestricted access to the assets of the organization and implied authority to enter into a variety of business arrangements for personal gain without board authorization and/or approval.

The involvement of the former executive director, related parties, business associates, former board members and numerous businesses owned by the former executive director and her husband has raised questions regarding potential conflict of interest, significant influence over financial transactions, self-dealing, control over fiscal management and related party transactions in violation of government and education codes.

On June 7, 2011, the Los Angeles County Board of Education (LACBOE) granted conditional approval for the WAYS charter school. Since that time, the management of the charter school has repeatedly resisted implementation of the conditions for approval by ignoring requests by the county office staff for information to support that the conditions have been met. On several occasions, verification that the conditions have been met including required reports such as financial information, interim budget reports, audited financial statements and monthly reports have been submitted after repeated requests by Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) staff or have not been submitted at all.

County office staff cite several instances within the first year of operations where WAYS failed to comply with the conditions set forth in the original conditional approval. Some examples include: Management is unresponsive to reasonable requests for timely financial information for supporting documentation regarding implementation of the WAYS policy and procedure regarding internal control over credit card usage, attendance reports, contact information, student information, board minutes, board agendas, board meeting dates, failure to abide by conflict of interest laws, and interference in operations from the founder/former executive director, in addition to written and verbal complaints by board members, parents and staff.

Following the conditional approval by LACBOE, the county office staff received written and verbal complaints alleging WAYS engaged in fiscal mismanagement, interference with the board in its fulfillment of fiduciary duties by the founder/former executive director, disbanding of board meetings caused by unruly behavior preventing unfavorable actions of the board, resignation of five of the nine board members in one month citing concerns over conflict of interest, ongoing board member resignations, dissention, verbal abuse of board members by the founder/former executive director and, most recently, her son, the director of operations. In January 2014, three of five board members resigned, citing similar complaints that are verified in the minutes and audio recordings of board meetings.

LACOE staff note several irregularities and possible misappropriation of funds within the WAYS charter school organization that oversees three charter school sites. These allegations of fraud involve ongoing conflicts of interest and the mismanagement of charter school funds related to facility leases, related-party transactions between the former executive director who owns two of the properties leased by the school and is related to owners of private businesses that conduct business with the charter school, execution of a vehicle lease without board approval, and a substantial separation of service payment to the former executive director without sufficient supporting documentation.

Governance issues include an ineffective governance structure caused by continued interference by the former executive director through her son and daughter that hold key positions of authority and decision making in the organization, effectively eliminating the governing board's ability to exercise its fiduciary responsibilities and duty of care. Evidence of board meeting cancellations and disruption by the current executive director and the founder's son (director of operations) are corroborated through emails, board minutes and audio recording of board meetings. Prior to the board president's resignation in January 2014, threatening outbursts by the founder's son at a specially scheduled board meeting ended the meeting, after which she obtained a restraining order for her personal protection.

Based on these allegations, the Los Angeles County Office of Education, Charter Schools Division conducted a preliminary investigation, and based on the results of their initial findings, requested assistance from FCMAT pursuant to Education Code Sections 47604.4 and 1241.5(c).

The county office requested FCMAT to provide for the assignment of professionals to study specific aspects of alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal fiscal practices that may have occurred in the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists organization that merit examination.

EC Section 42638(b) requires action by the county superintendent to include the following:

If the county superintendent determines that there is evidence that fraud or misappropriation of funds has occurred, the county superintendent shall notify the governing board of the charter school, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the local district attorney.

Sufficient evidence exists to demonstrate that WAYS' management and governing board has failed to cooperate with its oversight agency; is engaged with fiscal mismanagement; violates California conflict of interest laws by engaging in related party transactions and self-dealing; and has breached its fiduciary responsibility and duty of care.

Scope and Procedures

The fraud investigation consisted of gathering adequate information regarding specific allegations, establishing an audit plan, and performing various audit test procedures to determine whether fraud occurred, and if so, evaluate the loss, determine who was involved, and determine how it occurred. During the interviews, FCMAT study team members asked questions pertaining to levels of authority to enter into contracts, governing board oversight, financial management policies and procedures, job duties and responsibilities, and questions related specifically to the founder/former executive director's settlement agreement, facility leases, automobile lease, excess fuel purchases and various purchases by selected vendors including the dance studio owned by the founder's daughter.

The primary focus of this review is to provide the Los Angeles County Office of Education with reasonable assurances based on the testing performed that adequate management controls are in place regarding the charter schools' reporting and monitoring of financial transactions and that fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities have not occurred. Management controls include the processes for planning, organizing, directing, and controlling program operations, including systems for measuring, reporting, and monitoring performance.

FCMAT utilized fraud risk assessment tools to conduct sample tests of financial transactions, other data and contracts to determine if fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities have occurred. Testing associated with this review is based upon sample selection and does not include the testing of the complete list of all transactions and records for this period. Sample testing and review results are intended to provide reasonable but not absolute assurance as to the accuracy of the district's transactions and financial activity.

Transaction Sampling Analysis

To accomplish the objectives of this audit, a number of audit test procedures were developed to provide an in-depth analysis and understanding of the allegations and potential outcomes. The team had access to the general ledger records from July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2013. Specifically, FCMAT performed audit tests related to general ledger transactions, bank statements, check disbursements, and rent, facility and automobile lease agreements, including the following:

- Review of the charter schools' detailed QuickBooks general ledger records for the most recent five-year period from July 1, 2008 through December 31, 2013.
- Review of bank statements covering the audit period.
- Review of proper authorization and available supporting documentation.
- Review of credit card transactions and payments.
- Analysis of supporting documentation for credit card transactions.
- Review of federal forms W-9, 990 and 1099 over the audit period.
- Review of the charter schools' fiscal policies and procedures handbook.
- Review of the charter schools' petition documents and bylaws.
- Review of the governing board minutes and agendas.
- Analysis of purchases for school materials and supplies.

SCOPE AND PROCEDURES

- Analysis of the charter schools' compliance with laws and regulations relating to conflict of interest and the Political Reform Act and review of Forms 700.
- Review of the charter schools' internal control process and procedures to determine possible weaknesses in prevention and detection of fraud, misappropriation and/or criminal activity.

Transaction sampling was the method used to evaluate the vendor payments issued by WAYS. To evaluate WAYS' management of expenditure decisions, FCMAT obtained a full copy of the WAYS accounting software, QuickBooks. Using QuickBooks, the team reviewed the WAYS general ledger and vendors over the last five years.

The WAYS chart of accounts general ledger is comprised of 196 accounts. Vendor transactions are accounted for using the charter of accounts recorded in the general ledger to account for transactions in various like-kind groups such as office supplies, books, rent, loans, capital improvement, etc. For example, a typical purchase from Staples would be recorded as supplies and subsequently paid through accounts payable, eventually decreasing the cash account.

The team reviewed all 42 customers and 667 WAYS vendors and scanned each transaction in the QuickBooks software to identify potential individual transactions to be examined further.

An audit risk assessment involves sampling of both customer and vendor transactions. Customer transactions were consistent with audit risk parameters; therefore, no additional transactions were reviewed. However, the team identified 20 of the 667 vendors for an in-depth audit that included 137 individual transactions as demonstrated in the following table below.

WAYS Transaction Sampling	Customers	Vendors	Total
Total Number	42	667	709
FCMAT Team Previewed	42	667	709
Percent Previewed	100%	100%	100%
Selected For Detailed Review	-	20	20
Percent Previewed of Total Number	0%	3%	3%
Detailed Documentation Examined	n/a	137	137

Selected vendor transactions were audited for supporting documentation for paid invoices based on specific criteria and depending on the type of purchase:

- An invoice's appearance, calculations of extended prices and quantities, description of invoice line items, and sales tax calculations
- Invoice payments
- Shipping documents
- Bills of lading and/or packing slips
- Receipt documentation such as notes, description of the business purpose
- Proper authorization including governing board approval, management approval, and conformance to internal accounting policies and procedures

- Proper coding of the transaction into the chart of accounts general ledger
- Vendor names and check payee names that are supported by valid business license, sales tax licenses and federal Form W-9
- Vendor invoices that present valid business addresses
- Vendors that were issued a federal Form 1099
- Contracts that are valid for the appropriate time period and contain authorized signatures
- Other proper documentation depending on the type of purchase or contract

After reviewing 137 detailed transactions of the 20 vendors selected for detailed review, the following six vendors fit the profile of related parties and/or were business entities that received payments from WAYS business accounts for goods or services:

1. OSE Business Services
2. American Express credit card
3. Godfrey Okonkwo
4. Emeka Enwezor
5. Avatar Technology
6. Toyota Motor Corporation - Lexus purchase and sale

The following findings and recommendations are the result of the audit procedures and analysis performed.

Findings and Recommendations

Occupational Fraud

The owners, executives, directors, managers and/or employees of an organization may commit occupational fraud, which has three primary classifications: schemes related to asset misappropriation, corruption, and financial statements. Occupational fraud is the most common type of fraud that occurs in school settings.

Asset misappropriation frauds include cash skimming, purchasing fraud, falsifying expense reports and/or forging company checks. Corruption schemes involve an employee(s) using his or her influence in business transactions to obtain a personal benefit that violates that employee's duty to the employer or the organization; conflicts of interest fall into this category. Financial statement fraud includes the intentional misstatement or omission of material information in the financial reports.

Occupational fraud is one of the most difficult types of fraud and abuse to detect; however, the most common method of detection is receiving tips from current and/or former employees, which occurs three times more frequently than any other fraud prevention method for this type of scheme, and accounts for 43.6% of detections overall. According to the 2012 Report to the Nations on Occupational Fraud and Abuse conducted by the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners (ACFE), corruption schemes accounted for approximately one-third of all occupational fraud cases reported, with a median loss of $250,000.

Based on this study, there is a direct correlation between the perpetrator's position and authority in the organization and the losses incurred. Approximately 43% of fraudsters were employees; 34.3% were managers; 4.2% were "others," and 18.5% were owner/executives. Although the second lowest percentage is from owner/executives, this group generated the largest median loss of $373,000 out of the 753 cases reported in the United States.

WAYS is a tightly held small public charter school operation founded and primarily operated by one family and close associates. The founder/former executive director selected the board members, which gave her and other family members significant influence over financial decisions that benefited them financially. Even after the founder was removed from her executive director position as a condition of the newly executed charter petition by the county office of education, the founder/former executive director positioned her son, daughter and previous board president to hold key positions in the organization and run the day-to-day operations, and by this action still maintained effective control over the financial affairs of the organization.

This report will demonstrate that there is an integral relationship between appointed board members and related family members and business associates – particularly between the former executive director, her son, daughter, former board president and their associated private businesses and lease agreements – that created an environment that allowed and continues to allow access, opportunity and motivation for occupational fraud to occur.

Internal Control Elements

Internal controls are the principal mechanism for preventing and/or deterring fraud or illegal acts. Illegal acts, misappropriation of assets or other fraudulent activities can include an array of irregularities characterized by intentional deception and misrepresentation of material facts.

Effective internal control processes provide reasonable assurance that a charter school's operations are effective and efficient, that the financial information produced is reliable, and that the organization operates in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.

Internal control elements provide the framework for an effective fraud prevention program. An effective internal control structure includes the policies and procedures used by staff, adequate accounting and information systems, the work environment and the professionalism of employees. An effective internal control structure includes the five interrelated components of the control environment: fraud risk assessment, control activities, information and communication, and monitoring.

Internal Control Element	Description
Control Environment	Commonly referred to as "the moral tone of the organization," the control environment includes a code of ethical conduct; policies for ethics, hiring and promotion guidelines; proper assignment of authority and responsibility; oversight by management, the board or an audit committee; investigation of reported concerns; and effective disciplinary action for violations.
Fraud Risk Assessment	Identification and assessment of organization's objectives to establish and develop a strategy to react timely.
Control Activities	The development of policies and procedures to enforce the governing board's directives. These include the actions by management to prevent and identify misuse of the district's assets, including the prevention of override of controls in the system by any employee.
Information and Communication	The establishment of effective fraud communication. This includes ensuring that employees receive information regarding policies and opportunities to discuss ethical dilemmas. Establishing clear lines of communication in an organization to report suspected violations.
Monitoring	Ongoing monitoring that includes periodic performance assessments for fraud deterrence by managers and employees.

Examples of improper internal controls include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Failure to adequately segregate the duties and responsibilities of authorization.
- Failure to limit access to assets or sensitive data.
- Not recording transactions, resulting in lack of accountability and the possibility of theft.
- Unauthorized transactions, resulting in skimming, embezzlement or larceny.
- Lack of monitoring or implementing internal controls by the governing board and management.
- Collusion among employees where little or no supervision exists.

A system of internal controls consists of policies and procedures designed to provide the governing board and management with reasonable assurance that the organization achieves its objectives and goals. Traditionally referred to as hard controls, these include segregation of duties, limiting access to cash, management review and approval, and reconciliations. Other types of internal controls include soft controls such as management tone, performance evaluations, training programs, and maintaining established policies, procedures and standards of conduct. Controls that have been established must also be implemented and monitored to ensure their effectiveness.

Although WAYS had a fiscal policies and procedures handbook, the organization failed to implement or monitor several of the adopted policies and procedures. Recent board minutes document that when board members expressed the need to review and approve certain financial transactions or asked for the back office provider to present the financial statements during open board meetings, management repeatedly ignored these requests. In some cases, management canceled board meetings and caused major disruptions that ended board meetings prematurely.

The internal control environment is a critical component because it establishes the organization's moral tone, commonly referred to as "the tone at the top." The tone at the top is an intangible internal control element that consists of the perception of an organization's employees regarding the ethical conduct displayed by the governing board and executive management.

A strong system of internal controls that consists of all five elements can provide reasonable but not absolute assurance that the organization will succeed in achieving its goals and objectives. The failure to establish adequate internal controls limiting the ability of the founder, family members and other related parties to access assets coupled with a lack of accountability to the governing board created an environment for fraud and misappropriation to occur.

To further demonstrate the lack of effective internal controls, independent audit reports for the last three fiscal years report 15 instances of significant and/or combined internal control conditions. Several of these findings have not been addressed by management and the governing board; therefore, these findings are repeated each year. The following table illustrates a complete list of audit findings from 2010-11 through 2012-13 prepared by annual independent auditors.

Audited Financial Statements Schedule of Findings and Questioned Costs for Audit Years 2011, 2012 and 2013

Finding	Description	2011
11-01/3000 - Combined Significant Deficiency Internal control condition	Untimely deposit of cash receipts	Untimely deposit of cash receipts risk the mismanagement of funds (either fraud or loss), misstatement of revenue, receivable or cash, and possible noncompliance with contracts, or laws and regulations.
11-02/3000 -Combined Significant Deficiency Internal control condition	Bank Reconciliation Over Site	Bank reconciliation was not properly reviewed resulting in inconsistent bank to book balances. Could result in a material misstatement of the financial statements. Organization lacks adequate procedures to ensure that bank reconciliations are reviewed monthly by a supervisor.
11-03/3000 - Combined Significant Deficiency Internal control condition	Accounts Receivable Reconciliation	The accounts receivable general ledger balance was not reconciled to the accounts receivable subsidiary ledger balances. Organization has not adequately established written policies and procedures to ensure accounts receivable balance is properly reconciled to subsidiary ledger balances and that differences are investigated and cleared in a timely manner. Could result in material errors or possible fraudulent activities going undetected resulting in materially misstated financial statements.

Conflict of Interest

A conflict of interest exists when an individual has a private financial interest in the outcome of a contract or a public decision and does either of the following:

1. Participates in the decision-making process
2. Influences, or attempts to influence, others making a contract or decision

Statutes that govern conflicts of interest include the Political Reform Act, Government Code 1090, Government Code 87100, and Corporations Code Section 5233 for nonprofit organizations. Governing board members and administrators should abstain from all discussions, negotiations and votes that are related to a contract in which they have a personal financial interest by removing themselves from the meeting and ensuring that abstention and departure are recorded in the board minutes. A conflict of interest can still exist with subsequent action on the contract, such as authorizing payment under a contract, negotiating disputes or contract terms; therefore, the governing board member or administrator should abstain from all discussions, negotiations and/or votes related to the contract in which he or she has a personal interest.

The report will demonstrate that conflict of interest exists that allowed the founder/former executive director, family members, and close associates interacting as "vendors" to gain financially.

Political Reform Act – Disclosure, Conflicts of Interest and Enforcement

The Political Reform Act (PRA), Government Code Sections 81000 - 91015, was enacted by Proposition 9 in June 1974. The stated intent of the act was to establish a process for most state and local officials as well as certain designated employees to publicly disclose their personal income and assets as follows:

[a]ssets and income of public officials which may be materially affected by their official actions...[are] disclosed and in appropriate circumstances the officials...[are] disqualified from acting in order that conflicts of interest may be avoided.

The PRA provisions are enforced by the Fair Political Practices Commission (FPPC) and require every state and local governmental agency to adopt a conflict-of-interest code. The commission is the state agency responsible for interpreting the provisions of the law and issuing California Form 700 – Statement of Economic Interests. Because charter school governing board members are considered "public officials" and governing boards are considered "legislative bodies," board members and certain designated individuals must file Form 700 annually, or upon taking office/position. Additionally, a consultant to the organization "who makes, participates in making, or acts in a staff capacity for making governmental decisions" may be required to complete Form 700.

PRA provides an eight-step process to determine whether a conflict of interest exists as follows:

1. Is the individual a public official?
2. Is the public official making, participating in making, or influencing a governmental decision?
3. Does the public official have one of the six qualifying types of economic interests? (An economic interest will be discussed more fully in the next section of this report.)

OCCUPATIONAL FRAUD

4. Is the economic interest directly or indirectly involved in the governmental decision?
5. Will the governmental decision have a material financial effect on the public official's economic interests?
6. Is it reasonably foreseeable that the economic interest will be materially affected?
7. Is the potential effect of the governmental decision on the public official's economic interests distinguishable from its effect on the general public?
8. Despite a disqualifying conflict of interest, is the public official's participation legally required?

The WAYS governing board members, charter school officials and designated employees have filed Form 700. Only one Form 700, by a former board member, declared any financial interest. All the other forms examined showed that these individuals did not declare any financial interest in the schools' affairs or disclosed any conflict of interest that would result in personal financial gain. Consultants that meet the conditions previously identified have not filed Form 700 to date.

The charter petition for WAYS contains a conflict of interest policy that has been approved by the county board of education as a condition of WAYS' petition approval. Board minutes and audio recordings, verbal and written complaints by former board members and direct observations by LACOE staff reveal instances where the founder/former executive director continued to be present and seated at the board table during discussions regarding facility leasehold agreements for her personal properties. Evidence in the board minutes indicate that at least two occurrences transpired when she was no longer employed by WAYS. The termination of her employment was a condition of the petition approved by LACOE.

On September 16, 2011, subsequent to her departure from WAYS, the founder/former executive director was present at the board meeting. She refused to be unseated from the board table during discussions concerning the relocation of WAYS to a property not owned by the founder/former executive director. Individuals at this meeting who supported continued use of her facilities by WAYS schools caused such a disruption that the board meeting was disbanded.

During the September 22, 2011 board meeting one week later, the founder/former executive director was observed by LACOE staff seated at the board table having private conversations with one board member.

The most recent independent audit report noted that facility leasehold agreements for 2013-14 were not approved by the governing board seven months into the new fiscal year, and that the sale of a school vehicle used by the director of operations was not approved by the governing board. Instead, the vehicle, a Lexus, was sold by the founder/former executive director's son in December 2013 without board approval. Shortly after the independent auditors' report, the governing board approved the facility leasehold agreements for 2013-14 and the sale of the director of operations' Lexus.

This report will demonstrate that facility leasehold agreements, leasehold facility improvement, payments made to the private dance studio owned by the founder/former executive director's daughter and vice principal, as well as substantial purchases from a related vendor were not disclosed in accordance with laws and regulations set forth by the FPPC.

The founder/former executive director and other family members were present and exercised significant influence during board meetings that provided a direct personal financial benefit.

Government Code 1090 – Financial Interest of Public Officials, Officers and Employees

Simply stated, the intent of Government Code 1090 is to prohibit a public official, officer or employee from engaging in a contract in which he or she has a financial interest in both a governmental and personal capacity.

Section 1090 has broad implications, applies to school districts and can also apply to charter schools if included in the charter petition or the memorandum of understanding. Section 1090 provides as follows:

Members of the Legislature, state, county, district, judicial district, and city officers or employees shall not be financially interested in any contract made by them in their official capacity, or by any body or board of which they are members. Nor shall state, county, district, judicial district, and city officers or employees be purchasers at any sale or vendors at any purchase made by them in their official capacity.

As used in this article, "district" means any agency of the state formed pursuant to general law or special act, for the local performance of governmental or proprietary functions within limited boundaries.

The WAYS charter petition states the governing board has adopted its own conflict of interest policy and will abide by the conflict of interest Government Code 1090.

This report will establish that a business relationship exists between the founder/former executive director and the WAYS schools as evidenced by contracts, lease agreements and other related business as vendors. There is conclusive documentation to support that the founder/former executive director and her family members as well as close business associates have significant personal involvement and financial interest, violating the conflict of interest statutes.

Related-Party Transactions and Significant Influence

OCI Development Corporation – Building Leasehold Agreements

The current WAYS petition is subject to specific conditions including adherence with conflict of interest laws and regulations. WAYS charter school appealed to LACBOE in the spring of 2011 following a denial by LAUSD Board of Education to renew its petition after five years of operation.

The denial by LAUSD included concerns that WAYS failed to comply with the terms of the charter by allowing the charter school to enter “into a self-dealing transaction” with the founder/former executive director and her privately owned facilities that were leased to two of the three schools. Specifically, WAYS could not provide “evidence that the governing board considered other sites or conducted an independent assessment of lease rates prior to entering into the agreement with the Executive Director.”

In an attempt to address the conflict of interest with the facility lease agreements for the properties occupied by the schools, the founder/former executive director placed the properties in a revocable trust named OCI Development Corporation in 2010-11. It was subsequently determined and concurred by the WAYS legal counsel that transferring the property to a holding company through a revocable trust did not ultimately transfer property ownership under California law and therefore did not resolve the conflict of interest concern.

The WAYS governing board approved the 2012-13 facility leasehold agreements August 3, 2012. These agreements were signed by the former governing board president and current executive director as the “tenant,” and by Dora Obien, CEO for OCI Development Corporation.

According to a report on the WAYS charter petition and appeal to LACBOE dated May 10, 2011 by the LACOE Charter School Review Team, it was revealed that WAYS’ governing board failed to disclose that LAUSD had awarded facilities under a Proposition 39 request for facilities on April 1, 2011. Subsequent to the approval for facilities by LAUSD that could have alleviated conflict of interest concerns, WAYS did not respond to LAUSD to indicate acceptance of the offer.

As previously stated in this report, board meetings surrounding the relocation were met with strong opposition by the founder/former executive director and others during open board meetings ultimately exercising significant influence over the decision not to accept the LAUSD offer. WAYS continues to lease the facilities owned by the founder/former executive director through OCI Development Corporation.

WAYS paid $1,070,921 to the founder/former executive director and her holding company, OCI Development Corporation, for leasehold agreements located at 706 E. Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, CA and 8778 S. Central Avenue, Los Angeles, CA from the 2007-08 through 2012-13 fiscal years as shown in the following table.

The facility leasehold agreement for 2013-14 was approved by the governing board in January 2014. Lease payments are estimated to be $223,878 for the current fiscal year and are not included in the table above.

Other general ledger entries from the WAYS financial records show additional rent payments that are listed in the general ledger with no supporting documentation totaling $115,550:

Lorraine Turner	2007-08 - 2012-13	$89,350
Wisdom Pre-School	2007-08	2,900
Founder: Recruiting Students	2007-08	2,000

Founder: "Good Faith Offer"	2008-09	10,000
Pre-School Rent	2008-09	10,800
Grand Total		$115,550

There are three school sites under the WAYS name located in Los Angeles on Manchester Ave, S. Central and Central. Two are owned by the founder/former executive director and one leased with the Salvation Army. In addition, the school on Manchester Avenue pays $2,400 per year for additional parking spaces. No contracts or lease agreements exist for Lorraine Turner, Wisdom Pre-School or Pre-School Rent. The payment of $10,000 made to the founder/former executive director for "Good Faith Offer" is unsubstantiated. Other payments for recruiting students and E-Rate consultancy fees paid to the founder/former executive director are questionable.

WAYS' balance sheet dated June 30, 2013 shows leasehold improvements totaling $341,710 plus $35,483 in federal E-Rate funding for leasehold improvements to the properties owned by the founder/former executive director.

FOUNDER/FORMER EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S ACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

Founder/Former Executive Director – Settlement Agreement

As a condition of approval for WAYS' charter school petition to LACOE in June 2011, the founder/former executive director was to terminate her employment with WAYS and be removed from any association with the school.

Approximately seven months later in a letter dated January 20, 2012, the founder/former executive director asserted claims totaling $700,000 for money owed including interest accrued and damages but said she would be "content with a settlement of $350,000 that will help me in the new project (Middle School) that I am currently working to establish."

In a separate letter dated May 21, 2012 three months later, the founder/former executive director revised her claim for $480,312.90 for unused vacation, sick and personal necessity leave for the entire time of her employment with WAYS commencing July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2011, claiming she took "zero" days off work during this period of time. The accompanying schedule of liabilities showed a calculation that included 150 days of vacation plus 50 days of "accrued time off due for five years" totaling $97,391.30. No time records or other documentation were supplied to substantiate this claim other than a single typed page identified as Attachment E by the founder/former executive director.

The founder/former executive director claims that she loaned the charter school money from personal savings, mortgaged her personal residence and loaned funds from her private preschool, Wisdom Pre-School.

A review of the QuickBooks records and audited financial statements show a short-term loan on December 18, 2007 from Los Angeles Unified School District and a line of credit from Wells Fargo Bank, both of which were fully repaid, but no mention of any other loans.

On October 26, 2012, the Merle Williamson Foundation, doing business as Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists, entered into a settlement agreement with the founder/former executive director. This agreement was signed by the current executive director and former board president in the amount of $228,665.38. The breakdown of the final payment is as follows:

Severance pay – one year.	$112,960.60
Contractual leave and vacation days accrued at the time of separation. Last three years.	$58,434.78
Lease of a 2004 Toyota Land Cruiser.	57,940.00
Total	$228,665.38

The employment contract for July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2011 states that the founder/former executive director shall be permitted to be paid upon termination. However, the contract provides that "written documentation of the Executive Director's earned and accrued vacation days" shall be maintained through a third-party vendor providing business services to the schools. According to the business services provider, no vacation or time records were ever provided to its office to support the founder/former executive director's claim for accrued vacation and other leave categories. The settlement agreement does not provide any documentation to support this claim; therefore, FCMAT cannot substantiate that the $58,434.78 paid for 90 days of vacation leave and 30 days of unused time off was substantiated with independent records by the business services provider in accordance with the employment contract.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFORMATION

The contract from July 1, 2005 through June 30, 2008 as well as the most current contract states that the executive director shall be provided an automobile vehicle and operating expenses for her use in conducting official business and reasonable personal use during the period of the contract. Attached to the settlement agreement is a closed end motor vehicle 60-month lease agreement identifying the founder/former executive director as the lessee for a new 2004 Toyota Land Cruiser dated December 20, 2004. The gross capitalized cost on the lease agreement is $57,940, which included extra add-ons:

- Maintenance agreement for $1,800
- Credit life insurance premium for $995

The employment contract states that a vehicle shall be provided to her, not that she could enter into a vehicle lease for a luxury vehicle paid by the school and be reimbursed for the lease and extra items prior to her contract. It is unclear if the school had available and/or provided a different vehicle during the contract period.

Professional Liability for Founder/Former Executive Director

Documents from a lawsuit settled against the Merle Williamson Foundation (MWF) for wrongful termination of a former teacher at WAYS against the school show that the founder/former executive director traveled to Omtsha, Nigeria and directed one of the school's teachers to go with her to marry her sister's husband (brother-in-law) for purposes of making the brother-in-law a United States citizen. Although the teacher married the brother-in-law, she ultimately refused to complete the Department of Homeland Security form I-130, Petition for Alien Relative, and brought suit against MWF. On December 4, 2012, a jury found in favor of the teacher plaintiff and subsequent judgment was awarded of $566,803.

The contract dated July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2011 clearly states that the executive director shall be held harmless and be indemnified "from any and all demands, claims, suits, and legal proceedings brought against the Executive Director in her official capacity as agent and employee of the MWF, provided the incident arose while the Executive Director was acting within the scope of employment." (emphasis added) Clearly this action by the "Executive Director" was not within the scope of employment, was conducted during winter break in Nigeria, and yet the settlement was paid by WAYS charter school.

The Certificate of Marriage document from Federal Republic of Nigeria shows the founder/former executive director's signature as witness to the marriage between the teacher and Joseph Njor Enwezor (the founder/former executive director's brother-in-law) on January 4, 2010. According to staff at LACOE who conducted interviews, these interviews with former teachers and board members indicate many trips to Nigeria to visit a personal residence in that country by the founder/former executive director, yet she asserts that she took "zero" days off during the last five years.

OSE Business Services – Owner, Obiesie Enwezor

The analysis of large increases in purchases of books and supplies during the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years was attributed to one vendor, OSE Business Services (OSE). OSE is owned by Obiesie Enwezor, who is related to other WAYS vendors: Godfrey Okonkwo, Emeka Enwezor, and DeDe Dance Studio and bears the same last name as the founder/former executive director's brother-in-law, Joseph Njor Enwezor.

Godfrey Okonkwo is the husband of the founder/former executive director of WAYS and father of the owner of DeDe Dance Studio and vice principal of WAYS and director of operations. (These WAYS relationships are further described in detail later in this report.)

FCMAT compiled all OSE vendor invoices to review and analyze expenditure transactions and spending patterns. Purchases totaling $158,871 for 20 invoices lacked any supporting documentation for the receipt of materials, supplies and snack food items.

WAYS Back Office Service Provider Warned of Books and Supplies Expenditures Exceeding Budget

During FCMAT's interview of the WAYS back office business services provider on Monday, November 25, 2013, the back office provider stated to the team that the WAYS governing board and management had been advised during a board presentation and in the budget narratives that the books and supplies expenditures "... are expected to be over budget at the end of the year by about $70,000."

The back office provider presented for the team two samples of WAYS board and management reports for the periods ended January 31, 2013 and again on June 30, 2013 titled "Snap Shot Summary of Financial Condition of the School." These reports showed that the actual expenditures for books and supplies exceeded current budgeted amounts. Even though the WAYS back office provider warned of excessive expenditures, the management of WAYS continued to purchase from OSE.

WAYS Paid $158,871 to OSE Business Services Over Two Years

The books and supplies category consists of textbooks, books other than textbooks, instructional materials, custodial supplies, automobile expenses, fuel, office supplies, other supplies, classroom furniture and equipment, computers, and other non-capitalized equipment.

During the fiscal years 2011-12 and 2012-13, WAYS paid $57,533 and $101,338 respectively to OSE, totaling $158,871 for the two-year period. Of the combined 2011-2012 and 2012-13 payments to OSE, 98% was accounted for in WAYS' books and supplies expenditures category.

A total of 20 invoices were issued by OSE and paid by WAYS. All invoices were approved by the director of operations - the founder/former executive director's son, along with the current executive director/former board president. Ten of the payments to OSE were issued by cashier's checks and nine of the payments by check. During the interview conducted with both the executive director and director of operations, the director of operations stated that cashier's checks were used because WAYS "... bounced a check and OSE only wanted to be paid by cashier's check."

FCMAT requested copies of the OSE cashier's checks and regular checks, both front and back, from the director of operations and copied the executive director in an email dated Friday, December 13, 2013. One month later, on January 13, 2014, the team received nine of the 10 requested cashier's checks. The missing cashier's check was received on January 21, 2014. Repeated requests to management for the regular check copies were never received and no explanation was provided.

Of the nine copies of the cashier's checks provided to the team, it is not entirely clear that the copies came directly from the bank. The endorsement for OSE Business Services on the reverse side of the cashier's checks is by signature. No account number or other identifying information is provided on the back of these cashier's checks. The OSE cashier's check that was provided on

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND

January 21, 2014 showed that the check was printed through an online account at <https://oibservices.wellsfargo.com/OIB/PrintImage.jsp>.

Because WAYS executive management failed to provide OSE's regular checks front and back copies as requested by the team, and because OSE cashier's checks did not contain account information identifying the account where funds were deposited, the team is unable to authenticate the OSE payments.

OSE Business Services Irregular Invoices

During the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years, WAYS received from OSE 20 invoices that were authorized for payment by both the director of operations and executive director and present the following irregularities:

1. Invoices fail to provide a contact phone number.
2. Invoices lack proper authorization to purchase and/or accept OSE merchandise that would authenticate the supplies shipped by OSE to WAYS.
3. Invoices are not accompanied by packing slips identifying the shipping contents and quantities.
4. Invoices fail to identify any "ship to" or delivery address.
5. Invoices fail to present a shipping cost line item, or indicate if there was a charge for shipping.
6. Invoices do not appear professional and consistent and appear to be produced on a spreadsheet.
7. Invoices fail to present consistent per-unit pricing calculating quantities of items purchased and extending the quantity multiplied by the per-unit pricing to the total amount for each inventory line item purchased.
8. Management could not provide an OSE product catalogue for review.
9. The OSE invoices fail to present consistent and clear descriptions of the supplies identified.
10. The OSE address of 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 is a postal service location and is not a warehouse or physical storefront.
11. The address is identical to that of Innovative WAYS Academy, which is owned and operated by the WAYS vice principal, the founder/former executive director's daughter.

The team interviewed the WAYS back office provider on Monday November 25, 2013. During the interview, the back office provider claimed there were repeated requests to WAYS management to provide OSE's approved purchase orders and packing slips in accordance with the back office provider's procedures manual. WAYS management failed to comply with these requests to follow procedures, and failed to provide the requested documentation.

OSE Business Services Address at 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 – Related Parties

The audit fieldwork visit on November 13-15, 2013 revealed large quantities of supplies purchased from OSE. During the team's joint interview with the executive director and director of operations, the team was told that none of the WAYS vendors were related. The team made further inquiries regarding any relationship between WAYS management team or family members and OSE. The director of operations said that OSE Business Services was a legitimate business with many customers and that no relationship existed between these two entities.

During the fieldwork, the team visited the OSE address printed on their invoices at 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045. This same address is identified as the mailing address of Innovative WAYS Academy.

The CEO of Innovative WAYS Academy is:

- The founder of DeDe Dance Studio and vice principal of WAYS,
- The daughter of the founder/former executive director of WAYS,
- The sister of WAYS' director of operations, and
- The CEO of DeDe Dance Studio that operates business at the WAYS school site.

The team interviewed the WAYS vice principal, Innovative WAYS Academy founder and CEO, and owner of DeDe Dance Studio on Friday, November 15, 2013 and discussed the 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 address. In her statement to the team, she provided the following information for business operations associated with that address:

1. The 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 address was the address used for Innovative WAYS Academy.
2. Stated that she "does not know much about the business side of Innovative WAYS" and said that her mother (founder of WAYS) operated Innovative WAYS Academy and is the most knowledge about its business operations.
3. She does not check the mail at the 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 address. Instead, her mother, the founder/former executive director, is the only person who checks the mail and has the only key to the mailbox at that location.

On December 11, 2013, FCMAT made an inquiry to the director of operations and copied the executive director to verify that 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045 is the same address as Innovative WAYS Academy and OSE Business Services, and that the founder/former executive director is the only person that checks the mail and has a key. WAYS management did not provide requested supporting documentation other than to provide invoices from OSE. In an attempt to corroborate the $158,871 in materials and supplies purchased from OSE and concerns that OSE represented an undisclosed related-party, the team requested the following information to verify a legitimate business address and a warehouse facility with the ability to service numerous customers based on the statement from the director of operations:

- OSE business information documents IRS W9,
- IRS Form 1099 issued by WAYS to OSE,

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND BUSINESS OPERATIONS

- OSE's actual physical address and business phone number, and
- Notified the OSE business owner, Obiesie Enwezor, that FCMAT would like to review his supplier purchases to support the products OSE sold to WAYS.

On January 10, 2014, one month after the FCMAT's request for information, the director of operations provided the phone number and email address for OSE but failed to provide the actual physical address. The director of operations could not verify the WAYS vice principal's statements regarding access to the 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045 address, and suggested that the team speak with the founder/former executive director regarding the relationship between OSE and WAYS. He stated during the interview, "I am not aware of any related party business relationships ... I have no expectations for the framework of OSE Business Services and infrastructure."

FCMAT attempted to contact the owner of OSE, Obiesie Enwezor, through a certified return receipt letter dated December 23, 2013 at the address on the invoices (6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045). This letter was returned on January 24, 2014, marked by the US Postal Service as Return to Sender, Unclaimed, and Unable to Forward.

WAYS Failed to Issue an IRS Form 1099 to OSE

FCMAT visited the back office provider to review records and conduct interviews. The team reviewed the IRS Federal Forms 1099 and W-9 files and was unable to locate either form in the back office provider files. Form 1099 is required for unincorporated vendors for payments in excess of $600 in a calendar year to report miscellaneous income to IRS.

IRS Form W-9 is used to certify that payments made to vendors meet the IRS guidelines. These guidelines are intended to ensure that the taxpayer identification number to report Form 1099 is correct and that the vendor is not subject to backup withholding. Once complete, the W-9 form is signed by the owner or designated person. According to the back office provider, several requests made by staff to WAYS management for OSE's W-9 were unsuccessful.

Subsequent to FCMAT's request on November 29, 2013 for a W-9 from OSE, the director of operations sent a copy of a W-9 prepared by OSE on December 9, 2013 to the back office provider, which was forwarded to the team. The document was dated November 11, 2011.

On December 11, 2013, FCMAT requested the director of operations to provide a copy of Form 1099 issued to OSE but did not receive a response. There is no evidence that Form 1099 was sent either to the OSE or to the IRS. Shortly after FCMAT's request on December 11, 2013 for these documents, the director of operations provided a email from OSE dated December 16, 2013, which stated, "I still have not received a 1099 from you." The team was not provided prior requests or concerns by OSE before December 16, 2013 regarding the issuance of a Form 1099 from the prior two calendar years.

Obiesie Enwezor, owner of OSE, refused to meet with FCMAT; therefore, the team cannot confirm that OSE is a legitimate business that properly reported income and sales taxes totaling $158,871 from WAYS to the taxing authorities, or that merchandise was actually delivered by OSE and received by WAYS.

OSE Business Services is Not a Resale Company or Store According to OSE

On January 10, 2014, the director of operations sent FCMAT the OSE Fictitious Business Name Statement dated November 2011 and OSE's W-9, Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification, dated November 11, 2011. The OSE business address identified on both forms is 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045, the same post office box service center address where the founder/former executive director has possession of the only key.

The first OSE transaction entered into QuickBooks is dated August 17, 2011 as OSE Invoice Number One; however, the team was provided a copy of Invoice Number One that is dated December 5, 2011, approximately four months later.

The 20 OSE invoices for the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years have 289 inventory items ranging from paper and office supply products to food items, stamps, and small equipment. A summary of the OSE invoice items and price per item calculated by the team is presented in Appendix A. WAYS management was unable to provide any supporting documentation that would attest to the authenticity of the OSE purchases approved by the director of operations and the current executive director.

Each invoice that OSE issued to WAYS includes a total charge at the bottom of each invoice for sales tax on the inventory items purchased, providing evidence that WAYS is purchasing directly from OSE. According to OSE's email dated December 16, 2013, the owner states that OSE does not buy or resell as follows:

"Also, bear in mind that OSE Business Services is not a resale company or store, OSE is a service provider. We do not buy or resale. We provide and coordinate purchasing and delivery services to various agencies."

The owner's statement that OSE is a service provider and is "not in the resale business" is not supported by the presentation of the paid invoices to his company. First, the invoices include charges for California sales taxes. This would only occur if the business was reselling products. Second, none of the invoices state that the amount due is for consulting, service or coordination fees as described in the owner's statement to FCMAT.

FCMAT sent three emails and four voicemails during January 10-13, 2014 in an attempt to meet and clarify the OSE owner's assertion that the business was not a resale business, review records related to invoices sent to WAYS and ask general questions regarding suppliers that were utilized to provide merchandise.

Mr. Enwezor initially responded by saying, "I recognize the situation that you are facing, and I will do everything I can to help." However, on January 13, 2014, Mr. Enwezor sent the following statement declining to meet with the team:

"I understand that you are auditing the school but are you attempting to audit my business also? Under what authorization? For what reason. I am unable to meet with you. Send me your questions and I will respond in the best interest of my company."

Because Mr. Enwezor rescinded his decision to cooperate with the audit and allow inspection of OSE's sales and customer support documents, the following information cannot be confirmed:

- Whether WAYS is OSE's only customer,
- Where OSE obtained the merchandise allegedly sold to WAYS,

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND DISCLOSURES

- California State Board of Equalization report of sales tax payments that would assist in confirming the purchase and sale of merchandise,
- Quarterly sales tax reports,
- Documentation supporting OSE's supplier relationships from which OSE provided supplies to WAYS.

In addition, the team cannot audit and/or confirm if any of the alleged 288 OSE inventory items sold to WAYS representing payments of $158,871 are for actual books and supplies received by the school.

OSE Business Services Product Inventory Sales to WAYS

FCMAT prepared an analysis of the 20 OSE invoices representing 288 inventory items, focused on items that exhibited high volume, and compared those items with other charter schools located in the metropolitan area of Los Angeles of similar size. Pricing was compared to vendors that specialize in office and cleaning supplies as well as snack foods WAYS offered in the after school program.

There are 6,696 per-unit inventory items on the OSE invoices that include cases of copier paper, numerous miscellaneous office supplies, various cleaning supplies and snack foods. In total there are 288 uniquely defined inventory products.

One example of the volume of supplies WAYS purchased from OSE during the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years is 971 boxes of paper totaling $41,408.24 and representing 26.1% of the total purchases. Each box of paper contains 10 reams of paper, and each ream of paper contains 500 sheets representing a total of 4,855,000 sheets of paper. Based on the size of WAYS' schools and compared with other charter schools in the Los Angeles area, this is an excessive amount of paper purchased from one vendor over a two-year period of time.

Because this appeared excessive based on the average enrollment of 505 students over a two-year period from 2011-12 through 2012-13, the team compared copier paper purchases with a sample group of elementary charter schools.

The team received information from the seven comparable elementary charter schools listed in the table below. This analysis compares purchases of copier paper from all vendors in the selection group with the WAYS purchases from OSE (even though paper was also purchased from other vendors described later in this report) and based on student enrollment for 2011-12 through 2012-13.

Cases of Copier Paper Purchased per Student, 2011-12 through 2012-13

School	Average Enrollment	No. of Cases Purchased	Cases of Copier Paper per Student
Charter School #1	227	151	0.67
Charter School #2	304	186	0.61
Charter School #3	387	332	0.86
Charter School #4	416	332	0.80
Charter School #5	476	369	0.78
Charter School #6	601	551	0.92
Charter School #7	648	588	0.91
Averaged Totals - All Sample Schools	382	314	0.82
WAYS	505	971	1.92

TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

29

On a per student enrollment basis, WAYS averaged 1.92 cases of copier paper purchased per student over the two-year period, which is 2.34 times greater than the .82 average of all seven similar elementary charter schools combined.

The quantity of 971 cases of copier paper allegedly sold to WAYS by OSE is even more significant considering that during FCMAT's fieldwork visit on November 15, 2013, the team attempted to use the WAYS copy machine, which did not contain any copy paper. When the team asked the director of operations' permission to use the copy machine, the director stated, "They use very little paper and it is tightly controlled." He returned with a ream of copy paper that was locked in his office.

The volume of paper purchased and the director of operations' statement that the school uses very little paper do not reconcile. FCMAT anticipated that since WAYS' use of copier paper was tightly controlled, the amount purchased would be significantly lower than that of the seven comparative elementary charter schools sampled, but found the opposite.

OSE Sales Tax Calculations

The OSE invoices each include a line item for sales tax. OSE invoice number three, dated February 25, 2012 in the amount of $6,172.39, is comprised of OSE inventory sales totaling $5,625.76 and sales tax stated of $546.63. The OSE invoice states that the sales tax rate is 8.75%; however, 8.75% of $5,625.76 is $492.25 rather than $546.63, which is a difference of an additional $54.38 that WAYS paid to OSE for sales tax.

FCMAT reverse calculated what percentage the $546.63 in sales tax is compared to the total supplies WAYS purchased from OSE and arrived at a rate of 9.72%. In February 2012, the city of Los Angeles sales tax rate was 8.75%, not 9.72%.

Because the OSE invoices present numerous irregularities including the extension of per unit pricing to total charges and the incorrect calculation of sales tax noted above, OSE does not present itself as a legitimate business.

WAYS Purchases Office Supplies from Other Vendors in Addition to OSE, and OSE Inventory Pricing is Higher than Other Compared Vendors

During FCMAT's review of sampled WAYS American Express credit card statements, it was found that several statements were missing vendor receipts and other supporting documentation to support the purchases charged to that account. Without proper receipts, the team was unable to verify individual vendor purchases on the credit card statements.

The sampling showed several purchases for office supplies and other similar products from Staples, Office Max, and Smart & Final including copier paper, three-ring binders, and food snacks. It is apparent from these purchases that OSE was not the exclusive provider of office supplies to WAYS.

The following represent examples of purchases from other vendors with similar OSE merchandise discovered by FCMAT during the in-depth review of WAYS American Express credit card statement receipts compared with OSE's pricing:

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGS INFLUENCE

Office Depot – Receipt dated April 30, 2013	Item 675041- Paper, Copy, AST	$12.49
Office Depot– Receipt dated April 30, 2013	Item 348037 – Paper, Copy DD	$41.99
OSE	Case of Paper 8 X 11.5	Ranging from $35.00 - $48.99
OSE	O/I COPY-20# 8.5 C/6-9	Ranging from $39.99 - $48.99
Office Depot – online	Store brand 8.5 X 11, 20#500 sheets, case of 10 reams	$43.99
OSE	Office Impressions 92 Bright 20# 8.5 X 11 CASE	$45.00
Staples – online	Various 8.5 X 11 cases of paper, 92 Bright, 20#	$26.99 - $43.99

The OSE invoice items are vague in description; therefore, an absolute comparison of products purchased is impossible. Without clarification from either OSE or WAYS management, FCMAT is unable to determine a reasonable explanation for the large variance in pricing based on OSE's invoices and like kind vendors.

FCMAT identified several OSE invoices with similar inventory items to those of other vendors, such as the Smart & Final receipt dated 04/10/13, inventory description, "Austin Cracker Vrt" at $8.39, and "Rice Krisp Orig" at $8.99. When FCMAT calculated the price per unit of the OSE inventory items, the amounts that OSE charged WAYS were varied and much higher. In some cases, OSE charged WAYS more than double the price for the same inventory items that WAYS also purchased from other vendors. Examples include:

1. OSE invoices list "Austin Variety 45 ct," with pricing calculated by FCMAT from $7 per unit to $19.99 per unit depending on the month of purchase.
2. OSE invoices list "Rice Crispy," with pricing calculated by FCMAT from $11.99 to $19.99 per unit, depending on the month of purchase.
3. Staples store location at 3701 W. Santa Rosalia Dr., Los Angeles, California, dated 06/15/12, inventory description "1.5 In Better Binde" at $9.49 per unit. WAYS purchased four units of binders. The OSE invoices vaguely described binders that FCMAT calculated the per unit pricing for as follows: 3" binders at $30 per unit, 3.5" binders at $24 per unit, 5" binders at $24 per unit, Premium View Binders at $29.99 per unit, and Premium Binder at $46.00 per unit.

FCMAT searched prices at Staples online at www.staples.com and found 3" Avery Heavy-Duty View Binders with One Touch EZD Rings, item number 318402, Model 79-793 priced at $9.99 per unit. Because OSE invoice inventory descriptions are not specific and are not identified with an item number, FCMAT cannot determine how these same items are sold by OSE for three times the cost of other vendors.

FCMAT also examined the WAYS vice principal reimbursements, which included receipts from the Staples store location at 3701 W. Santa Rosalia Dr., Los Angeles, California. One Staples receipt dated 11/27/12 contained the inventory description "PENDEL LEAD REFIL" at $2.79 per unit, and the reimbursement identified a quantity of three. OSE invoices have an inventory item called "Pencil" listed as $12 per pencil.

OSE business sales documentation for products allegedly sold to WAYS cannot be confirmed because the documentation is limited to a one-sheet invoice from OSE similar to a spreadsheet, with no additional documentation to support the delivery of materials and supplies to WAYS. In addition, OSE has declined requests to meet and provide proof of its sales of merchandise to

WAYS. The irregularities described in this report attributable to alleged supplies purchased from OSE raise serious concerns about the OSE and WAYS business relationship and whether OSE actually sold any supplies to WAYS.

The following summarizes the inconsistencies regarding WAYS purchases from OSE identified in this report:

- WAYS purchased 2.34 times more cases of copier paper per student from OSE than the seven comparable elementary schools sampled. Additional purchases of copier paper from other vendors further increases the average of 2.34.
- OSE invoices and other authorization to purchase and accept OSE merchandise that should be used to authenticate the supplies shipped by OSE to WAYS are missing packing slips that identify the shipping contents.
- OSE invoices fail to identify any ship to address or contact phone number.
- OSE invoices fail to present a shipping cost line item or indicate that shipping is waived and not charged.
- OSE invoices do not present a professional and consistent look.
- OSE invoices fail to present any per unit pricing calculating quantities of items purchased and extending the quantity multiplied by the per unit pricing to the total amount for each inventory line item purchased.
- OSE product catalogue was not available for review.
- OSE invoices appear to have been prepared from a spreadsheet program.
- OSE invoices fail to present consistent and clear descriptions of the supplies identified in the invoices.
- OSE address of 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 is not a warehouse or store location. This same address is used for other WAYS vendors, including the private middle school previously operated by the vice principal of WAYS. This is the same address where the only key belongs to the founder and former executive director.
- OSE will not allow inspection of its sales and customer documents that would verify if WAYS is the only customer and the location of the warehouse or suppliers.

FCMAT was unable to confirm that OSE has paid $12,926.35 in sales taxes collected from WAYS to the California State Board of Equalization, or that OSE has a valid California sales tax identification number, because the sales tax number is not printed on OSE's invoices or located on check requests that authorize payment to OSE by the director of operations. FCMAT is unable to audit and confirm that WAYS issued a IRS Form 1099 totaling $158,871 over the audit time period.

WAYS Audited Financial Statement Reports and Qualified June 30, 2013 Audit Report

FCMAT's findings are consistent with the independent auditor's reports for WAYS for the fiscal years ending June 30, 2012 and June 30, 2013. Both FCMAT and independent auditors find that WAYS has significant internal control conditions and has failed to ensure that adequate internal controls are in place.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SUPPORTING DOCUMENTATION

The WAYS June 30, 2013 independent auditors report at Finding 2013-6, "Credit Card Supporting Documentation" states:

"The school is using credit cards to purchase some items and subsequently repaying the credit cards with a check. The credit card statements are being used as supporting documentation for the check written; however, the credit card statements do not include receipts for all expenditures for which they are used."

"Expense items paid with credit cards are not adequately supported by itemized receipts and approval documentation. The Academy is exposed to risk of misappropriation of assets."

FCMAT has documented in this report that the necessary supporting documentation authenticating OSE Business Services payments was not available for the FCMAT audit. The team is unable to audit and confirm if any of the alleged inventory supplies purchased from OSE totaling $158,871 actually received, because WAYS and OSE have failed to present the necessary supporting documentation.

The WAYS independent auditor issued its report dated January 15, 2014 on the WAYS financial statements for the year ended June 20, 2013. An integral component of the audit is a report titled Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Controls Over Reporting and on Compliance and Other Matters Based on an Audit of Financial Statements Performed in Accordance With Government Auditing Standards.

This report describes various categories of deficiencies in internal controls that may exist. As reported by the independent auditors, a deficiency in internal control exists when a particular control does not allow management or employees in the normal course of business the ability to prevent, detect or correct misstatements in a timely manner. A material weakness presents a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, indicating a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the financial statements exists that cannot be detected, corrected or prevented in a timely manner. The auditors identified six findings and questioned costs to be classified as material weaknesses. A significant deficiency is a deficiency that is less severe yet represents enough merit to bring to the attention of those charged with governance. The auditors identified three findings that met this particular classification.

Depending on the number and severity of the audit findings, independent audit reports are either unqualified or qualified in accordance with auditing standards contained in the Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller of the United States. These standards require that auditors obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

When the independent auditors express an opinion regarding the reasonableness of the financial statements, the report is issued as either an unqualified or a qualified audit. A qualified audit report is issued when the auditors believe that the overall presentation of the financial statements does not represent a fair presentation that significant accounting estimates made by management and the overall presentation of the financial statements meet the auditing standards.

The independent auditor's report was qualified because the "audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion." Auditors cited the following in the June 30, 2013 annual audit report:

1. The WAYS Independent Auditor's Report was Qualified because WAYS failed to maintain a detail of capital assets or depreciation.
2. The WAYS Independent Auditor's Report on State Compliance was Qualified because WAYS failed to comply with requirements of the class size reduction program and after school education and safety program.
3. WAYS did not meet the state requirement for audits to be completed and sent to the State Controller's Office, California Department of Education, and Los Angeles County Office of Education by the deadline date of December 15, 2013.
4. The WAYS operating facilities lease with OCI Development Corporation (OCI Development Corporation is the holder of the WAYS facilities property on behalf of the founder of WAYS) was entered into in July 2013; however, as of January 15, 2014, the date of the audit report, the lease agreement has not been approved by the WAYS governing board.
5. The WAYS operating facilities lease with the Salvation Army was entered into in August 2013; however, as of January 15, 2014, the date of the audit report, the lease agreement has not been approved by the WAYS governing board.
6. In December 2013, WAYS sold a vehicle (Lexus RX350) for $26,000; however, as of January 15, 2014, the date of the audit report, the payoff of the vehicle and sale of the vehicle has not been approved by the WAYS governing board.
7. The auditors had to amend their audit report because the management of WAYS provided the auditor with incorrect board member names as of June 30, 2013, including the chairperson of the board.
8. The Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting and on Compliance and Other Matters Based on an Audit of Financial Statements Performed in Accordance with Government Auditing Standards cited six WAYS deficiencies in internal controls and three significant deficiencies in internal controls. The report also identified three instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.
9. The Independent Auditor's Report on Compliance for Each Major Program and on Internal Control Over Compliance Required by OMB Circular A-133 cited one deficiency in internal control over compliance to be a material weakness in internal control.

WAYS Irregular Van Lease – Vendors Godfrey Okonkwo & Emeka Enwezor

During FCMAT's review of the WAYS disbursement payments to various WAYS vendors, two vendors were identified as each receiving $4,800 for leasing a van to the charter school. The two individuals are the husband of the founder of WAYS, Godfrey Okonkwo, and a vendor identified in the books and accounting records of WAYS as Emeka Enwezor.

Godfrey Okonkwo was paid $2,400 with WAYS check number 8339, dated January 7, 2011 and $2,400 with check number 8950, dated June 27, 2011, totaling $4,800 during the WAYS 2010-11 fiscal year.

Emeka Enwezor was paid $2,400 with WAYS check number 9513, dated December 9, 2011 and $2,400 with check number 9625, dated December 9, 2011, also totaling $4,800 during the WAYS 2011-12 fiscal year.

The WAYS leasing of a van totaling payments over two fiscal years of $9,600 paid to Godfrey Okonkwo and Emeka Enwezor presents numerous irregularities.

First, during FCMAT's fieldwork at the WAYS back office business provider, the payment documentation for the van payments to Emeka Enwezor was reviewed. Documentation for the van lease payments authorized by the WAYS director of operations show that the van lease agreement and additional back-up documentation for lease was missing even though the back office provider had requested these documents on previous occasions. At the time of the FCMAT fieldwork in November 2013, the WAYS back office service provider still had not received from the WAYS any van lease supporting documentation dating back to the first payment from December 9, 2011 approximately two years later.

According to the WAYS director of operations, the owner of the lease is Emeka Enwezor. The team requested the director, in an email dated November 29, 2013, to supply information to support the van lease agreement and board approval. In an email dated January 10, 2014, the WAYS director of operations replied to FCMAT stating:

"I was able to locate the Van Lease Agreement from 2011-12. However I was unable to locate a signed copy of the agreement. During this year WAYS experienced significant turn-over in the Board of Directors and administration. Many official school documents were kept by those individuals who are no longer associated with WAYS, and have yet to be returned after several requests to do so. I suspect that the signed van lease and Board documentation, if any, may be within those lost documents."

The WAYS back office provider had been requesting van lease supporting documentation from various management personnel of WAYS since at least December 2011. Approximately two years later, the executive team of WAYS failed to provide signed copies of the van lease.

The fiduciary duty of the executive level management of WAYS, which includes the executive director and the director of operations is the safeguarding of assets and proper administration of the financial affairs of WAYS.

It is the fiduciary responsibility of the WAYS executive management team to ensure contracts receive proper authorization by the governing board prior to entering into agreements and to safeguard the school's assets. WAYS' executive management team failed in their fiduciary duty to obtain contracts, failed to have authorized signatures prior to entering into contracts, failed to obtain governing board approval for contracts, and failed to ensure that documents are safeguarded.

REPORT OF TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

1. The van lease agreement provided by WAYS presents irregularities.
 - a. The van lease agreement is not signed or dated by either WAYS executive management or Emeka Enwezor,
 - b. The unsigned van lease agreement states, "Lessee may not sublease the vehicle under this contract without Emeka Enwezor prior consent." (sic)

Godfrey Okonkwo, father of the director of operations and husband of the founder/former executive director of WAYS, was paid $4,800 for the use of Emeka Enwezor's van. This violated the sublease provision in the contract.
 - c. The unsigned van lease is undated; therefore, language does not present any date that the lease is entered into; therefore, the team cannot determine when the unsigned van lease was created.
2. The WAYS documentation of the payments for the unsigned van lease is irregular.
 - a. The Emeka Enwezor invoice approved by the director of operations failed to identify an address for the payee. The van invoice is titled "VAN LEASE/RENTAL" and states at the bottom of the invoice, "Make all checks payable to Emeka Enwezor."
 - b. The WAYS check request the team examined approving payment of the unsigned van lease omits the invoice number and address of the payee.

WAYS Related Parties – WAYS Founder/Former Executive Director, Godfrey Okonkwo, WAYS Director of Operations, WAYS Vice Principal, Emeka Enwezor & Obiesie Enwezor

The Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 850-10-50 contains the disclosure requirements for related party relationships and transactions as follows:

- "Affiliates" of the entity.
- Entities for which investments in their equity securities would be required, absent the election of the fair value option under the Fair Value Option Subsection of Section 825-10-15, to be accounted for by the equity method by the investing entity.
- Trusts for the benefit of employees, such as pension and profit-sharing trusts that are managed by or under the trusteeship of management.
- Principal owners of the entity and members of their immediate families.
- Management of the entity and members of their immediate families.
- Other parties with which the entity may deal if one party controls or can significantly influence the management or operating policies of the other to an extent that one of the transacting parties might be prevented from fully pursuing its own separate interests.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANCE

- Other parties that can significantly influence the management or operating policies of the transacting parties or that have an ownership interest in one of the transacting parties and can significantly influence the other to an extent that one or more of the transacting parties might be prevented from fully pursuing its own separate interests. The FASB ASC glossary also defines the terms: affiliate, control, immediate family, management, and principal owners.

The executive management of nonprofit organizations such as WAYS have the responsibility to document in detail and fully disclose to the auditors, governing board, county oversight agencies, and the state for purposes of conflict of interest and full disclosure reporting requirements any and all potential related party transactions to comply with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). Failure to disclose related party transactions may be considered a departure from GAAP that could result in a qualified or adverse audit opinion and the potential for civil and criminal prosecution.

The facts below demonstrate that several related party transactions exist between the founder/former executive director, her family members, vendors and associates.

The team discussed the WAYS van lease payments with the WAYS director of operations while on site at the WAYS offices located at 706 East Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, California on Thursday, November 14, 2013. The director of operations is the son of Godfrey Okonkwo, and Godfrey Okonkwo is the vendor that received $4,800 representing van lease payments for a van owned by Emeka Enwezor, who also was paid $4,800 for the lease of the van.

During the Thursday, November 14, 2013 discussion with the WAYS director of operations, he stated that Godfrey Okonkwo was paid for the van lease in the first year of the lease for the van from Emeka Enwezor, and the second year Emeka Enwezor was paid directly for the van lease. The team inquired whether Emeka Enwezor was related and was told that, "She is a friend of the family and we rent her van ... but she gave the van to the school this year."

The association of the van lease payments establishes that Godfrey Okonkwo, father of the director of operations and husband of the founder/former executive director of WAYS, received payments for the van owned by Emeka Enwezor. Emeka Enwezor, a related party, shares several similar characteristics with Obiesie Enwezor, owner of OSE Business Services, as follows:

1. Obiesie Enwezor and Emeka Enwezor share the same unusual last name of Enwezor.
2. A Social Security number is comprised of three segments: XXX-XX-XXXX. The first segment represents the first three digits known as the area number, the middle segment representing two digits is the group number and the last four digits is known as the serial number. Obiesie Enwezor and Emeka Enwezor share the same area numbers and group numbers. The serial numbers, which are 12 digits apart, indicates that the two Social Security numbers were issued at approximately the same time.
3. Obiesie Enwezor; Emeka Enwezor, the founder/former executive director; Godfrey Okonkwo, the director of operations and the vice principal, share common addresses located at: 4326 Eno Dr., Los Angeles, CA and 117 W. 112th Street, Los Angeles, CA. Both properties are owned by Godfrey Okonkwo and the founder/former executive director.

Based on the team's analysis of possible relatives, transactions authorized by the director of operations do not represent an arm's-length transaction. An arm's-length transaction would be evidenced by signed agreements, board approvals, complete and detailed transaction documentation, and comparative contracts.

1. The director of operations is the individual authorizing the check requests and financial transactions for WAYS and the son of the founder/former executive director and son of Godfrey Okonkwo, who was paid $4,800 by WAYS for a van rented from Emeka Enwezor.
2. Emeka Enwezor is a friend of the Okonkwo family according to the director of operations. Based on the team's research, Emeka Enwezor is related to the Okonkwo family and Obiesie Enwezor, owner of OSE Business Services.
 - a. Emeka Enwezor was paid $4,800 by WAYS for the van leased to WAYS. WAYS failed to obtain a signed contract and board authorization to lease the van.
 - b. Emeka Enwezor shares addresses owned by Godfrey Okonkwo and the founder of WAYS. This same address is linked to the WAYS director of operations and the WAYS vice principal (brother and sister.)
 - c. Emeka Enwezor also shares the same address as Obiesie Enwezor.
3. OSE Business Services owner Obiesie Enwezor received $158,871 from WAYS.
 - a. Obiesie Enwezor shares two addresses owned by Godfrey Okonkwo and/or the founder/former executive director, who are related as family and/or address to Obiesie Enwezor, the founder/former executive director, Godfrey Okonkwo, the director of operations, and the WAYS vice principal.
 - b. Obiesie Enwezor has refused to meet with FCMAT to assist the team in substantiating the $158,871 in alleged supplies sold to WAYS by OSE and the existence of OSE as a legitimate business with customers other than WAYS.
 - c. WAYS failed to issue 1099s to OSE and is missing significant corroborating financial information that FCMAT considers necessary to substantiate the office and food supply items approved by the director of operations for payment to OSE.
 - d. OSE Business Services owner Obiesie Enwezor shares the identical business address location at 6709 La Tijera Blvd, Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 as the WAYS vice principal's own private middle school known as Innovative WAYS Academy.
 - e. According to the WAYS vice principal, the founder/former executive director and mother of both the director of operations and vice principal is the individual who checks the mail and has the key to the OSE and

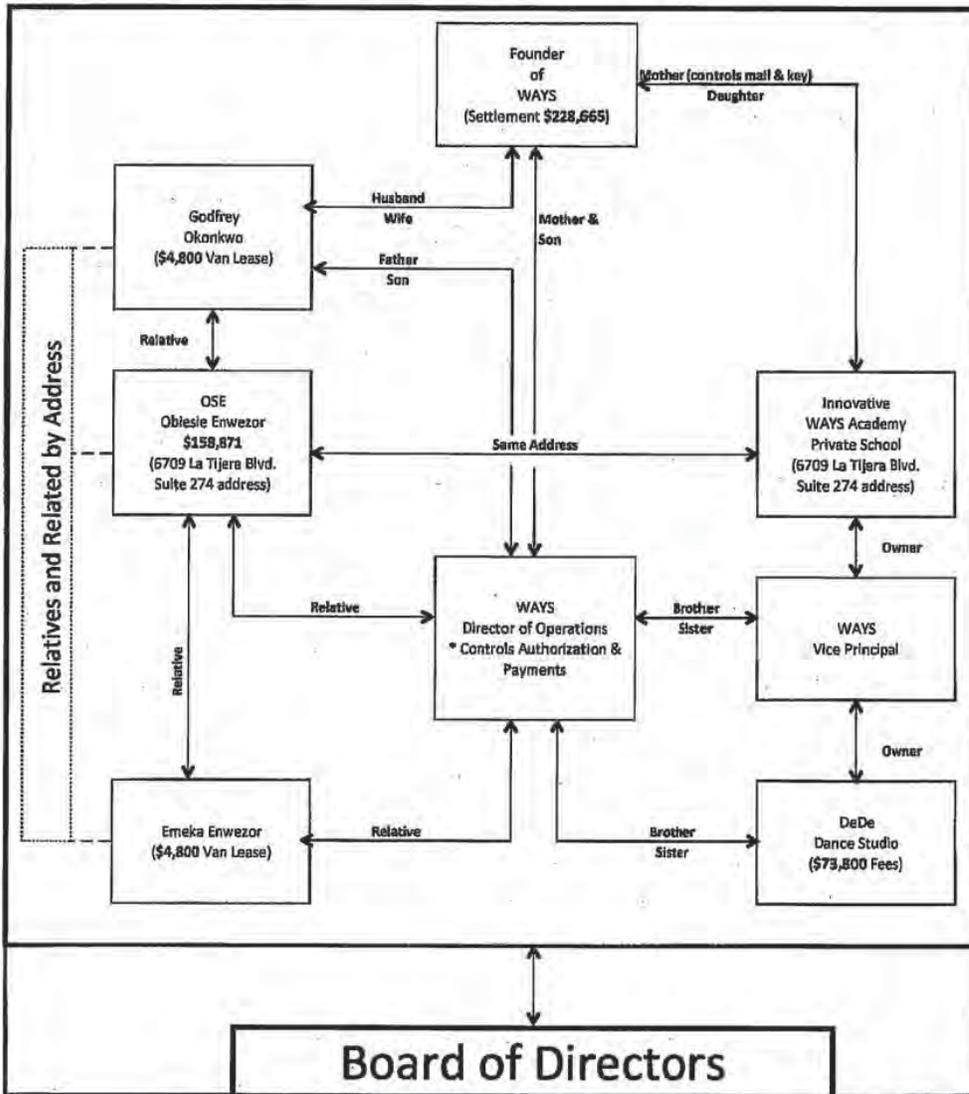

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND DISBURSEMENTS

Innovative WAYS Academy address at 6709 La Tijera Blvd, Suite 274,
Los Angeles, California 90045.

4. The director of operations and WAYS vice principal are brother and sister and are children of the founder/former executive director and Godfrey Okonkwo.
5. LACOE engaged the services of a private investigator following written and verbal complaints that the vice principal of WAYS was working at Innovative WAYS Academy, her private middle school of which she was the executive director. Direct surveillance and video on 16 separate occasions between March 5, 2013 and April 22, 2013 revealed that the WAYS vice principal spent 29.5 hours at her private middle school while employed full time at WAYS.
6. The WAYS vice principal is the owner of Innovative WAYS Academy private middle school, and a non-profit corporation known as DeDe Dance Studio.
 - a. DeDe Dance Studio was paid a total of $73,800 by WAYS between April 2009 and April 2013.
 - b. The address of DeDe Dance Studio is reported in the DeDe Dance Studio 2010 and 2011 nonprofit tax returns as 706 East Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, CA, which is the same address as the WAYS primary school site and administrative offices location.
 - c. The director of operations and brother of the WAYS vice principal and owner of DeDe Dance Studio authorized the checks from WAYS totaling $73,800 that were paid to DeDe Dance Studio.
 - d. During the team interview of the WAYS vice principal on November 15, 2013, she stated that DeDe Dance Studio was paid from the ASES program funds for dance study during the after school program and that 10 volunteers are present for the dance activities. She further stated that there was also a manager present; however, the team did not observe students present in that facility during the fieldwork days. FCMAT also observed postings in the DeDe dance studio indicating that DeDe Dance studio has a check payment policy for payments and nonsufficient funds checks at the studio located at the WAYS property address.
 - e. DeDe Dance Studio is operated at and identifies the business location as the WAYS school site. The team was unable to determine that any offsetting rent for the facility was paid by DeDe Dance Studio to WAYS.
 - f. The DeDe Dance Studio nonprofit tax returns for 2010 and 2011 do not identify any rent paid expense activity, including rent for occupying the same facility as the WAYS school site or for facilities use as DeDe Dance Studio services where dance instruction allegedly occurred at the WAYS school site.

TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

The relationships and related parties are presented in the following table:

WAYS Irregular Purchase and Sale of Lexus

During FCMAT's meetings and fieldwork in November 2013 at the WAYS back office provider, the team discussed WAYS Lexus payments of $891.94 per month identified in the WAYS accounting records. The WAYS back office service provider stated they had been requesting backup documentation for the Lexus transaction from the director of operations but never have received any.

The back office provider was unable to determine if the Lexus payments were for a leased vehicle or purchase that should be capitalized and depreciated.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFORMATION

In an email dated Friday, November 29, 2013, FCMAT requested information about the Lexus from the director of operations:

- The original board approval documentation and minutes authorizing the purchase of the Lexus,
- Original Lexus purchase/lease documents,
- The board approval documentation and minutes authorizing the sale of the Lexus,
- The analysis that would have provided the WAYS board establishing the financial profitability, viability, or reasoning for the purchase and subsequent sale of the Lexus,
- Copies of any Lexus payoff documentation,
- Copies of any Lexus proposed sale documentation.

The director of operations replied to the FCMAT November 29, 2013 request for Lexus information in an email dated Friday, January 10, 2014; however, the information provided was incomplete. Based on the information received from the director of operations, FCMAT has determined that the 2011 Lexus RX350 was purchased for $41,163.45 on August 19, 2012, to be used by the director of operations. The payments of $891.94 per month started October 3, 2012 for 47 months, at 1.90% annual percentage rate. The WAYS board approval for the purchase of the Lexus dated July 31, 2012 states, "Be it Resolved, that the Board of Directors of this corporation ... authorize the Executive Director or designee to enter into a lease or purchase agreement for a vehicle for school use behalf of said corporation." The current executive director of WAYS issued a letter dated August 6, 2012 authorizing the director of operations to "... lease or purchase a vehicle for school use ..."

The Lexus purchase analysis provided to the team by the director of operations is titled Capital Expense Analysis.

- The Capital Expense Analysis identifies two separate dates, July 2012 and August 2013, and is not attached to the WAYS board minutes or agenda as a document reviewed by the WAYS board.
- The Capital Expense Analysis fails to include any vehicle cost and/or terms of the Lexus and fails to identify that the vehicle is a Lexus only identifying the item as "SUV or Sedan (Vehicle)." Without any cost or terms of the Lexus purchase or specifically identifying the vehicle as a Lexus, the WAYS board may not have had sufficient information to make an informed decision regarding the purchase of the Lexus.
- The Capital Expense Analysis fails to identify if the vehicle will be capitalized as an asset or is a vehicle lease.
- The Capital Expense Analysis states, "Merle Williamson Foundation (MWF) may provide the Administrative Personnel an automobile vehicle and operating expenses for the use of conducting MWF business and reasonable personal use."
- The WAYS July 31, 2012 minutes omit the authorization to use the Lexus for personal use and omit language in the minutes that MWF or WAYS has agreed to pay for the vehicle and operating expenses.

ANY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

- Since the WAYS Board July 31, 2012 minutes and the Capital Expense Analysis wording differ, FCMAT cannot confirm that the Capital Expense Analysis was ever presented to the WAYS board.

The WAYS executive team failed to provide any information about the Lexus purchase to the WAYS back office provider so the back office service provider could properly account for the Lexus as a purchase, which would have resulted in capitalizing the Lexus in accordance with GAAP. The current executive director of WAYS and the director of operations failed to obtain WAYS governing board approval prior to selling the Lexus.

The sale of the Lexus as identified in the Capital Expense Analysis presents significant irregularities:

- a. The vehicle identity is not disclosed as a Lexus.
- b. Failure to disclose any Blue Book and/or fair market values of the Lexus.
- c. Failure to disclose the beginning and ending Lexus odometer reading.
- d. Failure to disclose if the Lexus had been in any accidents, if the maintenance was up to date, and what condition the Lexus was currently in such as excellent, good, fair, or poor condition, all of which are factors in avoiding any potential post sales liabilities.
 - i. Based on the documents provided by WAYS, the team determined that the WAYS management team failed to disclose the Lexus Blue Book values as potentially excellent, $28,872; very good, $28,072; good, $27,172 and fair, $24,872.
 - ii. The director of operations failed to provide any documentation explaining how the sales value of the Lexus was determined to be sold at $26,000 rather than at values of good, very good, or excellent.
- e. Failure to disclose the estimated gains or loss on the sale of the Lexus.
- f. Failure to present an amortization schedule showing the principal payments and remaining payoff on the Lexus as of the estimated date of the sale.
- g. Failure to disclose if the sale of the Lexus would be confined to California or sold out of state.

Because the governing board was not provided any specific information as described above, FCMAT cannot determine how the governing board would be able to determine that the sale of the Lexus was a proper transaction for approval.

The WAYS board approval authorized the "vehicle for school use" but did not identify the type of vehicle or that the vehicle was for the explicit use of the director of operations. FCMAT had observed the director of operations using the Lexus as his own personal vehicle. The team's audit of WAYS' American Express credit card statements reveal that vehicle fuel receipts failed to list to which vehicle the fuel receipts were attributable; therefore, the team cannot determine if the fuel receipts were for WAYS vehicles or if WAYS was subsidizing personal fuel costs of WAYS employees and management.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFORMATION

The team has determined that the sale of the Lexus resulted in a ($4,187) loss to WAYS. The purchase price of the Lexus was $41,163 on August 19, 2012 and the Bill of Sale dated December 17, 2013 states that the Lexus was sold for $26,000 to an individual in Canada. The Lexus was owned by WAYS for approximately 16 months between August 19, 2012 and December 17, 2013. Depreciation of the vehicle is calculated over five years or 60 months at $686 per month, and accumulated depreciation over 16 months is calculated as $10,976.

The approximate net loss of $4,187 on the sale of the Lexus is calculated as:

- Purchase Price $41,163
- Less Accumulated Depreciation ($10,976)
- Book Value $30,187
- Less Selling Price of $26,000
- Net Loss on Sale of Lexus ($4,187)

The sale of the Lexus also resulted in a net loss of cash of $4,345 because the amount of principal paid down as calculated by FCMAT based on an amortization of 16 months, interest rate of 1.9% is $10,818. The original purchase price of the Lexus of $41,163 less the principal paid on the Lexus loan of $10,818 leaves an approximate payoff balance of $30,345. The payoff to Toyota Motor Corporation of $30,345 less the selling price of $26,000 results in an estimated cash loss of $4,345.

WAYS Failed to Obtain Governing Board Approved for Purchase of Computers and Issued an Irregular Payment

During FCMAT's meetings and fieldwork in November 2013 at the WAYS back office provider, the team discussed two payments to WAYS vendor Avatar Technology for a $37,986.51 purchase of computers dated January 23, 2012 and a $358.75 purchase dated February 10, 2012, totaling $38,345.26. The back office provider stated that the Avatar invoices received from the director of operations did not include governing board approval documents for this transaction.

The team examined the WAYS check request authorized by the director of operations and the vendor invoice documentation for the $37,986.51 paid to Avatar, and found several irregularities:

- The January 23, 2012 Avatar invoice stated that the purchase was for 85 "Legerro 13.3" items at $410 per item, with a total invoice price including sales tax of $37,540.63.
- The amount authorized by the director of operations to be paid to the computer vendor in the WAYS check request was $37,986.51.
- The difference between the computer vendor invoice of $37,540.63 and the amount WAYS paid to the computer vendor of $37,986.51 is $445.88.
- The check request authorized for payment by the director of operations identifies an additional amount of $445.88, which the team believes to be one additional computer.

In an email dated Friday, November 29, 2013, the team requested documentation from the director of operations of the governing board authorization, board agenda identifying the item for action on the agenda or any other documentation to support the purchase of the computers. His reply on Friday, January 10, 2014 states that:

WAYS' FINANCIAL ACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

"I was unable to locate any Board documentation regarding the purchase of the Avatar Computers. However, I can attest that the Board was fully aware of the purchase before it was executed and after they were purchased. I've attached the newsletter showing our students using the computers."

Based on the information the team received from the director of operations, the team has determined that there are several irregularities concerning the purchase of computers authorized by the director of operations:

1. The WAYS board was not properly notified by the director of operations' decision to purchase computers totaling $38,345.26.
2. There are no requests for quotes or for proposals.
3. There is no documentation of computers specifications.
4. The authorization for payment to Avatar by the director of operations in excess of the invoiced amount totaling $445.88 cannot be located.
5. The transaction lacks governing board approval and lacks supporting documentation for payment.
6. The team cannot confirm if the computers presented by the director of operations in a newsletter are in fact the computers purchased from Avatar.

WAYS Automobile Fuel Purchase Irregularities

The team examined WAYS fuel purchases, which consist of receipts for fuel from Costco Gas, Chevron, Shell Oil, Union 76, Exxon Mobil, and Valero gas stations. Over a two-year period from July 1, 2011 through June 30, 2013, according to the WAYS accounting records, the total paid for fuel and mileage reimbursements was approximately $18,261.

The team calculated that over the two-year period, the amount spent on mileage reimbursement and other non-fuel expenses was approximately $2,305. Removing the mileage reimbursement and other non-fuel expenses of $2,305 from the total fuel cost of $18,261 left a remaining net fuel cost of $15,956. The team calculated that $15,956 in fuel purchases during WAYS fiscal years 2011-12 and 2012-13 at an estimated $3.79 per gallon represents 3,989 gallons ($15,956 / $3.79 per gallon = 4,210 gallons) of fuel used or approximately 175 gallons of fuel per month (4,210 gallons / 24 months = 175 gallons per month).

The $3.79 per gallon price was calculated by the team based on fuel cost data from www.gasbuddy.com for the Los Angeles, California area. The price of fuel in Los Angeles at July 2011 was $3.79/gallon, June 2012 at $3.60/gallon, and June 2013 at $3.97/gallon. The average price per gallon between July 2011 and June 2013 was $3.79 per gallon $($3.79 + $3.60 + $3.97) / 3 = \3.79 per gallon).

The non-board approved and unsigned Emeka Enwezor van lease identifies the van as a 1995 Ford model E-350 van. The team researched the fuel economy of a 1995 Ford model E-350 van at www.motortrend.com and found that the van's fuel economy is 13 miles per gallon in the city, and 16 miles per gallon on the highway. Using the fuel economy of the van of 13 miles per gallon and 175 gallons of fuel per month represents that the WAYS vehicles traveled 2,275 miles per month for school business purposes. Students attending WAYS' three charter school sites reside in the local neighborhoods and all three school sites are within a mile or two of each other. The mileage of 2,275 per month is excessive based on the location of the students and school sites.

The team was unable to determine if the fuel that WAYS management charged to the WAYS American Express credit cards was for official WAYS school business. Based on the examined fuel receipts, the team was unable to determine if any of the WAYS fuel purchases and fuel usage of an average 175 gallons per month were for personal vehicles or for personal trips because WAYS' accounting for fuel purchases fails to identify in the fuel receipts which vehicle and business purpose each receipt represents.

Failure by the management team of WAYS to document fuel purchases represents accounting irregularities, because the fuel purchases the team examined as reported by the executive management team and paid with the American Express credit card cannot be reconciled to any specific vehicle of WAYS.

WAYS Charter School Summary of Related and Irregular Transactions

The table below is a compilation of payments made through WAYS to the founder/former executive director, family members of the founder and close associates. Many of these payments were authorized by the director of operations and the current executive director (former board president.)

Fuel Purchases	7/1/2011 - 6/30/2013	Fuel	15,956
Total			$2,673,805

The above transactions represent significant influence that the WAYS founder/former executive director, family of the founder and close associates had over financial decisions that personally benefitted them. Several of these transactions were authorized for payment by the director of operations, who is the son of the founder/former executive director, and the current executive director (the former board president) and gave these individuals the ability to simultaneously control and benefit from these transactions. The lack of documentation to support transactions through board approval and records creates the perception of fraud, misappropriation of assets and possible criminal activity.

There is little evidence of responsible governance by the board and clearly a lack of fiscal accountability by the administration. The governing board has failed and often been prevented from its ability to maintain and exercise its responsibilities, authority, and control.

Prevention and Detection

As previously mentioned, the internal control environment includes ethical values and integrity displayed by the governing board and management as well as the underlying tone set by the organization's site administrators. The tone of the organization set by management through its words and actions demonstrates to others that dishonest or unethical behavior will not be tolerated. An atmosphere in which employees feel safe to communicate concerns is a fundamental component of a strong and effective internal control environment.

The control environment is an essential element and provides the foundation for other internal controls to be effective in achieving the goals and objectives to prevent and/or deter fraud or illegal acts. Regular external audits are a strong deterrent to mismanagement and fraud, but they cannot serve as the only method of ensuring accountability. It is imperative for the county office and WAYS governing board to review the findings and recommendations of this audit to implement the appropriate internal controls and hold the responsible parties accountable for their actions.

Internal controls clearly are among the most important aspects of any fraud prevention program. Managers are in a position of authority and therefore have a higher standard of care to establish the ethical tone and serve as examples to other employees. Employees with administrative responsibility have a fiduciary duty to the organization in the course of their employment to ensure that those activities are conducted in compliance with all applicable board policies, laws, regulations, and standards of conduct. Management personnel are entrusted to safeguard the charter's assets and ensure that internal controls function as intended. Relatives of employees should not be employed on a permanent or part time basis by the charter where the relative reports directly to the employee or the employee exercises any direct influence with regard to the relative's hiring, salary placement, promotions, evaluations or pay increases.

While the governing board and all employees in the organization have some responsibility for internal controls, the founder/former executive director and family members and close associates holding key administrative positions had a fiduciary duty and responsibility to make certain that the assurances in the charter petition and the governing board fiscal policies and procedures were conducted responsibly and ethically.

Based on the evidence presented to FCMAT, there is sufficient documentation to demonstrate that fraud, mismanagement and misappropriation of the charter school funds and assets may have occurred. There exists a significant material weakness in the charter school's internal control environment, which increases the probability of fraud and/or abuse. These findings should be of great concern to the WAYS governing board and the LACOE governing board and require immediate intervention to limit the risk of fraud and/or misappropriation of assets in the future.

In accordance with Education Code Section 42638(b), action by the county superintendent shall include the following:

If the county superintendent determines that there is evidence that fraud or misappropriation of funds has occurred, the county superintendent shall notify the governing board of the charter school, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the local district attorney.

Recommendation

The county superintendent should:

1. Notify the governing board of WAYS charter school, LACOE's governing board, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the local district attorney that fraud, misappropriation of assets or other illegal activities may have occurred.

FISCAL CRISIS & MANAGEMENT ASSISTANCE TEAM
AB139 STUDY AGREEMENT
May 20, 2013

The Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT), hereinafter referred to as the team, and the Los Angeles County Office of Education, hereinafter referred to as the COE, mutually agree as follows:

1. BASIS OF AGREEMENT

The team provides a variety of services to school districts and county offices of education upon request. Pursuant to the provisions of Education Code Section 1241.5 (b), a county superintendent of schools may review or audit the expenditures and internal controls of any school in his or her county if he or she has reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices have occurred that merit examination. The extraordinary audits conducted by the county superintendent shall be focused on the alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices and shall be conducted in a timely and efficient manner.

All work shall be performed in accordance with the terms and conditions of this agreement.

2. SCOPE OF THE WORK

A. Scope and Objectives of the Study

The COE has requested that the team assign professionals to conduct an AB 139 extraordinary audit of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists. Per Education Code Section 1241.5 (b), (c), the superintendent has reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal practices may have occurred.

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School conducts business as a California nonprofit organization. In addition to the authority granted under Education Code sections 1241.5 (c) and 47604.3, the county superintendent may conduct an investigation of the charter school based on written complaints by parents or other information that justifies the review.

The primary focus of this review will be to provide the county office with reasonable assurances, based on the testing performed, that adequate management and internal controls are in place for the reporting and monitoring of financial transactions, and that fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities have not occurred.

Internal controls include the processes for planning, organizing, directing and controlling program operations, including systems for measuring, reporting and monitoring performance. The receipt of cash and/or cash transactions, payroll, purchasing, and accounts payable are high-risk areas in which potential fraud and issues such as nonexistent employees or vendors, or misappropriation of assets including cash, may be detected. This review's objectives will include evaluation of policies, procedures, internal controls and transactions performed by the charter school.

Testing for this review will be based on sample selections from the current and one prior fiscal year; it will not include all transactions and records for this period. Sample testing and review results are intended to provide reasonable but not absolute assurance regarding the accuracy of the charter school's financial transactions and activity to accomplish the following:

- Prevent internal controls from being overridden by management.
- Ensure ongoing state and federal compliance.
- Provide assurance to management that the internal control system is sound.
- Help identify and correct inefficient processes.
- Ensure that employees are aware of internal control expectations.

The team's review of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will include, but not be limited to, the items below. The team will do the following:

1. Evaluate the charter school's internal control structure, policies and procedures to test transactions and reporting processes to determine if adequate procedures are in place to safeguard assets, including physical objects, charter school data, and intellectual property.

Evaluation of policies and procedures will include the following:

- i. Review compliance with policies and procedures including, but not limited to, those related to human resources, finance, purchasing, granting agencies, and state and federal government programs and funding.
 - ii. Review document and records retention procedures to determine whether the charter school provides reasonable assurance that asset records are safeguarded and transactions are correctly recorded.
2. Evaluate the reliability and integrity of information used for internal management decisions and external agency reports.
 3. Determine if authorization procedures are appropriate and consistently followed. Review administrator and manager approvals and whether signature authority is delegated only to authorized employees.

4. Determine whether proper segregation of duties exists. The team will evaluate personnel, payroll, accounts payable and cash transactions, and will do the following:
 - i. Review the authorization process for cash receipts
 - ii. Determine if protective measures are in place for safeguarding assets, processes and data.
 - iii. Determine whether safe combinations are changed periodically and anytime a staff member who knows the combination terminates employment.
5. Evaluate reporting processes. The team will do the following:
 - i. Evaluate monitoring and verify that controls are operating properly.
 - ii. Evaluate controls that prevent management from overriding internal controls and thus prevent the potential misappropriation of funds.
 - iii. Evaluate whether clearly established lines of authority and responsibility exist within and between departments for proper review and reporting purposes, and if these are shown on organizational charts.

B. Services and Products to be Provided

1. Orientation Meeting - The team will conduct an orientation session at the charter to brief management and supervisory personnel on the team's procedures and the purpose and schedule of the study.
2. On-site Review - The team will conduct an on-site review at the charter office and at school sites if necessary; and will continue to review pertinent documents off-site.

Dear Dr. Delgado:

We are responding to information and allegations contained in the FCMAT audit on this date, as you have improperly demanded. You are not following Education Code section 1241.5, in that you have not communicated any findings or recommendations for us to respond to. Rather, your staff emailed the FCMAT audit to our individual board members with no explanation or recommendations. We sent you a letter explaining that you have 45 days to report your findings and recommendations, if any, to the WAYS Board. You have not done so, and you have not provided any findings or recommendations whatsoever. Instead, your staff responded by stating that LACOE will present its report at our board meeting later this month, but demanded that we “respond” to that future report now. We cannot see into the future and anticipate what your determinations and/or findings might be—and your demand that we guess is improper. Education Code section 1241.5 requires that we respond to your determinations and recommendations within 15 days after you present them. Your initial letter from staff was correct in that regard. Your initial letter made no mention of a Saturday April 5 deadline. It correctly stated that WAYS must respond to the superintendent’s report of findings and recommendations made to our board 15 days thereafter. But now, your staff is inexplicably demanding that we respond today (a Saturday no less) to findings and recommendations you have not yet made, and may never make. You are failing to proceed in the manner required by the statute, and we have stated that to you twice now.

Because we cannot respond to your findings or recommendations that you have not provided us, this letter and attachments instead are in response to the alleged deficiencies identified by FCMAT in its audit. Notably, the FCMAT audit does not conclusively state any factual findings or determinations whatsoever. Nor does the audit make any recommendations whatsoever to WAYS. Rather, the audit concludes with its starting point—a “suspicion” that WAYS and/or its officials committed “fraud” or other “illegal activities”. Rather than provide any factual findings, the audit identifies billing irregularities and misstates the circumstances and/or significance surrounding several transactions. For example, FCMAT incorrectly implies that there is something illegal or wrong about a WAYS employee participating in and/or founding a nonprofit corporation that serves children who may also attend WAYS. Nothing could be further from the truth. By definition, there is no conflict of interest for such service to nonprofit public benefit corporations. Similarly, there is no “eternal prohibition” against former employees from having financial transactions with WAYS. While true that there appears to have a conflict several years ago when WAYS leased property owned by a person who was then then executive director, any such conflict was long ago cured (at the Los Angeles County Board of Education’s direction and approval) when the former executive director was separated from employment. There is no unlawful conflict or “fraud” evidenced by WAYS leasing property from the former executive director; and FCMAT did not (and cannot) conclude otherwise.

Also notable is that the FCMAT audit report erroneously states that “WAYS is a tightly held small public charter school operation founded and primarily operated by one family and close associates.” This statement is plainly untrue, and reflects a fundamental misunderstanding of nonprofit corporations. WAYS is a small public charter school formed and operated entirely under the California Nonprofit Public Benefit Corporations Law. It was founded by the former executive director, governed by robust nonprofit corporate board of directors composed of members of the community, and is operated by professional teachers, and administration.

Another strange item in the FCMAT audit relates to LAUSD—an allegation with no explanation or evidence. The auditor appears to not understand how Proposition 39 works, or the SB740 rent reimbursement program (not even mentioned in the audit). The FCMAT audit report states, “WAYS’ governing board failed to disclose that LAUSD had awarded facilities under a Proposition 39 request for facilities on April 1, 2011. Subsequent to the approval for facilities by LAUSD that could have alleviated conflict of interest concerns, WAYS did not respond to LAUSD to indicate acceptance of the offer.” First and foremost, there is no requirement that a charter school “disclose” or “accept” Proposition 39 facilities. In fact, many charter schools within LAUSD do not accept the district’s Prop 39 offers, because their commercial options are more practical for the schools, especially if they serve large free and reduce meal populations. FCMAT appears to think that Prop 39 is free—it’s not. It’s very expensive in LAUSD. In 2011, only about half the schools that received Prop 39 offers from LAUSD accepted them. The state’s SB 740 rent reimbursement does not pay for Prop 39. Often in LAUSD, Prop 39 offers are much expensive than commercial space. In WAYS case, acceptance of Prop 39 space would render us completely ineligible for SB740 rent reimbursement. So, moving to Prop 39 space would in reality be at least twice as expensive to the school’s bottom line. In any event, WAYS did in fact dialogue with LAUSD about the Prop 39 space. LAUSD denied the charter renewal in March 2011. LACOE did not approve the renewal until June 7, 2011—more than a month after the regulatory deadline for Prop 39 acceptance. LAUSD acknowledged WAYS response on July 6, 2011. There is nothing “fraudulent” about any of that.

These examples demonstrate that while the FCMAT audit may provide some useful information for LACOE and WAYS to consider, much of it is incorrect or incomplete in facts and circumstances. That is why it is beholden on the superintendent to make findings and recommendations to WAYS as required by the statute. If the LACOE Superintendent believes that findings and/or recommendations are in order as a result of the FCMAT audit, he should present that in a report to the WAYS Board within 45 days as is required by statute. WAYS would very much appreciate a meaningful opportunity to consider and adopt LACOE’s recommendations, if any. But at this point, LACOE has not provided any findings or recommendations whatsoever as a result of the FCMAT audit.

Attached is a table responding to statements made in the FCMAT audit. Supportive evidence is attached as exhibits.

Sincerely,

Edward Cabil
Executive Director

The LACOE superintendent inappropriately refers to the scurrilous email addressed the executive director as 'a written complaint received by LACOE from a former board member'. On January 31, 2014 the WAYS executive director, on behalf of the governing board, provided LACOE a detailed written response to the LACOE superintendent's concerns stated in the notice of concern letter (Exhibit 16). In the response letter, the executive director verified that the former board member's email that was an internal communication intended for him, not address to LACOE, and indicated that he investigated the claims asserted in the former board member's letter, as well as a grievance letter from the director of operations, which provided a different view of the incident that occurred on October 24, 2013. Furthermore, the executive director explained that the November 21, 2013 board meeting was cancelled, because the agenda was not posted in accordance with the Brown Act. To date, WAYS has not received any inquiry or response from the LACOE staff regarding this matter. WAYS management did not cancel or cause any major disruptions that ended board meetings prematurely. Evidently the statement in the FCMAT Audit Report, was based on the scurrilous email addressed to the WAYS executive director, on January 25, 2014, from a former disgruntled Board Member who was voted off of the WAYS board by a majority board vote, subsequent to the WAYS school site council recommendation to the board of directors to remove the former board member and her counterpart from the WAYS governing Board for several reasons outlined in the school site councils resolution dated January 23, 2014 (Exhibit 17). The independent audit and reports for fiscal years ending June 30, 2011, and June 30, 2012, were conducted and written by the same audit firm. Specifically: 2011) In the independent audit report year ending June 30, 2011, the audit firm identified 6 material findings. In the summary of this report auditors gave WAYS an unqualified opinion. 2012) In the independent audit report year ending June 30, 2012, the audit firm identified only 2 material findings. In the summary of this report auditors gave WAYS an unqualified opinion. WAYS changed its audit firm in 2013, to audit the fiscal year ending June 30, 2013. Audit Firms are likely to have different philosophy and approach to the audit process, all toward the same purpose of ensuring that the financial statements are fairly presented. When such change occurs, it is very possible that unusual findings will arise, which is within the intent of the independent audit report. 2013) In the independent audit report year ending June 30, 2013, the audit firm identified 7 material findings and issued WAYS a qualified opinion. The report exaggerates 15 findings referenced in the audit report, which were issued over three years. Instead, the audit report suggests, “Several of these findings have not been addressed by the governing board.” In fact, only 2 of the categories of were repeated over three years. Moreover, the details of the findings were different in each of the reports for three years. Technically, there are no findings, which were repeated over three consecutive years; therefore the FCMAT audit report’s suggestions are inaccurate and exaggerated in efforts to implicate the WAYS board and management. When the FCMAT team inquired about the lease payments that were made to toward the van lease, the WAYS director of operations specifically stated “The van lease reimbursement was paid to Mr. Okonkwo in fiscal year 2010-11, lease paid to Mr. Enwezor in fiscal year 2011-12, and the van was finally donated	Exhibit 38: Vehicle Donation Letter from Emeka Enwezor

According to the documentation provided to WAYS and subsequently provided to the FCMAT audit team, The address for the former van owner is 953 west 45th street, which is not in any way similar to that of any vendor, the initial van owner, the former executive director, the director of operations, and the vice principal. Moreover, the statements made in the FCMAT audit report discredits the integrity of WAYS management, and its conflicts of interest policy (Exhibit 39) and financial policies and procedures (Exhibit 40), and governance structure (Exhibit 13), which specifically provide for arm’s length transactions, and full disclosure. The WAYS financial procedures specifically identify the executive director as the person who approves checks. The director of operations is permitted to sign checks in rare unusual occasions, when the executive director is not capable of doing so. The misleading illustration published on page 39 FCMAT audit report attempts to unfairly implicate the WAYS director of operations as the center of connections with several independent individuals who are somehow connected with an unidentified “Board of Directors”. To the extent that this illustration does not verify a specific problem, it is misleading and should be considered immaterial.	Exhibit 39: WAYS Conflict of Interest Policy Exhibit 40: WAYS Financial Policies and Procedures Exhibit 13: WAYS Governance Structure

FCMAT and LACOE fail to provide the objective of securing private investigation services to "stalk" the vice principal. The only finding of from "stalking" the vice principal was that she was observed at the private middle school for 29.5 hours during the 48 day period. First, in accordance with the California Education Code, the WAYS approved charter states "The Charter School, as the LEA, shall be ultimately responsible for determining how to respond to parent concerns or complaints." LACOE consistently failed to comply with the terms set forth by California Education Code by refusing to notify WAYS management of complaints made against the school or its personnel, in accordance with the due process procedures regarding complaints set forth in the WAYS charter. Historically, LACOE repeatedly ignored WAYS request for evidence of the written and verbal complaints LACOE claims to have received. The FCMAT audit report provides the first clue that there was any complaint regarding the WAYS vice principal. Moreover, the FCMAT audit report fails to disclose that the 48-day period, in which LACOE employed "private investigative services" to stalk the vice principal, include weekends, federal holidays, and 5 weekdays in which WAYS was closed for spring break. During the 48 –day period the vice-principal hosted a number of events at the location of the private middle school, which required planning and rehearsals. The nonprofit corporation has no owners whatsoever—it’s a nonprofit public benefit corporation. On an unpaid-volunteer basis, the stakeholders operate the non-profit. No person, including the WAYS vice principal, “owns” any financial interest in the non-profit organization as the FCMAT audit report erroneously suggests. Furthermore, the DeDe Dance Studio program operates in Building A of the WAYS Manchester Campus. After being notified on October 30, 2013 that the FCMAT audit fieldwork days would take place on November 13-15, 2013, WAYS management reserved the Building A to accommodate the audit team for the time-period of their site visit. During the FCMAT team’s fieldwork days, the team occupied the WAYS Manchester Campus buildings A and C. The FCMAT introduction interview with the executive director and director of operations took place in Building A. During that meeting, the executive director presented several large photos that decorate the interior walls throughout the school building and identified them as pictures of current and former WAYS students who benefited from DeDe Dance Studio program by participating in events that range from volunteer work in the community to an annual grand Debutante and Beaux Formal Ball.	Exhibit 43: DeDe Dance Studio Non-Profit 501(c)(3) organization letter. The file contains the original Retail Installment Sale Contract and amortization schedule showing the principal payments and remaining payoff on the Lexus, which the back office provider should have used to properly account for the Lexus in accordance with GAAP. The complete file containing the originals was returned to the director of operations on August 23, 2013, after the back office provider had completed copying the original documents for their files. Furthermore, precisely same file containing all original purchase documentation for the Lexus was provided to FCMAT on January 10, 2014 in the email response from the director of operations to the FCMAT audit team (Exhibit 32), and made available to during their fieldwork visit in November 2013. Moreover, the capital lease expense analysis was provided in the WAYS board meetings on July 31, 2012, September 26, 2013, and February 3, 2014. Additionally, the audit report does not describe or provide the criteria that FCMAT used to determine that they observed the director of operations using the Lexus as his own personal vehicle, which is an incredibly subjective and immaterial	Exhibit 32: WAYS Director of Operations email to FCMAT dated January 10, 2014

Dear Mr. Kwan:

Pursuant to the Public Records Act, Government Code section 6250 et seq., this letter constitutes a request for inspection and copying of Los Angeles County Office of Education ("LACOE") public records related to the Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists ("WAYS").

On March 19, 2014, the CSIS Fiscal Crisis & Management Assistance Team ("FCMAT") released a final report on an Assembly Bill 139 extraordinary audit of WAYS performed by FCMAT at the direction of LACOE. Mr. Joaquin Hernandez, Coordinator for the Charter School Office, reviewed the report with the County Board, including background information, renewal requirements, renewal criteria, academic criteria in comparison to resident schools, academic criteria in comparison to comparable district schools, renewal requirements, and ability to implement.

There were several speakers who spoke in support of Aspire AMLA: Ms. Kate Ford, Ms. Sandra Kim, Ms. Elise Darwish, Ms. Norma Santiago; Ms. Maria Duran, Ms. Yolanda Garcia; Ms. Triny Nolasca; Mr. Alfredo Gonzalez; Ms. Rocio Aguilar; Mr. Cesar Martinez; and Ms. Gabriela Martinez.

There were several speakers who spoke in support of Aspire Ollin: Mr. Joel Ramirez; Mr. Alfredo Gonzalez; Ms. Rocio Aguilar; Ms. Solemi Rodriguez; Ms. Olivia Castaneda; Mr. Edgar Quintero; Ms. Emily Campos; Ms. Kate Spence; Mr. Timothy Gomez; Ms. Maria Martinez.

Aspire Public Schools provided a School Report – Parent Survey, Spring 2013 for the County Board's review.

A discussion by the County Board followed.

Mr. Saenz asked if the County Board would consider asking questions and acting on the Recommendations for both Aspire schools prior to going to the next charter school item. He asked if staff would be able to review the conditions in the particular Elements in the Recommendations for each charter school.

Dr. Calderon indicated that after reading the reports for both charter schools, he wanted to make a statement that he was shocked at the position of the LAUSD Board. He said that both charter schools have a sound educational program and that LAUSD turning down a petition because the school was exercising their right to participate in a Special Education Local Plan other than LAUSD SELPA, was no reason to deny petitions.

Mr. Boyd agreed with Dr. Calderon's statement and said that LAUSD not only violated the law but that they let down the kids at those schools. Mr. Boyd said that he recently visited Aspire and was very impressed with what he saw. He said there is a lot of positive reinforcement and an exceptional educational program.

Ms. Braude said she was inspired by the presentation. She asked about Element 7, Means to Achieve a Reflective Racial and Ethnic Balance. She asked what steps are being taken to address this issue.

Mr. Hernandez indicated that there is a legal requirement to have a plan in place to reflect the area of attendance. The plan that is currently in place does not show that there is a process to do that. The plan is being rewritten to address some of the benchmark language needed to show that there would be an effort to do that. The Charter School Office would like to see a plan in place with a process.

Los Angeles County Board of Education
Minutes of April 15, 2014

Mr. Saenz agreed with the other County Board members regarding LAUSD inappropriateness and the legality in denying Aspire's Charter petitions solely on the issue of going to another SELPA provider and not LAUSD. He expressed a strong hope that someone will take action so that LAUSD does not continue to do that to other schools.

Mr. Saenz asked if the established conditions and timelines were shared with the school and if both schools could meet the timelines specified.

Ms. Ford indicated that the timeline is reasonable and can be accomplished by Aspire.

Dr. Reisler asked if the responsibility is to look carefully at all of the schools and help the County Board and point out that it would not be wise to authorize a charter school.

Mr. Hernandez indicated that it is the CSO's responsibility to inform the County Board of good schools and those that are lacking. He said that they take their responsibility seriously and that staff set aside any preferences. Mr. Hernandez shared CSO staff experience and indicated that because of the varied levels of experience, staff is very neutral on how they review petitions, how they reflect upon the law and whether a school would be a good school for kids in the area.

All expenditures will match budget expectations. Revenue from any Federal or State sources will be committed in accordance with all specific federal/state laws or requirements applicable.

3. Policy Number Three: Purchase and Other Procurement Procedures-Formal bidding procedures will be used for service and other contracts anticipated to cost more than $10,000 (ten thousand dollars). Specification and bidding requirements should include:
 - Specifications to be prepared by the administration
 - Specifications to be approved by the Board

 - All bids to be submitted in sealed envelopes and plainly marked as indicated in the bid specifications

- Reimbursement forms must be approved by the Executive Director, the supervisor, and signed by the recipient.

- The petty cash account should be reconciled monthly. When the petty cash account is reconciled, the appropriate expense account should be charged in the school's general ledger. Once reconciled, request for replenishment can be processed.
- The Director of Operations should review petty cash transactions and make periodic counts of petty cash fund
- The petty cash account may not be used to cash payroll checks or other personal checks.

The effects of decisions regarding types of borrowing, covenants and terms, interest rates, and payment structure directly impact the school's ability to continue operation.

- The Executive Director is responsible for administering and maintaining the school's current obligations under direction of the Board. The finance committee should meet with the Executive Director and Board regarding the status of the school's existing debt and to make specific recommendations.
- No new debt should be incurred without approval of the Board.
- Advance written notification of all borrowings should be provided to LACOE as per the current MOU requirements.
- All approved annual budgets should include timely repayment of all outstanding debt, or include a reasonable repayment plan for such debt if timely repayment is not possible.

Dr. Delgado:

This letter is intended to notify you of the WAYS Board of Directors proposed response to your April 25, 2014 recommendations arising from the FCMAT audit dated March 19, 2014. As you know, as the county superintendent, you initiated and contracted with FCMAT to conduct an audit of WAYS pursuant to Education Code § 1241.5(c). That law provides the statutory process as to when and how a county superintendent is to report its findings and recommendations, if any, to a charter school after such an audit is completed:

(c) At any time during a fiscal year, the county superintendent may review or audit the expenditures and internal controls of any charter school in his or her county if he or she has reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices have occurred that merit examination. The review or audit conducted by the county superintendent shall be focused on the alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices and shall be conducted in a timely and efficient manner. The county superintendent shall report the findings and recommendations to the governing board of the charter school at a regularly scheduled meeting, and provide a copy of the information to the chartering authority of the charter school, within 45 days of completing the review, audit, or examination. The governing board of the charter school shall, no later than 15 calendar days after receipt of the report, notify the county superintendent and its chartering authority of its proposed response to the recommendations.

At the WAYS Board Meeting regularly scheduled on April 25, 2014, the County Superintendent (through staff) made the report and presented its recommendation to the WAYS Board pursuant to section 1241.5(c). We thank you for doing so. We had requested that you do so several weeks ago. On behalf of the County Superintendent, LACOE Assistant Controller Zak Memon and April Mitchell delivered a verbal report and recommendation to the WAYS governing board. No written recommendation or findings were provided—only the verbal report from Mr. Memon. Fortunately, WAYS records its board meetings as mandated by LACOE staff, so we were able to transcribe your recommendations. This letter serves as the WAYS governing board's proposed response to your recommendation, as required by section 1241.5(c).

WISDOM ACADEMY FOR YOUNG SCIENTISTS

1. THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Mr. Memon reported to the WAYS Board that LACOE's concerns, and the only recommendation in the Audit, "boils down" to two issues: (1) fiscal policies and procedures at the school, and (2) internal controls to ensure the fiscal policies and procedures are properly implemented. The County Superintendent's recommendations are as follows in their entirety, verbatim from Mr. Memon's report (emphasis added):

"As we all know that LACOE Superintendent had sent a letter to FCMAT to conduct the audit of the school and the audit was conducted and a report was presented to us, which we are here today to the present to the board here. The report, if I look at it, several pages has so many transactional findings that they report, but I think that you have taken an excellent step today, by what the bottom line of the report is, and that is the fiscal policies. Because all it boils down to is the fiscal policies [inaudible word], and this is an excellent step that, is a very good first step in the right direction that this is what it's all about. Because this report primarily talks about two things: one was the fiscal policies and procedures [inaudible word], and the other was the internal controls. So obviously, once we have the fiscal policies approved and implemented, then fiscal controls will come in. As I was looking at this report, that was to be the bottom line. I'm a CPA, I was an auditor before, and the reason I believe what they have done in this report, that they went through several transactions, is to substantiate and say that we need to strengthen the internal controls, and we need to revisit the fiscal policies, which Halilu has done today, and of course you [WAYS Board Members] have suggested some improvement, which is very good, to that policy on page number five. I believe that once you go through this policy and approve them, please send it to LACOE and that will solve a lot of problems, moving forward.

This was my conclusion, it really talks about that the bottom line is the internal controls and fiscal policies. Moving forward, that is the improvement directed in the recommendations."

Mr. Memon recommended that the WAYS Board adopt revised fiscal policies and procedures drafted by its back-office services provider, Bali Business Management, which Mr. Memon reviewed. Mr. Memon stated: "If we can go over [the revised fiscal policies and procedures], if you can approve it, and sent to us the approved policies, our Charter Schools Office will present it to the [LACOE] board as this is what the school has done, and that will help."

WISDOM ACADEMY FOR YOUNG SCIENTISTS

2. WAYS PROPOSED RESPONSE TO THE SUPERINTENDENT'S RECOMMENDATIONS

In light of the Superintendent's April 25, 2014 recommendations to the WAYS Board made pursuant to section 1241.5(c), on April 30, 2014 the WAYS Board adopted those revised fiscal policies and procedures as recommended by Mr. Memon—five days after he provided the county superintendent's recommendations. A copy is enclosed with this letter. WAYS has also taken, or intends to take additional steps above and beyond the superintendent's recommendations to strengthen its fiscal policies and internal controls. WAYS has:

1. Approved and implemented the above-described revised Fiscal Policies (reviewed by Mr. Memon) to strengthen its internal controls and operational practices.
2. Solicited FCMAT On-site Fiscal Support and Technical Assistance. WAYS anticipates that FCMAT will provide side-by-side coaching and technical assistance to assist WAYS through financial issues, and provide assistance to help strengthen the school's fiscal operations.
3. Provided and will provide additional training and professional development for the staff that participate in and are responsible for financial transactions, and for the staff that are in key decision-making positions.
4. WAYS is currently reconsidering its employment contracts with key administrators, including the current Executive Director and Director of Operations.

The FCMAT audit itself does not contain any findings or recommendations at all for WAYS. Rather, the audit contained a single recommendation for LACOE: "The county superintendent should: Notify the governing board of WAYS charter school, LACOE's governing board, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Education, and the local district attorney that fraud, misappropriation of assets or other illegal activities may have occurred." We understand the Audit contains valuable information for both LACOE and WAYS to consider, and as outlined above, we have reexamined and updated fiscal procedures at the school in response to this recommendation and the Superintendent's report. However, that audit statement is based on the background "facts" provided to the Auditor, and many of the "facts" are demonstrably incorrect or incomplete. That concern is addressed thoroughly in our response to the audit itself sent to you April 5, 2014.

I look forward to the opportunity to personally meet with you to discuss the financial and overall state of our school, our goals, and the challenges we face. I believe that we have the same interest in preserving the school for the community, and we know at WAYS that it is important for us to establish a working relationship beyond the doors of the LACOE Board Room. I believe WAYS will benefit from such relationship, and we welcome your involvement in our endeavor to educate children. I am also confident that the WAYS Board of Directors will consider any further advice, suggestions or recommendations from you or your office.

3. Salaried employees are required to sign a sign-in log on a daily basis.
4. At the end of each pay period each hourly employee is required to finish completing their time sheet that was being completed on each working day and give them to the Director of Operations for approval. The employee should make sure they complete the total regular hours, overtime hours, vacation, sick, and other hours worked each day and for the pay period. If you work on more than one job on a regular basis you should complete a time sheet for each job. Just state what hours you worked for each job on the same time sheet if you work more than one job on an irregular basis.
5. The properly completed and approved time sheet is put in the box of the Director of Operations no later than the date it is due for processing. Delay in submitting the time sheet can affect employee pay date.
6. If you are a new employee, make sure that you complete a personnel information package, including a W-4 form that gives us information on your tax status. We cannot give you all the money due you without knowing your tax information. Any information related to direct deposit, tax sheltered annuity or any other voluntary deductions should be given to the Financial Consultant no later than the deadline given to you by the business office. If you are hired after the start of a pay period, you will not be paid until the pay period following the period you started working.

Director of Operations:

1. Provide all staff with time sheet, sign-in sheet, time card, due date for time sheet, due date for voluntary deductions set up, time clock and other employee package items necessary to accurately complete information for payroll and benefit accrual.
2. Collect all the time sheets in your box and any others around the time clock area.
3. Verify that the time recorded on the time sheet corresponds with the time clock records. Any unexplained discrepancies should be reported to the Executive Director for correction or explanation. Any incomplete or unapproved time sheet should be referred to the Executive Director for completion and approval immediately in time to promptly prepare payroll.
4. Verify the time sheet to make sure the computations are accurate and that the information and approvals are made by the appropriate persons and write the account numbers where the salaries will be charged on the time sheets.
5. After verifying that everything is correct and that you have every employee's time sheet, prepare the payroll request for the Financial Consultant.
6. Print the request for the Executive Director to approve for transmission.
7. Forward to Financial Consultant new hire and any other employee change information as you get the information from the employee.
8. After the checks come back from Financial Consultant, verify all the checks to make sure that everything is correct and that the checks appear accurate. Additionally check the payroll reports sent to you to make sure everything balances both to the time reported and other relevant deductions. If there is anything that appears unusual, inform the Financial Consultant or the Executive Director. Put the checks in envelopes ready to be distributed to employees and leave with the receptionist together with a sign-in list. Instruct the receptionist that no one should pick-up another persons check without written authority to do so. Before the receptionist gives a check to an employee that employee must sign the list provided as evidence that they have received their check.
9. Maintain each Personnel file containing the following information at a minimum:
 - a) Employment application or resume
 - b) Credentials when applicable
 - c) Date of Employment
 - d) Employment Agreement
 - e) Position, pay rates, and changes therein
 - f) Authorization of payroll deductions
 - g) Earning record for non active employees
 - h) W-4 Form
 - i) I-9 Form
 - j) Termination data when applicable
10. All personnel records are to be kept locked in a locking file cabinet in the business office.
 - a) Payroll deductions are to be recorded properly and paid to the appropriate third parties on a timely basis. Also, all payroll reports to the parties shall be submitted on a timely basis.

Responsibility of Executive Director:

1. Make sure that the new employee package is completed and accurately filled out prior to starting work, especially the I-9, Immigration and Naturalization Form and W-4, Employee Tax Information. The employee should also be given a copy of the employee handbook so they can be aware of the school policies and procedures that affect them.
2. Negotiations regarding pay and other benefits should take into consideration the budgetary constraints to make sure that we do not commit to what we cannot pay.
3. A personnel action form (PAF) must be completed and given to the Financial Consultant stating how much the employee will be paid, what the effective date is, and what account will be charged for this expense. The PAF and the completed package must be given to the Financial Consultant so that payroll arrangements can be made and personnel file opened for the new employee.
4. The Executive Director must make sure the employee follow the school policies and procedures that relate to them. Any infraction should be cured according to school policies and procedures related to employee discipline.
5. Make sure that all employees complete a time sheet and give it to them for their approval on a timely basis.
6. Ensure that the time sheet as completed by employees reflect their attendance, including breaks and lunch time, before approving the time sheet.
7. Make sure that employees are allowed to take breaks in the mornings and in the afternoons and a lunch break for those who work full-time. Generally, rest periods (breaks) are taken every four hours of work and meal periods (lunch) when someone works six or more hours a day.
8. Ensure that overtime worked by the employee is approved in advance and that there is enough funding available to cover the overtime and other related costs.

POLICY NUMBER THREE: PURCHASE AND OTHER PROCUREMENT

PURCHASES:

The school will purchase the materials needed to implement the plans and strategies set out by the board and the charter in order to achieve its objectives. In making these purchases the school must ensure that the materials being purchased are necessary for running the school. The school will also ensure that economy of resources is exercised in judging whether there is a need to purchase a certain item, as the school has limited resources for many competing priorities. The purchase must give the school the best deal (price, quality and other criteria considered), and also ensure that there are funds available to pay for the materials. The Executive Director must approve all purchases. The purchase must be documented and recorded in the accounting books.

PROCEDURES:

1. All purchases must be initiated by completing a purchase order. The Executive Director or Financial Consultant may grant exceptions for purchase of certain small items that are less than $1000 or in emergency situations.
2. Before completing the purchase order the purchaser must assure that there are unencumbered funds budgeted for this purpose and the purchase is being charged to the correct budget category. If there is any question regarding the availability of funds, the Back-Office Provider can be contacted for an answer.
3. The purchaser must demonstrate, by providing copies of three bids or estimates that the vendor picked provides us with the best deal for the service or product being purchased. (The lowest price may not always be the best deal for the school.)
4. For the purpose of getting bids, purchases of $2,999 or less can be done by phone bids; purchases of between $3,000 and $9,999 can be done by written bids on vendor's letterhead. Purchases and services of $10,000 or more need to be advertised in a more formal competitive bidding process. Specifications and bidding requirements should include:
 - a) Specifications to be prepared by the administration
 - b) Specifications to be approved by the board
 - c) Specifications to be mailed to any identified potential bidders
 - d) All bids to be submitted in sealed envelopes and plainly marked as indicated in the bid specifications
 - e) Bids to be publicly opened at an announced time, and on a specific date
 - f) The bidder to whom the award is made to be required to enter into a written contract and purchase order.
5. In cases where a particular vendor is known to give us the best deal, once a year research of prices and services is enough to satisfy this criterion. In such a case copies of the result of the research should be kept on file to be referred to when needed.
6. There may also be cases where a vendor is a sole source vendor, which means that the vendor is the only vendor that can supply this product or service. In such an instance it will be impossible to provide bids, but it must be demonstrated that the vendor is the sole source.

7. Director of Operations will issue purchase orders. The form must be originally filled out, including who to deliver the order to and the account number to which the expenditure is to be charged. The original is faxed to the Vendor with a return confirmation from the vendor after being approved by the Director of Operations, a copy for the Executive Director's file, copy to the Administrative Assistant (receiving). All originals and copies of purchase orders must have the signatures of the Executive Director and Director of Operations.
8. All purchase orders must be approved by the Executive Director and Director of Operations.
9. When the purchaser gets the order they will keep the items in a safe place for use, after making sure that the order received agrees with the purchase order. In certain instances the order may be tracked as to who is using them, so we can allocate them to various programs.

Procedures for Receipt of Order

When the order arrives the Administrative Assistant compares the quantity on the packing slip, the purchase order and the order received to make sure they agree. If they agree the packing slip will be initialed and sent to the Director of Operations with a copy to the Executive Director.

Administrative Assistant:

1. When the original purchase order is received from the Director of Operations, it is immediately faxed to the vendor. This will be done after checking to make sure the order is charged to the correct account, and funds are available signified by the approval of the Executive Director and Director of Operations, evidenced by the their signatures.
2. A copy of the purchase order is kept in an open purchase order file pending the time the order is filled. It is discarded when the invoice for the purchase is processed.
3. The Administrative Assistant will check incoming orders to make sure they are consistent with the packing slip and the purchase order. The orders will then be stamped or tagged as property of the Wisdom Academy depending on what kind of item it is. Books will be stamped and equipment will be tagged, while supplies will be inventoried issued as necessary.
4. The Administrative Assistant will check all the documentation and make sure they are complete, accurate, and consistent with one another. The Administrative Assistant will also make sure that the correct budget category is being charged and the amount of the bill is computed accurately.
5. As part of checking the documentation, the Administrative Assistant will ensure that the invoice being paid is an original invoice, not a copy, and that we are not paying from a statement of account. Please refer to commercial warrant processing for more details on bills processing.

POLICY NUMBER FOUR: CONTRACTING

1. All contracts must be approved by the Executive Director and Director of Operations. Contracts of up to $2,999 require at least three phone bids, between $3,000 and $9,999 requires three written bids on contractor's letterhead. Contracts of $10,000 and above require formal competitive bidding process. For more information, please see purchase procedures. All Contracts exceeding $25,000 should be signed and approved by the board.
2. Before approving a contract, it must be determined that funds are available for this purpose and the payment terms clearly and satisfactorily stated in the contract, considering cash flow needs of the school.
3. In the case of a construction contract, the contractor must be licensed by the state board and have the financial capability to execute the contract.
4. The contractor must have workers compensation and other general liability insurance that will name the school as additionally insured. The contractor must submit a bill based on the original approved contract. In the event of change orders, they must be pre-approved by the Executive Director.
5. The contractor must provide the school with a completed form W-9, taxpayer identification number, form DE542, Employment Development Department Report of Independent Contractor, at the time of signing the contract.
6. Before the payment is made for construction contracts, the contractor must provide the school with a lien release as to labor and materials to exempt the school from any legal action including mechanics lien related to non-payment of labor and material.
7. Before approving payment, the Executive Director will be certain that the construction was executed satisfactorily (in some cases an expert opinion might be sought to determine this).
8. It is customary to withhold 10% of the contract price until final determination is made on the successful completion of the contract. This will therefore be the practice of the school.
9. A copy of the contract should be filed in the business services office as soon as the contract is signed, to ensure that all documentation is complete and accurate.
10. All independent contractors must be persons that are in business for themselves, set their hours, and are responsible for results and not persons that are normally considered as employees. The school will evaluate criteria established by the IRS when assigning independent contractor status and issue IRS Form 1099 to independent contractors if compensation is $600 or more. The consultant contract will include description of services, deliverables, pay rate, time frame, and timeline of payments and reimbursements. All other part-time or one-time persons employed by the school should be put on the payroll system, as they are actually employees and not independent contractors. All independent contractors must have a written contract following the procedures outlined above.

POLICY NUMBER FIVE: CHECK REQUESTS

CHECK REQUESTS:

All disbursements, except for those made through the Revolving Cash Fund, Payroll System and Petty Cash, must be made through the Check Request.

BACKGROUND:

The school has a responsibility to process all payments in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and other government accounting standards in order to discharge its fiduciary responsibilities as delegated by the board of directors.

PROCEDURES:

Administrative Assistant:

1. Pick-up mails from the bills mailbox and distribute to various departments where necessary for Check Requests and approval of the bill.
2. Checks the utilities and other general office bills for any error before giving to the Director of Operations for Check Request approval.
3. Double Check Requests and bills to make sure that all the information and documentation is correct. This information and documentation includes payee, account numbers, original invoice (payments cannot be made with a copy of the invoice or statement of account), relevant purchase order and receiving reports, amounts and appropriate approvals. If any information or documentation is inaccurate or incomplete, the Check Request must be returned to the responsible party so it can be corrected immediately, for timely processing of the Check Request. Check Requests must not be left with anyone for an unreasonably long period of time as to incur the school, credit problems.
4. After completing the Check Requests, they must be kept on file pending the time the check or warrant comes back from the Financial Consultant.
5. After all the Check Requests are completed, they should be given to the Director of Operations or Executive Director for approval. A copy of the approved Check Requests should be filed for future reference.
6. Pick up the checks from the Financial Consultant and verify that all the checks were generated and everything related to the check is correct. Then attach a copy of the check to the Check Request, staple them together and complete the payment information on the Check Request. Stamp the documentation as paid and file the whole package in the paid bills folder, after the Executive Director approves the checks.
7. Put the checks in an envelope for mailing. If someone has to pick up a check in the office they must sign a log. If it is an unknown person picture identification or drivers license should be reviewed to make sure that it is the right person.

Director of Operations

1. Make sure that the bill being approved is a bill the school incurred and that those who incurred them are authorized to incur the bill, and that sufficient amounts are available in the budget to pay for the bill.

2. Must be sure that services or goods were actually delivered as ordered and the amounts billed are agreed to and the bill was not previously paid and the invoice is not a duplicate or copy.
3. Must be sure that the invoice is being charged to the right budget line item (account number and object code). This information must be provided by completing a Check Request form, attaching the invoice, and copy of the purchase order and a receiving advice or report noted on the purchase order, when applicable. Any discrepancy between the invoice and the purchase order must be noted on the bill and reported to the Administrative Assistant and Executive Director.
4. The Check Request must be processed in a timely manner for payment to prevent incurring collection and other credit problems.

Financial Consultant:

1. The Check Requests are filed in a folder until the scheduled day for input, when they are inputted into the computer system to generate warrants the following day. All the warrant document numbers must be serially numbered, taking time to make sure the first warrant of each batch or day follows the last number as specified in the commercial warrant register. A serial number log must be kept to ensure the numbering system is being adhered to. Each time a number is used it is crossed out to prevent the reuse of the number a second time.

Executive Director:

1. Make sure that there is enough cash flow to pay the check being requested before approving the bills. This can be accomplished by reviewing the cash balance on the report provided by Financial Consultant.
2. Check to see that the checks were written to the same payee as stated on the Check Request and bill.
3. Keep the budget managers or persons who incur expenditures informed about cash flow in case they have to defer incurring certain expenditures, pending improvement in cash flow.
4. Before signing any check, make sure the documentation is attached and that the Check Request information is completely filled out with prior approvals attached.
5. Checks in excess of $10,000 of non-recurring items require two signatures, from authorized check signers.

POLICY NUMBER SIX: EMPLOYEE ADVANCE PAYMENTS

EMPLOYEE ADVANCES:

All employee advances must be properly documented and recorded in the school accounting books for the correct amounts, to help facilitate prompt collection of the advance from the employee.

BACKGROUND:

From time to time the school may make advances to its employees for various reasons including payroll checks not received on time, vacation advance, emergency and other extenuating circumstances.

PROCEDURES:

Employee:

- Request in writing to be submitted to the Executive Director for approval.
- Make sure that the emergencies are limited to unusual health bills, death or serious illness in the staff member's immediate family requiring unusual financial outlay, or unusual automobile repairs.
- Substantiating documentation must be provided with the request.
- The amount being requested must not be more than one third of the employee regular or average paycheck for a pay period.
- Repayment must be made over a period not to exceed three months, through payroll deductions beginning with the pay period subsequent to the date of the advance.
- Authentication of the advance, by signing an agreement detailing the terms of the advance, to remain on file.
- Advance is immediately due and payable in full upon the separation or termination of employment.
- The employee must be a regular full time staff member who has served for at least six months.

Executive Director:

1. Determine if there is enough cash flow to accommodate this request considering all the other priorities of the school.
2. Consider the circumstance and the history of this employee as it relates to requests for advance in deciding whether or not to approve the request.
3. Approve or disapprove the request after considering the guidelines for approval of the request.
4. Give a copy of the approval to the Financial Consultant for filing or processing and the Executive Director for communication to the employee.
5. Give a copy of any termination or separation notice to the Financial Consultant to compute final check and complete the separation notice form.
6. To ensure that the employee is qualified for approval for the advance, appropriate required documentation is attached to the request and all other guidelines are followed.

- Reconcile the Employee Advance account, to make sure that the amount on the account reflects the agreement currently on file.
- Deduct any amount outstanding from the final check to the employee in case of separation or termination.

POLICY NUMBER SEVEN: CORPORATE CREDIT CARDS

Credit Cards secured for the school through our bankers will allow key staff members the flexibility of charging purchases on the account, therefore saving staff the trouble of using their funds to purchase needed materials. Furthermore, it will save the school from cutting many checks for reimbursements. Instead one check will be cut to our bankers. The School will use standard procurement procedures whenever possible.

- 1) The Board will authorize Credit Card uses as follows:
 - a) Travel related expenses
 - b) Meeting/conference expenses
 - c) Online purchases where purchase orders are not accepted
 - d) Emergency spending
 - e) Pre authorized expenditures
- 2) The Credit Card holders will be responsible for documenting and justifying all expenditures (school related purpose) and held personally liable if the Credit Card charge is deemed personal or unauthorized.
- 3) Each Credit Card transaction must be supported by an actual receipt containing detail of the item(s) purchased.
9. The cash advance feature CANNOT be activated or used for any reason.
10. The card can be used only for business purchases. No personal use. Personal use includes paying for fuel for a non-company or personal vehicle.
11. The original receipt must always be turned in to Administrative Assistant, after purchase is made to allow for easy processing of the bills. The account number to be charged must be stated on the receipt.
12. Before charging anything to the card, the purchaser must determine what budget line items should be charged for this expenditure and whether the budget item has enough funds in the account to accommodate the charges, considering all other charges previously made to this account. If in doubt about the availability of the funds, please consult the responsible budget manager.
13. Any missing or lost Credit Card must be immediately reported to the Executive Director, and in some cases the bank so that security measures regarding cancellation and reissue can be accomplished in time to prevent illegal charges to the account.
14. In the unusual instance that a receipt is lost. The cardholder responsible for the lost receipt must complete a Lost Receipt Form, to be approved by the Executive Director.
15. The card can be used to charge things for other staff as long as verification is made as to the availability of funds for the purchase. The card can be used for small purchases that normally require payment before order, it should not be used for items that can be put on purchase orders and billed to us in the normal way. Do not use the Credit Card in such a way as to circumvent our normal purchase order or billing system. Examples of things that can be charged include airline tickets for training and seminars, books and instructional supplies.
16. The Financial Consultant and the Executive Director are responsible for ensuring that the Credit Card holders follow these procedures. Any abuse of the Credit Card policies should be reported to the Financial Consultant or the Executive Director.

The school reserves the right to terminate any Credit Card due to abuses including lack of following Credit Card policies and procedures.

17. The Executive Director must approve any expenditure related to any direct benefit of the Credit Card user. No one can approve an expenditure that is for his or her own benefit.
18. The Administrative Assistant must turn in all Credit Card statements to the Financial Consultant. The Administrative Assistant will give each Credit Card holder his or her statements.
19. Credit Card holders will prepare a Check Request for each Credit Card statement with all attached documentation, including original receipts and account numbers. This will ensure orderly and efficient processing of the bills to avoid the charging of interest.

Pre-authorized Credit Card Charges

The card holders may use the credit card for the following pre-authorized categorical expenses, but not limited to:

4200	Books Other Than Text Books	$900
4300	Materials and Supplies	$900

2. Processes requests for issuance of petty cash after being approved by the Executive Director.

4. Ensures that the replenishment expenditures are supported by authentic purchase receipts approved by the Executive Director.
5. Monitors all the petty cash given to holders to make sure they are replenishing them on a regular basis and remind the holders of the need to replenish the fund so that expenditures can be recorded. If the holder does not have expenditures for several months, this may indicate that the petty cash might not be necessary.
6. When a petty cash is originally issued to a holder, it must be logged in a petty cash log; any increases to the petty cash amount must be recorded in the log.
7. Petty cash is reimbursed in the same manner as any other reimbursement or bill. In urgent situations, reimbursements can be done from the revolving cash fund.

Petty Cash Holders (Director of Operations):

1. Request for issuance of petty cash from the Executive Director based on a compelling need supported by convincing reasons.
2. The recipient of the petty cash funds must sign the petty cash disbursements log to indicate the receipt of the funds. The paid receipt should be attached to the log. Petty cash box should be locked and secured safely until it is time to replenish the fund. The Petty Cash Fund reconciliation and associated receipts should be attached to the Check Request for replenishment.
3. The Petty Cash account should be reconciled monthly. When the petty cash account is reconciled, the appropriate expense account should be charged in the school's general ledger. Once reconciled, request for replenishment can be processed.
4. Director of Operations should review petty cash transactions and make periodic counts of petty cash fund.
5. The petty cash account may not be used to cash payroll checks or other personal checks.

9. Before issuing the funds to the staff the holder must ascertain that the staff is going to spend the money on a budgeted expenditure approved by the Executive Director.
10. Must ensure those given petty cash bring back an authentic receipt approved by the Administrative Assistant with the appropriate account number where the expenditure will be charged.
11. The Executive Director's signature on the purchase receipt is evidence that the expenditure is approved by the Executive Director and it is for an expenditure that has been budgeted by the school for this purpose and the goods or services is to be used for a specific school business purpose. The signature also means that there is available balance in the line item to accommodate the expenditure.
12. When the staff gives the petty cash holder an authentic purchase receipts approved by the Executive Director, the issuance receipt should be endorsed by the holder as paid and copy of the paid issuance receipt given to the Administrative Assistant. If there is a cash balance returned by the staff it should be reflected on the issuance receipt. The paid issuance receipt should be attached to the purchase receipt.
13. When the petty cash is low the holder should fill out the petty cash replenishment form and request for replenishment of the petty cash fund equal to the amount of the purchase receipts in their possession. The total amount of the replenishment and the petty cash on hand should always be equal to the amount originally issued to the holder.

Staff Requesting the Use of Petty Cash:

1. Before requesting for petty cash fund staff must make sure that the expenditure is approved by the Executive Director.
2. Make sure that a purchase receipt is obtained for the goods or services purchased and the receipt is approved by the Executive Director with the appropriate account number written on the receipt before giving it to the petty cash holder.
3. Return any excess cash to the petty cash holder together with the receipt to relieve the staff of the responsibility of the cash originally received.
4. Once a staff receives funds from the petty cash holder, the staff is personally responsible for the funds, until they bring back an approved receipt with account numbers plus any left over cash in exchange for a release of liability. This is evidenced by a copy of a paid issuance receipt by the holder of the petty cash.

POLICY NUMBER NINE: ACCOUNT RECONCILIATION

As part of our internal control procedures, the school will reconcile and review the result of operations to make sure the transactions are charged to the appropriate accounts and that the operations are being executed as planned. The School's accounting system will be in conformity with the California School Accounting Manual. Accounting methods will follow Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) guidelines for nonprofit reporting. All budgets and financial reports will be presented using full accrual accounting in alignment with annual audited financial statements. The school will follow the financial reporting guidelines required by Education Code section 47604.33, 47605(m) and 47604(3).

Financial Consultant:

These reconciliations will be done by the Financial Consultant.

6. For year-end closing, which includes reconciliation of revenue and expense items sufficient to record accruals for accounts receivable, accounts payable, prepaid expenses and capital assets.
7. The school will review year-end financial statements to ensure accuracy of reporting. Establish a timeline for closing to ensure no changes are made after submission of financial statements to oversight agencies.

8. Record all adjusting audit entries to reflect audited ending net assets. Reconcile beginning net assets with audited ending net assets from the previous year.
9. After month-end or year-end close, record all adjusting entries in the following month or year.

BACKGROUND:

The school will run various programs and fundraisers. Checks and cash are usually received at the reception desk for registration for these events.

PROCEDURES:

Administrative Assistant:

2. Satellite site receipts will be brought to the main office on a daily basis for safekeeping. The Administrative Assistant will include the amounts received from the satellite site (if any) in their balancing of the total receipts for the school.
3. Checks and cash are kept in a secured cabinet locked in a box until deposit is made to the bank.
4. The checks must be stamped "for deposit only", using the appropriate stamp for the program bank account, to reduce any risk of loss.
5. The reception desk for each site should record the cash and checks received on a cash/check receipts log which should include the date of check/cash receipts log which should include the date of check/cash was received, name of the payer, amount, check number and program/department.

8. A copy of cash/check receipts log should be given to the Executive Director on a weekly basis.
9. Three staff persons (Administrative Assistant, Director of Operations, Executive Director) have access to the key so they can retrieve funds for deposit or store funds collected from parents (under no circumstances should this amount be used for any reason except as approved by the Director of Operations or Executive Director). This amount is not petty cash and therefore should not be used for that purpose. Please use petty cash fund to pay for small emergency items.
10. The office prepares deposit tickets on Tuesdays and Fridays, making sure the total amounts on the deposit tickets agree with the total receipts attached (duplicate). $100 from petty cash fund will be left in the cash box for the purpose of making change when payments are received from parents.

11. Any discrepancy between the deposit tickets and the attached receipts should be noted and reported to the Director of Operations so that further investigation can be conducted to resolve the problem.

POLICY NUMBER ELEVEN: REVOLVING CASH FUND

The School will maintain a Revolving Cash Fund to accommodate immediate cash needs that will normally not be met by the commercial warrant system. Only Check Requests that are needed immediately due to circumstances beyond our control will be disbursed through this system. The bank statements for the revolving cash funds will be reconciled on a monthly basis by the Back Office service provider.

PROCEDURES:

All requests must be made by a Check Request, with all the supporting documents for the approval of the Executive Director. The request will follow the normal procedures for commercial warrant Check Requests. Poor planning will not qualify as a reason for approving this request. Receipts are required immediately after an event for requests of advance deposits.

Executive Director:

- Approval will be made based on the documentation provided and the compelling reasons why the request must be approved.
- No requests should be approved for convenience as these requests create additional burden and work for the school and circumvents the accounting process and may understate our expenditures.
- No approvals should be made without the request coming from Director of Operations, who checks the budget availability and the urgency for this request.
- The approved request will be given to the Administrative Assistant for processing.

Financial Consultant:

- All approved requests must be disbursed from the Revolving Cash Fund bank account the same day.
- Any request for an Revolving Cash Fund check must be directed to the Executive Director.
- Requests should only be entertained from the Executive Director.
- All requests must be checked to make sure all required information is complete before issuing the check. The Executive Director should be alerted if all the necessary information is not complete.
- Make sure there is available balance in the Revolving Cash Fund account before issuing any check. This will be accomplished by keeping a running balance after issue of checks and deposit of check to the Revolving Cash Fund account.
- Reimburse the Revolving Cash Fund no later than the 25th of every month to make certain that the expenditures are recorded in the correct month to void understanding our financial statements.

- Reimbursement of Revolving Cash Fund including petty cash must be made to the Executive Director and charged to the respective account numbers already provided before the Revolving Cash Fund checks were generated.
- Do not reimburse any Revolving Cash Fund check or petty cash without the required receipts, account number and other required documentation.
- At any given time the bank balance, plus un-reimbursed expenditures, plus petty cash given out must be equal to the Revolving Cash Fund amount.

Insurance certificates should be kept on file in the school's administrative office at all times and available for inspection.

Ms. Benitez indicated that these same concerns have been the same since December 2013 and that LACOE looked at different districts and counties to see what timelines have been given to schools for a response time and the timeline has been a 20-25 day period.

Mr. Saenz indicated that six-weeks would be an appropriate time for a response. The County Board agreed.

Dr. Delgado and Ms. Benitez indicated that they would extend the timeline for a response from WAYS from June 30, 2014 to July 31, 2014.

Re: Proposed Issuance of Notice of Violations to Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (“WAYS”)

Dear LACOE Board of Education Members:

LACOE Charter School Office (“CSO”) staff has asked you to issue a “Notice of Violations” to WAYS charter school, a school that has been in operation for more than 10 years and is one of the only charters in South Los Angeles. A Notice of Violations (“NOV”) is a precursor to revocation of a school’s charter for an uncured violation of law. Here, there is no uncured violation of law at WAYS. The proposed NOV is based on false and unfounded claims by LACOE CSO staff. LACOE Charter Schools Office staff has asked the Board of Education to issue a NOV based on Education Code section 47607(c)(3) and Education Code section 47607(c)(1), but there is no evidence of fraud, fiscal mismanagement, or a material violation of the WAYS charter. We urge you to vote “no” on issuance of the NOV.

WAYS has long been subjected to unfair treatment and retaliation from the LACOE Charter School Office, and LACOE staff has departed from normal procedures and business practices in evaluating WAYS for compliance. For instance, the LACOE Charter Schools Office hired a private investigator to follow and videotape a WAYS staff member on at least 16 occasions without her knowledge and without LACOE Board approval—a tactic we do not believe LACOE employs with its other charter schools. The LACOE Charter Schools Office also expended $18,000 for an audit of WAYS by the CSIS Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (“FCMAT”). The stated purpose of the FCMAT audit was to investigate possible fraud to determine whether WAYS and/or its personnel were involved in or committed fraudulent activities. The audit has now become the cornerstone of staff’s proposed NOV, even though FCMAT did not identify a single instance of WAYS and/or its personnel involvement in fraudulent activities.

The proposed NOV is based on the following false and unsubstantiated claims about the school, which are described in further detail herein:

- (1) False allegations cited from the FCMAT audit. The proposed NOV excerpts the FCMAT audit at length, but these excerpts are not actual findings made by FCMAT. Instead, they are false allegations FCMAT received directly from LACOE staff. The proposed NOV and audit wrongfully suggest to the LACOE

Board of Education that some form of fraud or “other illegal activities may have occurred” in some hypothetical fashion, but there is no evidence of such fraud in the audit or any of the 1,000+ pages of documents attached to the proposed NOV. As LACOE Controller Zak Memon reported to the WAYS Board in April, FCMAT did not make any factual finding of mismanagement or “fraud” at WAYS. In fact, there are no findings of any wrongdoing by WAYS in the audit. The audit recommended that WAYS tighten up some of its fiscal policies and internal controls, and WAYS has already done so at the direction and with the approval of LACOE’s own Controller. The proposed NOV fails to identify any further “cure” WAYS could perform related to the audit.

We believe it is also important for the Board of Education to know that WAYS submitted a Public Records Act request to LACOE CSO staff in April in order to review and better understand LACOE’s and/or FCMAT’s evidence in support of accusations of fiscal mismanagement at the school. LACOE responded that it will not provide documents until June 16, 2014. Now, two weeks before it will provide the documents to WAYS, the LACOE CSO has requested the Board of Education issue a NOV based on the FCMAT audit. Any NOV based on the FCMAT audit is premature until at least after June 16, 2014, when WAYS is provided the opportunity to review copies of any written, verbal, observational reports, complaints, and board records LACOE claims to possess to substantiate the FCMAT audit report and proposed NOV.

- (2) Already-Resolved Issues Related to the Brown Act and Governance at WAYS. The proposed NOV is also based on old issues related to the Brown Act and other topics that are immaterial, have already been cured, and are already part of a current arbitration between LACOE and WAYS. The issuance of a NOV on issues that are subject to arbitration would result in LACOE’s violation of the charter and terms of the arbitration.

1. Response to Allegation of Fiscal Mismanagement (Ed. Code, 47607(c)(3))

Assembly Bill (AB) 139 Extraordinary Audit and WAYS’ Public Records Act Request for Evidence

As noted above, the FCMAT audit report does not state any factual findings or determinations. Rather, the audit concludes with its starting point—a “suspicion” that WAYS and/or its officials “may have” committed “fraud” or other “illegal activities.” The FCMAT audit contained a single recommendation (emphasis added): “The county superintendent should: Notify the governing board of WAYS charter school, LACOE’s governing board, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Education, and the local district attorney that fraud, misappropriation of assets or other illegal activities may have occurred.” The audit report does not conclude that any fiscal mismanagement occurred, or is occurring at WAYS.

The FCMAT audit report recites “factual assumptions” that FCMAT received directly from LACOE CSO staff, which cannot form the basis of a NOV. These "assumptions" are incorrect or one-sided, subjective, biased, and based on unsupported allegations. For example, the FCMAT audit report erroneously states that "WAYS is a tightly held small public charter school operation founded and primarily operated by one family and close associates." This statement is plainly untrue, and reflects a fundamental misunderstanding of nonprofit corporations. WAYS is a small public charter school formed and operated entirely under the California Nonprofit Public Benefit Corporations Law. It was founded by the former executive director, is governed by a robust nonprofit corporate board of directors composed of members of the community, and is operated by professional teachers, and administration.

In an attempt to better understand the FCMAT audit report, on April 11, 2014, WAYS submitted a Public Records Act request to LACOE CSO for copies of the documents relied upon by FCMAT and/ or LACOE CSO during the audit. LACOE CSO's response to WAYS' request was late (the Public Records Act requires a response within 10 days) and incomplete. LACOE replied that the documents requested would not be available for review until June 16, 2014, but did not explain the reason for the delay. Now, the proposed NOV cites the FCMAT audit as the primary reason for revocation of the WAYS charter. Yet LACOE has refused to provide WAYS with the backup documentation related to the audit until two weeks after it has asked the Board of Education to issue a NOV.

WAYS cannot adequately address the FCMAT audit or a NOV based on the FCMAT audit until the requested documents are provided by LACOE CSO staff. It would be extremely prejudicial and a violation of WAYS' due process for LACOE to issue a NOV based on the FCMAT audit without providing WAYS the opportunity to examine all the evidence.

Alleged Lack of Internal Controls

Zak Memon, LACOE Controller, presented the Superintendent's report and recommendation to the WAYS Board following the FCMAT audit. The County Superintendent's recommendations to WAYS are as follows in their entirety, verbatim from Mr. Memon's report (emphasis added):

"As we all know that LACOE Superintendent had sent a letter to FCMAT to conduct the audit of the school and the audit was conducted and a report was presented to us, which we are here today to the present to the board here. The report, if I look at it, several pages has so many transactional findings that they report, but I think that you have taken an excellent step today, by what the bottom line of the report is, and that is the fiscal policies. Because all it boils down to is the fiscal policies [inaudible word], and this is an excellent step that, is a very good first step in the right direction that this is what it's all about. Because this report primarily talks about two things: one was the fiscal policies and procedures [inaudible word], and the other was the internal controls. So obviously, once we have the fiscal policies approved and implemented, then fiscal controls will come in. As I was looking at this report, that was to be the bottom line. I'm a CPA, I was an auditor before, and the reason I believe what they have done in this report, that they went through several transactions, is to substantiate and say that we need to strengthen the internal controls, and we need to revisit the fiscal policies, which Halilu has done today, and of course you [WAYS Board Members] have suggested some improvement, which is very good, to that policy on page number five. I believe that once you go through this policy and approve them, please send it to LACOE and that will solve a lot of problems, moving forward.

This was my conclusion, it really talks about that the bottom line is the internal controls and fiscal policies. Moving forward, that is the improvement directed in the recommendations.”

Mr. Memon recommended that the WAYS Board adopt revised fiscal policies and procedures drafted by its back-office services provider, Bali Business Management, which Mr. Memon reviewed. Mr. Memon stated: “If we can go over [the revised fiscal policies and procedures], if you can approve it, and sent to us the approved policies, our Charter Schools Office will present it to the [LACOE] board as this is what the school has done, and that will help.”

In direct response to the LACOE Superintendent’s report and recommendations arising from the FCMAT audit, WAYS’ Board has already cured any alleged lack of internal controls. At its April 30, 2014 Board of Directors meeting, the WAYS Board: (1) implemented a revised Fiscal Policies and Procedures to strengthen WAYS’ internal controls and operational practices; (2) solicited FCMAT on-site fiscal services, including side-by-side coaching and technical assistance to guide WAYS through financial issues, and assistance to help strengthen the school’s fiscal operations; (3) committed to provide additional training and professional development for the staff who participate in, and are responsible for, financial transactions, and for WAYS staff that are key in decision-making roles; and, (4) committed to evaluate its employment contracts.

Other Fiscal-Related Issues

The proposed NOV and FCMAT audit incorrectly imply that there is something illegal or wrong about a WAYS employee participating in and/or founding a nonprofit corporation that serves children who may also attend WAYS. Nothing could be further from the truth. By definition, there is no conflict of interest for such service to nonprofit public benefit corporations. Similarly, there is no “eternal prohibition” against former employees from having financial transactions with WAYS. While true that there appears to have a conflict several years ago when WAYS leased property owned by a person who was then then executive director, any such conflict was long ago cured (at the LACOE’s direction and approval) when the former executive director was separated from employment. There is no unlawful conflict or “fraud” evidenced by WAYS leasing property from the former executive director.

The proposed NOV notes a concern that, “there is an integral relationship between appointed board members and related family members and business associates... that created an environment that allowed and continues to allow access, opportunity and motivation for occupational fraud to occur.” Again, neither the proposed NOV nor the FCMAT audit concluded that WAYS actually engaged in occupational fraud, or that any such fraud occurred at a WAYS school.

We note that WAYS' April 30, 2014 revised Fiscal Policies and Procedures Handbook included Policy Number Sixteen: Conflicts of Interests. This policy mandates that Board Members disclose financial conflicts of interest, including those arising under Government Code § 1090. School Officials must also adhere to the Merle Williamson Foundation Conflict of Interest Policy and the County's Conflict of Interest Policy. WAYS' new policy "cures" staff's concerns in that it eliminates the possibility of related party transactions, and conflicts of interest.

The proposed NOV also draws attention to reconciliations of bank accounts, and transactions without complete supporting documentation. Again, none of FCMAT's concerns present any evidence of actual fraud, abuse, and/or fiscal mismanagement. WAYS' April 30, 2014 revised Fiscal Policies and Procedures Handbook included Policy Number Nine: Account Reconciliation. Under this policy, WAYS has already "cured" this concern and will "reconcile and review the result of operations to make sure the transactions are charged to the appropriate accounts."

The proposed NOV claims that WAYS violated the law when it failed to submit timely Independent Audits for 2012 and 2013 in accordance with Education Code § 47605(m). Policy Number Nine: Account Reconciliation, Number 10, adopted by the WAYS Board in April, cures this violation, and WAYS is confident that the 2014 audit will comply with Education Code § 47605(m).

2. Response to Allegation of Material Violation of Charter (Ed. Code 47607(c)(1))

Fiscal Policies and Procedures

This portion of the proposed NOV claims the WAYS Board failed to perform its duties as described in the WAYS charter because the WAYS Board failed to follow adequate fiscal policies.

WAYS, at the recommendation of LACOE Controller Zak Memon, has already acted to "cure" its fiscal policies and internal controls when it adopted and implemented revised Fiscal Policies on April 30, 2014. For example, under the April 30, 2014 revised Fiscal Policies and Procedures, the WAYS Board addresses its authority to approve contracts. Policy Number Four: Contracting, details how contracts must be approved, and who can approve such contracts. The WAYS board also adopted Policy Number Three: Purchase and Other Procurement, which determines how WAYS can purchase items. Additionally, under the April 30, 2014 revised Fiscal Policies and Procedures, the WAYS Board addressed budget preparation and implementation (Policy Number One). The policy calls for WAYS to adopt a budget that is approved by the board and implemented by management staff. The policy outlines the roles of the Executive Director and Financial Consultant, and Policy Number Nine establishes timelines for when the budget must be prepared.

The proposed NOV also makes reference to the WAYS charter provision that, "The Governing Board of WAYS will meet monthly," and concludes that WAYS has failed to comply with this provision of its charter. A review of the chart listed on pgs. 22 through 23 of the Notice of Violation show that with the exception of a couple of months, a monthly Board meeting was in fact held by WAYS for the past three years. Additionally, this topic is currently the subject of an arbitration proceeding pending between LACOE and WAYS. Inclusion of these issues in the NOV is inappropriate and improper.

WAYS Employees

The amended financial policies already adopted by the WAYS Board of Directors in April provide specific direction to the Executive Director with regard to duties and responsibilities of the Executive Director. The amended policies specifically designate the roles assigned to the Executive Director with regard to financial oversight and presentations to the board. Any past violations of the charter in terms of adequate descriptions and evaluations of the Executive Director's role are immaterial and have already been cured. Additionally, the amended financial policies provide specific direction to the WAYS Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager with regard to duties and responsibilities of the position. The amended policies specifically designate the roles assigned to the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager.

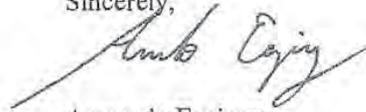

3. Concern Regarding the General Capacity to Operate a Charter School

In this portion of the proposed NOV, LACOE CSO staff again cite the FCMAT report: "The failure to establish adequate controls ... coupled with the lack of accountability to the governing board created an environment for fraud and misappropriation to occur."

As we stress herein, FCMAT did not conclude that fraud and misappropriation occurred. The FCMAT report goes on to suggest that, "These findings should be of great concern to the WAYS governing board and the LACOE governing board and require immediate intervention to limit the risk of fraud and/or misappropriation of assets in the future." In light of the FCMAT report, WAYS has amended its policies, under the direction and recommendation of LACOE, and continues to improve its financial oversight and internal controls.

In sum, even if the proposed NOV identified former violations, WAYS has already fully remedied all the incidents that are the subject of the proposed NOV. We are happy to continue to work with LACOE staff to close this file, but we urge you to vote "no" on a Notice of Violation.

Sincerely,

Armando Espinoza

Notice of Violation to Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS)
Pursuant to Education Code Section 47607(c) and (d) and Requesting Remedy by June 30, 2014

This Notice of Violation will issue upon approval by the Los Angeles County Board of Education

June 3, 2014

Background Information

On December 20, 2013, the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) Superintendent of Schools Dr. Arturo Delgado issued a Notice of Concern to WAYS (Exhibit 1) for Noncompliance with Law, Charter, Terms and Conditions of Authorization. The Notice of Concern identified that WAYS had:

- Violated provisions of law, including EC 47604.3, which requires a charter school to respond to reasonable requests for information due to its failure to fulfill reporting requirements of the LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU).
- Committed a material violation of any of the conditions, standards, or procedures set forth in the charter (EC 47607(c)(1)) through its failure to comply with Element 9 (Annual Financial Audits) and Element 4 (Governance) of the WAYS charter petition submitted to LACOE on December 18, 2012.

These violations are grounds for revocation of a charter pursuant to Education Code (EC) 47607(c). The Notice of Concern provided the specific evidence used to substantiate the violations.

Superintendent Delgado's letter stated, "I am hopeful the WAYS Board will take action to correct the violations documented in this letter and prevent future violations. Such a plan, and definitive Board actions that document its implementation, should be submitted to the CSO [Charter School Office] by January 20, 2014." (Emphasis added)

On January 21, 2014, two (2) separate responses were received from the school: one (1) from the WAYS Board President and one (1) from the WAYS Executive Director. The responses contained contradictory information and conflicting timelines for submitting the action plan beyond the January 20, 2014 timeline. (Exhibit 2)

On January 24, 2014, the CSO sent the WAYS Board and Executive Director a letter requesting the school submit its response to the Superintendent's Notice of Concern by January 31, 2014. (Exhibit 3)

On January 31, 2014, a written response was received from the school's Executive Director. (Exhibit 4) There is no evidence the WAYS Board took action to approve the response: it is not signed by any member of the governing board, there is no board resolution, agenda item, or meeting minutes indicating the board reviewed and approved the submission. Superintendent Delgado's letter specifically asked the "WAYS Board" to take action.

The response from the WAYS Executive Director failed to address LACOE's evidence of material violations of the charter and offered no action taken or to be taken by the school that could be considered responsive.

Superintendent Delgado's December 20, 2013 letter also stated:

Based on the school's continued failure to comply with law, the terms and conditions of its charter, and the LACOE MOU, I will be recommending that the County Board issue a Notice of Violation under EC 47607(c)...

Additionally, due to ongoing fiscal concerns documented in the school's 2011-12 Independent Audit and other evidence, I authorized an audit under EC 1241.5(c) and informed the school of such on May 17, 2013. (Exhibit 5)

Should the results of the audit conducted under EC 1241.5(c) provide evidence of the school's failure to meet generally accepted accounting principles or fiscal mismanagement, the Notice of Violation may be broadened to encompass EC 47607(c)(3).

Assembly Bill (AB) 139 Extraordinary Audit request by the Los Angeles County Office of Education Superintendent of Schools

As stated in the December 20, 2013 Notice of Concern, and pursuant to EC 1241.5, the County Superintendent requested that the Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT¹) conduct an AB 139 Extraordinary Audit of WAYS in May 2013.

The request was based on received allegations of multiple fiscal irregularities, questionable expenditures and inappropriate related party transactions at WAYS charter school. Concerned that these allegations may have violated various government and education codes related to fraud and/or misappropriation of assets, the County Superintendent initiated an investigation to determine whether sufficient evidence of fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities may have occurred to report the matter to the local district attorney's office for further investigation. Under the provisions of EC 1241, FCMAT entered into a contract with LACOE to conduct an AB 139 Extraordinary Audit.

Authority to Request an AB 139 Extraordinary Audit

EC 1241.5(b)(c) permits a county superintendent of schools to review or audit the expenditures and internal controls of any charter school in his or her county if there is reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices have occurred that merit examination. The review or audit conducted by the county superintendent will focus on the alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices and is to be conducted in a timely and efficient manner.

This is in accordance with EC 42638(b), which states:

If the county superintendent determines that there is evidence that fraud or misappropriation of funds has occurred, the county superintendent shall notify the governing board of the school district, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the local district attorney.

WAYS AB 139 Extraordinary Audit Report

On March 19, 2014, FCMAT published its AB 139 Extraordinary Audit (Audit) on WAYS conducted pursuant to EC 1241.5(c). (Exhibit 6)

On March 21, 2014, Superintendent Delgado provided the FCMAT Audit to the WAYS Board and Executive Director and informed the school that pursuant to statute, the "governing board of the charter school shall, no later than 15 calendar days after receipt of the report, notify the county superintendent and its chartering authority of its proposed response to the recommendations." (Emphasis Added)

On April 5, 2014, the Superintendent received a response from the WAYS Executive Director by email. There is no indication the response was approved by the WAYS Board, either by signature, resolution, agenda or meeting minutes. The response did not contain the referenced supporting documents; those were received via US Postal Service on April 14, 2014, nine (9) days after the statutory timeline to respond had expired. (Exhibit 7)

LACOE reviewed the response from the school's Executive Director and determined that it does not alleviate the concerns identified in the FCMAT Audit findings and recommendation.

Issuance of a Notice of Violation

Based on the failure of the WAYS Board to provide an adequate action plan to cure the material violations of the charter identified in Superintendent Delgado's December 20, 2013 Notice of Concern and its failure to alleviate the concerns contained in the findings and recommendation of the FCMAT Audit, the accompanying Notice of Violation provides the County Board with findings and substantial evidence in support of issuing a Notice of Violation to WAYS pursuant to the standards and procedures of EC 47607 and the California Code of Regulations, Title 5 (5 CCR) section 11968.5.2.

Pursuant to its oversight obligations, the County Board issues this Notice of Violation to Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists ("WAYS" or "Charter School") and its Governing Board for committing material breaches of the charter and failing to meet generally accepted accounting principles or engaging in fiscal mismanagement.

Legal Authority

Pursuant to California Education Code (EC) section 47607(d), the authorizing entity is required to notify the charter school in writing of any violation and give the charter school a reasonable opportunity to remedy the violation prior to revocation. Pursuant to EC section 47607(c), the authorizing entity may revoke the charter of a charter school if it finds, through a showing of substantial evidence, that the charter school did any of the following:

- (1) Committed a material violation of any of the conditions, standards, or procedures set forth in the charter.
- (2) Failed to meet or pursue any of the pupil outcomes identified in the charter.
- (3) Failed to meet generally accepted accounting principles, or engaged in fiscal mismanagement.
- (4) Violated any provision of law.

The County Board hereby places WAYS on notice of its intent to revoke the school's charter if it fails to remedy the violations enumerated below. The County Board reserves its right to immediately revoke the charter upon its written determination that any violations constitute a severe and imminent threat to the health and safety of the pupils (EC 47607(d)). The County Board also reserves the right to consider additional evidence presented to substantiate violations listed below.

The County Board issues this Notice of Violation to WAYS based on the grounds for revocation set forth below:

EC 47607(c)(3): WAYS failed to meet generally accepted accounting principles, or engaged in fiscal mismanagement

EC 47607(c)(1): WAYS committed a material violation of ... the conditions, standards, or procedures set forth in the charter

Grounds and Evidence in Support of Issuing a Notice of Violation Pursuant to EC 47607

I. Facts and Evidence

EC 47607(c)(3): WAYS failed to meet generally accepted accounting principles, or engaged in fiscal mismanagement

Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) is a set of standard guidelines, rules and procedures for financial accounting used in the preparation of financial statements. The purpose is to ensure financial reporting is transparent and consistent from one organization to another. The authoritative source of GAAP is the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB).

A. WAYS Failed to Follow Generally Accepted Accounting Principles and Engaged in Fiscal Mismanagement

The FCMAT Audit states WAYS failed to follow generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), lacked sufficient and effective internal controls, and engaged in fiscal mismanagement including concerns regarding occupational fraud and related party transactions. It states, “Based on the evidence presented to FCMAT, there is sufficient documentation to demonstrate that fraud, mismanagement and misappropriation of the charter school funds and assets may have occurred.” (Exhibit 6, p. 45)

Occupational fraud, also called “internal fraud,” occurs when owners, managers and/or employees of an organization misuse or abuse their position for their own enrichment. Occupational fraud has three (3) primary classifications: schemes related to asset misappropriation, corruption, and financial statements. Internal controls are the principal mechanism for preventing and/or deterring occupational fraud. The FCMAT audit demonstrates that WAYS does not have effective internal controls necessary to prevent occupational fraud. (Exhibit 6, p. 9²).

Independent Audit Reports (for fiscal years ending 2012 and 2013) contain findings that WAYS failed to follow (GAAP) and engaged in fiscal mismanagement including related party transactions, inadequate internal controls, and violations of California Education Code. (Exhibit 8 and Exhibit 9)

1. WAYS lacks effective internal controls.

a. The FCMAT Audit (Exhibit 6) contains the following concerns:

- i. “There exists a significant material weakness in the charter school’s internal control environment, which increases the probability of fraud and/or abuse.” (p. 45)
- ii. “Although WAYS had a fiscal policies and procedures handbook, the organization failed to implement or monitor several of the adopted policies and procedures. Recent board minutes document that when board members expressed the need to review and approve certain financial transactions or asked for the back office provider to present the financial statements during open board meetings, management repeatedly ignored these requests. In some cases, management canceled board meetings and caused major disruptions that ended board meetings prematurely.”(pp. 10-11)

² Source: <http://www.surveilligence.com/en/services/fraud-detection/occupational-fraud.html> Retrieved May 27, 2014

- iii. “WAYS’ executive management team failed in their fiduciary duty to obtain contracts, failed to have authorized signatures prior to entering contracts, failed to obtain governing board approval for contracts, and failed to ensure that documents are safeguarded.” (p. 34)
 - iv. “[T]here is an integral relationship between appointed board members and related family members and business associates...that created an environment that allowed and continues to allow access, opportunity and motivation for occupational fraud to occur.” (p. 9)
 - v. “To further demonstrate the lack of effective internal controls, independent audit reports for the last three fiscal years report 15 instances of significant and/or combined internal control conditions. Several of these finding have not been addressed by management and the governing board; therefore, these findings are repeated each year.” (p. 11)
- b. The 2012 Independent Audit (Exhibit 8) contains, but is not limited to, the following findings:
- i. Bank reconciliations. “Bank reconciliations were not properly reviewed resulting in inconsistent bank to book balances and lack of oversight over the bank reconciliation process.... The Organization [WAYS] has not established adequate procedures to ensure that bank reconciliations were reviewed monthly by a supervisor....a transaction material to the cash account might not be recorded properly, resulting in a material misstated financial statements.” (p. 30)
 - ii. Account receivable reconciliation. “The accounts receivable general ledger balance was not reconciled to the accounts receivable subsidiary ledger balances....The Organization has not adequately established written policies and procedures to ensure that the general ledger accounts receivable balance is properly reconciled to subsidiary ledger balances and that difference are investigated and cleared in a timely manner. [This]...could result in materially errors or possible fraudulent activities going undetected resulting in materially misstated financial statements.” (p. 34)
 - iii. Recording transactions without complete supporting documentation. “During the examination it was noted that supporting documentation for several disbursements were not complete.... The Organization [WAYS] has not adequately established written policies and procedures and oversight to ensure that all check requests are accompanied by proper and complete supporting documentation. [This]...could result in payments made for goods or services not received, duplicate payments, or payments that are incorrect or fraudulent.... ” (p. 35)
 - iv. Payroll expense reconciliation. “Payroll expenses were not consistently reconciled to the general ledger...The Organization has not adequately written policies and procedures to ensure the timely reconciliation of payroll expenses. [This]...could result in materially misstated financial statements.” (p. 36)
 - v. Written asset capitalization policy. “The Organization has no written asset capitalization policies or procedures. As such, costs were expensed in the in the financial records that should have been capitalized and depreciated over lives in excess on one year.... The Organization has not adequately established policies and procedures to ensure that fixed assets are properly capitalized and classified in the financial records. [This]...could result in unreliable financial reporting and compliance with applicable laws and regulations.” (p.37)

The school’s response to the 2012 Independent Audit was that it would review and address the concerns.

- c. The 2013 Independent Audit (Exhibit 9) contains, but is not limited to, the following findings:
 - i. Bank reconciliations. “Upon completion of bank reconciliations each month an adjustment is made to the financial statements for any amounts that are unknown as to the nature of the transaction. These amounts are being posted into suspense accounts with the intent of subsequently posting a journal entry to record the transactions into the correct expenditure or revenue account. At year-end these items were not reconciled and posted into the proper accounts. In addition, these items are not supported by any documentation that verifies the amounts are appropriate or approved.... The Academy has not established adequate procedures to ensure that supporting documentation is provided for all transactions associated with the bank accounts.... Management officials from the school site are not providing information necessary to post correcting journal entries. In addition, these items are not being reviewed subsequent to completion of bank reconciliations. Questioned Costs: $13,735 recorded in suspense account” (p. 29)
 - ii. Payroll Expense Reconciliation. “Payroll expenses were not consistently reconciled to the general ledger....The financial statements were misstated by a material amount....The Academy [WAYS] has not adequately established written policies and procedures to ensure the timely reconciliation of payroll expenses and liabilities.” (p. 30)
 - iii. Year-end Accruals and Closing Process. “The Academy did not record closing transactions for accounts receivable, accounts payable, prepaid expenses, and capital assets. In addition, journal entries were posted to the financial statements resulting in recording differences between the trial balance provided for audit purposes and the amounts reported to the Los Angeles County Office of Education for inclusion in their unaudited actuals submitted to the California Department of Education.... The financial statements were misstated by a material amount....The Academy has not adequately established written policies and procedures for year-end closing and recording of accruals.” (pp. 30-31)
 - iv. Payroll Documentation. “Personnel Action Forms which document employee’s position and approved pay rates are not complete. In 100% of Personnel Action Forms reviewed there were missing approval signatures on the forms. In addition, in 9 out of 10 I-9’s reviewed the forms are not being completed correctly. The I-9 forms were either missing the documentation of what items were reviewed to verify eligibility for employment, missing employer signature of verification, or both.... The Academy is exposed to risk of noncompliance with I-9 requirements. In addition, the Academy is exposed to risk of paying individuals who are not approved by management.... The Academy has not established adequate procedures which require hiring documentation be completed and reviewed prior to filing away in the employee file.” (p. 31)

- v. Capital assets. “The Academy is unable to provide a detail of Capital Assets or a depreciation schedule to support amounts recorded in the financial statements.... purchases of capital assets were inappropriately recorded as expenses rather than increases to capital assets. The Academy did not calculate and record depreciation.... There is not sufficient audit evidence to determine if amounts recorded in capital assets are correct or if there is a material misstatement in the financial statements.... the Academy is exposed to risk associated with disappearance of capital assets as there is not a tracking system for such items.... The Academy has not adequately established policies for tracking capital assets and ensuring that they are appropriately recorded in the financial statements.... The Academy has not established procedures for disposal of capital assets.” (p. 32)
- vi. Credit card supporting documentation. “The school is using credit cards to purchase some items and subsequently repaying the credit cards with a check. The credit card statements are being used as supporting documentation for the check written; however, the credit card statements do not include receipts for all expenditures for which they were used.... Expense items paid with credit cards are not adequately supported by itemized receipts and approval documentation. The Academy is exposed to risk of misappropriation of assets.... The Academy has not established adequate written procedures requiring attachment of supporting invoices or receipts for credit card transactions.... Questioned Costs: $5,858 known credit card expenses from sample selected.” (p. 33)
- vii. Beginning net assets. “Beginning net assets were not in agreement with prior year audited ending net assets. The Academy was unable to provide reconciling items that supported adjustments to beginning net assets.... Amounts reported by the Academy as beginning net assets varied from the prior year audit report by $9,727. An adjustment was posted to bring the beginning balance in agreement with prior year audit report.... Beginning net assets were not in agreement with prior year audited ending net assets.... The Academy did not have procedures to reconcile beginning net assets with prior year audit report and did not have procedures in place to track prior year adjustments.” (pp. 33-34)
- viii. Federal award findings. “The Academy did not separately track expenditures for federal programs in their financial software.... OMB Circular A-133 requires the presentation of a schedule of expenditures of federal awards for any agency expending greater than $500,000 of federal awards.... The Academy has not established policies and procedures requiring separate tracking of federal expenditures. There are not adequate internal controls in place to evaluate federal expenditures to ensure that they are accurately reported, meet program requirements, and are not used to supplant existing services.... Questioned Costs: 2012-13 National School Lunch Program (10.555) - $212,061; 2012-13 Special Education Cluster (84.027) - $99,925” (pp. 35-36)

The 2013 Independent Audit (Exhibit 9, p. 39) concludes that the school partially addressed the previous year’s finding regarding bank reconciliation; no other findings were addressed.

WAYS’ response to the 2013 Independent Audit was that it would review the recommendations and subsequently establish necessary procedures to address the concerns.

- 2. WAYS engaged in related party transactions and violated conflict of interest statutes.

a. Transactions involving Founder/Former Executive Director:

Lease Agreement – “The denial by LAUSD included concerns that WAYS failed to comply with the terms of the charter by allowing the charter school to enter “into a self-dealing transaction” with the founder/former executive director and her privately owned facilities that were leased to two of the three schools.

In an attempt to address the conflict of interest with the facility lease agreements for the properties occupied by the schools, the founder/former executive director placed the properties in a revocable trust named OCI Development Corporation in 2010-11. It was subsequently determined and concurred by the WAYS legal counsel that transferring the property to a holding company through a revocable trust did not ultimately transfer property ownership under California law and therefore did not resolve the conflict of interest concern.” (Exhibit 6, p. 19)

Settlement Agreement – WAYS Board paid the founder/former executive director for alleged unused vacation and time-off without proper documentation. “The settlement agreement does not provide any documentation to support this claim; therefore, FCMAT cannot substantiate that the $58,434.78 paid for 90 days of vacation leave and 30 days of unused time off was substantiated with independent records by the business provider in accordance with the employment contract.” (Exhibit 6, p. 21)

Employment Lawsuit – “Documents from a lawsuit settled against the Merle Williamson Foundation (MWF) for wrongful termination of a former teacher at WAYS against the school show that the founder/former executive director traveled to Omtsha, Nigeria and directed one of the school’s teachers to go with her to marry her sister’s husband (brother-in-law) for the purposes of making the brother-in-law a United States citizen.” (Exhibit 6, p. 22; Exhibit 10)

“On December 4, 2012, a jury found in favor of the teacher plaintiff and subsequent judgment was awarded of $566,803.” (Exhibit 6, p. 22)

b. Transactions involving the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager:

The FCMAT Audit states, “...transactions authorized by the director of operations do not represent an arm’s-length transaction.” (Exhibit 6, p. 37) Transactions include, but are not limited to the following:

Procurement and Purchases with OSE – The FCMAT Audit states, “...During the [FCMAT] team’s joint interview with the executive director and director of operations, the team was told that none of the WAYS vendors were related. The team made further inquiries regarding any relationship between WAYS management team or family members and OSE. The director of operations said that OSE Business Services was a legitimate business with many customers and that no relationship existed between these two entities.” (Exhibit 6, p. 25)

“...OSE is owned by Obiesie Enwezor, who is related to other WAYS vendors: Godfrey Okonkwo, Emeka Enwezor, and DeDe Dance Studio and bears the same last name as the founder/former executive director’s brother-in-law, Joseph Njor Enwezor.” (Exhibit 6, p. 22)

“During the fiscal years 2011-12 and 2012-13, WAYS paid $57,533 and $101,338 respectively to OSE, totaling $158,871 for the two-year period.” (Exhibit 6, p. 23)

“A total of 20 invoices were issued by OSE and paid by WAYS. All invoices were approved by the director of operations – the founder/former executive director’s son, along with the current executive director/former board president.” (Exhibit 6, p. 23)

A document LACOE received after the FCMAT Audit was published provides further evidence that the owner of OSE is the cousin of the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager for WAYS. (Exhibit 11)

The FCMAT Audit states, “OSE address printed on their invoices... is identified as the mailing address of Innovative WAYS Academy. The CEO of Innovative WAYS Academy is: The founder of DeDe Dance Studio and vice principal of WAYS; The daughter of the founder/former executive director of WAYS; The sister of WAYS’ director of operations, and; The CEO of DeDe Dance Studio that operates business at the WAYS school site.” (Exhibit 6, p. 25)

Additionally, the FCMAT Audit states that OSE was not registered with the Internal Revenue Service and State Franchise Tax Board at the time WAYS made purchases from OSE and WAYS did not issue a Form 1099 or a W-9 to OSE as required by law. Additional details are provided in the FCMAT Audit. (Exhibit 6, p. 26)

The FCMAT Audit also states, “Obiesie Enwezor, owner of OSE, refused to meet with FCMAT; therefore, the team cannot confirm that OSE is a legitimate business that properly reported income and sales taxes totaling $158,871 from WAYS to the taxing authorities, or that merchandise was actually delivered by OSE and received by WAYS.” (Exhibit 6, p. 26)

“According to OSE’s email dated December 16, 2013, the owner states that OSE does not buy or resell... ‘...OSE Business Services is not a resale company or store, OSE is a service provider. We do not buy or resale. We provide and coordinate purchasing and delivery services to various agencies.’ The owner’s statement that OSE is a service provider and is “not in the resale business” is not supported by the presentation of the paid invoices to his company.” (Exhibit 6, p. 27)

“The irregularities described in this report attributable to alleged supplies purchased from OSE raise serious concerns about the OSE and WAYS business relationship and whether OSE actually sold any supplies to WAYS.” (Exhibit 6, p. 31)

Further, the manner in which OSE was chosen as a service provider and the manner in which purchases were paid conflicts with WAYS’ 2006 adopted fiscal policies (Exhibit 12) as follows:

- (1) There is no evidence of a competitive bidding process;
- (2) Prior to initiating at least one order, the school failed to ensure there were sufficient funds to cover the expenditure based on the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager’s statement to FCMAT (Exhibit 6, p. 23) that OSE was paid by cashier’s check because they had “bounced a check”;
- (3) Purchases were not initiated by a purchase order; and
- (4) The procedures for receipt of order were not followed. Additionally, there is no evidence the WAYS’ Board approved OSE as a vendor, to provide a “check-and-balance” to the related party transaction.

A review of WAYS 2011, 20112, and 2013 Wells Fargo bank statements do not indicate any insufficient funds or returned checks. This contradicts the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager's statement to FCMAT that cashier's checks were used because WAYS "bounced a check and OSE only wanted to be paid by cashier's check." (Exhibit 6, p. 23)

Payments to DeDe Dance Studio – The WAYS vice principal (daughter of founder/former executive director) is the owner of...a non-profit corporation known as DeDe Dance Studio" and "DeDe Dance Studio was paid a total of $73,800 by WAYS between April 2009 and April 2013."

"The director of operations and brother of the WAYS vice principal and owner of DeDe Dance Studio authorized the checks from WAYS totaling $73,800 that were paid to DeDe Dance Studio."

"During the [FCMAT] team interview of the WAYS vice principal on November 15, 2013, she stated that DeDe Dance Studio was paid from the ASES [After School Education and Safety] program funds for dance study during the after school program..." (Exhibit 6, p. 38)

The 2012 independent Audit Report also identifies the payments to DeDe Dance Studio as related party transaction. It states, "DeDe Dance Studio, a non-profit organization, provided after school program service to WAYS. WAYS' assistant principal is the executive director of the DeDe Dance Studio and is related to the WAYS' Director of Operations. During the year-ended June 30, 2012, DeDe Dance Studio received payments of $36,000 from WAYS." (Exhibit 8, p. 15)

Further, the manner in which DeDe Dance Studio was chosen as a service provider for the ASES Grant is in conflict with WAYS' 2006 adopted fiscal policies (Exhibit 12) as there is no evidence of a competitive bidding process. Additionally, there is no evidence the WAYS governing board approved the selection of DeDe Dance Studio as the ASES service provider to provide a "check-and-balance" to the related bylaws transaction.

Additional Related Party Transactions – The FCMAT Audit (Exhibit 6, p. 39) identifies additional related party transactions that occurred between the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager and Godfrey Okonkwo and Emeka Enwezor related to the lease of a van. These individuals are the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Managers' father and cousin, respectively. The Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager "is the individual authorizing the check requests and financial transactions for WAYS.... WAYS failed to obtain a signed contract and board authorization to lease the van." (Exhibit 6, p. 37)

FCMAT concluded, "Failure to disclose related party transaction may be considered a departure from GAAP that could result in a qualified or adverse audit opinion and the potential for civil and criminal prosecution." (Exhibit 6, p. 36)

3. WAYS violated provisions of law

Violations of law identified in the school's 2012 and 2013 Independent Audits include, but are not limited to the following:

- a. Late submission of Independent Audits. The Independent Audits for 2012 and 2013 identify a lack of compliance with EC 47605(m), which specifies the date by which a school's Independent Audit is to be submitted. WAYS failed to submit its Independent Audits to the State Controller's Office, CDE, and LACOE by the statutory due date of December 15.

(Exhibit 8, p. 4; Exhibit 9, p. 2)

- b. Failure to comply with state requirements of the After School Education and Safety (ASES) Program.

The 2013 Independent Audit (Exhibit 9, p. 37), states:

A. Education Code 8483(a)(2) states that it is the intent of legislature that elementary school students attend the full day of the program every day in which students participate, except as consistent with the LEA's early release policy.

B. Education Code Criteria 8483.9(a) limits indirect costs to the lesser of the LEA's approved indirect cost rate or 5%.

The Audit also states WAYS failed to comply with these statutory requirements as follows:

A. Sign out sheets for the after school education and safety program did not include time student was released for 827 out of 896 days tested. It could not be determined if these students participated in the full day of the program or if they met early release policy of the LEA.

B. The Academy used an indirect cost rate of 5.26% which exceeds the allowable 5% for the program.

The multiple concerns of the FCMAT report, coupled with the deficiencies and conditions identified in the WAYS 2012 and 2013 Independent Audits, demonstrate the school's continued departure from GAAP and resulting fiscal mismanagement.

EC 47607(c)(1): WAYS committed a material violation of...the conditions, standards, or procedures set forth in the charter

A. WAYS Governing Board Failed to Exercise Fiscal and Institutional Control

The WAYS Governing Board (Board) committed material violations of Charter Element 4 (Governance)

Charter Element 4 (Governance Structure) establishes the Board's responsibilities to provide overall oversight of the school. Through the Board's lack of general oversight and its failure to monitor and evaluate the performance of the school's Executive Director and Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager, the WAYS Board failed to ensure that these administrators fulfilled the job duties specified in Charter Element 5 (Employee Qualifications and Rights); complied with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP); and did not engage in and/or allow fiscal mismanagement of the school.

The Board's failure to follow the oversight provisions of the charter, Board bylaws, and Board policies, resulted in the school's failure to comply with GAAP and fiscal mismanagement as established under the EC 47607(c)(3) section, above.

Sections B and C, below, provide specific evidence of how the WAYS Board failed to exercise fiscal and institutional control, thereby materially violating the terms of its charter.

B. WAYS Board Violated Charter Element 4: Governance

The WAYS Board failed to provide adequate oversight of the charter school and its administrators as follows:

1. It failed to provide adequate fiscal oversight:
 - a. It did not establish a Finance Committee as required by the charter
 - b. It did not develop adequate Fiscal Policies
 - c. It relinquished its authority to approve contracts
 - d. It did not provide adequate oversight in the development of the school budget
 - e. It improperly authorize the expenditure of school funds
2. It did not establish and/or approve policies prior to implementation
3. It did not hold monthly meetings and did not follow its bylaws and the Brown Act with regard to meetings
4. It did not provide proper oversight of the school's Executive Director and Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager and did not conduct performance evaluations
5. The Board President did not provide an annual report to the WAYS Board as stipulated in the charter

The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012,³ states:

WAYS shall comply with the Brown Act. The Governing Board of WAYS will meet monthly. The Notice of Governing Board Meetings, Notices, Agendas and Minutes will be posted in the main office on the information bulletin board as well as in common passing areas at a minimum of three days before the meeting....

...This board is responsible for developing and establishing a set of governing bylaws as required by laws that will apply to Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists.

Members of the WAYS' executive board, any administrators, managers or employees, and any other committees of the School shall comply with federal and state laws, nonprofit integrity standards and the County's Charter School policies and regulations regarding ethics and conflicts of interest....

The Board of Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will be made up of 5 – 15 members that include community member representatives. Paid employees of WAYS may not sit on the Governing Board of WAYS. The board members are made up of the founding parents, educators, and community members. (see Appendix C). The County reserves the right to appoint a single representative to serve on the Board pursuant to Education Code section 47604 (b). The remaining members will be nominated from the school community and outer community members, based on their expertise and desire to promote a quality educational program. These individuals may have backgrounds in areas such as business, law, fundraising, community outreach, finance, mental health, etc., along with their willingness to serve a needed role on the WAYS Board. During the term of this charter, WAYS will comply with the provisions of the Brown Act and Government Code section 1090, as those sections are amended from time to time. WAYS will fax a copy of all meeting notices to the County's Charter Schools Office.

³ A revised charter petition was additionally submitted to LACOE as a result of Arbitration on February 14, 2014. Element 4 (Governance) contains no material changes to the language contained in the charter petition submitted on December 18, 2012. On May 20, 2014, a new version of the charter petition was submitted, also as the result of Arbitration; LACOE has not yet reviewed this document.

The Governing Board ultimately will be charged with assessing how the school is doing overall. The President of the Governing Board will provide an annual report to the Board of Principals of the Merle Williamson Foundation in April of each year.... it will review the information [from administration] and ascertain whether recommendations need to be made or committees need to be formed to work on specific issues. These committees may examine closely the curriculum and staffing priorities for maximum effectiveness; identifying budgetary priorities involving the use of discretionary funds; evaluating the academic effectiveness of the school program, its administration and staff, and make recommendations for improvement, accordingly. These committees are established to implement the business of the Governing Board and to facilitate it's functioning. Furthermore, the Governing Board facilitates communication and team building and acts as negotiator for disagreements.

Matters that arise concerning budgets, curriculum, school discipline, and other school matters will begin at the level of teachers and parents. The Governing Board may, from time to time, establish committees and working groups to develop a policy for the school regarding specific issues and present its findings to the Governing Board and the School Community. WAYS has adapted a set of detailed procedures and policies for all fiscal matters, which are outlined in Element I. Core policies that the board will adopt include:

- Fiscal Policies – how the school's budget is drafted, approved and monitored; budget development calendar; staff roles related to fiscal issues.*
- Instructional Program Policies – when necessary, establish formal policies to clarify or add specific/amend specific charter elements*
- Personnel Policies – Establishes how the school recruits, hires, monitors, compensates, and dismisses staff. Policies will also be adopted that address state and federal labor laws related to non-discrimination, leaves, sexual harassment, and other matters. These policies will be adopted prior to hiring staff and will be drafted with legal consultation.*
- Student and Parent Policies – how the school recruits orients, admit, disciplines, suspends, and expels students. These policies will also clarify parents' roles and responsibilities.*
- Legal Policies – Board members' legal responsibilities, including conflict of interest, duty of care, confidentiality (See Appendix E).*
- Internal Board Policies – Board composition and renewal/succession and to clarify any policy ambiguities*
- Policy, policy – this policy will help to keep the policy development process at a minimum and describe how policies are made and revised.*

The Governing Board will:

- Insure that the entire school is moving in the direction of the school vision.*
- Serve as a clearinghouse for information to facilitate communication.*
- Monitor committees to ensure progress toward goals and accomplishment of duties.*
- Assist Administration in dealing with incoming information to the school and disseminating information to the School Community.*

Analysis:

1. The WAYS Board failed to provide adequate fiscal oversight, which contributed to fiscal mismanagement of the school.

a. It did not establish a Finance Committee as required by the charter:

- i. A review of WAYS Board agendas, minutes, and audio recordings from July 2011 to March 2014 (Exhibit 13⁴) shows there has never been a report from the Finance Committee to the WAYS Board and there was no posting of a Budget or Finance Committee meeting on the school's website.
- ii. The October 24, 2013 WAYS Board agenda contains the item, "Formation of the Board's Finance and Budget Committee" indicating such a committee had not been in place. (Exhibit 13)
- iii. The January 6, 2014 WAYS Board agenda contains item "13092601: Monthly Budget Update for 2013-14 School Year..." The audio recording of the meeting contains a discussion between the Board President and Bali Business Management (Bali), the school's contracted back-office provider, in which the Bali consultant explains he believes there had been a Finance Committee when the school had been authorized by LAUSD, but that "something happened" indicating there had been no Finance Committee since the school had been operating under the authority of the County Board. (Exhibit 13)
- iv. The January 29, 2014 WAYS Board agenda states there was to be a meeting of the Budget and Finance Committee meeting on that date; however neither a time nor place is identified and no meeting minutes were submitted to LACOE. (Exhibit 13)

b. It did not develop adequate Fiscal Policies:

- i. The 2011 Independent Audit (Exhibit 14) identified "material weaknesses" and "significant deficiencies" with the school's "internal control over financial reporting" and indicated "This problem was systemic" (p. 28)
- ii. The 2012 Independent Audit (Exhibit 8) identified "one or more significant deficiencies with the school's internal control over financial reporting" (p. 29)

The Independent Audit states the school's response is that it will review and monitor the conditions identified in the report and correct as applicable. (pp. 30-37)

- iii. The WAYS Board agendas and meeting minutes fail to indicate any discussion and/or action on revising Fiscal Policies until July 31, 2012. The agenda for this meeting lists Item IV. G "Approval of Revised Fiscal Policy." (Exhibit 13)

The audio recording for this meeting documents that the Board Chair stated, "This is going to be moved to a future agenda item." There was no discussion on the item. The Board did not take action to amend its Fiscal Policies until January 31, 2013, six (6) months later.

⁴ Exhibit 13 contains a copy of all WAYS Board Meeting Agendas and Minutes that were submitted to LACOE from July 2011 through March 2014.

- iv. LACOE asked the WAYS administrators for revised Fiscal Policies on at least three (3) separate occasions beginning in November 2011. (Exhibit 15)
- v. Subsequent to WAYS Board approving the Revised Fiscal Policies on January 31, 2013, those policies were submitted to LACOE. The Controller's Office reviewed the Revised Fiscal Policies and on April 18, 2013, provided WAYS with specific feedback as to where "additional measures" were needed to "strengthen internal control and safeguard assets of WAYS Charter School." (Exhibit 16) The school did not respond to LACOE's letter.
- vi. The 2013 Independent Audit (Exhibit 9) found "One or more material weakness(es)" and "One or more significant deficiencies" with WAYS' "Internal control over financial reporting" and "One or more material weakness(es)" with "Internal control over major programs". (p. 28)

The Independent Audit further notes that WAYS did not fully implement all recommendations from its previous audit. (p. 39)

The school's response is that they will "review this recommendation and subsequently establish necessary procedures." (pp. 29-34)

- vii. The February 27, 2014 WAYS Board agenda contains item, "IX. m. Response to Annual Audit findings – Discussion." A copy of WAYS Fiscal Policies and Procedures Handbook and a copy of a document entitled Fiscal Policies and Procedures Handbook "Charter School" with the logo for ExED on each page was submitted to LACOE with the agenda as board materials.

Meeting minutes for that February 27, 2014 state, "VIII. q. Response to Annual Audit findings – Discussion i. Discussion by Jason Okonkwo and Halilu of Bali Business Management regarding changes to WAYS' Financial Policies in the future Board Meetings." Neither the agenda nor meeting minutes indicate any revisions to Fiscal Policies were discussed or made. (Exhibit 13)

- viii. The FCMAT Audit (Exhibit 6) states in part:

The failure to establish adequate internal controls...coupled with the lack of accountability to the governing board created an environment for fraud and misappropriation to occur. (p. 11)

FCMAT's findings are consistent with the independent auditor's reports for WAYS for the fiscal years ending June 30, 2012 and June 30, 2013. Both FCMAT and independent auditors find that WAYS has significant internal control conditions and has failed to ensure that adequate internal controls are in place. (p. 31)

*Based on the evidence presented to FCMAT, there is sufficient documentation to demonstrate that fraud, mismanagement and misappropriation of the charter school funds and assets may have occurred. There exists a significant material weakness in the charter school's internal control environment, which increases the probability of fraud and/or abuse. These findings should be of great concern to the WAYS governing board and the LACOE governing board and require immediate intervention to limit the risk of fraud and/or misappropriation of assets in the future. (p. 45 Emphasis added)

- c. It limited its authority to approve contracts:
- i. The WAYS Board has not reserved the right, by its charter, bylaws, or Fiscal Policy, to review or approve contracts in advance of their execution. Article VII, Section 1. GENERAL POWERS of the 2011 bylaws (Exhibit 17) states:

The Board may delegate the management of the corporation's activities to any person(s), management company, or committees, however composed, provided that the activities and affairs of the corporation shall be managed and all corporate powers shall be exercised under the ultimate direction of the Board.

- ii. WAYS 2002 Board bylaws (Exhibit 18) assigned broader authority to the Board with respect to contract approval; these bylaws were submitted to LAUSD with the renewal petition. However, the Board revised its bylaws in March 2011, after the charter petition was submitted to LAUSD and before the appeal was submitted to LACOE. As an appeal of a denied petition, the County Board was only able to consider the bylaws submitted to LAUSD (dated 2002). Findings pursuant to those 2002 bylaws are documented in the staff report to the County Board. (Exhibit 19) The report states in part:

The governance structure fails to provide adequate oversight of the school's operation and fiscal management. Failure of the articles of incorporation and bylaws to state the purpose of the corporation is to provide for the operation of a publicly funded charter school is further evidence that the structure lacks a seriousness of purpose. The bylaws states the board has only one regularly scheduled meeting, which is insufficient to provide for effective governing of a public charter school. The governing board's lack of effective oversight has jeopardized the school's charter status and there is no evidence that the board can implement the proposed educational program stated in the petition. (pp. 9-10)

The WAYS Board has been operating under the 2011 bylaws, although it materially revised the responsibility of the WAYS Board and significantly increased the authority of the school's administration.

- iii. The WAYS Board is inconsistent in its oversight with respect to approving contracts and purchases.

A review of the WAYS Board agendas, minutes, and audio recordings from July 2011 to March 2014 (Exhibit 13) show key contracts did not receive prior Board approval, and the delegation of the signing of contracts to the school's administrators resulted in the Board's failure to "exercise its ultimate direction." Examples include:

Major Facilities Improvement (Air Conditioning) of Leased Buildings – The WAYS Board did not approve the contracts (approximately $10,000 each) to install air conditioning at 706 East Manchester facilities building A (DeDe Dance Studio) and building D.

The agenda (Exhibit 13) and audio recording of the July 31, 2012 WAYS Board meeting, documents that the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager stated to the WAYS Board that the school had “started early, before approval” on an air conditioning construction project.

When the item for the over $20,000 project was brought to the WAYS Board for action, the audio recording documents that a Board member questioned the purpose of the vote by commenting, “They’ve already started.”

Site Lease for Salvation Army Facility – The agenda (Exhibit 13) and audio recording for July 31, 2012, WAYS Board meeting documents that the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager informed the Board that the lease for the Salvation Army site was still in negotiations and was not available for the Board to approve at that time. However, the minutes of that meeting state, “Approval of Salvation Army 2012-13 FY Property Lease – Approved 5/0.”

The lease was signed by the school’s Executive Director on August 1, 2012.

Board approval of the contract was not listed as an item on any subsequent agenda or meeting minutes through June 2013, the remainder of the 2012-13 school year.

On February 3, 2014, the WAYS Board approved a resolution for the Board to enter into a lease for the Salvation Army site for 2013-14. The resolution reads, “...the Board of Directors of this corporation be and is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to enter a Commercial Property Lease 2013-14 Fiscal Year – 7651 South Central Ave Los Angeles, Ca on behalf of said corporation.” However, the lease was signed by the Executive Director in October 2013. (Exhibit 20) Therefore, the Executive Director entered into the lease without the approval of the WAYS Board.

Vehicle Purchase and Sale –

Purchase: The July 31, 2012 WAYS Special Board meeting (Exhibit 13), lists as Item “VII. H. Approval of Resolution to Purchase/Lease a Vehicle for School Business;” however, the audio recording documents that the actual motion was to “look into vehicles for the school.” This motion was approved unanimously.

The signed Board Resolution does not reflect the motion made by the Board member, but erroneously reflects the language on the agenda as cited above. The actual motion did not give approval to purchase or lease a vehicle, but rather to “look into” that possibility. Therefore, the school’s administrators entered into a contract to purchase a vehicle without proper Board approval. (Exhibit 21)

Sale: On November 30, 2013, the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager sold a school vehicle prior to Board approval of the sale. The sale was initiated, and completed on January 28, 2014, according to documents provided to the WAYS Board for its February 3, 2014 meeting. (Exhibit 22) The sale of the school vehicle was not approved by the WAYS Board until its February 3, 2014 special meeting. (Exhibit 13)

Contract for 2013 Independent Audit – On November 18, 2013, the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager signed the contract for the 2013 Independent

Audit (Exhibit 23) more than two (2) months prior to the Board approving the selection of that Auditor at its February 3, 2014 special meeting. (Exhibit 24)

Employment Contracts for Executive Director and Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager – The 2013-14 employment contract for the Executive Director was not approved until February 3, 2014 Board meeting (Exhibit 13) and a review of Board meeting agendas and minutes (Exhibit 13) provide no evidence that the Board approved an employment contract for the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager since 2011.

A November 20, 2013 email from Board President Tolbert to the Executive Director states the lack of “The review/approval of a contract for the Executive Director; if one had been provided. In fact, no contracts for this school year have been presented to the Board for review, approval or denial.” (Exhibit 25)

The February 27, 2014 WAYS Board agenda (Exhibit 13) and audio recording documents that 2013-14 employment agreements for WAYS staff other than the Executive Director, including contracts for the Director of Operations/Onsite Financial Manager (who reports to and is evaluated by the Board), Principal and Assistant Principal were not approved by the WAYS Board even though it was eight (8) months into the school year.

The Board’s failure to approve major dollar contracts before they were executed and its general assignment of this responsibility to the school’s administration results in a lack of checks and balances necessary to reduce the likelihood of fiscal mismanagement. This action shows the board relinquished one of its key fiduciary responsibilities, allowing the school’s administrators to enter into contracts without the Board’s prior approval.

- d. It did not provide adequate oversight in the development and approval of the school’s budget.

WAYS Director of Operations/On-site Financial Manager submitted the WAYS budget to LACOE on July 3, 2013, prior to its approval by the WAYS Board. The following chronology establishes the Board’s lack of oversight of the budget development and approval process:

- i. June 6, 2013 Board Meeting: Agenda (Exhibit 13) lists 2013-14 Budget as discussion item. Written materials in the Board packet and the audio recording of the meeting document that the discussion with Bali centered on the 2012-13 Budget as of April 30, 2013.

The discussion related to the 2013-14 Budget was that WAYS’ administration and Bali were currently developing the budget and that a Board meeting would need to take place before the end of June to approve that budget.

- ii. June 26, 2013 Board Meeting: Agenda (Exhibit 13) lists 2013-14 Budget approval as action item; meeting cancelled due to lack of quorum.
- iii. July 3, 2013: LACOE received WAYS 2013-14 Budget.
- iv. July 26, 2013 Board Meeting: Agenda (Exhibit 13) lists adoption of 2013-14 Budget as action item; minutes state item tabled until next Board meeting.

- v. August 9, 2013 Board Meeting: Agenda (Exhibit 13) lists adoption of 2013-14 Budget as action item; the meeting was cancelled due to lack of quorum.
- vi. August 29, 2013 Board Meeting: Agenda (Exhibit 13) lists 2013-14 Budget as action item; audio recording documents that the Board asked questions about revenue and expenditures. Board Member Espinoza asked the Bali Consultant about the reason line item 5890 (Other services and operating expenses) increased from $10,000 in 2012-13 to $128,724 in 2013-14. He asked what services were included in this line item and why the increase was so dramatic.

The audio recording documents that The Bali Consultant stated he was only prepared to give a summary report and did not have the information to answer the question. The Board requested an explanation be presented at its next meeting.

The Board stated it was aware of the necessity of approving the budget as it was late August and the school needed to spend money to start the school year.

The Board took action to have line item 5890 restored to $10,000 and instructed Bali to hold the difference of $118,000 in reserve until the Board received an explanation of the expenditures contained in the line item. The Board voted to approve the budget with the change stated, above.

- vii. September 26, 2013 Board Meeting: Agenda (Exhibit 13) lists 2013-14 Budget approval as action item; minutes state, "Unable to address this item at this time as presenter has not yet arrived."
- viii. October 24, 2013 Board Meeting:

Minutes from August 29, 2013 presented for approval did not indicate that 2013-14 Budget was approved with the stipulation that line item 5890 was returned to $10,000. (Exhibit 13)

The audio recording of the meeting documents that the Board, in its approval of the Minutes, amended them to reflect Mr. Espinoza's motion that the budget was approved with line item 5890 restored to $10,000 until further clarification of that line item could be provided. Revised meeting minutes were never received by LACOE.

Agenda (Exhibit 13) lists discussion and possible action on 2013-14 Budget with presentation from Bali Business Management. A review of the audio recording documents that no discussion or action took place. The meeting minutes (Exhibit 13) state, "A DISRUPTION OCCURRED AT THE END [of] CLOSED SESSION BY AN ADMISTRATIVE EMPLOYEE. NO OTHER BOARD BUSINESS WAS ABLE TO BE CONDUCTED." A November 12, 2013 letter from the Executive Director to LACOE that accompanied the audio recording corroborates that the meeting ended abruptly. (Exhibit 26)

- ix. February 4, 2014 email from LACOE Controller's Office to Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager: The communication requests evidence of board approval of the annual budget due in July each year and other items. (Exhibit 27)

- x. February 5, 2014, Response from Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager: Email with August 29, 2013 Board minutes of the attached. (Exhibit 28)

The document sent by the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager to LACOE was the first page of the August 29, 2013 minutes, signed by Board Members Valenti and Johnson and dated February 3, 2014.

The minutes show the budget was approved, but does not reflect the approved amendments to the budget made on August 29, 2013 (e.g., restoration of line item 5890 to $10,000), which was further documented through the audio recording of the October 24, 2013 meeting.

While the February 3, 2014 Agenda lists Board action to approve Minutes for the August 29, 2013 meeting, these Minutes had been approved on October 24, 2013. Additionally, the Board lacked a quorum at the point in this meeting when this action took place.

The WAYS Board did not establish sufficient policies and/or approve policies prior to implementation.

- e. It improperly authorized the expenditure of school funds.
 - i. It authorized staff stipends without appropriate criteria or supporting documents. On February 27, 2014, the Board approved Item IX. b. "Performance Based 2013-14 School Year Stipends Round One – Action." (Exhibit 13)

The audio recording of that Board meeting indicates the Board Chair asked the Executive Director about classroom observation used to substantiate these "Performance Based Stipends." The Executive Director said the stipends were for staff that performed extra duties, not for their classroom performance. The Board committed two (2) errors in approving these stipends as follows:

First, the item was improperly stated on the agenda in violation of the Brown Act. Performance based stipends are not the same as extra duty compensation; and Second, without written criteria and supporting documentation to justify the payments, they may constitute a gift of public funds.

- ii. It approved the expenditure of funds to the founder/former executive director without evidence the funds were owed. WAYS Board paid the founder/former executive director for alleged unused vacation and time-off without proper documentation as previously described on page 8 of this report and in the FCMAT Audit. (Exhibit 6, p. 21)

2. The WAYS Board did not establish and/or approve policies prior to implementation.

- a. The Board did not develop and approve sufficient Fiscal Policies as documented above.
- b. The Board did not develop Personnel Policies. A review of Board agendas, minutes, and audio recordings from July 2011 to March 2014 (Exhibit 13) indicates the WAYS Board did not develop or approve Personnel Policies, and Personnel Policies were not submitted to LACOE. If such policies existed, they were required to be submitted to LACOE per the fully executed LACOE MOU.

- c. The Board did not approve policies before implementation and/or submission to LACOE. A review of Board agendas, minutes, and audio recordings from July 2011 to March 2014 (Exhibit 13) does not indicate that the Board had approved policies the school's administration had submitted to LACOE. A November 20, 2013 email from Board President Tolbert to the Executive Director states her concern that the Board had not approved policies that needed to be submitted to LACOE. (Exhibit 25)
3. The WAYS Board did not hold monthly meetings and did not follow its bylaws and the Brown Act with regard to meetings.

The charter dated December 18, 2012 states, "The Governing Board of WAYS will meet monthly."

Section 15 of the WAYS 2011 bylaws states, "Regular meetings of the Board of Directors, including annual meetings, shall be held monthly..."

Section 18 of the WAYS 2011 bylaws states, "QUORUM. A majority of the directors then in office shall constitute a quorum. All acts or decisions of the Board of Directors will be by majority vote based upon the presence of a quorum. Should there be less than a majority of the directors present at any meeting, the meeting shall be adjourned. Directors may not vote by proxy."

- a. The Board held an insufficient number of Regular Meetings to effectively govern the school and provide necessary oversight. Between July 2011 and March 2014, the Board held 33% of the Regular Monthly Meetings stated in the charter and bylaws (11 of a possible 33). Regular Meetings were cancelled, postponed, or rescheduled 20 times.
- b. The school does not publish a schedule of Regular Meetings for parents, staff, or the community through its website or school calendar. It does submit a yearly list of Regular Meeting dates to LACOE as required by the MOU. The school does not comply with the requirements of the Brown Act with regard to establishing a Regular Meeting schedule, although the charter states the school will comply with the Brown Act.

The Brown Act differentiates between Regular and Special Meetings:

Regular Meetings are held at a preset time and place. Each local agency must establish a regular meeting schedule by resolution or ordinance; 72-hour notice is required.

Special Meetings are held for a specific purpose. Special meetings may be called by the presiding officer or a majority of the members of the legislative body; 24-hour notice is required⁵.

- c. The WAYS Board relies on Special Meetings to conduct its regular business, which is a violation of the Brown Act and the school's charter.

The chart below provides information regarding the Regular Meeting schedule of the WAYS Board based on the yearly list of dates it submits to LACOE in August each year and/or as amended. Special Meetings that were scheduled and/or held are provided under Notes.

2013-14 Summary: (through March 2014)	Calendared Regular Meetings held 5 of 9 months

4. The WAYS Board did not provide proper oversight of the school’s Executive Director and Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager and did not conduct performance evaluations.

Charter Element 5: Employee Qualifications (Section 5.2) of the WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012, states:

“Evaluation: The Executive Director reports to and is evaluated by WAYS Board of Directors....”

“Evaluation: The Director of Operations reports to and is evaluated by the Board of Directors.”

“Evaluation: The On-Site Financial Manager reports to and is evaluated by the Board of Directors.”

- a. The WAYS Board did not provide proper oversight of the school’s Executive Director and Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager and did not conduct performance evaluations.

Failure to provide oversight of its key administrators is evidence the Board did not assume its duty of care or fulfill the terms of the charter with respect to oversight of its administrative employees.

- i. It failed to properly oversee the activities of the founder/former executive director, which resulted in an improper Professional Liability Settlement. On December 4, 2012, a former WAYS teacher was awarded $566,803 in a judgment against MWF for wrongful termination. The settlement was the result of actions by the founder/former executive director. (Exhibit 6, p. 22; Exhibit 10)
- ii. A review of WAYS Board agendas, minutes, and audio recordings from July 2011 to March 2014 (Exhibit 13) shows the WAYS Board did not evaluate these administrators, although the charter petition states each of these positions “reports to and is evaluated by WAYS Board of Directors....”
- iii. At the May 24, 2012 Special Board Meeting, the Board directed the school’s administrators to bring it options for hiring a Business Management Consultant (e.g., back office provider). The request was made again at the June 28, 2013 Board meeting. (Exhibit 13)

To date, there is no evidence through Board agendas, minutes, or audio recordings that staff complied with this request.

- iv. It failed to ensure the school’s conditions of employment were being enforced. The WAYS Vice Principal operated a private school during paid hours as an employee of the charter school in violation of employment contract language, which states:

2. Work Schedule

Although teachers are contracted for 8 hours per day, the minimum on-site hours re listed below. From time to time, Vice Principal is expected to fulfill regular contracted hours in order to accommodate parents’ schedules, and school activities.

*Minimum on-site hours: M, T, W, Th, Fr: 7:30a. – 4:30pm

Workdays for the Employee shall be consistent with the applicable calendar of work days for this position for the period of one school year in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement. Employment is at-will as specified in Section [C] below.

Employee will not render services in person or by electronic means, paid or otherwise, for any other person or entity during contracted work hours with Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists. (Underlining added)

The WAYS Vice Principal made her affiliation with her private school, Innovative WAYS Academy, public through the private school's website and other Internet postings. The information documenting the WAYS Vice Principal's involvement with her private school began as early as the summer of 2012. (Exhibit 29)

A private investigator documented that WAYS Vice Principal spent time at her private school during the "Minimum on-site hours" stipulated in her employment contract. (Exhibit 6, p. 38)

5. The WAYS Board President did not provide an annual report to the WAYS Board as required by the charter. A review of WAYS Board agendas, minutes, and audio recordings from July 2011 to March 2014 (Exhibit 13) shows there has never been an annual report from the Board President to the WAYS Board.

C. The WAYS Board and its Employees Violated Charter Element 5: Employee Qualifications (Section 5.2)

The WAYS Executive Director violated his duties as specified in the charter. The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012, states:

Evaluation: The Executive Director reports to and is evaluated by WAYS Board of Directors....

Governance: will work with the Board Chair to ensure that the Board of Directors fulfills its governance functions. She [sic] will be responsible for facilitating optimum performance of the Board, its committees, and individual members;

Financial Management: will oversee the financial systems of the organization, including the development of the annual Budget;

Compliance: is responsible for ensuring that the school follows all legal requirements implemented by the authorizing authority as well as the State of California. This includes Charter Renewal, WASC accreditation, required tracking of State and Federal funds...

The WAYS Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager violated his duties as specified in the charter. The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012, states:

Evaluation: The Director of Operations reports to and is evaluated by the Board of Directors.

Safety: Ensure safety on campus by overseeing Emergency Preparedness, Environmental Health and Safety, Fire Prevention Services

Purchasing: purchases parts and materials at a reasonable quality and at a reasonable price. Monitor all interest, credit, and purchase order accounts.

Contracts/Contractors management: management of contracts made with customers, vendors, partners, or employees. Including negotiating the terms and conditions in contracts, ensuring compliance with the terms and conditions, as well as documenting and agreeing on any changes that may arise during its implementation or execution.

Evaluation: The On-Site Financial Manager reports to and is evaluated by the Board of Directors.

Informs the Executive Director of the guidelines and procedures for the year's budget process. Provide the management staff with the formats and timelines for preparing the school budget.

Review the budget and check the calculations and the basis for the calculations.

Prepare a draft budget based on the requests by the Executive Director taking into account other operating expenses of the school, and all other contractual obligations of the school. This budget will include both capital and operating budgets for the fiscal year.

Meet with the Executive Director and review the budgets, their assumptions and computations related to both revenue projections and expenditure estimates. In reviewing the budgets for recommendation to the finance committee the priorities of the school, revenue availability and fiscal responsibility must be considered.

Prepare the final recommended budget based on agreements reached from the meeting with the Executive Director for presentation to the Finance Committee and Board of for approval.

Responsible for making sure the budgets are being implemented correctly. This includes working with the Accounting Staff to input the budgets into the accounting system to help monitor budgets to actual comparison. Also working with the Administrative Assistant and Staff Consultant to answer budget related questions and reporting any problems and proposed solutions to the Executive Director

Review budget to actual report prepared by Staff Consultant and make necessary adjustments and narratives or comments before presenting to Executive Director, and Board.

Revise the budget for board consideration when there is a material change in the approved budget.

Analysis:

1. The WAYS Executive Director violated his duties as specified in the charter. Evidence includes, but is not limited to the following:
 - a. The Executive Director failed to facilitate optimum performance of the Board, its committees, and individual members.
 - i. He did not provide the Board with timely and accurate information regarding federal tax filing (Form 990). At the February 27, 2014 (Exhibit 13) Board meeting, the Executive Director presented an unsigned 2012 Form 990 for Board approval.

However, the Form 990 had been signed by the Executive Director on November 14, 2013, and is date stamped as received on November 18, 2013. (Exhibit 30)

- ii. He failed to cooperate with and support the Board President. A November 20, 2013 email from WAYS Board President Tolbert to the Executive Director (Exhibit 25) indicates the Executive Director was not “working with the Board Chair.” President Tolbert’s email states:

...I read your [Executive Director’s] email unilaterally postponing the Board of Directors’ meeting; even though I emailed a draft agenda to you at 4:40 PM – in time for you to post it by 5:00 PM to meet the 72-hour deadline required by the Brown Act... However, you did find time to send out a scurrilous email requesting that the ‘new’ board members step down; and identifying me specifically.

a. Your administrative responsibilities do not give you the prerogative to postpone Board meetings... Moreover, you were keenly aware of the time-sensitive documents being requested by LACOE. We were to submit these documents below not later than November 22, 2013...

e. An overdue monthly budget presentation from Bali Business Management explaining to the Board a line item budget increase of $118,000 from the previous school year in supplies. As you may recall, in August the Board ‘conditionally’ approved this year’s budget in order that some funds could be used to open the school-year, although LACOE would receive a ‘conditionally approved’ 2013-14 budget. Since August, the Board has not had an opportunity to review the school’s budget. In September, the contractor was called and instructed not to come. In October, when the contractor did come, the Board meeting was disrupted and the contractor was unable to present the budget, nor was the Board able to continue with the meeting as we were told to “get out”. In fact, was directly yelled at and threatened by the employee to, “Get out and don’t come back!” among his other verbal and physically menacing gestures.

f. Scheduling of Board Retreat that every board member agreed was needed for several reasons. (See Agenda)

g. Hearing critical Closed Session items

h. The review/approval of a contract for the Executive Director; if one had been provided. In fact, no contracts for this school year have been presented to the Board for review, approval or denial. Were the teachers’ contracts approved prior to the end of school? I know this current Board did approve their Salary Schedule.

Since there is no scheduled Board Meeting in December, I am recommending that the Board schedule a December meeting, due to ‘postponement’ of its November meeting.

- iii. He did not ensure the Board held Regular Board Meetings with the frequency necessary for the Board to fulfill its fiduciary responsibilities in a timely and responsible manner. He unilaterally cancelled meetings and held meetings that did not comply with the charter and the Brown Act as documented above.

- iv. He acted with the Director of Operations to remove two (2) Board members, improperly utilizing the WAYS School Site Council.
- ▶ On May 13, 2014, LACOE staff conducted a routine site visit to the WAYS Salvation Army and Manchester campuses. As a part of the visit, staff requested to see the School Site Council (SSC) binder for the current school year showing the roster of members, meeting agendas, and minutes. LACOE staff reviewed the agenda, minutes, sign-in sheets for each month a meeting was held, by-laws and roster of members. Review of these documents provide evidence that:
 - The January 23, 2014 WAYS SSC agenda identifies item III as “New business-Resolve regarding WAYS governance-Jason Okonkwo, Mr. Cabil” (Exhibit 31) Jason Okonkwo is the Director of Operations/Onsite Financial Manager; Mr. Cabil is the Executive Director. The only other item of business listed on the agenda was the review of minutes from the previous SSC meeting.
 - At that meeting a completed resolution was provided to the group for approval. (Exhibit 32) It was signed as approved by Tanya Castro, SSC Secretary and WAYS’ Office Manager.
 - LACOE staff reviewed the agendas and meeting minutes for SSC meetings prior to January 23, 2014, and saw no evidence that concerns about the WAYS Board Members or other governance related concerns were discussed.
 - The SSC’s resolution regarding removal of WAYS Board Members is outside the scope of purpose, responsibility, and duties of a SSC, which exists by state and federal law to provide input on and monitor the Single Plan for Student Achievement and use of Title 1 Funds.
 - ▶ A flier distributed to parents and posted at the school site corroborates the Executive Director’s efforts to remove the two (2) Board Members by name. (Exhibit 33)
- b. The Executive Director failed to oversee the financial systems of the organization. Examples include:
- i. Failure to appropriately oversee the development of the 2013-14 Annual Budget as described, above, and ensure that it was approved by the Board prior to its July 3, 2013 submission to LACOE.
 - ii. Failure to ensure that the Director of Operations/On-site Financial Manager and Bali complied with the Board’s August 29, 2013 request for information regarding Budget line item 5890 as described above.
 - iii. Failure to ensure WAYS’ compliance with the requirements for using State and Federal Funds as reported in the 2013 Independent Audit (Exhibit 9, pp. 35-36)
- c. The Executive Director failed to apprise the WAYS Board of all concerns communicated by LACOE, to whom the County Board delegates the administrative function of providing oversight to the charter schools it authorizes under Board Policy 0420.4.

Between January and June 2012, LACOE issued 18 letters to the WAYS Executive Director and governing board. A review of WAYS Board agendas for 2012 indicates only the February 29, 2012 agenda reflects a communication from LACOE as a discussion item (under closed session). The May 24, 2012 Agenda documents a discussion about the County Board's May 1, 2012 action directing LACOE to mediation with WAYS. (Exhibit 13)

2. The WAYS Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager violated his duties as specified in the charter. Evidence includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- a. He failed to purchase parts and materials at a reasonable quality and at a reasonable price.
 - i. The audio recording of the July 31, 2012 WAYS Board meeting indicates the WAYS Board authorized school personnel to “look into” purchasing a vehicle for school business. Rather than researching and bringing back information on suitable vehicles for the Board for approval, the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager entered into a contract to purchase a Lexus 350X for approximately $40,000. The purchase of a luxury vehicle for school business is not reasonable; the same purpose could have been served by a less expensive vehicle. Additionally, the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager did not have Board authorization to purchase any vehicle. In January 2014, Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager also sold the vehicle prior to obtaining Board authorization to do so as described previously in this report.

The FCMAT Audit identified the fiscal impact to the school. “The [FCMAT] team has determined that the sale of the Lexus resulted in a ($4,187) loss to WAYS. The purchase price of the Lexus was $41,163 on August 19, 2012 and the Bill of Sale dated December 17, 2013 states that the Lexus was sold for $26,000 to an individual in Canada. The Lexus was owned by WAYS for approximately 16 months between August 19, 2012 and December 17, 2013. Depreciation of the vehicle is calculated over five years or 60 months at $686 per month, and accumulated depreciation over 16 months is calculated as $10,976.” (Exhibit 6, p. 42)

- ii. The FCMAT Audit (Exhibit 6, p. 24) states that the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager authorized payments to OSE Business Services on invoices that contained multiple irregularities including pricing and shipping charges, and did not include packing slips identifying the shipping contents and quantities. Additionally, WAYS failed to provide an IRS Form 1099 for OSE for 2011 or 2012.
- b. He failed to prepare final recommended budgets. Examples include but are not limited to the following:
 - i. The June 6, 2013 WAYS Board agenda (Exhibit 13) lists the 2013-14 Budget as a discussion item. The audio recording of that meeting documents that the Director of Operations/On-Site Financial Manager did not have the budget prepared in time to present it to the Board at that meeting. The budget was submitted to LACOE on July 3, 2013 without proper Board approval.
 - ii. On August 29, 2013, the WAYS Board took action to approve the 2013-14 Budget with adjustments to line item 5890. (Exhibit 13) These adjustments were not made and the Director of Operations failed to provide the Board with the detail requested regarding other operating expenses in the line item.

- iii. WAYS did not submit its 2013-14 Title I budget to LACOE by November 15, 2013, as required by the September 27, 2013 Notice of Concern Regarding Student Achievement. (Exhibit 34) To date, LACOE has not received the requested budget.
- c. He failed to participate in the development and implementation of the annual budget related to personnel matters and position control, did not authorize expenditures in accordance with established limitations, and did not revise the budget for board consideration when there was a material change in the approved budget. For example:
 - i. The February 27, 2014 WAYS Board agenda (Exhibit 13) lists 2013-14 School Year Employment Agreements as an action item. The Report to the Board was co-prepared with the Executive Director. The Report states in part, "...salary increases for seven classified and two certificated employee [sic] were not considered in the operating budget that received Board approval on July 26, 2013. ... All salary increases total $24,698. Additional staffing increases total $60,534." (Exhibit 35)
 - ii. Additionally, the Report was inaccurate. The July 26, 2013 meeting was a non-calendared Special Meeting and Board Retreat held at the Radisson Hotel, LAX. While the budget was on the agenda for this meeting, meeting minutes indicate the item was tabled until the next meeting held on August 29, 2013. (Exhibit 13)
 - iii. The audio recording of the February 27, 2014 Board meeting documents that the Bali Consultant cautioned the Board not to unconditionally approve the contracts until such time as the sufficiency in funds to cover the contracts could be verified; accordingly, the Board postponed action on approval of the contracts even though the school year was more than half over.
- d. He failed to ensure budgets were implemented correctly. The 2013 Independent Audit (Exhibit 9) presented multiple findings related to insufficient internal controls and budget practices. Specifically, bank statements and payroll were not appropriately reconciled and the budgets for Federal programs (National School lunch Program and Special Education Cluster) were not being kept separately and accounted for correctly. Additionally, the Auditor's Report stated that the recommendations related to bank and payroll reconciliation from the prior year audit had not been fully implemented.
- e. He did not effectively work with the Accounting Staff to...help monitor the budgets to actual comparison or review budget to actual report prepared by Staff Consultant and make necessary adjustments and narratives or comments before presenting to Executive Director, and Board. For example:
 - i. In the WAYS "Financial Reports and Narratives December 2012" prepared by Bali and presented to the WAYS Board on January 31, 2013 (Exhibit 13), the narrative states "Salaries and benefits is expected to be over budget by about $30,000 based on the level of spending to date. Books and supplies is over budget by $38,000 and is expected to be over budget by the end of the year by about $70,000." The Bali narrative also advised WAYS management to review the related line items and revise the budget or cut back expenses in these areas. (Exhibit 36)
 - ii. The budget report prepared by Bali and presented to the Board on June 6, 2013 (Exhibit 13), states that as of April 30, 2013, the "Salaries and Benefits are expected to be over budget by about $30,000...Books and Supplies are already over budget and are expected to be over budget at the end of the year by about $70,000." This indicates that despite the recommendation of the Bali Consultant, WAYS management did not revise the budget or cut back on spending in the identified areas of concern. (Exhibit 37)

II. Concern Regarding the General Capacity to Operate a Charter School

In addition to and as confirmed by the specific violations described above, based on document review and interviews, LACOE has serious concerns regarding the lack of capacity and accountability demonstrated by the WAYS Board and administration, which raises larger questions about their ability to exercise sound judgment and conduct fiduciary oversight of the school.

First, it is a concern that WAYS Board lacks an understanding of its roles and responsibilities and has not taken a sufficiently active and proactive role in decision making and oversight. The Board lacks the breadth of knowledge necessary to oversee the use of public funds; it relies on the administration for its information. The evidence shows that the Executive Director and Director of Operations/Onsite Financial Manager, both of whom report to the Board, have not provided the Board with necessary and timely information that would allow it fulfill its oversight responsibilities, and in fact, have thwarted board efforts to obtain information when it has attempted to exercise its oversight responsibilities.

Second, in spite of multiple years of audit findings, the Board failed to make necessary changes to address and correct these findings. At the time of renewal and again in the summer and fall of 2013, specific board members attempted to institute necessary changes to the school's policies and procedures that might have led to correction of the fiscal and governance shortfalls cited in the Independent Audit Reports, FCMAT Audit, and this Notice of Violation. These board members met with sufficient resistance that they resigned or were terminated from their positions on the Board. (Exhibit 38 and Exhibit 13)

Third, the WAYS Board demonstrates questionable governance by failing to evaluate and discipline its administrators despite repeated evidence that they failed to fulfill the requirements of their job descriptions and repeated notice from the LACOE and the County Board that there were serious concerns about the school's operations, including its failure to fulfill the terms of authorization and mediation. By failing to evaluate these administrators and provide them with adequate direction and oversight, the Board demonstrated a lack of accountability on its part and failed to require accountability from its administrators.

Fourth, LACOE has grave concerns regarding the capacity of the WAYS Board to fulfill its responsibilities to the public due to its failure to establish and maintain a regular schedule of meetings, thereby depriving families, the community, and the general public of its right to express opinions and provide input on school matters. Additionally, board turnover and the lack of preparation and accurate information from administrators and consultants, has led to inconsistent Board practices and oversight, with matters needing timely action being deferred multiple times and over multiple month, leaving the administrators to make decisions and take actions without Board approval.

LACOE concurs with the 2010-11 Independent Auditor's Report, which states the problem is "systemic" and the FCMAT Audit, which states, "There is little evidence of responsible governance by the board and clearly a lack of fiscal accountability by the administration. The governing board has failed and often been prevented from its ability to maintain and exercise its responsibilities, authority, and control." (p. 45)

Reasonable Period of Time to Remedy Violations

The violations contained herein need to be addressed and remedied on or before June 30, 2014. Please provide a detailed, written response addressing each of the specifically identified violations that has been approved by the WAYS Board (and evidence of such approval). You may attach to your written response any supporting evidence of your refutation of the identified violations or remedial actions that have been taken by WAYS. Please submit your response to LACOE's Charter School Office:

Judy Higelin, Project Director
Charter School Office
Los Angeles County Office of Education
9300 Imperial Highway
Downey, 90242

Upon the conclusion of the reasonable time to remedy, the County Board shall evaluate WAYS' response and any supporting evidence. Should the County Board deem that WAYS has not taken the appropriate measures to address and remedy the above concerns and violations, a public hearing to consider issuance of a Notice of Intent to Revoke and a Report on the Findings of Fact pursuant to Education Code § 47607(e) shall be scheduled. WAYS is also placed on notice that pursuant to Education Code section 47607(i), should the County Board revoke the charter of WAYS based on failure to follow generally accepted accounting principles and/or fiscal mismanagement, the charter school shall cease operations pending appeal.

Service

Upon the County Board's approval of issuance of the Notice of Violation at the regularly scheduled board meeting, to be held in open session in accordance with the Brown Act, on June 3, 2014, the County Superintendent of Schools shall issue the Notice of Violation to:

Hon. Tolbert and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Notice of Concern: Noncompliance with Law, Charter and Terms and Conditions of Authorization

This Notice of Concern (Notice) documents ongoing areas in which Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) has failed to comply with the law, its charter, and the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU).

Failure to Fulfill Reporting Requirements: WAYS has not been responsive to reasonable requests from the authorizer (Education Code (EC) 47604.3) for fiscal information and other reporting requirements as follows:

1. Monthly financial reporting: WAYS has not submitted its monthly financial statements for October, November, and December 2013. While there have been multiple requests from the Controller's Office for these reports, the school has been nonresponsive.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.3; Charter Element 4 Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); and MOU Section 3.4 (Revenue and Expenditure Reporting) and Attachment B (Fiscal Oversight Requirements and Financial Reporting).

2. First Interim Financial Report: The First Interim Financial Report was due December 2, 2013 (EC 47604.33). There were multiple requests from the Controller's Office, with a communication from the school on December 5, 2013, indicating WAYS would submit on December 6, 2013; it was not received. As of the writing of this letter, the signed certification for the First Interim Financial Report has not been received.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.3 and 47604.33; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); Charter Element 9 (Annual Financial Audits) paragraph 2; and MOU Section 3.4 (Revenue and Expenditure Reporting).

3. Title I Budget: The September 27, 2013 Notice of Concern Regarding Student Achievement requested that WAYS submit "...a copy of the school's Title I budget to the Charter School Office (CSO) by November 15, 2013. LACOE will review the budget to ensure funds are correctly allocated and monitor expenditures to ensure they are aligned with the SPSA/SSDP." The school's principal was reminded to submit the budget during a site visit on October 17, 2013, and again during a meeting with WAYS on November 21, 2013. To date, the budget, which must be approved by the School Site Council and Governing Board, has not been submitted. A November 20, 2013 email from the WAYS Board President states the school's Governing Board has not approved the expenditure plan and a review of board meeting agendas/minutes provides no evidence of approval.

Resulting Violations: Federal Title I Requirements; EC 47604.3; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); and Charter Element 7, Section 7.3 (Means to Achieve a Racial and Ethnic Balance: Federal Compliance).

4. Previously Documented Reporting Failures for School Year 2013-14: In addition to the current issues of non-compliance, WAYS received the following formal and informal communications regarding its failure to comply with the reporting requirements:

- a. Valid Unaudited Actual Report for 2012-13: On October 3, 2013, LACOE's Chief Financial Officer, Dr. Alex Cherniss, sent a letter to the WAYS Board regarding the school's failure to submit a valid unaudited actual report for 2012-13 by the September 15, 2013 due date.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.33(a)(4), 42100(b), and 47604.3; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); Charter Element 9 (Annual Financial Audits) paragraph 2; and MOU Section 3.4 (Revenue and Expenditure Reporting).

- b. Student Exit Reports: On November 21, 2013, CSO staff met with WAYS' principal and support staff to discuss submission of the Student Exit Reports required under its MOU. A meeting summary was sent to WAYS by email on December 2, 2013, regarding the specific reporting issues discussed at this meeting. That meeting constituted the third communication on this reporting requirement. On November 30, 2013, an email was sent to WAYS' Executive Director outlining the school's failure to comply with the reporting requirements subsequent to two (2) prior verbal communications.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.3; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); Charter Element 9 (Annual Financial Audits - Audit and Inspection of Records); and MOU Section 3.3 (Student Attendance Accounting and Reporting).

Failure to Comply with Other Charter Terms:

1. Element 9, Annual Financial Audits: The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012 states, "Board Finance Committee will develop a contract that includes the scope of the audit and requirements in the form of a Request for Application (RFA) to seek qualified applicants." A review of WAYS Board Agendas/minutes and board meeting audio recordings do not reflect compliance with the Charter for the change in the Auditor used in school year 2011-12 to the Auditor identified for school year 2012-13. Additionally, there is no indication the board approved the contract with the current auditor.

2. Element 4, Governance:

- a. Monthly Board Meetings: The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012 states, "The Governing Board of WAYS will meet monthly." Since July 2013, the WAYS Board held regular meetings in July and September, special meetings in August and October (due to lack of a quorum on regular meeting dates), and no meeting in November or December. On November 19, 2013, at 4:45 p.m., the CSO received an email from the Executive Director that the November meeting [calendared for November 21, 2013] was "postponed." No reason was provided, WAYS did not respond to the CSO's inquiry as to the reason for the "postponement," and no board meeting was held in November. No regular meeting was scheduled for December, and no special meeting was held.

000002

b. Provide Overall Oversight: The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012 states,

The Governing Board ultimately will be charged with assessing how the school is doing overall. The President of the Governing Board will provide an annual report to the Board of Principals of the Merle Williamson Foundation in April of each year.... it will review the information [from administration] and ascertain whether recommendations need to be made or committees need to be formed to work on specific issues. These committees may examine closely the curriculum and staffing priorities for maximum effectiveness; identifying budgetary priorities involving the use of discretionary funds; evaluating the academic effectiveness of the school program, its administration and staff, and make recommendations for improvement, accordingly. These committees are established to implement the business of the Governing Board and to facilitate it's functioning. Furthermore, the Governing Board facilitates communication and team building and acts as negotiator for disagreements.

Matters that arise concerning budgets, curriculum, school discipline, and other school matters will begin at the level of teachers and parents. The Governing Board may, from time to time, establish committees and working groups to develop a policy for the school regarding specific issues and present its findings to the Governing Board and the School Community. WAYS has adapted a set of detailed procedures and policies for all fiscal matters, which are outlined in Element I. Core policies that the board will adopt include:

- Fiscal Policies – how the school's budget is drafted, approved and monitored; budget development calendar; staff roles related to fiscal issues.
- Instructional Program Policies – when necessary, establish formal policies to clarify or add specific/amend specific charter elements
- Personnel Policies – Establishes how the school recruits, hires, monitors, compensates, and dismisses staff. Policies will also be adopted that address state and federal labor laws related to non-discrimination, leaves, sexual harassment, and other matters. These policies will be adopted prior to hiring staff and will be drafted with legal consultation.
- Student and Parent Policies – how the school recruits orients, admit, disciplines, suspends, and expels students. These policies will also clarify parents' roles and responsibilities.
- Legal Policies – Board members' legal responsibilities, including conflict of interest, duty of care, confidentiality (See Appendix E).
- Internal Board Policies – Board composition and renewal/succession and to clarify any policy ambiguities
- Policy, policy – this policy will help to keep the policy development process at a minimum and describe how policies are made and revised.

The Governing Board will:

- Insure that the entire school is moving in the direction of the school vision.
- Serve as a clearinghouse for information to facilitate communication.

- Monitor committees to ensure progress toward goals and accomplishment of duties.
- Assist Administration in dealing with incoming information to the school and disseminating information to the School Community.

A November 20, 2013 email from the WAYS Board President to the Executive Director states,

... I read your email unilaterally postponing the Board of Directors' meeting; even though I emailed a draft agenda to you at 4:40 PM – in time for you to post it by 5:00 PM to meet the 72-hour deadline required by the Brown Act... However, you did find time to send out a scurrilous email requesting that the 'new' board members step down; and identifying me specifically.

a. Your administrative responsibilities do not give you the prerogative to postpone Board meetings... Moreover, you were keenly aware of the time-sensitive documents being requested by LACOE. We were to submit these documents below not later than November 22, 2013. I will list them for you:

1. Board Policy on Admissions/Enrollment/Lottery
2. Board Policy on Student Fees
3. Board Policy on Suspension & Expulsion
4. Board Meeting Minutes for September 26, 2013
5. Board Meeting Minutes for October 24, 2013

b. Interestingly enough, LACOE sent an email earlier today indicating staff had emailed these unapproved Board Policies. I requested you to place the above policies on the November 21, 2013 Board agenda for review/modification/approval for the 2013-14 School Year in order to meet the requested deadline. These policies must still be approved by the Board of Directors; similar to Board minutes.

Additionally, other matters that needed to be considered by to the Board at its November 21, 2013 meeting included:

c. The Single Plan for Student Achievement along w/ the draft Student Achievement Plan outlining the strategies to be implemented that would ensure African-American and Special Education students; who did not meet their 2012-13 AYP growth targets, would meet their 2013-14 AYP growth targets. The final Student Achievement Plan is due to LACOE on December 2, 2013. I am sure Board members would like to have this information presented in a timely manner.

d. The Title One Budget due to LACOE by November 15, 2013 that was not submitted, and has yet to be reviewed and approved by the Board. This budget identifies the funds to be used to support both the 2013-14 Single Plan for Student Achievement as well as the Student Achievement Plan.

e. An overdue monthly budget presentation from Bali Business Management explaining to the Board a line item budget increase of $118,000 from the previous school year in supplies. As you may recall, in August the Board 'conditionally' approved this year's budget in order that some funds could be used to open the school-year, although LACOE would receive a 'conditionally approved' 2013-14 budget. Since August, the Board has not had an opportunity to review the school's budget. In September, the contractor was called and instructed not to come. In October, when the contractor did come, the Board meeting was disrupted and the contractor was unable to present the budget, nor was the Board able to continue with the meeting as we were told to "get out". In fact, was directly yelled at and threatened by the employee to, "Get out and don't come back!" among his other verbal and physically menacing gestures.

f. Scheduling of Board Retreat that every board member agreed was needed for several reasons. (See Agenda)

g. Hearing critical Closed Session items

h. The review/approval of a contract for the Executive Director; if one had been provided. In fact, no contracts for this school year have been presented to the Board for review, approval or denial. Were the teachers' contracts approved prior to the end of school? I know this current Board did approve their Salary Schedule.

Since there is no scheduled Board Meeting in December, I am recommending that the Board schedule a December meeting, due to 'postponement' of its November meeting.

A review of WAYS Governing Board agendas/minutes and board meeting audio recordings documents concerns that the WAYS Governing Board is not fulfilling its responsibilities, corroborating the Board President's statements in the email cited, above. While there is evidence the Governing Board is requesting the information it needs to make informed decisions, that information is not being provided in a manner that allows the Governing Board to fulfill the duties and obligations described in the charter petition dated December 12, 2012.

The Board President's allegation (stated in paragraph "e") that a school employee's behavior resulted in the premature conclusion of a WAYS Board meeting was corroborated by the Executive Director's statement (Attachment 1) accompanying the audio recording of the meeting and a verbal report from another school employee. This is the second time we have received notice of an altercation that ended a WAYS Board meeting. In 2011, LACOE received written complaints from WAYS Board members that the behavior of another individual associated with the school resulted in the cancellation of a meeting. Those complaints were corroborated by verbal reports from parents and school staff. These incidents are serious; the WAYS Board must ensure compliance with charter Element 6, Health and Safety, Section 6.2, which states, "Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will maintain a safe and secure environment for its students, staff, administration, school volunteers, and visitors."

The Board President's allegation that the school's Executive Director is overstepping his authority is also an ongoing concern. In an email dated October 10, 2011, the Executive Director wrote to LACOE, "I called a special meeting because a total of six board members resigned, thus leaving the board with only five active board members." While the email states, "four of the remaining board members all agreed that we needed a called meeting because of the desperate and crucial situation surrounding WAYS..." There is no evidence the board called the meeting as required by the Bylaws. The email continues, "In an October 05, 2011 [sic] email, the board VP promised the board members that she would schedule a meeting with an agenda by Friday, October 07, 2011, if not sooner; however, no meeting nor agenda items were posted as promised, thus prompting my immediate actions." The email corroborates the administrator's history of overstepping his authority.

As you are aware, the December 12, 2012 version of the charter petition still contains contradictions and inconsistencies and fails to meet the conditions of authorization imposed by the County Board in its June 7, 2011 approval action.

Previously documented concerns reported to the County Board on May 10, 2011 (Attachment 2) and May 1, 2012 (Attachment 3) resulted in County Board action compelling WAYS to arbitration (Attachment 4). Arbitration documents have been filed; an arbitration date is pending.

Additionally, due to ongoing fiscal concerns documented in the school's 2011-12 Independent Audit and other evidence, I authorized an audit under EC 1241.5(c) and informed the school of such on May 17, 2013. (Attachment 5)

Based on the school's continued failure to comply with law, the terms and conditions of its charter, and the LACOE MOU, I will be recommending that the County Board issue a Notice of Violation under EC 47607(c) as follows:

A charter may be revoked by the authority that granted the charter under this chapter if the authority finds, through a showing of substantial evidence, that the charter school did any of the following: (1) Committed a material violation of any of the conditions, standards, or procedures set forth in the charter... (4) Violated any provision of law.

Should the results of the audit conducted under EC 1241.5(c) provide evidence of the school's failure to meet generally accepted accounting principles or fiscal mismanagement, the Notice of Violation may be broadened to encompass EC 47607(c)(3).

Prior to revocation, the County Board shall notify the charter public school of any violation of this section and give the school a reasonable opportunity to remedy the violation, unless the authority determines, in writing, that the violation constitutes a severe and imminent threat to the health or safety of the pupils. (EC 47607(d))

The school shall be notified of the time and date the recommendation to the County Board and shall be given the opportunity to review the evidence presented in support of the recommendation. Should the County Board approve the recommendation, the County Board and the LACOE will comply with the requirements of EC 47607(c) and the California Code of Regulations, Title 5, Article 2, Section 11965, subsections (b) – (f).

I am hopeful that the WAYS Board will take action to correct the violations documented in this letter and prevent future violations. Such a plan, and definitive Board actions that document its implementation, should be submitted to the CSO by January 20, 2014.

Should you have any questions, please contact the CSO at (562) 922-8806.

Sincerely,

Arturo Delgado, Ed.D.
Superintendent

Item VII. Reports / Study Topics

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists, Grades K-5
Appeal of a non-renewed Petition by Los Angeles Unified School
District Board of Education

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School renewal petition is presented to the Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) pursuant to Education Code section 47605. Upon denial by Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education, the petitioner exercised the statutory right of appeal to the County Board.

Charter renewal is governed by EC sections 47607 and 47605:

Section 47607(a)(2) states: Renewals... of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in § 47605, and shall include, but not be limited to, a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed.

Section 47605(b) limits the reasons for denying a renewal petition to the following:

- (1) The charter school presents an unsound educational program
- (2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program
- (3) The petition does not contain an affirmation of specified assurances
- (4) The petition does not contain reasonably comprehensive descriptions of 16 required elements of a charter

The County Board shall evaluate the petition according to the criteria and procedures established in law and may only deny the petition if it provides written findings addressing the reasons for the denial.

Section 47607(b) states: Commencing on January 1, 2005, or after a charter school has been in operation for four years, whichever date occurs later, a charter school shall meet at least one of [5 academic performances] ... criteria prior to receiving a charter renewal...

Board Meeting – May 10, 2011

Section 47605(b) states: A school district governing board shall grant a charter for the operation of a school under this part if it is satisfied that granting the charter is consistent with sound educational practice.

The County Board shall evaluate the petition according to the criteria and procedures established in law and may only deny the petition if it provides written findings addressing the reasons for the denial.

Summary of Key Findings:

Finding 1: WAYS met the academic performance criteria for renewal under EC § 47607(b)(1) and (2).

Finding 3: The petitioner is unlikely to successfully implement the program. The governing board has demonstrated a lack of capacity to oversee the operation of the school by allowing self-dealing transactions and other Conflicts of Interest. In addition, members of the governing board have personal and business ties to the school and/or Executive Director. The board was ineffective in responding to the Conflict of Interest concerns identified in the Notice to Cure; this ultimately led to non-renewal of the charter. Deficiencies in the renewal petition and responses by the board during the Capacity Interview indicate a continued lack of understanding and familiarity with the content of the petition and requirements of law necessary to successfully implement the charter.

Finding 5: The petition lacks a reasonably comprehensive description of eleven (11) of the 16 required elements.

- Proposed educational program lacks an adequate description of the school's target populations, overestimates the number of students to be served in the first year of the renewal charter, and provides no build-out plan to support this level of enrollment. The petition fails to indicate how the school will identify and respond to the needs of pupils who are not achieving at or above expected levels, students with disabilities, and English learners. The Measurable Outcomes and Means for Measuring Pupil Progress do not address the needs of all student subgroups the school proposes to serve.
- The proposed Governance Structure fails to provide evidence of an organizational and technical design that reflect a seriousness of purpose necessary to ensure that the school will become and remain a viable enterprise. The governance structure fails to provide adequate oversight of the school's operation and fiscal management. The governing board's lack of effective oversight has jeopardized the school's charter status and there is no evidence that the board can implement the proposed educational program stated in the petition. The Organization Chart conflicts with information provided elsewhere in the petition regarding key management positions. The petition does not commit to complying with the Political Reform Act, which is required of all charter schools, and fails to include a Conflict of Interest policy. Certain provisions of the bylaws appear to be in direct conflict with the Brown Act.

- The following Required Elements are not reasonably comprehensive: Employee Qualifications, Means to Achieve a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Annual Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, and Public School Attendance Alternatives, and Dispute Resolution Procedures.

The full Report on the Findings of Fact for the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School is attached.

LACOE staff will present the report to the County Board.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Petition, Grades K-5
 Appeal of a Petition for Charter Renewal Denied by Los Angeles Unified School District
 Board of Education

Background Information

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) petition seeks an application for renewal of their K-5 charter school in accordance with Education Code Section 47607.5. The school's current enrollment is approximately 250 students. The school proposes to grow enrollment to 500 students over the next five (5) years by expanding operations from its two (2) current sites (706 East Manchester 90001 and 8878 South Central Avenue 90002) to a larger facility. WAYS also applied to LAUSD for a Prop 39 site; sites were awarded on April 1, 2011.

The petition states the charter school's mission "is to create a transformational learning climate in which students become 'Empowered to be Leaders Change Agents and True Scientists.'"

The school's vision is "to create an educational program that educates the whole child." Nine (9) goals are stated under the vision.

WAYS first year of operation was 2006-07. Its Academic Performance Index (API) history (calculated as a small school with less than 100 students in Growth API) and enrollment figures are presented below.

Year	Growth API		Enrollment Figures
	Growth API	Number of Valid Scores*	Enrollment on First Day of Testing Grades 2-5	Total Enrollment Grades 2-5	Total Enrollment Grades K-1	Total Enrollment Grades K-5

*Number of students included in Growth API. Students must be continuously enrolled since Census day (CBEDS) Source: CDE DataQuest			4 additional students are included as enrolled in grade 6 although school is authorized for grades K-5 Source: CDE DataQuest

The CDE states "APIs based on small numbers of students are less reliable and therefore should be carefully interpreted." Schools with less than 100 Valid Scores on the California Standards Test (CST) do not receive Similar School Rankings or comparison schools; therefore, it cannot be determined how WAYS' API compares to schools with similar demographics.

The chart compares the demographics of WAYS and the two (2) closest public non-charter schools.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

Racial and ethnic demographic data shows WAYS does not reflect diversity of the community (LAUSD Local District 7) in which it is located or the two (2) closest LAUSD non-charter elementary schools. WAYS also enrolls fewer students with disabilities and English learners than near-by public non-charter schools. Conversely, its parents have a higher education level, which positively correlates with higher levels of student academic achievement.

Reason for Denial by the Local District

The Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) Board of Education denied the petition based on written Findings of Fact that comply with requirements for denial under the following sections of the Charter School Act:

EC § 47605(b)(2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program:

Conflict of interest concerns exist pertaining to members of the WAYS Board of Directors and the WAYS Executive Director and Principal. Specifically, the WAYS founder and Executive Director receives both a salary for her position and lease payments for two properties which she owns that are occupied by the school. She negotiated the leases to WAYS charter school. The WAYS governing board was asked to independently address and resolve the conflicts by the mutually agreed upon date of October 15, 2010; the WAYS Board of Directors' response failed to resolve the issues by that deadline. The WAYS governing board was minimally responsive to staff communications; the Executive Director was the primary respondent to address the Conflict of Interest issues. LAUSD considered the governing board's lack of independent and effective response to the Notice of Concern to be inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility considering that the Executive Director was the subject of the self-dealing Conflict of Interest concerns which called into question the Board's capacity to govern the Charter School and successfully implement the program set forth in the petition. The WAYS Board failed to resolve the Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempted to do so in January 27, 2011.

The WAYS governing board is unfamiliar with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law. Cited examples included inconsistencies between the charter petition and the WAYS' corporate bylaws regarding compliance with the Brown Act which called into question whether the Board is familiar with and complies with the requirements of the Brown Act. Additionally, the Board allowed self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the Board in the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest.

EC § 47605(b)(5) The petition fails to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements: The Educational Program, Method for Measuring Pupil Progress, Governance Structure, Health and Safety Procedures, Means for Achieving a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, Identification of Retirement Systems, Public School Alternatives, Dispute Resolution, Closure Procedures.

Any of the above findings alone may be cause for the denial of a charter under EC § 47605(b).

The Findings of Fact state the academic performance criteria for renewal under EC § 47607(b) were met.

Response from the Petitioner

The petitioner provided a written response to the findings of the local board and submitted it as part of the petition package. The response was considered during the review process.

Appeal to the Los Angeles County Board of Education

The Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) held a Public Hearing to determine support for the petition on April 19, 2011.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

LACOE Review Process

The LACOE Charter School Review Team (Review Team) considered the petition according to the requirements of law, California Administrative Code of Regulations, County Board Policy and Regulations, and LACOE review procedures.

The Review Team included staff from the Controller's Office, Business Operations and Services, Risk Management, Divisions for School Improvement, Curriculum and Instruction, Special Education, Student Support Services, Human Resource Services, Office of General Counsel, and the Charter School Office.

Findings are based on a review of the same petition submitted to the local district and supporting documents submitted by the petitioner, and information provided through the Capacity Interview and other communications with the petitioner and other representatives of the school. The petitioner also submitted proposed changes (technical adjustments) to the petition necessary to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. These changes should reflect the statutory, policy, and structural differences between a county office of education and a local district. These differences include, but are not limited to, the statutory authority of the County Superintendent of Schools to investigate complaints as well as structural differences in the responsibilities with regard to special education services. Proposed changes provided by the petitioner were considered by the Review Team.

Findings also take into account the petition was initially submitted to a local district and contains specific references to that district. The Charter School Office confirmed that LAUSD requires the petitioner to include specific language or content in a petition. This requirement was considered by the Review Team.

Findings of Fact

Finding 1: WAYS met the academic performance criteria for renewal under EC § 47607(b)(1) and (2).

WAYS attained its Academic Performance Index (API) growth target in the prior year, in two of the last three years, and in the aggregate for the prior three years.

Academic Performance Criteria: Met Assigned Growth Targets
Year	API Base	Growth Target	API Growth	Actual Growth
2007-08	782*	5	774	-8
2008-09	775*	5	843	68
2009-10	843*	A	879	36
Aggregate Growth			10	96

*API is calculated for a small school (between 11 and 99 valid scores) which makes it less reliable and should be carefully interpreted.  No growth target for schools where API is 800 or above.

WAYS ranked in deciles 4 to 10, inclusive, on the API in the prior year and in two of the last three years.

Academic Performance: Decile Ranks*
Year	Statewide Rank	Similar Schools Rank
2007-08	6	N/A*
2008-09	5	N/A*
2009-10	8	N/A*

* Not calculated for small schools

While WAYS met the academic criteria necessary to be considered for renewal, there are concerns that the school has not increased or sustained its percentage of "Valid" CST scores indicating an unstable student enrollment base. Valid scores are based on the number of students tested who were continuously enrolled from norm day (CBEDS) in October through the first day of testing. For 2009-10, only 71% of tested students were continuously enrolled. At South Park Elementary School, 88% of tested students were continuously enrolled. On average, 26% of students who enroll at WAYS withdraw prior to standardized testing based the "Elementary Principal's Statistical Report" for 2007-08 through 2010-11.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

Finding 2: The petition provides an unsound educational program for students to be enrolled in the school. [EC § 47605(b)(1)]

The program is determined to be unsound for specific subgroups of students as described under Finding 5: Elements 1 – 3.

Additionally, based on enrollment data for Hispanic/Latino students, English learners, students with disabilities, and data showing the number of students who leave during the year, the school is not providing a program of educational benefit for all students the petition states the school intends to serve.

Finding 3: The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program. [EC § 47605(b)(2)]

Based on review of the petition, supporting documents provided by the petitioner, documents provided by LAUSD, and the Capacity Interview with the school's leadership team, the petition does not meet the criteria established in CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(c).

1. Review of the renewal petition submitted on behalf of the WAYS board indicates the WAYS governing board lacked the capacity to govern the school.
 - A. The governing board was unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law with respect to Conflict of Interest. The submitted charter states the school will comply with Government Code 1090; however, some members of the board had prior relationships with the school and/or the Executive Director and members of her family.
 - i. The board president, a business management consultant, lists Wisdom Academy as a client on her resume, which contradicts her statement on the Prospective Charter School Board Member Questionnaire that consulting services were not provided.
 - ii. One board member stated on the Prospective Charter School Board Member Questionnaire that she is the Board President for DeDe Dance Studio, owned by the Executive Director's daughter, and is currently used by the charter school; this indicates a Conflict of Interest.
 - B. The governing board failed to comply with the terms of the charter by allowing the school to enter into a self-dealing transaction with its Executive Director regarding the school's facilities. There is no evidence that the governing board considered other sites or conducted an independent assessment of lease rates prior to entering into the agreement with the Executive Director.
 - C. The governing board allowed other conflicts of interest to exist through the hiring of members of the Executive Director's family and by permitting the Executive Director to supervise these family members while the Principal supervised other similarly employed personnel. The Executive Director's son, originally hired to oversee custodial and gardening services was promoted to Director of Operations, which involves financial responsibilities according to the Executive Director. The Executive Director's daughter, who is employed as a teacher and dance instructor, owns the dance studio used by the school.
 - D. The governing board demonstrated its inability to effectively govern the school by its failure to respond fully and in a timely fashion to the September 29, 2010 Notice to Cure regarding Conflicts of Interest issued by LAUSD. The LACOE Review Team reviewed documents received from both the district and the charter school. The documents indicate WAYS failed to provide a sufficient cure. WAYS governing board had eight (8) months (September 2010 to April 2011) to remedy the concerns in the Notice to Cure, and failed to do so.

2. The WAYS governing board continues to be unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law that would apply to the proposed charter school and lacks the necessary background to effectively govern the school.
 - A. In its response to the Findings of Fact upon which the LAUSD Board of Education denied charter renewal, WAYS submitted documents pertaining to the governance structure of the school in an effort to demonstrate that the school had taken steps to address Conflict of Interest concerns. Although these documents may not have been considered by the LAUSD Board of Education because they were submitted after the deadline to provide evidence, the LACOE Review Team considered the documents to determine whether they would substantially resolve the conflicts. The Review Team determined the documents were inadequate to resolve the Conflict of Interest concerns based on the facts presented below:
 - i. The action taken by the Executive Director, and supported by the WAYS governing board, failed to resolve the conflict regarding her ownership of the property. Documents submitted by WAYS indicate the properties were placed into a revocable trust. WAYS' attorney concurred that this action failed to resolve the conflict in that "the transfer to a holding company through a revocable trust, [was] not transferring the property ownership under California law." (page 3 of the March 25, 2011 Response to LAUSD Findings of Fact) WAYS' governing board allowed the conflict to continue by executing a lease agreement with the holding company rather than requiring the Executive Director to take action that would definitively end the conflict.
 - ii. The governing board failed to disclose that the school had been offered Prop 39 facilities, a viable option to resolving the issue. At the April 19, 2011 Capacity Interview, the Review Team inquired about the school's statement that it had requested a Prop 39 site. Neither the Executive Director nor WAYS board members disclosed that LAUSD had offered the school facilities on April 1, 2011. LAUSD received a letter of acceptance signed by the Executive Director on May 2, 2011. LACOE has yet to hear from WAYS regarding their decision.
 - iii. Changes to the governance structure proposed after the petition was submitted to LAUSD continue to be inadequate. The Organizational Chart indicates three (3) positions report directly to the board due to the Conflict of Interest posed by the familial relationships: the Executive Director, Principal, and Director of Operations. This structure places an undue burden on the board to manage the day-to-day operations of the school. There is no evidence the current board has the capacity to govern effectively under this structure.
 - iv. The governing board failed to demonstrate the ability to avoid future Conflict of Interest situations. When asked at the Capacity Interview about potential conflicts arising from the employment of multiple family members, the chain of command, and continued use of the facilities owned by the Executive Director, the board members did not explain how they would ensure that no future Conflicts of Interest would develop or how they would handles such conflicts if they did occur. The board stated that additional changes to the governance structure are being considered; these options are outside of the scope of this review as they were not available to be considered by the LAUSD Board of Education.
 - v. The renewal petition submitted by WAYS fails to comply with EC § 47607(a)(2) which requires that Renewals... of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in 47605, and shall include... a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed... The petition contains references to outdated laws, policies, and practices, contains significant contradictions and omissions regarding key positions of employment, and provides elements that are not reasonably comprehensive. These deficiencies, reported under Finding 5, indicate the governing board lacks the knowledge of the laws under which the charter would operate.

3. The petitioner has a history of involvement in education agencies (public or private) considered as unsuccessful.
 - A. The Executive Director is listed as the petitioner. Properties she owns and leased to WAYS were previously used to house her private school. CDE records compiled from data supplied by the private school operator indicate that enrollment declined from 60 to 20 students in the three years prior to the school closing.
 - B. The WAYS Executive Director closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school. The chronology of public records and statements made by the Executive Director during the Capacity Interview indicate she closed the private school due to insufficient enrollment. The petitioner stated she inquired about the process of becoming a charter school and was informed that the private school would need to be closed for one year prior to becoming a charter. The petitioner purposely closed the charter school as required and applied for a charter after the one year required waiting period.

The status of the Conflict of Interest issues is unclear. With the acceptance of the Prop 39 sites, the conflict regarding facilities may be resolved only if the school stops leasing its current facilities. The conflicts concerning personnel could only be resolved through a material revision to the governance structure of the charter including, but not limited to, the Executive Director's resignation or release from her current position and with the provision that she hold no future positions funded by the school. Regardless of the potential resolution to the certain Conflict of Interest issues, the Review Team considers the governing board to be ineffective in governing the school and demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the proposed charter.

Finding 4: The petition contains an affirmation of all specified assurances. [EC § 47605(b)(4); EC § 47605(d)]

Finding 5: The petition does not contain a reasonably comprehensive description of all required elements. [EC § 47605(b)(5)(A)-(P)]

Based on criteria provided by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5, (5 CCR) eleven (11) of the 16 elements are not reasonably comprehensive.

Element 1: Description of the Educational Program. Not reasonably comprehensive

The 5 CCR § 11967.5.1(f)(1) requires the petition to address eight (8) requirements. The petition fails to meet each of the established criteria rendering aspects of the educational program deficient for specific populations the school proposes to serve: English Learners, low-achieving students, high-achieving students, and students with disabilities. The deficiencies are as follows:

1. Failure to indicate the proposed charter school's target student population, including, at a minimum, grade levels, approximate numbers of pupils, and specific educational interests, backgrounds, or challenges.
 - A. The petition overestimates the number of students to be served in the first year of the renewal charter and provides no build-out plan to support this assumption.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- i. There is no build-out plan to support the proposed enrollment. The petition states (page 31) 520 students will be served in the first year of operation. At the Capacity Interview, the leadership team indicated that number is attainable only if a new site is obtained with increased capacity. The petition lacks an expansion plan except to state "...scheduled expansion to 25 [classrooms]." No plan was provided during the Capacity Interview.
 - ii. WAYS has never increased enrollment by 250 students in a single year. In 2009-10, the school enrolled 237 students, 46% of which were in grades K-1; in 2008-09, the school enrolled 177 students, of which 43% were in K-1; and in 2007-08, the school enrolled 146 students, of which 60% were in K-1. Historically, the school has seen reduced enrollment in its upper grades, although that trend was not as pronounced in 2009-10, the most recent year for which CDE data is available. At the Capacity Interview, the school stated it currently enrolls about 250 students.
- B. The school failed to meet its goal of serving a target population "similar to that of the surrounding community" defined as 50% Hispanic/Latino and 50% African American (page 34). In 2009-10, 61% of the students were Black or African American and 38% were Hispanic or Latino as compared to LAUSD Local District 7 which was comprised of 18.6% Black or African American students and 80.4% of Hispanic or Latino Students.
- C. The petition lacks specific information regarding its target population for students with disabilities and English learners. It states (page 33) the student population at the nearest non-charter public school is 63% English learners while the CDE reports 7% of WAYS students are English learners. The CDE reports 4% of WAYS students are identified as having disabilities which is half the rate of the two (2) closest non-charter public elementary schools.
2. Lacks a framework for instructional design that is aligned with the needs of the pupils that the charter school has identified as its target student population.
 - A. The petition lacks detail regarding the grade levels and outcomes for each grade level and there is no framework for curriculum and/or instructional approach for English learners outlining how this population of students will be provided access to core curriculum.
 - B. While the petition states the school will provide more instructional minutes than required by the state, WAYS has been reducing the number of minutes it provided based on its Independent Audit Reports. The year ended June 30, 2009, shows 72,900 actual minutes and the year ended June 30, 2010, shows 70,200 minutes. The petition proposes 53,500 minutes for year 2011-2012; it does not explain the reason for the reductions or how the school intends to maintain its academic performance as instructional minutes are reduced.
 3. Fails to indicate how the charter school will identify and respond to the needs of pupils who are not achieving at or above expected levels. The goals (page 47) for low achieving students are not clear and there is no indication of what advanced academic challenges will be provided for gifted and talented students (page 48).
 4. Indicates how the charter school will meet the needs of students with disabilities, English learners, students achieving substantially above or below grade level expectations, and other special student populations.
 - A. The element is deficient with respect to English learners because it fails to:
 - i. Describe adequate basic and supplemental resources to provide English learners equitable access to the core curriculum.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- ii. Provide the manner in intervention will be given to students who struggle to acquire English language skills outside of the "45 minutes during the school day for focused English language development. This instruction will emphasize vocabulary development, phonemic awareness, and oral and writing English." (page 48)
 - iii. Describe how the Individualized Education Program (IEP) Team determines placement of English learners in need of special education services, state that non-biased assessments used to determine placement must be conducted in the student's primary language under Federal law, and that the IEP must be linguistically appropriate.
 - iv. Demonstrate understanding of the difference between meeting the needs of English learners and meeting the needs of students with disabilities. The petition (page 22) indicates that to ensure the success of English learners, the school will use a collaborative approach that fosters communication between its Resource Specialist and Speech Therapist. These specialists only provide direct services to students identified as having disabilities.
- B. The element is deficient with regard to students with disabilities because it fails to specify the charter school's special education plan, including the process to be used to identify students who qualify for special education programs and services, how the school will provide or access special education programs and services, the school's understanding of its responsibilities under law for special education pupils, and how the school intends to meet those responsibilities.
- i. It does not describe accommodations and/or modifications that may be used during standardized assessments or how WAYS is responsible for students with disabilities when the IEP Team exempts them from standardized testing.
 - ii. There is no mention of how parents of students with disabilities are informed about the school's educational program.
 - iii. There are deficiencies with regard to English learners and special education services as stated in "A," above.

Element 2: Measurable Pupil Outcomes. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(2) as follows:

1. It fails to specify skills, knowledge, and attitudes that reflect the school's educational objectives and can be assessed by objective means that are frequent and sufficiently detailed enough to determine whether pupils are making satisfactory progress.
 - A. There are no identified measurable outcomes for students in Kindergarten and first grade who do not participate in Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR).
 - B. There is no ongoing means for measuring English learners' acquisition of English or academic growth in content areas. The petition states the (California English Language Development Test (CELDT) will be administered "periodically" to monitor student progress of English language acquisition; however, it can only be administered annually which is insufficient to evaluate the effectiveness of and to modify instruction. The petition indicates Open Court Reading assessments will be used as formative assessments for English learners; however, they are not designed to measure progress towards English language proficiency but rather language arts skills and concepts. It fails to provide assessments to determine academic growth in other content areas.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- C. Goals cannot be measured as stated. The petition states the percentage of students achieving proficient and advanced in History/Social Science will increase on the CST by 5% each year; there is no History/Social Science CST for grades K-5.
- D. It lacks information on how students with disabilities will be assessed on making progress toward meeting their goals and benchmarks.

Element 3: Method for Measuring Pupil Progress. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(3) as follows:

- 1. It does not utilize a variety of assessment tools that are appropriate to the skills, knowledge, or attitudes being assessed, including, at minimum, tools that employ objective means of assessment consistent with the measurable pupil outcomes.
 - A. Information is limited on how stated internal assessments (text based, benchmark performance, unit level, etc.) are used as objective means to assess student progress consistent with measurable outcomes (page 98). Language is vague and fails to indicate how assessments are used in English-Language Arts, math, science, social studies, and English Language Development.
 - B. There is no information regarding assessment of K-1 students who do not participate in STAR. This is of particular concern since about half the school's enrollment is in grades K-1.
 - C. Out of date assessments are proposed in violation of EC § 47606(a)(2). The petition states the school will administer the CAT 6, which is obsolete, and proposes performance objectives based on data from this assessment.
- 2. It does not outline a plan for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data on achievement of English learners to school staff and to pupils' parents and guardians, and for utilizing the data continuously to monitor and improve the charter school's educational program. There is no mention of English learner's testing performance or academic monitoring of English language levels beyond use of the CELDT. Nor is there mention of providing accommodations and/or modifications for standardized tests for students with disabilities; tests used to determine eligibility for special education programs and services; the manner and type of data maintained for students with disabilities; or how information will be disseminated to parents of students with disabilities.

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(4) as follows:

- 1. There is lack of evidence of the charter school's incorporation as a non-profit public benefit corporation for the purpose of running a charter school. While the articles of incorporation and bylaws provide evidence of the charter school's non-profit public benefit corporation status, governing a charter school is not listed as the specific purpose of this corporation. The petitioners have failed to amend these documents to reflect the running of a public charter school. As stated above in Finding 3, 3.B, the WAYS Executive Director purposely closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school.
- 2. There is a lack of evidence that the organizational and technical designs of the governance structure reflect a seriousness of purpose necessary to ensure that:
 - A. The charter school will become and remain a viable enterprise. The governance structure fails to provide adequate oversight of the school's operation and fiscal management. Failure of the articles of incorporation and bylaws to state the purpose of the corporation is to provide for the operation of a publicly funded charter school is further evidence that the structure lacks a seriousness of purpose. The bylaws states the board has only one regularly scheduled meeting, which is insufficient to provide for effective governing of a public charter school. The governing board's lack of effective oversight has jeopardized the school's charter status and there is no evidence that the board can implement the proposed educational program stated in the petition.

- B. The petition does not provide a clear description of the governance and management structure. It is difficult to know the duties and responsibilities of management. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) conflicts with information provided elsewhere in the petition.
- C. The petition makes no commitment to complying with the Political Reform Act (PRA), which is required of all charter schools. The petition fails to include a Conflict of Interest policy which is required under the PRA.
- D. The body of the petition states that meetings will comply with the Brown Act (page 109). However, certain provisions of the bylaws appear to be in direct conflict with the Brown Act.
 - i. Section 4.6, Place of Meetings allows for meetings outside California. The Brown Act requires that the Board's meetings be held within the boundaries of the territory within which it has jurisdiction.
 - ii. Section 4.7, Regular Meetings authorizes meetings "without call or notice" in violation of the Brown Act. The Brown Act requires that at least 72 hours before a regular meeting an agenda containing a brief general description of each item of business to be transacted or discussed at the meeting shall be posted.
 - iii. Section 4.11, Telephone Meetings, authorizes teleconferencing and video teleconferencing to constitute presence but fails to state the necessary safeguards that would render it compliant with the Brown Act such as posting agendas at the teleconferencing location and ensuring those locations are fully accessible to members of the public.
 - iv. Section 4.14, Action without Meeting, permits the Board to take an action without a meeting if all the members of the Board consent in writing to such action. This violates the Brown Act requirement that the board not take action on any item of business outside a meeting.
 - v. Section 4.7, the Board of the Merle Williamson Foundation is required to meet only once per year, on the last Friday in June; the Brown Act requires regularly scheduled meetings.
 - vi. The Agenda for the Special Board Meeting held Saturday, April 30, 2011, documents specific violations of the Brown Act with respect to items discussed in Closed Session.

Element 5: Employee Qualifications. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(5) as follows:

- 1. There is insufficient information on the general qualifications for the various categories of employees (e.g., administrative, instructional, instructional support, non-instructional support) and whether the qualifications are sufficient to ensure the health, and safety of the school's faculty, staff, and pupils.
- 2. It fails to identify those positions that the charter school regards as key in each category and specify the additional qualifications expected of individuals assigned to those positions.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- A. The petition fails to provide job descriptions and/or minimum qualifications for the following positions listed in the petition: Special Education Program Coordinator (page 96), Academic Co-Principals (page 112), Coordinator of Operations (page 128), and Academic Consultants and Director of Operations (Appendix B). Qualifications for Executive Director are absent.
 - B. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) is deficient. It fails to include an Executive Director, although there is a job description (page 120) outlining critical duties such as "oversee the school-operating budget...instructional program...classroom management...supervise staff...be an active member of the school board." Based on the job description, it is unclear if the Executive Director is a member of the board. Appendix B lists board members by name; the Executive Director's name is absent. The Organizational Chart includes a "Director of Operations," with no job description or qualifications provided for that position. It is unclear if it is the same as "Coordinator of Operations." The Organizational Chart identifies "Auxiliary Staff," but lacks specific corresponding positions.
3. Specify that all requirements for employment set forth in applicable provisions of law will be met, including, but not limited to credentials as necessary. Teacher qualifications (page 122) state the CA SB 2042 teaching credential is required; this will exclude teachers who hold Ryan multiple subject credentials and life elementary credentials with added English language certification.

Element 6: Health and Safety Procedures. Reasonably comprehensive

Element 7: Means to Achieve a Reflective Racial and Ethnic Balance. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(7) based on evidence that:

1. During the term of its first charter, WAYS failed to achieve a racial and ethnic balance among its pupils that is reflective of the general population residing within the territorial jurisdiction of the school district in which it is located as indicated on in the chart on page two (2) of this report. Enrollment of Hispanic/Latino students is not comparable to the two (2) closest LAUSD non-charter elementary schools.
2. The description of the student population (required under Element 1) and the proposed recruitment plan show no indication WAYS is aware that it failed to achieve the required ethnic balance and provides no corrective action in its plan. The recruitment plan is vague and lacks benchmarks that could guide the school toward correcting the deficiency.

Element 8: Admission Requirements. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(8) as follows:

1. It does not comply with the requirements of EC § 47605(d) which, by reference, includes EC § 220 and CA Penal Code § 422.55 as the other applicable provision[s] of law in its statement of non-discrimination of protected classes. The petition additionally violates EC § 47607(a)(2) because the deficiency is the result of failing to update the renewal petition. This failure could result in the school engaging in discriminatory practices in its admissions procedures and policies.
2. The process for conducting the lottery is absent from the petition.
3. The preference given to siblings is likely to negatively impact the school from attaining its stated racial and ethnic goal.

Element 9: Annual Independent Financial Audits. Not reasonably comprehensive

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(9) as follows:

1. It does specify the timeline in which audit exceptions will typically be addressed or specify the timelines for statutory reporting requirements including the submission of the preliminary budget.
2. It does not specify that the school's Board of Directors will hire an independent auditor or that the auditor selected will be on the State Controller's list of educational auditors.

Element 10: Suspension and Expulsion Procedures. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(10) as follows:

1. There is no differentiation between offenses for which students in the charter school must and may be suspended and separately, the offenses for which students in the charter school must or may be expelled, providing evidence that the petitioner reviewed the offenses for which students must or may be suspended or expelled in non-charter public schools.
2. There is insufficient specificity regarding the procedures by which pupils can be suspended or expelled. It fails to provide timelines necessary to comply with due process requirements. It refers to due process but never defines it with regard to the suspension and expulsion process. No information is provided regarding how members of the expulsion hearing panel will be selected to avoid Conflict of Interest. The petition lists three (3) standards where "a student's suspension may lead to expulsion..." but lacks criteria for meeting the standards, which could result in capricious and prejudicial practices.
3. It does not describe how parents are informed of their due process rights in regards to suspension and expulsion.
4. It fails to demonstrate an understanding of the rights of pupils with disabilities in...regard to suspension and expulsion. The petition references the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) and Section 504 but does not differentiate between them regarding the procedures to be used for suspension and expulsion. The petition discusses Manifestation Determination; however, there is no mention of how WAYS deals with pupils when the behavior is associated with the disability, or ensure the pupil is in the appropriate program/services. There is no mention of how WAYS deals with a student with disabilities who begins displaying negative behaviors, of calling an IEP Team meeting and writing a Behavior Support Plan, or deals with suspensions (cumulative) of over 10 days.

Element 11: STRS, PERS, and Social Security. Reasonably comprehensive with specific omission

The petition does not state the staff who will be responsible for ensuring that appropriate arrangements for coverage have been made as required under CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(11).

Element 12: Public School Attendance Alternatives. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(12) as it does not specify that the parent/guardian of each pupil enrolled in the charter shall be informed that the pupil has no right to admission in a particular school of any local education agency as a consequence of enrollment in the charter school, except to the extent that such a right is extended by the local education agency.

Element 13: Post-Employment Rights of Employees. Reasonably comprehensive

Element 14: Dispute Resolution Procedures. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the minimum requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(14) as follows:

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

1. Provides an unacceptable description of how the costs of the dispute resolution process would be funded. LACOE cannot agree to the provision, "Any party who fails or refuses to submit to arbitration shall bear all costs and expenses incurred by such other party in compelling arbitration of any controversy, claim or dispute."
2. It fails to recognize that if the substance of a dispute is a matter that could result in the taking of appropriate action, including, but not limited to, revocation of the charter in accordance with EC § 47607, the matter will be addressed at the County Board's discretion in accordance with that provision of law and any regulations pertaining thereto.
 - A. While the petition states that "any controversy or claim... except [one] that is in any way related to revocation of this Charter must be put in writing," the language does not unequivocally exempt any issue related to revocation from first having to go through Element 14 (Dispute Resolution).
 - B. The Dispute Resolution element provides for unreasonable timelines. For instance, mediation must occur within 120 days to four (4) months after the Issues Conference and there is no timeline within which arbitration, the final step, must occur.

Element 15: Exclusive Public Employer. Reasonably comprehensive

Element 16: Closure Procedures. Reasonably comprehensive with specific deficiencies

The petition fails to meet the requirements as defined by CCR, Title 5, § 11962 as follows:

1. It does not comply with the requirement for transfer and maintenance of personnel records in accordance with applicable law or state how the school will return any donated materials and property if closed.
2. Closure procedures reflect the LAUSD Board of Education as the authorizer; the petitioner did not submit necessary changes to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. This is of particular importance with regard to special education as WAYS currently operates as a school of the district for special education services and would be a Local Education Agency (LEA) if authorized by the County Board.

Finding 6: The petition does not satisfy all of the Required Assurances of Education Code section 47605(c), (e) through (j), (l), and (m) as follows:

Standards, Assessments and Parent Consultation. Does not meet the condition

The petition does not provide evidence required by EC § 47605(c) that charter schools:

1. Meet all statewide standards and conduct the pupil assessments required pursuant to EC § 60605 and 60851 and any other statewide standards authorized in statute or pupil assessments applicable to pupils in non-charter public schools. It fails to meet this condition due to its stated use of outdated tests and failure to specify correct procedures for students with special needs.
2. The school shall, on a regular basis, consult with their parents and teachers regarding the school's educational programs. It fails to meet the condition as there is no indication that WAYS provides a method for parents of English learners to provide input on programs specific to English learners and there is no mention of how parents of students with disabilities will be informed about the school's educational program.

Effect on the Authorizer and Financial Projections. Does not provide the necessary evidence

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

EC § 47605(g) requires the petition to provide information regarding the proposed operation and potential effects of the school on the authorizer. Requirements regarding the budget and facilities currently under lease were met. Concerns are as follows:

1. The petition does not provide evidence that there are no potential civil liability effects. Due to the Conflict of Interest issues raised by LAUSD and WAYS' failure to resolve those conflicts, there are concerns with the potential liability effects that authorizing the charter may bring to the County Board if the charter is authorized and the conflicts continue or recur.
2. While the current budget and projections for the next two years seem reasonable, the cost of facilities is unknown as the current lease expires in June 2011. The budget reflects an increase to lease expenses for expansion, based on current expenditures; however, if the school were to remain at the current site, it is unknown whether the holding company might raise the rate for the current sites, which would impact the out-year budgets.

Teacher Credentialing Requirement. Does not meet the condition

EC § 47605(l) requires that teachers in charter schools shall be required to hold a CCTC certificate, permit, or other document equivalent to that which a teacher in other public schools would be required to hold...It is the intent of the Legislature that charter schools be given flexibility with regard to noncore, non-college preparatory courses. The petition fails to meet the condition because there is no mention of the type of credential a teacher would need to teach students with disabilities and teacher qualifications limited to SB 2042 credentials as reported under Element 5.

Item VI. Reports / Study Topics

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School status of the June 7, 2011 conditions of renewal established by the County Board

On June 7, 2011, the County Board took action to grant renewal for Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) subject to specified conditions. The conditions of the County Board and WAYS' status on fulfilling those conditions are summarized below.

Make changes to the petition to reflect the County Board as the authorizer by June 30, 2011. (Required by California Code of Regulations , Title 5 § 11967)	Not met
WAYS' Board to approve and sign LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) by June 30, 2011.	WAYS' Board approved and signed MOU; however, the school has not complied with specific monitoring and oversight requirements.

Condition	Director of Operations as reason.
If any changes to Governance or Conflict of Interest were not permanent, it would be grounds for revocation.	Unclear if the condition was met. WAYS did not provide requested information needed to determine if condition was met.

Additional Concerns

- (1) WAYS failed to meet or pursue student outcomes identified in the charter (EC 47607(c)(2)); its 2011 Growth Academic Performance Index (API) score declined 143 points over the preceding year.
- (2) WAYS failed to respond to reasonable requests from authorizer for fiscal information pertaining to the school's internal controls and fiscal operations (EC 47604.3).
- (3) LACOE received complaints against WAYS, its governing board, and the former Executive Director by a parent, school employees, and former members of the WAYS' Board. Based on allegations identified in the complaints, the County Superintendent of Schools opened an investigation pursuant to EC 47604.4. The complaints allege WAYS engaged in fiscal mismanagement, the board did not fulfill its fiduciary responsibility or duty of care, conflicts of interest exist, and the school failed to implement the academic program stated in the charter. WAYS failed to cooperate with the County Superintendent of Schools investigation.

Background

WAYS is a K-5 school comprised of three (3) sites located within the geographic boundaries of the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD). Current enrollment is 488 students.

The County Board received the renewal petition as an appeal after denial by the LAUSD Board of Education. LAUSD had denied the petition based on the following findings:

- (1) EC 47605(b)(2) The petitioners were demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program. Specific concerns regarding the WAYS Board included:

- Allowing self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest;
 - Failing to resolve Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempting to do so;
 - Being minimally responsive to staff communications and acting in a manner inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility, calling into question its capacity to govern and successfully implement the program; and
 - Unfamiliarity with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law including the Brown Act.
- (2) EC 47605(b)(5) The petition failed to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School Status of the June 7, 2011 Conditions of Renewal Established by the County Board

Background

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) is located within the geographic boundaries of the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD). The school has three (3) sites; one was approved by the Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) as a Material Revision to the Charter on August 9, 2011. WAYS currently has an enrollment of 488 students (CALPADS Spring 1 Certification, April 2, 2011).

The County Board took action to renew WAYS subject to specific conditions. The renewal petition was received by the County Board on appeal after it was denied by the LAUSD Board of Education based on the following findings:

EC 47605(b)(2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program:

Conflict of interest concerns exist pertaining to members of the WAYS Board of Directors and the WAYS Executive Director and Principal.... the WAYS Board...was minimally responsive to staff communications.... LAUSD considered the governing board's lack of independent and effective response to the Notice of Concern to be inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility...which called into question the Board's capacity to govern the Charter School and successfully implement the program set forth in the petition. The WAYS Board failed to resolve the Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempted to do so....

The WAYS governing board is unfamiliar with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law... [including] whether the Board is familiar with and complies with the requirements of the Brown Act. Additionally, the Board allowed self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the Board in the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest.

EC 47605(b)(5) The petition fails to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements: The Educational Program, Method for Measuring Pupil Progress, Governance Structure, Health and Safety Procedures, Means for Achieving a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, Identification of Retirement Systems, Public School Alternatives, Dispute Resolution, Closure Procedures.

Action to Grant Renewal by the County Board was Subject to Conditions

The June 7, 2011 action to grant renewal was subject to the following conditions:

1. WAYS was to make changes to the petition to reflect County Board as the authorizer as required by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5 section 11967 by June 30, 2011;

000028

2. WAYS' Board was to approve and sign the LACOE Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) by June 30, 2011;
3. WAYS was to make application to a Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA) by June 30, 2011;
4. WAYS' former Executive Director was not to be "employed by or at the charter school until such time, if any, that the allegations of conflict of interest be resolved fully in her favor;"
5. WAYS was to comply with all California Conflict of Interest Laws;
6. WAYS was to contract with Michael Cureton as its Executive Director for two (2) years; and
7. If any changes to Governance or Conflict of Interest were not permanent, it would be grounds for revocation.

Status of Compliance with County Board Conditions of Renewal

To date, the school's status on fulfilling the conditions of renewal is as follows:

1. WAYS did not make changes to the petition to reflect County Board as the authorizer. Events relevant to the school's failure to comply with the conditions of renewal are as follows:
 - a. June 2011, WAYS began the revision process under the direction of Executive Director Michael Cureton; LACOE received a draft of proposed changes on August 21, 2011.
 - b. September 15, 2011, Mr. Cureton tendered his resignation effective October 1, 2011. He notified LACOE that Ms. Watson, school principal, would continue to lead the revision process until a new Executive Director is named.
 - c. October 14, 2011, WAYS Board Member, Edward Cabil resigned from the WAYS Board and is appointed interim Executive Director.
 - d. October 21, 2011, WAYS submitted a second revision of proposed charter changes to LACOE.
 - e. November 17, 2011, WAYS' attorney notified LACOE that the charter agreement is "fully authorized" and there "can be no other terms or conditions imposed by staff." The school rescinded previously submitted changes and invoked Dispute Resolution on the requirement to make changes. (November 11, 2011, WAYS Board named Mr. Cabil permanent Executive Director.)
 - f. December 21, 2011, LACOE responded to WAYS stating (1) the County Board has the authority to impose conditions of authorization; (2) WAYS' Board agreed to the changes reflecting the County Board as authorizer by signing the MOU (necessary changes were specified in the MOU as Attachment F); and (3) invoking Dispute Resolution regarding WAYS' unauthorized changes to the petition.
 - g. January 26, 2012, LACOE received a letter from WAYS dated December 11, 2012, which (1) disputed LACOE's ability to impose conditions for authorization; and (2) failed to respond to LACOE's request for an Issues Conference.
 - h. February 2, 2012, LACOE invited WAYS to an Issues Conference to discuss "whether the County Board may, as a condition of authorization, require changes to the charter necessary to reflect the County Board as the authorizer."

pertaining to the school's internal controls and fiscal operations (EC 47604.3).

- a. Based on a review of credit card statements (supporting documents not available for review), and inquiries to WAYS' management and back-office services provider, WAYS exhibits a lack of internal control and oversight over credit card usage. For example, WAYS made credit card payments prior to obtaining receipts and verifying the validity of the charges, which is contrary to its fiscal policies and procedures.
 - b. Controller's Office staff was scheduled to visit WAYS' back-office services provider on November 18, 2011, to make further inquiries and review documentation, but the visit was objected to and cancelled by WAYS. Subsequently, on January 10, 2012, staff met with WAYS Executive Director and Director of Operations to discuss LACOE's concerns regarding WAYS' internal controls. WAYS' Executive Director acknowledged weaknesses exist.
3. LACOE received verbal and written complaints against WAYS, its governing board, and the former Executive Director by a parent, staff, and former members of WAYS' Board. Based on allegations identified in the complaints, the County Superintendent of Schools opened an investigation pursuant to *EC 47604.4*¹. The complaints allege WAYS engaged in fiscal mismanagement, the Board did not fulfill its fiduciary responsibility or duty of care, there were ongoing conflicts of interest, and the school failed to implement the academic program stated in the charter. Evidence supporting the various allegations includes but is not limited to the following:
- a. The former Executive Director interfered with governing board's ability to fulfill its responsibility to oversee the governance of the school.
 - i. Five (5) of WAYS' nine (9) Board members, in office at the time of County Board action, resigned between September 19 and October 20, 2011. The letters of resignation indicate concerns regarding conflict of interest, on-going Board resignations, dissention, the former Executive Director's verbal abuse of Board members, and the precipitous resignation of Mr. Cureton.
 - ii. The former Executive Director failed to comply with the WAYS Board request to remove herself as a signatory on school accounts until after October 28, 2011.
 - iii. Multiple complaints that the former Executive Director was present at and refused to be unseated from the board table at the September 16, 2011 board meeting. The agenda for this meeting included discussion of moving the school to facilities not owned by the former Executive Director. The meeting was disbanded due to unruly behavior by individuals supporting continued use of the former Executive Director's facilities.
 - iv. At the September 22, 2011 special Board meeting, LACOE staff observed that the former Executive Director was seated at the Board table, held private conversations with one Board member during the course of the meeting, and called an absent Board member to ask if they were coming to the meeting. The meeting was disbanded due to lack of a quorum.

¹47604.4(a) In addition to the authority granted by Sections 1241.5 and 47604.3, a county superintendent of schools may, based upon written complaints by parents or other information that justifies the investigation, monitor the operations of a charter school located within that county and conduct an investigation into the operations of that charter school.

- b. The former Executive Director interfered with the day to day operations of the school.
- i. In July 2011, the former Executive Director represented WAYS in a Department of Labor Relations Division of Labor Standard Enforcement Hearing as reported by the filing party.
 - ii. On August 30, 2011, LACOE staff observed the presence of the former Executive Director at a WAYS' professional development day including her access to confidential student level data. LACOE also obtained written evidence, corroborated by Mr. Cureton, that she had addressed the staff using materials identifying her as the "Chief Executive Officer of Wisdom Academy."
 - iii. On September 30, 2011, Mr. Cureton sent an email stating, "I will resign my position as Executive Director at Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School on October 1, 2011, because I am being constantly harass[ed] by the founder/former executive director and her son."
- c. WAYS has not implemented the academic program described in the charter.

- i. WAYS has not provided the science-centered curriculum stated in Element 1 of the charter. The petition states WAYS' mission as follows:

The mission consists of three main concepts: Empowering students to be leaders, through high quality education that is anchored in the California State Standards, enabling them to become true scientists who are global citizens as evidenced by their participation in a rigorous content rich science program and expecting them to be leaders who will act as change agents in their local community.
(Emphasis added)

As part of WAYS' renewal application to LAUSD, the district asked the question, "What innovative elements of your charter could be considered best practices and replicated by other schools?" WAYS' response, in part, was its "Science Centered curriculum."

- A. The 2010-11 California Standards Test (CST) for science (administered at fifth grade) indicates only 33% of students scored proficient or above in science. In the previous year, 81% of students scored proficient or above.
- B. Observation by LACOE staff during October 19, 2011, and February 22, 2012, site visits is that the science kits named in the charter are not being utilized and are not present in classrooms. WAYS staff verbally confirmed this observation.
- C. The complaint that textbooks are out of date is corroborated by statements made by WAYS staff that the school is in need of textbooks.
- D. At a December 2011 Board meeting, the WAYS principal reported to the WAYS Board that the school was meeting with a contractor to "bring back" a science program the school previously utilized. There was no evidence of that program during a February 22, 2012 site visit. During that visit, the principal stated the school has deferred the science focus until the school's performance in math and language arts improves.

- E. April 2012, LACOE received a complaint against WAYS alleging the school did not provide adequate instructional materials, including textbooks, to implement the educational program.
- d. The WAYS Board failed to fulfill its duty of care and fiduciary responsibility by:
- i. Permitting the former Executive Director access to school financial accounts past her date of employment:
 - A. She remained as a signatory on school bank accounts for more than four (4) months past her date of employment.
 - B. She made charges to a credit card in the school's name between June 13 and June 30, 2011, for travel, accommodations, meals, and gasoline in the amount of $2,155.00.
 - ii. Providing insufficient oversight to ensure adherence to its fiscal policies, including
 - A. The Director of Operations, son of the former Executive Director, approved the check request for the school's credit card payment including charges he initiated.
- e. The following allegations are still pending due to WAYS' failure to cooperate with LACOE's request for information pursuant to EC 47604.4:
- Fiscal mismanagement
 - Breach of fiduciary responsibility
 - Conflict of interest
 - Breach of duty of care
- f. Over the course of the past six (6) months, LACOE issued repeated invitations to WAYS Board and Executive Director to participate in the investigation, only to be met by resistance and later refusal. WAYS even improperly invoked the Dispute Resolution Process to as to what it claims were "false" allegations prompting the investigation. In its last correspondence WAYS maintained its position that it refuses to participate in the investigation.

Subject: Preliminary recommendations that address the 'Notice of Concern' received on December 20, 2013 from the Los Angeles County Office of Education

The following are recommendations that the Board is advancing to address the County's 'Notice of Concern':

1. To request a Ninety-Day Extension from the Los Angeles County Office of Education to address the issues outlined in the 'Notice of Concerns' in order to develop a 'Corrective Action Plan' to address the Los Angeles County Office of Education 'Notice of Concern'.
2. Each board member will have the opportunity to submit recommendations to address the issues contained in the 'Notice of Concern'.
3. Hiring of a consultant to assist the Board in the development of the 'Corrective Action Plan'
4. Attempt to meet with the administration to ascertain the reasons for ongoing material fiscal deficiencies contained in the 2011-12 Independent Audit Report performed by Mr. Clem Payne.

To schedule a Board Retreat to discuss and develop a remedy for each of the items contained in the 'Notice of Concern', material deficiencies in the 2011-12 Independent Audit Report, material deficiencies in the 2011-12 Independent Audit Report, corrective action steps, personnel matters, review school charter, review organizational by-laws, and other operational and fiscal issues.
6. Require at least two (2) signatures on all checks authorized by the Board. Currently, only one signature is required no matter the amount of the check.

7. Develop parameters for which a check can be written by the administration without preapproval. (example: amount)
8. The Board will develop a 'Board Expenditure Authorization Form' to verify justification and board approval for all school expenditures.
9. Submit a draft of the 'Corrective Action Plan' to the Los Angeles County Office of Education in 65 days for preliminary review and comments. After which, those comments will be incorporated, and a final copy of the 'Corrective Action Plan' resubmitted to the County Office of Education.
10. All administrative positions will be opened, and administrators in those positions will be invited to reapply.
11. Job descriptions and contracts will be developed for all positions.
12. All positions will undergo a 'position audit' to determine scope and qualifications. Upon completion of the position audit, job descriptions can be upgraded or modified.

18. Review all personnel records to determine the experience and qualifications of staff.
19. Review all consultant and contractor contracts.
20. Conduct a survey to gather additional input/feedback from all school personnel to be used in addressing issues contained in the 'Notice of Concern'.

22. Offer all board members the opportunity to attend the upcoming California Charter School Association (CCSA) conference in San Jose that will offer the Board Governance 101 training sessions.
23. Interim administrative and temporary classified personnel may need to be hired.
24. In response to the 2012-13 FCMAT fraud audit, and the administration's continuing insubordination and overall lack of responsiveness to the Board of Directors; a process must be established, at least on an interim basis, for the Board to become signers/co-signers on all school checks to eliminate possible appearance fraud or mismanagement of funds; of which it is responsible.
25. A meeting with all contractors will be held.
26. A security firm will be hired to monitor the campus, escort terminated staff off the premises, and ensure the safety of Board members and staff.

Re: Response to your letter dated December 20, 2013

Dear Dr. Delgado:

I am responding to your letter dated December 20, 2013, which you incorrectly mailed solely to the WAYS Board President's residence in Oakland and her personal email address. As a result, WAYS did not receive your letter until January 14, 2014. Thus, it is unreasonable that you requested a response by January 20, 2014, which date is also a Federal recognized holiday. Going forward, please comply with the LACOE MOU with regard to such notices. The MOU specifically provides that LACOE send any and all notices and correspondence concerning WAYS to the Executive Director at the school's address. By incorrectly sending your notice to a single board member but addressing all of them, you could have inadvertently triggered a serial board communication (transmittal of your letter) in violation of the Brown Act. We expect you to comply with the MOU in this regard.

At the time your letter was sent, WAYS had in fact submitted the following required reports. It is unclear why you were under the impression that they had not been sent by that date. One report (the December financial statement) did not exist yet at the time of your letter. In any event, here is a summary of when each report was submitted.

October Financials were submitted November 15, 2013

November Financials were submitted December 13th 2013

December Financials were not due by the time LACOE wrote the letter, it was subsequently submitted January 15, 2014

First Interim was submitted December 13, 2013

Unaudited Actuals was submitted before the due date but LACOE asked for adjustments and final submission was October 9th

The WAYS Board President and one other Board Member incorrectly included a member of your office as a recipient in WAYS internal confidential communication, which was explicitly intended for me, which you quote in your letter. Her email dated November 20, 2013, was not a "notice of an altercation" to LACOE. Furthermore, a majority of the statements made in the Board President's email dated November 20 were inaccurate and unfounded. That is being sorted out as an internal matter.

The WAYS Board President is new to the organization, and has not been appointed, authorized, or delegated an authorized point of contact between LACOE and WAYS. As you know, any information provided by a single member of the WAYS Board, without prior authorization from the WAYS Board, is not and cannot be an official communication concerning the business and operations of WAYS. A single board member does not speak for the board or the organization. Many of your December 20, 2013 statements are based on what appears to be your misinterpretation of that internal communication. Furthermore, your assertion that the CSO requested an explanation as to why the WAYS November 21, 2013 Board meeting was "postponed" is not correct. We did not receive any such request. In any event, the WAYS November 21, 2013 Board Meeting was postponed because I determined that the agenda was not posted in accordance with the Brown Act. We did not wish to proceed with an improperly noticed meeting, so we cured any potential violation by postponing the meeting until proper notice was provided. The improper notice was a result of the new Board President's learning curve on these issues.

Since the charter renewal period in May 2011, your office has made habitual misstatements and unfounded claims. We have been trying to resolve that problem with you, and will continue to do so. Most recently, your December 20, 2013 letter refers to "[my] history of overstepping [my] authority." That is false and misleading. You misquote my October 10, 2011, email insinuating that I overstepped my authority by calling a Board Meeting. However on October 10, 2011, I was still a member of the WAYS Board; consequently my statement that "four of the remaining board members all agreed that we needed a called meeting because of the desperate and crucial situation surrounding WAYS" is in fact evidence that the Board called a meeting as required by the Bylaws, and in no way supports your suggestion that I have a "history" of "overstepping" my authority.

Also for the record, as my letter dated November 12, 2013 implied, the October 24, 2013 Board Meeting was ended abruptly at 8:40pm at the conclusion of the closed session with an unofficial Board consensus due to an unanticipated interruption. There was no threat to the health and safety of anyone in attendance at the October 24, 2013 meeting. Furthermore, my statements in my November 12, 2013 do not support any allegations or claims made by any board or staff member. WAYS maintains a safe and secure environment for its students, staff, administration, school volunteers, and visitors.

WAYS reviews its policies regularly. There were no changes made to the Board approved Policies including the Admissions/Enrollment/Lottery, and Suspension & Expulsion policies, which were initially submitted to LACOE in during the WAYS Charter Renewal in May 2011. On November 7, 2013, an email from Neha Patel states that the LACOE CSO was unable to locate these policies, additionally naming the newly required Student Fees Policy. These policies were resubmitted to LACOE on November 8, 2013, along with a draft version of the newly required Student Fees Policy Draft which was expected to be reviewed by the WAYS Board at the November 24, 2013 Board Meeting.

We will continue to provide you information and document as we move forward. We agree that WAYS is experiencing some difficulties with board governance; many volunteer boards do. We have several new board members, and the board is quickly working through some growing pains. We expect board meetings to operate much more smoothly going forward. Similarly, we expect the Board to meet regularly.

Concerning your comments about arbitration over "conditions of authorization", we hope to resolve that with you within the schedule set by the arbitrator, Mr. Mainland. Our attorney has asked LACOE for your proposed award language so we could consider agreeing to it without any objection or further waste of public dollars. We understand that LACOE's attorney agreed to provide that. We believe that will entirely resolve those issues.

Sincerely,

Ed Cabil

Dear Mr. Cabil and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Confirmation of Receipt of Responses to Superintendent's Notice of Concern

On December 20, 2013, Superintendent Dr. Arturo Delgado issued a Notice of Concern to Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS). The letter requested an action plan, responsive to the issues stated in the letter, be submitted to the Charter School Office by January 20, 2014.

On January 21, 2014, the Los Angeles County Office of Education received two (2) responses: one from the WAYS Board President and one from the WAYS Executive Director. The responses contain contradictory information and request different timelines for submitting the action plan.

By Friday, January 31, 2014, please submit the school's response to the Superintendent's Notice of Concern to the Charter School Office.

Re: Response to your letter dated December 20, 2013 and letter from Judy Higelin dated January 24, 2014

Dear Dr. Delgado:

Thank you for stating your concern to us about WAYS' Board governance. We recognize that we have had recent issues with inappropriate actions and communication coming from a specific Board Member. We, too, have been very concerned and our Board has taken steps to correct this matter, and we will continue to do so. At the January 30, 2014 Special Board Meeting, the Board voted to remove Carol Lee Tolbert from the WAYS Board. Thus, Carol Lee Tolbert is no longer a member of the WAYS Board and is no longer associated with WAYS in any capacity whatsoever. We believe this action is a major step in correcting our recent governance issues. Attachment 1 of this letter is our updated school contact list and attachment 2 of this letter is our List of current board members. WAYS intends to appoint additional members to its Board as soon as practicable.

I am further responding to your letter dated December 20, 2013, which you incorrectly mailed solely to the former WAYS Board Chair's residence in Oakland and her personal email address. As a result, WAYS did not receive your letter until January 14, 2014. Thus, it is unreasonable that you requested a response by January 20, 2014, which date is also a Federal recognized holiday. Dear Superintendent Delgado:

The contract between the Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT) and the Los Angeles County Office of Education to provide an Assembly Bill 139 extraordinary audit of the Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists (WAYS) was signed in May 2013 and returned to FCMAT in June 2013. Specifically, the agreement stated that FCMAT would perform the following:

Scope and Objectives of the Study

1. Evaluate the charter school's internal control structure, policies and procedures to test transactions and reporting processes to determine if adequate procedures are in place to safeguard assets, including physical objects, charter school data, and intellectual property.

Evaluation of policies and procedures will include the following:

- i. Review compliance with policies and procedures including, but not limited to, those related to human resources, finance, purchasing, granting agencies, and state and federal government programs and funding.
 - ii. Review document and records retention procedures to determine whether the charter school provides reasonable assurance that asset records are safeguarded and transactions are correctly recorded.
2. Evaluate the reliability and integrity of information used for internal management decisions and external agency reports.
 3. Determine if authorization procedures are appropriate and consistently followed. Review administrator and manager approvals and whether signature authority is delegated only to authorized employees.

 - i. Review the authorization process for cash receipts
 - ii. Determine if protective measures are in place for safeguarding assets, processes and data.
 - iii. Determine whether safe combinations are changed periodically and anytime a staff member who knows the combination terminates employment.
 5. Evaluate reporting processes. The team will do the following:
 - i. Evaluate monitoring and verify that controls are operating properly.
 - ii. Evaluate controls that prevent management from overriding internal controls and thus prevent the potential misappropriation of funds.
 - iii. Evaluate whether clearly established lines of authority and responsibility exist within and between departments for proper review and reporting purposes, and if these are shown on organizational charts.

About FCMAT

FCMAT's primary mission is to assist California's local K-14 educational agencies to identify, prevent, and resolve financial and data management challenges. FCMAT provides fiscal and data management assistance, professional development training, product development and other related school business and data services. FCMAT's fiscal and management assistance services are used not just to help avert fiscal crisis, but to promote sound financial practices and efficient operations. FCMAT's data management services are used to help local educational agencies (LEAs) meet state reporting responsibilities, improve data quality, and share information.

FCMAT may be requested to provide fiscal crisis or management assistance by a school district, charter school, community college, county office of education, the state Superintendent of Public Instruction, or the Legislature.

When a request or assignment is received, FCMAT assembles a study team that works closely with the local education agency to define the scope of work, conduct on-site fieldwork and provide a written report with findings and recommendations to help resolve issues, overcome challenges and plan for the future.

Studies by Fiscal Year

FCMAT also develops and provides numerous publications, software tools, workshops and professional development opportunities to help local educational agencies operate more effectively and fulfill their fiscal oversight and data management responsibilities. The California School Information Services (CSIS) arm of FCMAT assists the California Department of Education with the implementation of the California Longitudinal Pupil Achievement Data System (CALPADS) and also maintains DataGate, the FCMAT/CSIS software LEAs use for CSIS services. FCMAT was created by Assembly Bill 1200 in 1992 to assist LEAs to meet and sustain their financial obligations. Assembly Bill 107 in 1997 charged FCMAT with responsibility for CSIS and its statewide data management work. Assembly Bill 1115 in 1999 codified CSIS' mission.

AB 1200 is also a statewide plan for county offices of education and school districts to work together locally to improve fiscal procedures and accountability standards. Assembly Bill 2756 (2004) provides specific responsibilities to FCMAT with regard to districts that have received emergency state loans.

iv

ABOUT FCMAT

In January 2006, SB 430 (charter schools) and AB 1366 (community colleges) became law and expanded FCMAT's services to those types of LEAs.

Since 1992, FCMAT has been engaged to perform nearly 850 reviews for LEAs, including school districts, county offices of education, charter schools and community colleges. The Kern County Superintendent of Schools is the administrative agent for FCMAT. The team is led by Joel D. Montero, Chief Executive Officer, with funding derived through appropriations in the state budget and a modest fee schedule for charges to requesting agencies.

Introduction

In May 2013, the Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT) received a request from the Los Angeles County Office of Education for an Assembly Bill (AB) 139 extraordinary audit of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists charter schools. The county office had received allegations of multiple fiscal irregularities, questionable expenditures and inappropriate related-party transactions at WAYS charter school. Concerned that these allegations may have violated various government and education codes related to fraud and/or misappropriation of assets, the county superintendent initiated an investigation to determine whether sufficient evidence of fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities may have occurred to report the matter to the local district attorney's office for further investigation. Under the provisions of Education Code Section 1241, FCMAT entered into a contract with the Los Angeles County Office of Education to conduct an AB 139 extraordinary audit.

FCMAT interviewed employees and reviewed documents to determine if instances of fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal practices occurred that would warrant further investigation by the local district attorney's office.

Study Guidelines

FCMAT provides a variety of services to school districts and county offices of education upon request. Education Code Section 1241.5(b)(c) permits a county superintendent of schools to review or audit the expenditures and internal controls of any school district in that county if he or she has reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices have occurred that merit examination. According to the Education Code, the review or audit conducted by the county superintendent will focus on the alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices and is to be conducted in a timely and efficient manner. This is in accordance with Education Code Section 42638(b), which states as follows:

If the county superintendent determines that there is evidence that fraud or misappropriation of funds has occurred, the county superintendent shall notify the governing board of the school district, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the local district attorney.

Therefore, FCMAT focused on the allegations of misappropriation of assets, misuse of grant funds and conflict of interest to determine whether Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School and/or its personnel were involved in or committed fraudulent activities.

Audit Fieldwork

Investigating allegations of fraud requires a number of steps that include interviewing potential witnesses and assembling evidence from internal and external sources. The FCMAT study team conducted initial county office interviews in June 2013 during the schools' summer vacation and then visited the three charter school campuses in November 2013 to conduct interviews, collect data and review documents. Based on new information, additional interviews and fieldwork were scheduled in December 2013 through February 2014. Specifically, FCMAT reviewed, analyzed and tested records that included audited financial statements, financial records, grant documents, board minutes, the charter petitions and other documentation from independent third party sources. The review also included interviews with a board member, management personnel, business service provider, and former charter school employees to evaluate information concerning any alleged mismanagement, fraud, or abuse.

INTRODUCTION

The fieldwork focused on determining whether there is sufficient information to ascertain fraud, misappropriation of funds, conflict of interest particularly with related-party transactions, self-dealing through privately owned company transactions of management and key employees and the former executive director of the charter school, and breach of fiduciary duty.

Although there are many different types of fraud, a conflict of interest and breach of fiduciary duty exists when officers or employees of the organization have a personal financial interest in a contract or transaction and is considered to be a form of misappropriation of assets.

All fraud has common elements including the following:

Knowingly making an untrue representation or a false claim of a material fact;

- Intent to deceive, or concealment of the act;
- Reliance on untrue information; and
- Damages or a loss of money or property.

This report is the result of that investigation and is divided into the following sections:

FISCAL CRISIS & MANAGEMENT ASSISTANCE TEAM

Background

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) operates under the Merle Williamson Foundation, a non-profit 501(c)(3). WAYS charter school was authorized as a charter school by the California Department of Education (CDE) in September 2006. The first-year enrollment of 141 grew to 267 pupils by June 30, 2012.

Originally approved by Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education, the charter school was denied renewal of the petition effective July 1, 2011. The district cited several instances of Education Code violations that included:

1. Conflict of interest concerns between related parties, the executive director, the principal and members of the Board of Directors including self-dealing;
2. Violations of the Brown Act;
3. An ineffective governance structure; and
4. Failure to provide a reasonably comprehensive description in the petition for 12 of 16 required elements pursuant to EC 47605(b)(5).

The WAYS governing board is responsible for fiscal accountability and proper governance over all financial transactions but has limited involvement in the schools' financial affairs. The inability for the governing board to exercise due diligence and implement internal controls has effectively allowed the former executive director, current executive director and related parties unrestricted access to the assets of the organization and implied authority to enter into a variety of business arrangements for personal gain without board authorization and/or approval.

The involvement of the former executive director, related parties, business associates, former board members and numerous businesses owned by the former executive director and her husband has raised questions regarding potential conflict of interest, significant influence over financial transactions, self-dealing, control over fiscal management and related party transactions in violation of government and education codes.

On June 7, 2011, the Los Angeles County Board of Education (LACBOE) granted conditional approval for the WAYS charter school. Since that time, the management of the charter school has repeatedly resisted implementation of the conditions for approval by ignoring requests by the county office staff for information to support that the conditions have been met. On several occasions, verification that the conditions have been met including required reports such as financial information, interim budget reports, audited financial statements and monthly reports have been submitted after repeated requests by Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) staff or have not been submitted at all.

County office staff cite several instances within the first year of operations where WAYS failed to comply with the conditions set forth in the original conditional approval. Some examples include: Management is unresponsive to reasonable requests for timely financial information for supporting documentation regarding implementation of the WAYS policy and procedure regarding internal control over credit card usage, attendance reports, contact information, student information, board minutes, board agendas, board meeting dates, failure to abide by conflict of interest laws, and interference in operations from the founder/former executive director, in addition to written and verbal complaints by board members, parents and staff.

Following the conditional approval by LACBOE, the county office staff received written and verbal complaints alleging WAYS engaged in fiscal mismanagement, interference with the board in its fulfillment of fiduciary duties by the founder/former executive director, disbanding of board meetings caused by unruly behavior preventing unfavorable actions of the board, resignation of five of the nine board members in one month citing concerns over conflict of interest, ongoing board member resignations, dissention, verbal abuse of board members by the founder/former executive director and, most recently, her son, the director of operations. In January 2014, three of five board members resigned, citing similar complaints that are verified in the minutes and audio recordings of board meetings.

LACOE staff note several irregularities and possible misappropriation of funds within the WAYS charter school organization that oversees three charter school sites. These allegations of fraud involve ongoing conflicts of interest and the mismanagement of charter school funds related to facility leases, related-party transactions between the former executive director who owns two of the properties leased by the school and is related to owners of private businesses that conduct business with the charter school, execution of a vehicle lease without board approval, and a substantial separation of service payment to the former executive director without sufficient supporting documentation.

Governance issues include an ineffective governance structure caused by continued interference by the former executive director through her son and daughter that hold key positions of authority and decision making in the organization, effectively eliminating the governing board's ability to exercise its fiduciary responsibilities and duty of care. Evidence of board meeting cancellations and disruption by the current executive director and the founder's son (director of operations) are corroborated through emails, board minutes and audio recording of board meetings. Prior to the board president's resignation in January 2014, threatening outbursts by the founder's son at a specially scheduled board meeting ended the meeting, after which she obtained a restraining order for her personal protection.

Based on these allegations, the Los Angeles County Office of Education, Charter Schools Division conducted a preliminary investigation, and based on the results of their initial findings, requested assistance from FCMAT pursuant to Education Code Sections 47604.4 and 1241.5(c).

The county office requested FCMAT to provide for the assignment of professionals to study specific aspects of alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal fiscal practices that may have occurred in the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists organization that merit examination.

EC Section 42638(b) requires action by the county superintendent to include the following:

If the county superintendent determines that there is evidence that fraud or misappropriation of funds has occurred, the county superintendent shall notify the governing board of the charter school, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the local district attorney.

Sufficient evidence exists to demonstrate that WAYS' management and governing board has failed to cooperate with its oversight agency; is engaged with fiscal mismanagement; violates California conflict of interest laws by engaging in related party transactions and self-dealing; and has breached its fiduciary responsibility and duty of care.

Scope and Procedures

The fraud investigation consisted of gathering adequate information regarding specific allegations, establishing an audit plan, and performing various audit test procedures to determine whether fraud occurred, and if so, evaluate the loss, determine who was involved, and determine how it occurred. During the interviews, FCMAT study team members asked questions pertaining to levels of authority to enter into contracts, governing board oversight, financial management policies and procedures, job duties and responsibilities, and questions related specifically to the founder/former executive director's settlement agreement, facility leases, automobile lease, excess fuel purchases and various purchases by selected vendors including the dance studio owned by the founder's daughter.

The primary focus of this review is to provide the Los Angeles County Office of Education with reasonable assurances based on the testing performed that adequate management controls are in place regarding the charter schools' reporting and monitoring of financial transactions and that fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities have not occurred. Management controls include the processes for planning, organizing, directing, and controlling program operations, including systems for measuring, reporting, and monitoring performance.

FCMAT utilized fraud risk assessment tools to conduct sample tests of financial transactions, other data and contracts to determine if fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities have occurred. Testing associated with this review is based upon sample selection and does not include the testing of the complete list of all transactions and records for this period. Sample testing and review results are intended to provide reasonable but not absolute assurance as to the accuracy of the district's transactions and financial activity.

Transaction Sampling Analysis

To accomplish the objectives of this audit, a number of audit test procedures were developed to provide an in-depth analysis and understanding of the allegations and potential outcomes. The team had access to the general ledger records from July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2013. Specifically, FCMAT performed audit tests related to general ledger transactions, bank statements, check disbursements, and rent, facility and automobile lease agreements, including the following:

- Review of the charter schools' detailed QuickBooks general ledger records for the most recent five-year period from July 1, 2008 through December 31, 2013.
- Review of bank statements covering the audit period.
- Review of proper authorization and available supporting documentation.
- Review of credit card transactions and payments.
- Analysis of supporting documentation for credit card transactions.
- Review of federal forms W-9, 990 and 1099 over the audit period.
- Review of the charter schools' fiscal policies and procedures handbook.
- Review of the charter schools' petition documents and bylaws.
- Review of the governing board minutes and agendas.
- Analysis of purchases for school materials and supplies.

SCOPE AND PROCEDURES

- Analysis of the charter schools' compliance with laws and regulations relating to conflict of interest and the Political Reform Act and review of Forms 700.
- Review of the charter schools' internal control process and procedures to determine possible weaknesses in prevention and detection of fraud, misappropriation and/or criminal activity.

Transaction sampling was the method used to evaluate the vendor payments issued by WAYS. To evaluate WAYS' management of expenditure decisions, FCMAT obtained a full copy of the WAYS accounting software, QuickBooks. Using QuickBooks, the team reviewed the WAYS general ledger and vendors over the last five years.

The WAYS chart of accounts general ledger is comprised of 196 accounts. Vendor transactions are accounted for using the charter of accounts recorded in the general ledger to account for transactions in various like-kind groups such as office supplies, books, rent, loans, capital improvement, etc. For example, a typical purchase from Staples would be recorded as supplies and subsequently paid through accounts payable, eventually decreasing the cash account.

The team reviewed all 42 customers and 667 WAYS vendors and scanned each transaction in the QuickBooks software to identify potential individual transactions to be examined further.

An audit risk assessment involves sampling of both customer and vendor transactions. Customer transactions were consistent with audit risk parameters; therefore, no additional transactions were reviewed. However, the team identified 20 of the 667 vendors for an in-depth audit that included 137 individual transactions as demonstrated in the following table below.

WAYS Transaction Sampling	Customers	Vendors	Total
Total Number	42	667	709
FCMAT Team Reviewed	42	667	709

Selected vendor transactions were audited for supporting documentation for paid invoices based on specific criteria and depending on the type of purchase:

- An invoice's appearance, calculations of extended prices and quantities, description of invoice line items, and sales tax calculations
- Invoice payments
- Shipping documents
- Bills of lading and/or packing slips
- Receipt documentation such as notes, description of the business purpose
- Proper authorization including governing board approval, management approval, and conformance to internal accounting policies and procedures

- Proper coding of the transaction into the chart of accounts general ledger
- Vendor names and check payee names that are supported by valid business license, sales tax licenses and federal Form W-9
- Vendor invoices that present valid business addresses
- Vendors that were issued a federal Form 1099
- Contracts that are valid for the appropriate time period and contain authorized signatures
- Other proper documentation depending on the type of purchase or contract

After reviewing 137 detailed transactions of the 20 vendors selected for detailed review, the following six vendors fit the profile of related parties and/or were business entities that received payments from WAYS business accounts for goods or services:

1. OSE Business Services
2. American Express credit card
3. Godfrey Okonkwo
4. Emeka Enwezor
5. Avatar Technology
6. Toyota Motor Corporation - Lexus purchase and sale

The following findings and recommendations are the result of the audit procedures and analysis performed.

Findings and Recommendations

Occupational Fraud

The owners, executives, directors, managers and/or employees of an organization may commit occupational fraud, which has three primary classifications: schemes related to asset misappropriation, corruption, and financial statements. Occupational fraud is the most common type of fraud that occurs in school settings.

Asset misappropriation frauds include cash skimming, purchasing fraud, falsifying expense reports and/or forging company checks. Corruption schemes involve an employee(s) using his or her influence in business transactions to obtain a personal benefit that violates that employee's duty to the employer or the organization; conflicts of interest fall into this category. Financial statement fraud includes the intentional misstatement or omission of material information in the financial reports.

Occupational fraud is one of the most difficult types of fraud and abuse to detect; however, the most common method of detection is receiving tips from current and/or former employees, which occurs three times more frequently than any other fraud prevention method for this type of scheme, and accounts for 43.6% of detections overall. According to the 2012 Report to the Nations on Occupational Fraud and Abuse conducted by the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners (ACFE), corruption schemes accounted for approximately one-third of all occupational fraud cases reported, with a median loss of $250,000.

Based on this study, there is a direct correlation between the perpetrator's position and authority in the organization and the losses incurred. Approximately 43% of fraudsters were employees; 34.3% were managers; 4.2% were "others," and 18.5% were owner/executives. Although the second lowest percentage is from owner/executives, this group generated the largest median loss of $373,000 out of the 753 cases reported in the United States.

WAYS is a tightly held small public charter school operation founded and primarily operated by one family and close associates. The founder/former executive director selected the board members, which gave her and other family members significant influence over financial decisions that benefited them financially. Even after the founder was removed from her executive director position as a condition of the newly executed charter petition by the county office of education, the founder/former executive director positioned her son, daughter and previous board president to hold key positions in the organization and run the day-to-day operations, and by this action still maintained effective control over the financial affairs of the organization.

This report will demonstrate that there is an integral relationship between appointed board members and related family members and business associates – particularly between the former executive director, her son, daughter, former board president and their associated private businesses and lease agreements – that created an environment that allowed and continues to allow access, opportunity and motivation for occupational fraud to occur.

Internal Control Elements

Internal controls are the principal mechanism for preventing and/or deterring fraud or illegal acts. Illegal acts, misappropriation of assets or other fraudulent activities can include an array of irregularities characterized by intentional deception and misrepresentation of material facts.

OCCUPATIONAL FRAUD

Effective internal control processes provide reasonable assurance that a charter school's operations are effective and efficient, that the financial information produced is reliable, and that the organization operates in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.

Internal control elements provide the framework for an effective fraud prevention program. An effective internal control structure includes the policies and procedures used by staff, adequate accounting and information systems, the work environment and the professionalism of employees. An effective internal control structure includes the five interrelated components of the control environment: fraud risk assessment, control activities, information and communication, and monitoring.

Internal Control Element	Description
Control Environment	Commonly referred to as "the moral tone of the organization," the control environment includes a code of ethical conduct; policies for ethics, hiring and promotion guidelines; proper assignment of authority and responsibility; oversight by management, the board or an audit committee; investigation of reported concerns; and effective disciplinary action for violations.
Fraud Risk Assessment	Identification and assessment of organization's objectives to establish and develop a strategy to react timely.
Control Activities	The development of policies and procedures to enforce the governing board's directives. These include the actions by management to prevent and identify misuse of the district's assets, including the prevention of override of controls in the system by any employee.
Information and Communication	The establishment of effective fraud communication. This includes ensuring that employees receive information regarding policies and opportunities to discuss ethical dilemmas. Establishing clear lines of communication in an organization to report suspected violations.
Monitoring	Ongoing monitoring that includes periodic performance assessments for fraud deterrence by managers and employees.

Examples of improper internal controls include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Failure to adequately segregate the duties and responsibilities of authorization.
- Failure to limit access to assets or sensitive data.
- Not recording transactions, resulting in lack of accountability and the possibility of theft.
- Unauthorized transactions, resulting in skimming, embezzlement or larceny.
- Lack of monitoring or implementing internal controls by the governing board and management.
- Collusion among employees where little or no supervision exists.

A system of internal controls consists of policies and procedures designed to provide the governing board and management with reasonable assurance that the organization achieves its objectives and goals. Traditionally referred to as hard controls, these include segregation of duties, limiting access to cash, management review and approval, and reconciliations. Other types of internal controls include soft controls such as management tone, performance evaluations, training programs, and maintaining established policies, procedures and standards of conduct. Controls that have been established must also be implemented and monitored to ensure their effectiveness.

Although WAYS had a fiscal policies and procedures handbook, the organization failed to implement or monitor several of the adopted policies and procedures. Recent board minutes document that when board members expressed the need to review and approve certain financial transactions or asked for the back office provider to present the financial statements during open board meetings, management repeatedly ignored these requests. In some cases, management canceled board meetings and caused major disruptions that ended board meetings prematurely.

The internal control environment is a critical component because it establishes the organization's moral tone, commonly referred to as "the tone at the top." The tone at the top is an intangible internal control element that consists of the perception of an organization's employees regarding the ethical conduct displayed by the governing board and executive management.

A strong system of internal controls that consists of all five elements can provide reasonable but not absolute assurance that the organization will succeed in achieving its goals and objectives. The failure to establish adequate internal controls limiting the ability of the founder, family members and other-related parties to access assets coupled with a lack of accountability to the governing board created an environment for fraud and misappropriation to occur.

To further demonstrate the lack of effective internal controls, independent audit reports for the last three fiscal years report 15 instances of significant and/or combined internal control conditions. Several of these findings have not been addressed by management and the governing board; therefore, these findings are repeated each year. The following table illustrates a complete list of audit findings from 2010-11 through 2012-13 prepared by annual independent auditors.

Conflict of Interest

A conflict of interest exists when an individual has a private financial interest in the outcome of a contract or a public decision and does either of the following:

1. Participates in the decision-making process
2. Influences, or attempts to influence, others making a contract or decision

Statutes that govern conflicts of interest include the Political Reform Act, Government Code 1090, Government Code 87100, and Corporations Code Section 5233 for nonprofit organizations. Governing board members and administrators should abstain from all discussions, negotiations and votes that are related to a contract in which they have a personal financial interest by removing themselves from the meeting and ensuring that abstention and departure are recorded in the board minutes. A conflict of interest can still exist with subsequent action on the contract, such as authorizing payment under a contract, negotiating disputes or contract terms; therefore, the governing board member or administrator should abstain from all discussions, negotiations and/or votes related to the contract in which he or she has a personal interest.

The report will demonstrate that conflict of interest exists that allowed the founder/former executive director, family members, and close associates interacting as "vendors" to gain financially.

Political Reform Act – Disclosure, Conflicts of Interest and Enforcement

The Political Reform Act (PRA), Government Code Sections 81000 - 91015, was enacted by Proposition 9 in June 1974. The stated intent of the act was to establish a process for most state and local officials as well as certain designated employees to publicly disclose their personal income and assets as follows:

[a]ssets and income of public officials which may be materially affected by their official actions... [are] disclosed and in appropriate circumstances the officials... [are] disqualified from acting in order that conflicts of interest may be avoided.

The PRA provisions are enforced by the Fair Political Practices Commission (FPPC) and require every state and local governmental agency to adopt a conflict-of-interest code. The commission is the state agency responsible for interpreting the provisions of the law and issuing California Form 700 – Statement of Economic Interests. Because charter school governing board members are considered "public officials" and governing boards are considered "legislative bodies," board members and certain designated individuals must file Form 700 annually, or upon taking office/position. Additionally, a consultant to the organization "who makes, participates in making, or acts in a staff capacity for making governmental decisions" may be required to complete Form 700.

PRA provides an eight-step process to determine whether a conflict of interest exists as follows:

1. Is the individual a public official?
2. Is the public official making, participating in making, or influencing a governmental decision?
3. Does the public official have one of the six qualifying types of economic interests? (An economic interest will be discussed more fully in the next section of this report.)

OCCUPATIONAL FRAUD

4. Is the economic interest directly or indirectly involved in the governmental decision?
5. Will the governmental decision have a material financial effect on the public official's economic interests?
6. Is it reasonably foreseeable that the economic interest will be materially affected?
7. Is the potential effect of the governmental decision on the public official's economic interests distinguishable from its effect on the general public?
8. Despite a disqualifying conflict of interest, is the public official's participation legally required?

The WAYS governing board members, charter school officials and designated employees have filed Form 700. Only one Form 700, by a former board member, declared any financial interest. All the other forms examined showed that these individuals did not declare any financial interest in the schools' affairs or disclosed any conflict of interest that would result in personal financial gain. Consultants that meet the conditions previously identified have not filed Form 700 to date.

The charter petition for WAYS contains a conflict of interest policy that has been approved by the county board of education as a condition of WAYS' petition approval. Board minutes and audio recordings, verbal and written complaints by former board members and direct observations by LACOE staff reveal instances where the founder/former executive director continued to be present and seated at the board table during discussions regarding facility leasehold agreements for her personal properties. Evidence in the board minutes indicate that at least two occurrences transpired when she was no longer employed by WAYS. The termination of her employment was a condition of the petition approved by LACOE.

On September 16, 2011, subsequent to her departure from WAYS, the founder/former executive director was present at the board meeting. She refused to be unseated from the board table during discussions concerning the relocation of WAYS to a property not owned by the founder/former executive director. Individuals at this meeting who supported continued use of her facilities by WAYS schools caused such a disruption that the board meeting was disbanded.

During the September 22, 2011 board meeting one week later, the founder/former executive director was observed by LACOE staff seated at the board table having private conversations with one board member.

The most recent independent audit report noted that facility leasehold agreements for 2013-14 were not approved by the governing board seven months into the new fiscal year, and that the sale of a school vehicle used by the director of operations was not approved by the governing board. Instead, the vehicle, a Lexus, was sold by the founder/former executive director's son in December 2013 without board approval. Shortly after the independent auditors' report, the governing board approved the facility leasehold agreements for 2013-14 and the sale of the director of operations' Lexus.

This report will demonstrate that facility leasehold agreements, leasehold facility improvement, payments made to the private dance studio owned by the founder/former executive director's daughter and vice principal, as well as substantial purchases from a related vendor were not disclosed in accordance with laws and regulations set forth by the FPPC.

OCCUPATIONAL FRAUD

The founder/former executive director and other family members were present and exercised significant influence during board meetings that provided a direct personal financial benefit.

Government Code 1090 – Financial Interest of Public Officials, Officers and Employees

Simply stated, the intent of Government Code 1090 is to prohibit a public official, officer or employee from engaging in a contract in which he or she has a financial interest in both a governmental and personal capacity.

Section 1090 has broad implications, applies to school districts and can also apply to charter schools if included in the charter petition or the memorandum of understanding. Section 1090 provides as follows:

Members of the Legislature, state, county, district, judicial district, and city officers or employees shall not be financially interested in any contract made by them in their official capacity, or by any body or board of which they are members. Nor shall state, county, district, judicial district, and city officers or employees be purchasers at any sale or vendors at any purchase made by them in their official capacity.

As used in this article, "district" means any agency of the state formed pursuant to general law or special act, for the local performance of governmental or proprietary functions within limited boundaries.

The WAYS charter petition states the governing board has adopted its own conflict of interest policy and will abide by the conflict of interest Government Code 1090.

This report will establish that a business relationship exists between the founder/former executive director and the WAYS schools as evidenced by contracts, lease agreements and other related business as vendors. There is conclusive documentation to support that the founder/former executive director and her family members as well as close business associates have significant personal involvement and financial interest, violating the conflict of interest statutes.

Related-Party Transactions and Significant Influence

OCI Development Corporation – Building Leasehold Agreements

The current WAYS petition is subject to specific conditions including adherence with conflict of interest laws and regulations. WAYS charter school appealed to LACBOE in the spring of 2011 following a denial by LAUSD Board of Education to renew its petition after five years of operation.

The denial by LAUSD included concerns that WAYS failed to comply with the terms of the charter by allowing the charter school to enter “into a self-dealing transaction” with the founder/former executive director and her privately owned facilities that were leased to two of the three schools. Specifically, WAYS could not provide “evidence that the governing board considered other sites or conducted an independent assessment of lease rates prior to entering into the agreement with the Executive Director.”

In an attempt to address the conflict of interest with the facility lease agreements for the properties occupied by the schools, the founder/former executive director placed the properties in a revocable trust named OCI Development Corporation in 2010-11. It was subsequently determined and concurred by the WAYS legal counsel that transferring the property to a holding company through a revocable trust did not ultimately transfer property ownership under California law and therefore did not resolve the conflict of interest concern.

The WAYS governing board approved the 2012-13 facility leasehold agreements August 3, 2012. These agreements were signed by the former governing board president and current executive director as the “tenant,” and by Dora Obieniu, CEO for OCI Development Corporation.

According to a report on the WAYS charter petition and appeal to LACBOE dated May 10, 2011 by the LACOE Charter School Review Team, it was revealed that WAYS’ governing board failed to disclose that LAUSD had awarded facilities under a Proposition 39 request for facilities on April 1, 2011. Subsequent to the approval for facilities by LAUSD that could have alleviated conflict of interest concerns, WAYS did not respond to LAUSD to indicate acceptance of the offer.

As previously stated in this report, board meetings surrounding the relocation were met with strong opposition by the founder/former executive director and others during open board meetings ultimately exercising significant influence over the decision not to accept the LAUSD offer. WAYS continues to lease the facilities owned by the founder/former executive director through OCI Development Corporation.

WAYS paid $1,070,921 to the founder/former executive director and her holding company, OCI Development Corporation, for leasehold agreements located at 706 E. Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, CA and 8778 S. Central Avenue, Los Angeles, CA from the 2007-08 through 2012-13 fiscal years as shown in the following table.

The facility leasehold agreement for 2013-14 was approved by the governing board in January 2014. Lease payments are estimated to be $223,878 for the current fiscal year and are not included in the table above.

Other general ledger entries from the WAYS financial records show additional rent payments that are listed in the general ledger with no supporting documentation totaling $115,550:

Lorraine Turner	2007-08 - 2012-13	$89,350
Wisdom Pre-School	2007-08	2,900
Founder: Recruiting Students	2007-08	2,000

There are three school sites under the WAYS name located in Los Angeles on Manchester Ave, S. Central and Central. Two are owned by the founder/former executive director and one leased with the Salvation Army. In addition, the school on Manchester Avenue pays $2,400 per year for additional parking spaces. No contracts or lease agreements exist for Lorraine Turner, Wisdom Pre-School or Pre-School Rent. The payment of $10,000 made to the founder/former executive director for "Good Faith Offer" is unsubstantiated. Other payments for recruiting students and E-Rate consultancy fees paid to the founder/former executive director are questionable.

WAYS' balance sheet dated June 30, 2013 shows leasehold improvements totaling $341,710 plus $35,483 in federal E-Rate funding for leasehold improvements to the properties owned by the founder/former executive director.

FOUNDATIONS, CONDITIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

Founder/Former Executive Director – Settlement Agreement

As a condition of approval for WAYS' charter school petition to LACOE in June 2011, the founder/former executive director was to terminate her employment with WAYS and be removed from any association with the school.

Approximately seven months later in a letter dated January 20, 2012, the founder/former executive director asserted claims totaling $700,000 for money owed including interest accrued and damages but said she would be "content with a settlement of $350,000 that will help me in the new project (Middle School) that I am currently working to establish."

In a separate letter dated May 21, 2012 three months later, the founder/former executive director revised her claim for $480,312.90 for unused vacation, sick and personal necessity leave for the entire time of her employment with WAYS commencing July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2011, claiming she took "zero" days off work during this period of time. The accompanying schedule of liabilities showed a calculation that included 150 days of vacation plus 50 days of "accrued time off due for five years" totaling $97,391.30. No time records or other documentation were supplied to substantiate this claim other than a single typed page identified as Attachment E by the founder/former executive director.

The founder/former executive director claims that she loaned the charter school money from personal savings, mortgaged her personal residence and loaned funds from her private preschool, Wisdom Pre-School.

A review of the QuickBooks records and audited financial statements show a short-term loan on December 18, 2007 from Los Angeles Unified School District and a line of credit from Wells Fargo Bank, both of which were fully repaid, but no mention of any other loans.

On October 26, 2012, the Merle Williamson Foundation, doing business as Wisdom Academy of Young Scientists, entered into a settlement agreement with the founder/former executive director. This agreement was signed by the current executive director and former board president in the amount of $228,665.38. The breakdown of the final payment is as follows:

Severance pay – one year.	$112,960.60
Contractual leave and vacation days accrued at the time of separation. Last three years.	$58,434.78
Lease of a 2004 Toyota Land Cruiser.	57,940.00
Total	$228,665.38

The employment contract for July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2011 states that the founder/former executive director shall be permitted to be paid upon termination. However, the contract provides that "written documentation of the Executive Director's earned and accrued vacation days" shall be maintained through a third-party vendor providing business services to the schools. According to the business services provider, no vacation or time records were ever provided to its office to support the founder/former executive director's claim for accrued vacation and other leave categories. The settlement agreement does not provide any documentation to support this claim; therefore, FCMAT cannot substantiate that the $58,434.78 paid for 90 days of vacation leave and 30 days of unused time off was substantiated with independent records by the business services provider in accordance with the employment contract.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNATURES

The contract from July 1, 2005 through June 30, 2008 as well as the most current contract states that the executive director shall be provided an automobile vehicle and operating expenses for her use in conducting official business and reasonable personal use during the period of the contract. Attached to the settlement agreement is a closed end motor vehicle 60-month lease agreement identifying the founder/former executive director as the lessee for a new 2004 Toyota Land Cruiser dated December 20, 2004. The gross capitalized cost on the lease agreement is $57,940, which included extra add-ons:

- Maintenance agreement for $1,800
- Credit life insurance premium for $995

The employment contract states that a vehicle shall be provided to her, not that she could enter into a vehicle lease for a luxury vehicle paid by the school and be reimbursed for the lease and extra items prior to her contract. It is unclear if the school had available and/or provided a different vehicle during the contract period.

Professional Liability for Founder/Former Executive Director

Documents from a lawsuit settled against the Merle Williamson Foundation (MWF) for wrongful termination of a former teacher at WAYS against the school show that the founder/former executive director traveled to Omtsha, Nigeria and directed one of the school's teachers to go with her to marry her sister's husband (brother-in-law) for purposes of making the brother-in-law a United States citizen. Although the teacher married the brother-in-law, she ultimately refused to complete the Department of Homeland Security form I-130, Petition for Alien Relative, and brought suit against MWF. On December 4, 2012, a jury found in favor of the teacher plaintiff and subsequent judgment was awarded of $566,803.

The contract dated July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2011 clearly states that the executive director shall be held harmless and be indemnified "from any and all demands, claims, suits, and legal proceedings brought against the Executive Director in her official capacity as agent and employee of the MWF, provided the incident arose while the Executive Director was acting within the scope of employment." (emphasis added) Clearly this action by the "Executive Director" was not within the scope of employment, was conducted during winter break in Nigeria, and yet the settlement was paid by WAYS charter school.

The Certificate of Marriage document from Federal Republic of Nigeria shows the founder/former executive director's signature as witness to the marriage between the teacher and Joseph Njor Enwezor (the founder/former executive director's brother-in-law) on January 4, 2010. According to staff at LACOE who conducted interviews, these interviews with former teachers and board members indicate many trips to Nigeria to visit a personal residence in that country by the founder/former executive director, yet she asserts that she took "zero" days off during the last five years.

OSE Business Services – Owner, Obiesie Enwezor

The analysis of large increases in purchases of books and supplies during the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years was attributed to one vendor, OSE Business Services (OSE). OSE is owned by Obiesie Enwezor, who is related to other WAYS vendors: Godfrey Okonkwo, Emeka Enwezor, and DeDe Dance Studio and bears the same last name as the founder/former executive director's brother-in-law, Joseph Njor Enwezor.

Godfrey Okonkwo is the husband of the founder/former executive director of WAYS and father of the owner of DeDe Dance Studio and vice principal of WAYS and director of operations. (These WAYS relationships are further described in detail later in this report.)

FCMAT compiled all OSE vendor invoices to review and analyze expenditure transactions and spending patterns. Purchases totaling $158,871 for 20 invoices lacked any supporting documentation for the receipt of materials, supplies and snack food items.

WAYS Back Office Service Provider Warned of Books and Supplies Expenditures Exceeding Budget

During FCMAT's interview of the WAYS back office business services provider on Monday, November 25, 2013, the back office provider stated to the team that the WAYS governing board and management had been advised during a board presentation and in the budget narratives that the books and supplies expenditures "... are expected to be over budget at the end of the year by about $70,000."

The back office provider presented for the team two samples of WAYS board and management reports for the periods ended January 31, 2013 and again on June 30, 2013 titled "Snap Shot Summary of Financial Condition of the School." These reports showed that the actual expenditures for books and supplies exceeded current budgeted amounts. Even though the WAYS back office provider warned of excessive expenditures, the management of WAYS continued to purchase from OSE.

WAYS Paid $158,871 to OSE Business Services Over Two Years

The books and supplies category consists of textbooks, books other than textbooks, instructional materials, custodial supplies, automobile expenses, fuel, office supplies, other supplies, classroom furniture and equipment, computers, and other non-capitalized equipment.

During the fiscal years 2011-12 and 2012-13, WAYS paid $57,533 and $101,338 respectively to OSE, totaling $158,871 for the two-year period. Of the combined 2011-2012 and 2012-13 payments to OSE, 98% was accounted for in WAYS' books and supplies expenditures category.

A total of 20 invoices were issued by OSE and paid by WAYS. All invoices were approved by the director of operations - the founder/former executive director's son, along with the current executive director/former board president. Ten of the payments to OSE were issued by cashier's checks and nine of the payments by check. During the interview conducted with both the executive director and director of operations, the director of operations stated that cashier's checks were used because WAYS "... bounced a check and OSE only wanted to be paid by cashier's check."

FCMAT requested copies of the OSE cashier's checks and regular checks, both front and back, from the director of operations and copied the executive director in an email dated Friday, December 13, 2013. One month later, on January 13, 2014, the team received nine of the 10 requested cashier's checks. The missing cashier's check was received on January 21, 2014. Repeated requests to management for the regular check copies were never received and no explanation was provided.

Of the nine copies of the cashier's checks provided to the team, it is not entirely clear that the copies came directly from the bank. The endorsement for OSE Business Services on the reverse side of the cashier's checks is by signature. No account number or other identifying information is provided on the back of these cashier's checks. The OSE cashier's check that was provided on

January 21, 2014 showed that the check was printed through an online account at <https://oibservices.wellsfargo.com/OIB/PrintImage.jsp>.

Because WAYS executive management failed to provide OSE's regular checks front and back copies as requested by the team, and because OSE cashier's checks did not contain account information identifying the account where funds were deposited, the team is unable to authenticate the OSE payments.

OSE Business Services Irregular Invoices

During the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years, WAYS received from OSE 20 invoices that were authorized for payment by both the director of operations and executive director and present the following irregularities:

1. Invoices fail to provide a contact phone number.
2. Invoices lack proper authorization to purchase and/or accept OSE merchandise that would authenticate the supplies shipped by OSE to WAYS.
3. Invoices are not accompanied by packing slips identifying the shipping contents and quantities.
4. Invoices fail to identify any "ship to" or delivery address.
5. Invoices fail to present a shipping cost line item, or indicate if there was a charge for shipping.
6. Invoices do not appear professional and consistent and appear to be produced on a spreadsheet.
7. Invoices fail to present consistent per-unit pricing calculating quantities of items purchased and extending the quantity multiplied by the per-unit pricing to the total amount for each inventory line item purchased.
8. Management could not provide an OSE product catalogue for review.
9. The OSE invoices fail to present consistent and clear descriptions of the supplies identified.
10. The OSE address of 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 is a postal service location and is not a warehouse or physical storefront.
11. The address is identical to that of Innovative WAYS Academy, which is owned and operated by the WAYS vice principal, the founder/former executive director's daughter.

The team interviewed the WAYS back office provider on Monday November 25, 2013. During the interview, the back office provider claimed there were repeated requests to WAYS management to provide OSE's approved purchase orders and packing slips in accordance with the back office provider's procedures manual. WAYS management failed to comply with these requests to follow procedures, and failed to provide the requested documentation.

OSE Business Services Address at 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 – Related Parties

The audit fieldwork visit on November 13-15, 2013 revealed large quantities of supplies purchased from OSE. During the team's joint interview with the executive director and director of operations, the team was told that none of the WAYS vendors were related. The team made further inquiries regarding any relationship between WAYS management team or family members and OSE. The director of operations said that OSE Business Services was a legitimate business with many customers and that no relationship existed between these two entities.

During the fieldwork, the team visited the OSE address printed on their invoices at 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045. This same address is identified as the mailing address of Innovative WAYS Academy.

The CEO of Innovative WAYS Academy is:

- The founder of DeDe Dance Studio and vice principal of WAYS,
- The daughter of the founder/former executive director of WAYS,
- The sister of WAYS' director of operations, and
- The CEO of DeDe Dance Studio that operates business at the WAYS school site.

The team interviewed the WAYS vice principal, Innovative WAYS Academy founder and CEO, and owner of DeDe Dance Studio on Friday, November 15, 2013 and discussed the 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 address. In her statement to the team, she provided the following information for business operations associated with that address:

1. The 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 address was the address used for Innovative WAYS Academy.
2. Stated that she "does not know much about the business side of Innovative WAYS" and said that her mother (founder of WAYS) operated Innovative WAYS Academy and is the most knowledge about its business operations.
3. She does not check the mail at the 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 address. Instead, her mother, the founder/former executive director, is the only person who checks the mail and has the only key to the mailbox at that location.

On December 11, 2013, FCMAT made an inquiry to the director of operations and copied the executive director to verify that 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045 is the same address as Innovative WAYS Academy and OSE Business Services, and that the founder/former executive director is the only person that checks the mail and has a key. WAYS management did not provide requested supporting documentation other than to provide invoices from OSE. In an attempt to corroborate the $158,871 in materials and supplies purchased from OSE and concerns that OSE represented an undisclosed related-party, the team requested the following information to verify a legitimate business address and a warehouse facility with the ability to service numerous customers based on the statement from the director of operations:

- OSE business information documents IRS W9,
- IRS Form 1099 issued by WAYS to OSE,

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SOURCE INFORMATION

- OSE's actual physical address and business phone number, and
- Notified the OSE business owner, Obiesie Enwezor, that FCMAT would like to review his supplier purchases to support the products OSE sold to WAYS.

On January 10, 2014, one month after the FCMAT's request for information, the director of operations provided the phone number and email address for OSE but failed to provide the actual physical address. The director of operations could not verify the WAYS vice principal's statements regarding access to the 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045 address, and suggested that the team speak with the founder/former executive director regarding the relationship between OSE and WAYS. He stated during the interview, "I am not aware of any related party business relationships ... I have no expectations for the framework of OSE Business Services and infrastructure."

FCMAT attempted to contact the owner of OSE, Obiesie Enwezor, through a certified return receipt letter dated December 23, 2013 at the address on the invoices (6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045). This letter was returned on January 24, 2014, marked by the US Postal Service as Return to Sender, Unclaimed, and Unable to Forward.

WAYS Failed to Issue an IRS Form 1099 to OSE

FCMAT visited the back office provider to review records and conduct interviews. The team reviewed the IRS Federal Forms 1099 and W-9 files and was unable to locate either form in the back office provider files. Form 1099 is required for unincorporated vendors for payments in excess of $600 in a calendar year to report miscellaneous income to IRS.

IRS Form W-9 is used to certify that payments made to vendors meet the IRS guidelines. These guidelines are intended to ensure that the taxpayer identification number to report Form 1099 is correct and that the vendor is not subject to backup withholding. Once complete, the W-9 form is signed by the owner or designated person. According to the back office provider, several requests made by staff to WAYS management for OSE's W-9 were unsuccessful.

Subsequent to FCMAT's request on November 29, 2013 for a W-9 from OSE, the director of operations sent a copy of a W-9 prepared by OSE on December 9, 2013 to the back office provider, which was forwarded to the team. The document was dated November 11, 2011.

On December 11, 2013, FCMAT requested the director of operations to provide a copy of Form 1099 issued to OSE but did not receive a response. There is no evidence that Form 1099 was sent either to the OSE or to the IRS. Shortly after FCMAT's request on December 11, 2013 for these documents, the director of operations provided a email from OSE dated December 16, 2013, which stated, "I still have not received a 1099 from you." The team was not provided prior requests or concerns by OSE before December 16, 2013 regarding the issuance of a Form 1099 from the prior two calendar years.

Obiesie Enwezor, owner of OSE, refused to meet with FCMAT; therefore, the team cannot confirm that OSE is a legitimate business that properly reported income and sales taxes totaling $158,871 from WAYS to the taxing authorities, or that merchandise was actually delivered by OSE and received by WAYS.

OSE Business Services is Not a Resale Company or Store According to OSE

On January 10, 2014, the director of operations sent FCMAT the OSE Fictitious Business Name Statement dated November 2011 and OSE's W-9, Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification, dated November 11, 2011. The OSE business address identified on both forms is 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, CA 90045, the same post office box service center address where the founder/former executive director has possession of the only key.

The first OSE transaction entered into QuickBooks is dated August 17, 2011 as OSE Invoice Number One; however, the team was provided a copy of Invoice Number One that is dated December 5, 2011, approximately four months later.

The 20 OSE invoices for the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years have 289 inventory items ranging from paper and office supply products to food items, stamps, and small equipment. A summary of the OSE invoice items and price per item calculated by the team is presented in Appendix A. WAYS management was unable to provide any supporting documentation that would attest to the authenticity of the OSE purchases approved by the director of operations and the current executive director.

Each invoice that OSE issued to WAYS includes a total charge at the bottom of each invoice for sales tax on the inventory items purchased, providing evidence that WAYS is purchasing directly from OSE. According to OSE's email dated December 16, 2013, the owner states that OSE does not buy or resell as follows:

"Also, bear in mind that OSE Business Services is not a resale company or store, OSE is a service provider. We do not buy or resale. We provide and coordinate purchasing and delivery services to various agencies."

The owner's statement that OSE is a service provider and is "not in the resale business" is not supported by the presentation of the paid invoices to his company. First, the invoices include charges for California sales taxes. This would only occur if the business was reselling products. Second, none of the invoices state that the amount due is for consulting, service or coordination fees as described in the owner's statement to FCMAT.

FCMAT sent three emails and four voicemails during January 10-13, 2014 in an attempt to meet and clarify the OSE owner's assertion that the business was not a resale business, review records related to invoices sent to WAYS and ask general questions regarding suppliers that were utilized to provide merchandise.

Mr. Enwezor initially responded by saying, "I recognize the situation that you are facing, and I will do everything I can to help." However, on January 13, 2014, Mr. Enwezor sent the following statement declining to meet with the team:

"I understand that you are auditing the school but are you attempting to audit my business also? Under what authorization? For what reason. I am unable to meet with you. Send me your questions and I will respond in the best interest of my company."

Because Mr. Enwezor rescinded his decision to cooperate with the audit and allow inspection of OSE's sales and customer support documents, the following information cannot be confirmed:

- Whether WAYS is OSE's only customer,
- Where OSE obtained the merchandise allegedly sold to WAYS,

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND DISBURSEMENTS

- California State Board of Equalization report of sales tax payments that would assist in confirming the purchase and sale of merchandise,
- Quarterly sales tax reports,
- Documentation supporting OSE's supplier relationships from which OSE provided supplies to WAYS.

In addition, the team cannot audit and/or confirm if any of the alleged 288 OSE inventory items sold to WAYS representing payments of $158,871 are for actual books and supplies received by the school.

OSE Business Services Product Inventory Sales to WAYS

FCMAT prepared an analysis of the 20 OSE invoices representing 288 inventory items, focused on items that exhibited high volume, and compared those items with other charter schools located in the metropolitan area of Los Angeles of similar size. Pricing was compared to vendors that specialize in office and cleaning supplies as well as snack foods WAYS offered in the after school program.

There are 6,696 per-unit inventory items on the OSE invoices that include cases of copier paper, numerous miscellaneous office supplies, various cleaning supplies and snack foods. In total there are 288 uniquely defined inventory products.

One example of the volume of supplies WAYS purchased from OSE during the 2011-12 and 2012-13 fiscal years is 971 boxes of paper totaling $41,408.24 and representing 26.1% of the total purchases. Each box of paper contains 10 reams of paper, and each ream of paper contains 500 sheets representing a total of 4,855,000 sheets of paper. Based on the size of WAYS' schools and compared with other charter schools in the Los Angeles area, this is an excessive amount of paper purchased from one vendor over a two-year period of time.

Because this appeared excessive based on the average enrollment of 505 students over a two-year period from 2011-12 through 2012-13, the team compared copier paper purchases with a sample group of elementary charter schools.

The team received information from the seven comparable elementary charter schools listed in the table below. This analysis compares purchases of copier paper from all vendors in the selection group with the WAYS purchases from OSE (even though paper was also purchased from other vendors described later in this report) and based on student enrollment for 2011-12 through 2012-13.

Cases of Copier Paper Purchased per Student, 2011-12 through 2012-13

School	Average Enrollment	No. of Cases Purchased	Cases of Copier Paper per Student
Charter School #1	227	151	0.67
Charter School #2	304	186	0.61
Charter School #3	387	332	0.86
Charter School #4	416	332	0.80
Charter School #5	476	369	0.78
Charter School #6	601	551	0.92
Charter School #7	648	588	0.91
Averaged Totals - All Sample Schools	382	314	0.82
WAYS	505	971	1.92

TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

29

On a per student enrollment basis, WAYS averaged 1.92 cases of copier paper purchased per student over the two-year period, which is 2.34 times greater than the .82 average of all seven similar elementary charter schools combined.

The quantity of 971 cases of copier paper allegedly sold to WAYS by OSE is even more significant considering that during FCMAT's fieldwork visit on November 15, 2013, the team attempted to use the WAYS copy machine, which did not contain any copy paper. When the team asked the director of operations' permission to use the copy machine, the director stated, "They use very little paper and it is tightly controlled." He returned with a ream of copy paper that was locked in his office.

The volume of paper purchased and the director of operations' statement that the school uses very little paper do not reconcile. FCMAT anticipated that since WAYS' use of copier paper was tightly controlled, the amount purchased would be significantly lower than that of the seven comparative elementary charter schools sampled, but found the opposite.

OSE Sales Tax Calculations

The OSE invoices each include a line item for sales tax. OSE invoice number three, dated February 25, 2012 in the amount of $6,172.39, is comprised of OSE inventory sales totaling $5,625.76 and sales tax stated of $546.63. The OSE invoice states that the sales tax rate is 8.75%; however, 8.75% of $5,625.76 is $492.25 rather than $546.63, which is a difference of an additional $54.38 that WAYS paid to OSE for sales tax.

FCMAT reverse calculated what percentage the $546.63 in sales tax is compared to the total supplies WAYS purchased from OSE and arrived at a rate of 9.72%. In February 2012, the city of Los Angeles sales tax rate was 8.75%, not 9.72%.

Because the OSE invoices present numerous irregularities including the extension of per unit pricing to total charges and the incorrect calculation of sales tax noted above, OSE does not present itself as a legitimate business.

WAYS Purchases Office Supplies from Other Vendors in Addition to OSE, and OSE Inventory Pricing is Higher than Other Compared Vendors

During FCMAT's review of sampled WAYS American Express credit card statements, it was found that several statements were missing vendor receipts and other supporting documentation to support the purchases charged to that account. Without proper receipts, the team was unable to verify individual vendor purchases on the credit card statements.

The sampling showed several purchases for office supplies and other similar products from Staples, Office Max, and Smart & Final including copier paper, three-ring binders, and food snacks. It is apparent from these purchases that OSE was not the exclusive provider of office supplies to WAYS.

The following represent examples of purchases from other vendors with similar OSE merchandise discovered by FCMAT during the in-depth review of WAYS American Express credit card statement receipts compared with OSE's pricing:

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT

Office Depot – Receipt dated April 30, 2013	Item 675041- Paper, Copy, AST	$12.49
Office Depot– Receipt dated April 30, 2013	Item 348037 – Paper, Copy DD	$41.99
OSE	Case of Paper 8 X 11.5	Ranging from $35.00 - $48.99
OSE	O/I COPY-20# 8.5 C/6-9	Ranging from $39.99 - $48.99
Office Depot – online	Store brand 8.5 X 11, 20#500 sheets, case of 10 reams	$43.99
OSE	Office Impressions 92 Bright 20# 8.5 X 11 CASE	$45.00
Staples – online	Various 8.5 X 11 cases of paper, 92 Bright, 20#	$26.99 - $43.99

The OSE invoice items are vague in description; therefore, an absolute comparison of products purchased is impossible. Without clarification from either OSE or WAYS management, FCMAT is unable to determine a reasonable explanation for the large variance in pricing based on OSE's invoices and like kind vendors.

FCMAT identified several OSE invoices with similar inventory items to those of other vendors, such as the Smart & Final receipt dated 04/10/13, inventory description, "Austin Cracker Vrt" at $8.39, and "Rice Krisp Orig" at $8.99. When FCMAT calculated the price per unit of the OSE inventory items, the amounts that OSE charged WAYS were varied and much higher. In some cases, OSE charged WAYS more than double the price for the same inventory items that WAYS also purchased from other vendors. Examples include:

1. OSE invoices list "Austin Variety 45 ct," with pricing calculated by FCMAT from $7 per unit to $19.99 per unit depending on the month of purchase.
2. OSE invoices list "Rice Crispy," with pricing calculated by FCMAT from $11.99 to $19.99 per unit, depending on the month of purchase.
3. Staples store location at 3701 W. Santa Rosalia Dr., Los Angeles, California, dated 06/15/12, inventory description "1.5 In Better Binde" at $9.49 per unit. WAYS purchased four units of binders. The OSE invoices vaguely described binders that FCMAT calculated the per unit pricing for as follows: 3" binders at $30 per unit, 3.5" binders at $24 per unit, 5" binders at $24 per unit, Premium View Binders at $29.99 per unit, and Premium Binder at $46.00 per unit.

FCMAT searched prices at Staples online at www.staples.com and found 3" Avery Heavy-Duty View Binders with One Touch EZD Rings, item number 318402, Model 79-793 priced at $9.99 per unit. Because OSE invoice inventory descriptions are not specific and are not identified with an item number, FCMAT cannot determine how these same items are sold by OSE for three times the cost of other vendors.

FCMAT also examined the WAYS vice principal reimbursements, which included receipts from the Staples store location at 3701 W. Santa Rosalia Dr., Los Angeles, California. One Staples receipt dated 11/27/12 contained the inventory description "PENTEL LEAD REFIL" at $2.79 per unit, and the reimbursement identified a quantity of three. OSE invoices have an inventory item called "Pencil" listed as $12 per pencil.

OSE business sales documentation for products allegedly sold to WAYS cannot be confirmed because the documentation is limited to a one-sheet invoice from OSE similar to a spreadsheet, with no additional documentation to support the delivery of materials and supplies to WAYS. In addition, OSE has declined requests to meet and provide proof of its sales of merchandise to

31

WAYS. The irregularities described in this report attributable to alleged supplies purchased from OSE raise serious concerns about the OSE and WAYS business relationship and whether OSE actually sold any supplies to WAYS.

The following summarizes the inconsistencies regarding WAYS purchases from OSE identified in this report:

- WAYS purchased 2.34 times more cases of copier paper per student from OSE than the seven comparable elementary schools sampled. Additional purchases of copier paper from other vendors further increases the average of 2.34.
- OSE invoices and other authorization to purchase and accept OSE merchandise that should be used to authenticate the supplies shipped by OSE to WAYS are missing packing slips that identify the shipping contents.
- OSE invoices fail to identify any ship to address or contact phone number.
- OSE invoices fail to present a shipping cost line item or indicate that shipping is waived and not charged.
- OSE invoices do not present a professional and consistent look.
- OSE invoices fail to present any per unit pricing calculating quantities of items purchased and extending the quantity multiplied by the per unit pricing to the total amount for each inventory line item purchased.
- OSE product catalogue was not available for review.
- OSE invoices appear to have been prepared from a spreadsheet program.
- OSE invoices fail to present consistent and clear descriptions of the supplies identified in the invoices.
- OSE address of 6709 La Tijera Blvd., Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 is not a warehouse or store location. This same address is used for other WAYS vendors, including the private middle school previously operated by the vice principal of WAYS. This is the same address where the only key belongs to the founder and former executive director.
- OSE will not allow inspection of its sales and customer documents that would verify if WAYS is the only customer and the location of the warehouse or suppliers.

FCMAT was unable to confirm that OSE has paid $12,926.35 in sales taxes collected from WAYS to the California State Board of Equalization, or that OSE has a valid California sales tax identification number, because the sales tax number is not printed on OSE's invoices or located on check requests that authorize payment to OSE by the director of operations. FCMAT is unable to audit and confirm that WAYS issued a IRS Form 1099 totaling $158,871 over the audit time period.

WAYS Audited Financial Statement Reports and Qualified June 30, 2013 Audit Report

FCMAT's findings are consistent with the independent auditor's reports for WAYS for the fiscal years ending June 30, 2012 and June 30, 2013. Both FCMAT and independent auditors find that WAYS has significant internal control conditions and has failed to ensure that adequate internal controls are in place.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SUPPORTING DOCUMENTATION

The WAYS June 30, 2013 independent auditors report at Finding 2013-6, "Credit Card Supporting Documentation" states:

"The school is using credit cards to purchase some items and subsequently repaying the credit cards with a check. The credit card statements are being used as supporting documentation for the check written; however, the credit card statements do not include receipts for all expenditures for which they are used."

"Expense items paid with credit cards are not adequately supported by itemized receipts and approval documentation. The Academy is exposed to risk of misappropriation of assets."

FCMAT has documented in this report that the necessary supporting documentation authenticating OSE Business Services payments was not available for the FCMAT audit. The team is unable to audit and confirm if any of the alleged inventory supplies purchased from OSE totaling $158,871 actually received, because WAYS and OSE have failed to present the necessary supporting documentation.

The WAYS independent auditor issued its report dated January 15, 2014 on the WAYS financial statements for the year ended June 20, 2013. An integral component of the audit is a report titled Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Controls Over Reporting and on Compliance and Other Matters Based on an Audit of Financial Statements Performed in Accordance With Government Auditing Standards.

This report describes various categories of deficiencies in internal controls that may exist. As reported by the independent auditors, a deficiency in internal control exists when a particular control does not allow management or employees in the normal course of business the ability to prevent, detect or correct misstatements in a timely manner. A material weakness presents a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, indicating a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the financial statements exists that cannot be detected, corrected or prevented in a timely manner. The auditors identified six findings and questioned costs to be classified as material weaknesses. A significant deficiency is a deficiency that is less severe yet represents enough merit to bring to the attention of those charged with governance. The auditors identified three findings that met this particular classification.

Depending on the number and severity of the audit findings, independent audit reports are either unqualified or qualified in accordance with auditing standards contained in the Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller of the United States. These standards require that auditors obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

When the independent auditors express an opinion regarding the reasonableness of the financial statements, the report is issued as either an unqualified or a qualified audit. A qualified audit report is issued when the auditors believe that the overall presentation of the financial statements does not represent a fair presentation that significant accounting estimates made by management and the overall presentation of the financial statements meet the auditing standards.

The independent auditor's report was qualified because the "audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion." Auditors cited the following in the June 30, 2013 annual audit report:

PROPERTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

1. The WAYS Independent Auditor's Report was Qualified because WAYS failed to maintain a detail of capital assets or depreciation.
2. The WAYS Independent Auditor's Report on State Compliance was Qualified because WAYS failed to comply with requirements of the class size reduction program and after school education and safety program.
3. WAYS did not meet the state requirement for audits to be completed and sent to the State Controller's Office, California Department of Education, and Los Angeles County Office of Education by the deadline date of December 15, 2013.
4. The WAYS operating facilities lease with OCI Development Corporation (OCI Development Corporation is the holder of the WAYS facilities property on behalf of the founder of WAYS) was entered into in July 2013; however, as of January 15, 2014, the date of the audit report, the lease agreement has not been approved by the WAYS governing board.
5. The WAYS operating facilities lease with the Salvation Army was entered into in August 2013; however, as of January 15, 2014, the date of the audit report, the lease agreement has not been approved by the WAYS governing board.
6. In December 2013, WAYS sold a vehicle (Lexus RX350) for $26,000; however, as of January 15, 2014, the date of the audit report, the payoff of the vehicle and sale of the vehicle has not been approved by the WAYS governing board.
7. The auditors had to amend their audit report because the management of WAYS provided the auditor with incorrect board member names as of June 30, 2013, including the chairperson of the board.
8. The Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting and on Compliance and Other Matters Based on an Audit of Financial Statements Performed in Accordance with Government Auditing Standards cited six WAYS deficiencies in internal controls and three significant deficiencies in internal controls. The report also identified three instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.
9. The Independent Auditor's Report on Compliance for Each Major Program and on Internal Control Over Compliance Required by OMB Circular A-133 cited one deficiency in internal control over compliance to be a material weakness in internal control.

WAYS Irregular Van Lease – Vendors Godfrey Okonkwo & Emeka Enwezor

During FCMAT's review of the WAYS disbursement payments to various WAYS vendors, two vendors were identified as each receiving $4,800 for leasing a van to the charter school. The two individuals are the husband of the founder of WAYS, Godfrey Okonkwo, and a vendor identified in the books and accounting records of WAYS as Emeka Enwezor.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT

Godfrey Okonkwo was paid $2,400 with WAYS check number 8339, dated January 7, 2011 and $2,400 with check number 8950, dated June 27, 2011, totaling $4,800 during the WAYS 2010-11 fiscal year.

Emeka Enwezor was paid $2,400 with WAYS check number 9513, dated December 9, 2011 and $2,400 with check number 9625, dated December 9, 2011, also totaling $4,800 during the WAYS 2011-12 fiscal year.

The WAYS leasing of a van totaling payments over two fiscal years of $9,600 paid to Godfrey Okonkwo and Emeka Enwezor presents numerous irregularities.

First, during FCMAT's fieldwork at the WAYS back office business provider, the payment documentation for the van payments to Emeka Enwezor was reviewed. Documentation for the van lease payments authorized by the WAYS director of operations show that the van lease agreement and additional back-up documentation for lease was missing even though the back office provider had requested these documents on previous occasions. At the time of the FCMAT fieldwork in November 2013, the WAYS back office service provider still had not received from the WAYS any van lease supporting documentation dating back to the first payment from December 9, 2011 approximately two years later.

According to the WAYS director of operations, the owner of the lease is Emeka Enwezor. The team requested the director, in an email dated November 29, 2013, to supply information to support the van lease agreement and board approval. In an email dated January 10, 2014, the WAYS director of operations replied to FCMAT stating:

"I was able to locate the Van Lease Agreement from 2011-12. However I was unable to locate a signed copy of the agreement. During this year WAYS experienced significant turn-over in the Board of Directors and administration. Many official school documents were kept by those individuals who are no longer associated with WAYS, and have yet to be returned after several requests to do so. I suspect that the signed van lease and Board documentation, if any, may be within those lost documents."

The WAYS back office provider had been requesting van lease supporting documentation from various management personnel of WAYS since at least December 2011. Approximately two years later, the executive team of WAYS failed to provide signed copies of the van lease.

The fiduciary duty of the executive level management of WAYS, which includes the executive director and the director of operations is the safeguarding of assets and proper administration of the financial affairs of WAYS.

It is the fiduciary responsibility of the WAYS executive management team to ensure contracts receive proper authorization by the governing board prior to entering into agreements and to safeguard the school's assets. WAYS' executive management team failed in their fiduciary duty to obtain contracts, failed to have authorized signatures prior to entering into contracts, failed to obtain governing board approval for contracts, and failed to ensure that documents are safeguarded.

TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

1. The van lease agreement provided by WAYS presents irregularities.
 - a. The van lease agreement is not signed or dated by either WAYS executive management or Emeka Enwezor,
 - b. The unsigned van lease agreement states, "Lessee may not sublease the vehicle under this contract without Emeka Enwezor prior consent." (sic)

Godfrey Okonkwo, father of the director of operations and husband of the founder/former executive director of WAYS, was paid $4,800 for the use of Emeka Enwezor's van. This violated the sublease provision in the contract.
 - c. The unsigned van lease is undated; therefore, language does not present any date that the lease is entered into; therefore, the team cannot determine when the unsigned van lease was created.
2. The WAYS documentation of the payments for the unsigned van lease is irregular.
 - a. The Emeka Enwezor invoice approved by the director of operations failed to identify an address for the payee. The van invoice is titled "VAN LEASE/RENTAL" and states at the bottom of the invoice, "Make all checks payable to Emeka Enwezor."
 - b. The WAYS check request the team examined approving payment of the unsigned van lease omits the invoice number and address of the payee.

WAYS Related Parties – WAYS Founder/Former Executive Director, Godfrey Okonkwo, WAYS Director of Operations, WAYS Vice Principal, Emeka Enwezor & Obiesie Enwezor

The Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 850-10-50 contains the disclosure requirements for related party relationships and transactions as follows:

- "Affiliates" of the entity.
- Entities for which investments in their equity securities would be required, absent the election of the fair value option under the Fair Value Option Subsection of Section 825-10-15, to be accounted for by the equity method by the investing entity.
- Trusts for the benefit of employees, such as pension and profit-sharing trusts that are managed by or under the trusteeship of management.
- Principal owners of the entity and members of their immediate families.
- Management of the entity and members of their immediate families.
- Other parties with which the entity may deal if one party controls or can significantly influence the management or operating policies of the other to an extent that one of the transacting parties might be prevented from fully pursuing its own separate interests.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT

- Other parties that can significantly influence the management or operating policies of the transacting parties or that have an ownership interest in one of the transacting parties and can significantly influence the other to an extent that one or more of the transacting parties might be prevented from fully pursuing its own separate interests. The FASB ASC glossary also defines the terms: affiliate, control, immediate family, management, and principal owners.

The executive management of nonprofit organizations such as WAYS have the responsibility to document in detail and fully disclose to the auditors, governing board, county oversight agencies, and the state for purposes of conflict of interest and full disclosure reporting requirements any and all potential related party transactions to comply with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). Failure to disclose related party transactions may be considered a departure from GAAP that could result in a qualified or adverse audit opinion and the potential for civil and criminal prosecution.

The facts below demonstrate that several related party transactions exist between the founder/former executive director, her family members, vendors and associates.

The team discussed the WAYS van lease payments with the WAYS director of operations while on site at the WAYS offices located at 706 East Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, California on Thursday, November 14, 2013. The director of operations is the son of Godfrey Okonkwo, and Godfrey Okonkwo is the vendor that received $4,800 representing van lease payments for a van owned by Emeka Enwezor, who also was paid $4,800 for the lease of the van.

During the Thursday, November 14, 2013 discussion with the WAYS director of operations, he stated that Godfrey Okonkwo was paid for the van lease in the first year of the lease for the van from Emeka Enwezor, and the second year Emeka Enwezor was paid directly for the van lease. The team inquired whether Emeka Enwezor was related and was told that, "She is a friend of the family and we rent her van ... but she gave the van to the school this year."

The association of the van lease payments establishes that Godfrey Okonkwo, father of the director of operations and husband of the founder/former executive director of WAYS, received payments for the van owned by Emeka Enwezor. Emeka Enwezor, a related party, shares several similar characteristics with Obiesie Enwezor, owner of OSE Business Services, as follows:

1. Obiesie Enwezor and Emeka Enwezor share the same unusual last name of Enwezor.
2. A Social Security number is comprised of three segments: XXX-XX-XXXX. The first segment represents the first three digits known as the area number, the middle segment representing two digits is the group number and the last four digits is known as the serial number. Obiesie Enwezor and Emeka Enwezor share the same area numbers and group numbers. The serial numbers, which are 12 digits apart, indicates that the two Social Security numbers were issued at approximately the same time.
3. Obiesie Enwezor; Emeka Enwezor, the founder/former executive director; Godfrey Okonkwo, the director of operations and the vice principal, share common addresses located at: 4326 Enoro Dr., Los Angeles, CA and 117 W. 112th Street, Los Angeles, CA. Both properties are owned by Godfrey Okonkwo and the founder/former executive director.

PROPERTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

37

Based on the team's analysis of possible relatives, transactions authorized by the director of operations do not represent an arm's-length transaction. An arm's-length transaction would be evidenced by signed agreements, board approvals, complete and detailed transaction documentation, and comparative contracts.

1. The director of operations is the individual authorizing the check requests and financial transactions for WAYS and the son of the founder/former executive director and son of Godfrey Okonkwo, who was paid $4,800 by WAYS for a van rented from Emeka Enwezor.
2. Emeka Enwezor is a friend of the Okonkwo family according to the director of operations. Based on the team's research, Emeka Enwezor is related to the Okonkwo family and Obiesie Enwezor, owner of OSE Business Services.
 - a. Emeka Enwezor was paid $4,800 by WAYS for the van leased to WAYS. WAYS failed to obtain a signed contract and board authorization to lease the van.
 - b. Emeka Enwezor shares addresses owned by Godfrey Okonkwo and the founder of WAYS. This same address is linked to the WAYS director of operations and the WAYS vice principal (brother and sister.)
 - c. Emeka Enwezor also shares the same address as Obiesie Enwezor.
3. OSE Business Services owner Obiesie Enwezor received $158,871 from WAYS.
 - a. Obiesie Enwezor shares two addresses owned by Godfrey Okonkwo and/or the founder/former executive director, who are related as family and/or address to Obiesie Enwezor, the founder/former executive director, Godfrey Okonkwo, the director of operations, and the WAYS vice principal.
 - b. Obiesie Enwezor has refused to meet with FCMAT to assist the team in substantiating the $158,871 in alleged supplies sold to WAYS by OSE and the existence of OSE as a legitimate business with customers other than WAYS.
 - c. WAYS failed to issue 1099s to OSE and is missing significant corroborating financial information that FCMAT considers necessary to substantiate the office and food supply items approved by the director of operations for payment to OSE.
 - d. OSE Business Services owner Obiesie Enwezor shares the identical business address location at 6709 La Tijera Blvd, Suite 274, Los Angeles, California 90045 as the WAYS vice principal's own private middle school known as Innovative WAYS Academy.
 - e. According to the WAYS vice principal, the founder/former executive director and mother of both the director of operations and vice principal is the individual who checks the mail and has the key to the OSE and

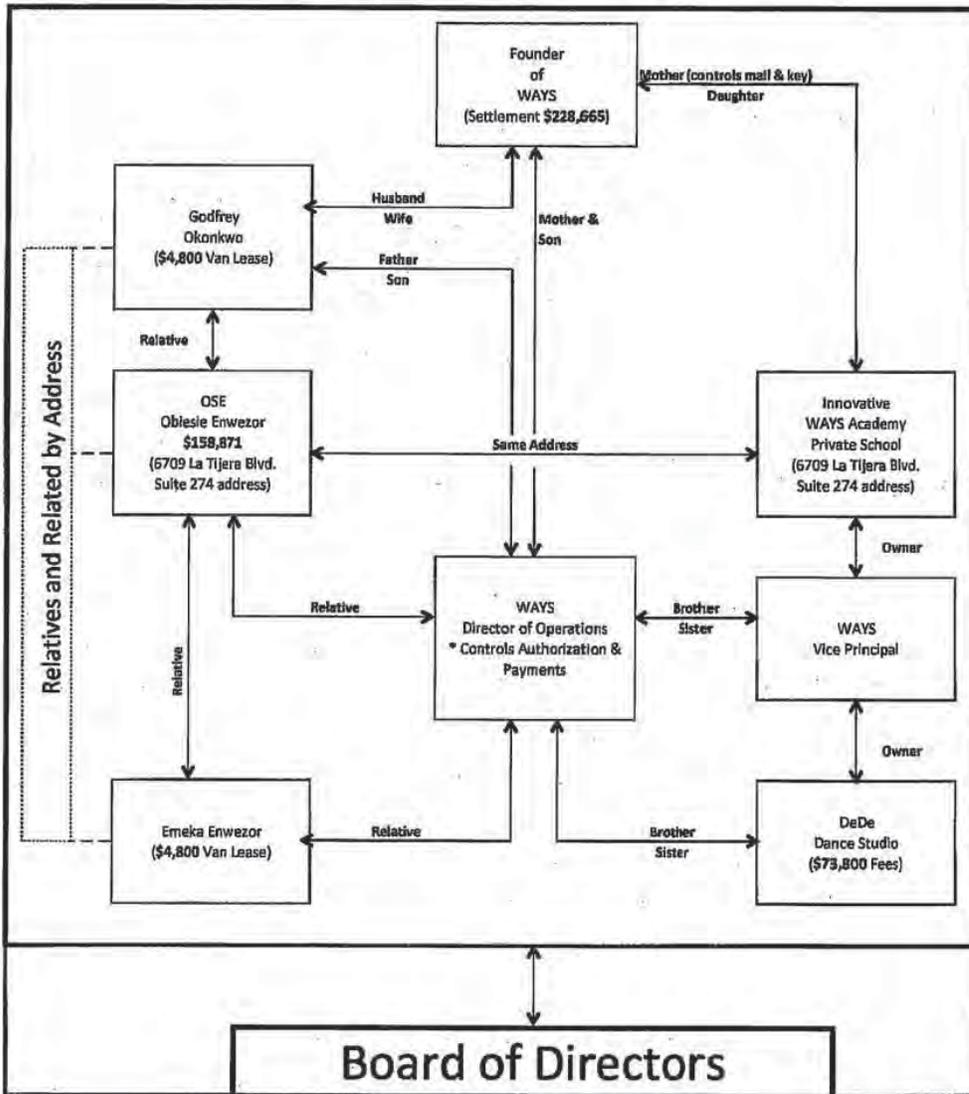

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND DISBURSEMENTS

Innovative WAYS Academy address at 6709 La Tijera Blvd, Suite 274,
Los Angeles, California 90045.

4. The director of operations and WAYS vice principal are brother and sister and are children of the founder/former executive director and Godfrey Okonkwo.
5. LACOE engaged the services of a private investigator following written and verbal complaints that the vice principal of WAYS was working at Innovative WAYS Academy, her private middle school of which she was the executive director. Direct surveillance and video on 16 separate occasions between March 5, 2013 and April 22, 2013 revealed that the WAYS vice principal spent 29.5 hours at her private middle school while employed full time at WAYS.
6. The WAYS vice principal is the owner of Innovative WAYS Academy private middle school, and a non-profit corporation known as DeDe Dance Studio.
 - a. DeDe Dance Studio was paid a total of $73,800 by WAYS between April 2009 and April 2013.
 - b. The address of DeDe Dance Studio is reported in the DeDe Dance Studio 2010 and 2011 nonprofit tax returns as 706 East Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, CA, which is the same address as the WAYS primary school site and administrative offices location.
 - c. The director of operations and brother of the WAYS vice principal and owner of DeDe Dance Studio authorized the checks from WAYS totaling $73,800 that were paid to DeDe Dance Studio.
 - d. During the team interview of the WAYS vice principal on November 15, 2013, she stated that DeDe Dance Studio was paid from the ASES program funds for dance study during the after school program and that 10 volunteers are present for the dance activities. She further stated that there was also a manager present; however, the team did not observe students present in that facility during the fieldwork days. FCMAT also observed postings in the DeDe dance studio indicating that DeDe Dance studio has a check payment policy for payments and nonsufficient funds checks at the studio located at the WAYS property address.
 - e. DeDe Dance Studio is operated at and identifies the business location as the WAYS school site. The team was unable to determine that any offsetting rent for the facility was paid by DeDe Dance Studio to WAYS.
 - f. The DeDe Dance Studio nonprofit tax returns for 2010 and 2011 do not identify any rent paid expense activity, including rent for occupying the same facility as the WAYS school site or for facilities use as DeDe Dance Studio services where dance instruction allegedly occurred at the WAYS school site.

TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

The relationships and related parties are presented in the following table:

WAYS Irregular Purchase and Sale of Lexus

During FCMAT's meetings and fieldwork in November 2013 at the WAYS back office provider, the team discussed WAYS Lexus payments of $891.94 per month identified in the WAYS accounting records. The WAYS back office service provider stated they had been requesting backup documentation for the Lexus transaction from the director of operations but never have received any.

The back office provider was unable to determine if the Lexus payments were for a leased vehicle or purchase that should be capitalized and depreciated.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFORMATION

In an email dated Friday, November 29, 2013, FCMAT requested information about the Lexus from the director of operations:

- The original board approval documentation and minutes authorizing the purchase of the Lexus,
- Original Lexus purchase/lease documents,
- The board approval documentation and minutes authorizing the sale of the Lexus,
- The analysis that would have provided the WAYS board establishing the financial profitability, viability, or reasoning for the purchase and subsequent sale of the Lexus,
- Copies of any Lexus payoff documentation,
- Copies of any Lexus proposed sale documentation.

The director of operations replied to the FCMAT November 29, 2013 request for Lexus information in an email dated Friday, January 10, 2014; however, the information provided was incomplete. Based on the information received from the director of operations, FCMAT has determined that the 2011 Lexus RX350 was purchased for $41,163.45 on August 19, 2012, to be used by the director of operations. The payments of $891.94 per month started October 3, 2012 for 47 months, at 1.90% annual percentage rate. The WAYS board approval for the purchase of the Lexus dated July 31, 2012 states, "Be it Resolved, that the Board of Directors of this corporation ... authorize the Executive Director or designee to enter into a lease or purchase agreement for a vehicle for school use behalf of said corporation." The current executive director of WAYS issued a letter dated August 6, 2012 authorizing the director of operations to "... lease or purchase a vehicle for school use ..."

The Lexus purchase analysis provided to the team by the director of operations is titled Capital Expense Analysis.

- The Capital Expense Analysis identifies two separate dates, July 2012 and August 2013, and is not attached to the WAYS board minutes or agenda as a document reviewed by the WAYS board.
- The Capital Expense Analysis fails to include any vehicle cost and/or terms of the Lexus and fails to identify that the vehicle is a Lexus only identifying the item as "SUV or Sedan (Vehicle)." Without any cost or terms of the Lexus purchase or specifically identifying the vehicle as a Lexus, the WAYS board may not have had sufficient information to make an informed decision regarding the purchase of the Lexus.
- The Capital Expense Analysis fails to identify if the vehicle will be capitalized as an asset or is a vehicle lease.
- The Capital Expense Analysis states, "Merle Williamson Foundation (MWF) may provide the Administrative Personnel an automobile vehicle and operating expenses for the use of conducting MWF business and reasonable personal use."
- The WAYS July 31, 2012 minutes omit the authorization to use the Lexus for personal use and omit language in the minutes that MWF or WAYS has agreed to pay for the vehicle and operating expenses.

- Since the WAYS Board July 31, 2012 minutes and the Capital Expense Analysis wording differ, FCMAT cannot confirm that the Capital Expense Analysis was ever presented to the WAYS board.

The WAYS executive team failed to provide any information about the Lexus purchase to the WAYS back office provider so the back office service provider could properly account for the Lexus as a purchase, which would have resulted in capitalizing the Lexus in accordance with GAAP. The current executive director of WAYS and the director of operations failed to obtain WAYS governing board approval prior to selling the Lexus.

The sale of the Lexus as identified in the Capital Expense Analysis presents significant irregularities:

- a. The vehicle identity is not disclosed as a Lexus.
- b. Failure to disclose any Blue Book and/or fair market values of the Lexus.
- c. Failure to disclose the beginning and ending Lexus odometer reading.
- d. Failure to disclose if the Lexus had been in any accidents, if the maintenance was up to date, and what condition the Lexus was currently in such as excellent, good, fair, or poor condition, all of which are factors in avoiding any potential post sales liabilities.
 - i. Based on the documents provided by WAYS, the team determined that the WAYS management team failed to disclose the Lexus Blue Book values as potentially excellent, $28,872; very good, $28,072; good, $27,172 and fair, $24,872.
 - ii. The director of operations failed to provide any documentation explaining how the sales value of the Lexus was determined to be sold at $26,000 rather than at values of good, very good, or excellent.
- e. Failure to disclose the estimated gains or loss on the sale of the Lexus.
- f. Failure to present an amortization schedule showing the principal payments and remaining payoff on the Lexus as of the estimated date of the sale.
- g. Failure to disclose if the sale of the Lexus would be confined to California or sold out of state.

Because the governing board was not provided any specific information as described above, FCMAT cannot determine how the governing board would be able to determine that the sale of the Lexus was a proper transaction for approval.

The WAYS board approval authorized the "vehicle for school use" but did not identify the type of vehicle or that the vehicle was for the explicit use of the director of operations. FCMAT had observed the director of operations using the Lexus as his own personal vehicle. The team's audit of WAYS' American Express credit card statements reveal that vehicle fuel receipts failed to list to which vehicle the fuel receipts were attributable; therefore, the team cannot determine if the fuel receipts were for WAYS vehicles or if WAYS was subsidizing personal fuel costs of WAYS employees and management.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFORMATION

The team has determined that the sale of the Lexus resulted in a ($4,187) loss to WAYS. The purchase price of the Lexus was $41,163 on August 19, 2012 and the Bill of Sale dated December 17, 2013 states that the Lexus was sold for $26,000 to an individual in Canada. The Lexus was owned by WAYS for approximately 16 months between August 19, 2012 and December 17, 2013. Depreciation of the vehicle is calculated over five years or 60 months at $686 per month, and accumulated depreciation over 16 months is calculated as $10,976.

The approximate net loss of $4,187 on the sale of the Lexus is calculated as:

- Purchase Price $41,163
- Less Accumulated Depreciation ($10,976)
- Book Value $30,187
- Less Selling Price of $26,000
- Net Loss on Sale of Lexus ($4,187)

The sale of the Lexus also resulted in a net loss of cash of $4,345 because the amount of principal paid down as calculated by FCMAT based on an amortization of 16 months, interest rate of 1.9% is $10,818. The original purchase price of the Lexus of $41,163 less the principal paid on the Lexus loan of $10,818 leaves an approximate payoff balance of $30,345. The payoff to Toyota Motor Corporation of $30,345 less the selling price of $26,000 results in an estimated cash loss of $4,345.

WAYS Failed to Obtain Governing Board Approved for Purchase of Computers and Issued an Irregular Payment

During FCMAT's meetings and fieldwork in November 2013 at the WAYS back office provider, the team discussed two payments to WAYS vendor Avatar Technology for a $37,986.51 purchase of computers dated January 23, 2012 and a $358.75 purchase dated February 10, 2012, totaling $38,345.26. The back office provider stated that the Avatar invoices received from the director of operations did not include governing board approval documents for this transaction.

The team examined the WAYS check request authorized by the director of operations and the vendor invoice documentation for the $37,986.51 paid to Avatar, and found several irregularities:

- The January 23, 2012 Avatar invoice stated that the purchase was for 85 "Legerro 13.3" items at $410 per item, with a total invoice price including sales tax of $37,540.63.
- The amount authorized by the director of operations to be paid to the computer vendor in the WAYS check request was $37,986.51.
- The difference between the computer vendor invoice of $37,540.63 and the amount WAYS paid to the computer vendor of $37,986.51 is $445.88.
- The check request authorized for payment by the director of operations identifies an additional amount of $445.88, which the team believes to be one additional computer.

In an email dated Friday, November 29, 2013, the team requested documentation from the director of operations of the governing board authorization, board agenda identifying the item for action on the agenda or any other documentation to support the purchase of the computers. His reply on Friday, January 10, 2014 states that:

WAYS' BOARD ACTIONS AND SIGNIFICANT INFLUENCE

43

"I was unable to locate any Board documentation regarding the purchase of the Avatar Computers. However, I can attest that the Board was fully aware of the purchase before it was executed and after they were purchased. I've attached the newsletter showing our students using the computers."

Based on the information the team received from the director of operations, the team has determined that there are several irregularities concerning the purchase of computers authorized by the director of operations:

1. The WAYS board was not properly notified by the director of operations' decision to purchase computers totaling $38,345.26.
2. There are no requests for quotes or for proposals.
3. There is no documentation of computers specifications.
4. The authorization for payment to Avatar by the director of operations in excess of the invoiced amount totaling $445.88 cannot be located.
5. The transaction lacks governing board approval and lacks supporting documentation for payment.
6. The team cannot confirm if the computers presented by the director of operations in a newsletter are in fact the computers purchased from Avatar.

WAYS Automobile Fuel Purchase Irregularities

The team examined WAYS fuel purchases, which consist of receipts for fuel from Costco Gas, Chevron, Shell Oil, Union 76, Exxon Mobil, and Valero gas stations. Over a two-year period from July 1, 2011 through June 30, 2013, according to the WAYS accounting records, the total paid for fuel and mileage reimbursements was approximately $18,261.

The team calculated that over the two-year period, the amount spent on mileage reimbursement and other non-fuel expenses was approximately $2,305. Removing the mileage reimbursement and other non-fuel expenses of $2,305 from the total fuel cost of $18,261 left a remaining net fuel cost of $15,956. The team calculated that $15,956 in fuel purchases during WAYS fiscal years 2011-12 and 2012-13 at an estimated $3.79 per gallon represents 3,989 gallons ($15,956 / $3.79 per gallon = 4,210 gallons) of fuel used or approximately 175 gallons of fuel per month (4,210 gallons / 24 months = 175 gallons per month).

The $3.79 per gallon price was calculated by the team based on fuel cost data from www.gasbuddy.com for the Los Angeles, California area. The price of fuel in Los Angeles at July 2011 was $3.79/gallon, June 2012 at $3.60/gallon, and June 2013 at $3.97/gallon. The average price per gallon between July 2011 and June 2013 was $3.79 per gallon $(($3.79 + $3.60 + $3.97) / 3 = \3.79 per gallon).

The non-board approved and unsigned Emeka Enwezor van lease identifies the van as a 1995 Ford model E-350 van. The team researched the fuel economy of a 1995 Ford model E-350 van at www.motortrend.com and found that the van's fuel economy is 13 miles per gallon in the city, and 16 miles per gallon on the highway. Using the fuel economy of the van of 13 miles per gallon and 175 gallons of fuel per month represents that the WAYS vehicles traveled 2,275 miles per month for school business purposes. Students attending WAYS' three charter school sites reside in the local neighborhoods and all three school sites are within a mile or two of each other. The mileage of 2,275 per month is excessive based on the location of the students and school sites.

The team was unable to determine if the fuel that WAYS management charged to the WAYS American Express credit cards was for official WAYS school business. Based on the examined fuel receipts, the team was unable to determine if any of the WAYS fuel purchases and fuel usage of an average 175 gallons per month were for personal vehicles or for personal trips because WAYS' accounting for fuel purchases fails to identify in the fuel receipts which vehicle and business purpose each receipt represents.

Failure by the management team of WAYS to document fuel purchases represents accounting irregularities, because the fuel purchases the team examined as reported by the executive management team and paid with the American Express credit card cannot be reconciled to any specific vehicle of WAYS.

WAYS Charter School Summary of Related and Irregular Transactions

The table below is a compilation of payments made through WAYS to the founder/former executive director, family members of the founder and close associates. Many of these payments were authorized by the director of operations and the current executive director (former board president.)

Fuel Purchases	7/1/2011 - 6/30/2013	Fuel	15,956
Total			$2,673,805

The above transactions represent significant influence that the WAYS founder/former executive director, family of the founder and close associates had over financial decisions that personally benefitted them. Several of these transactions were authorized for payment by the director of operations, who is the son of the founder/former executive director, and the current executive director (the former board president) and gave these individuals the ability to simultaneously control and benefit from these transactions. The lack of documentation to support transactions through board approval and records creates the perception of fraud, misappropriation of assets and possible criminal activity.

There is little evidence of responsible governance by the board and clearly a lack of fiscal accountability by the administration. The governing board has failed and often been prevented from its ability to maintain and exercise its responsibilities, authority, and control.

Prevention and Detection

As previously mentioned, the internal control environment includes ethical values and integrity displayed by the governing board and management as well as the underlying tone set by the organization's site administrators. The tone of the organization set by management through its words and actions demonstrates to others that dishonest or unethical behavior will not be tolerated. An atmosphere in which employees feel safe to communicate concerns is a fundamental component of a strong and effective internal control environment.

The control environment is an essential element and provides the foundation for other internal controls to be effective in achieving the goals and objectives to prevent and/or deter fraud or illegal acts. Regular external audits are a strong deterrent to mismanagement and fraud, but they cannot serve as the only method of ensuring accountability. It is imperative for the county office and WAYS governing board to review the findings and recommendations of this audit to implement the appropriate internal controls and hold the responsible parties accountable for their actions.

Internal controls clearly are among the most important aspects of any fraud prevention program. Managers are in a position of authority and therefore have a higher standard of care to establish the ethical tone and serve as examples to other employees. Employees with administrative responsibility have a fiduciary duty to the organization in the course of their employment to ensure that those activities are conducted in compliance with all applicable board policies, laws, regulations, and standards of conduct. Management personnel are entrusted to safeguard the charter's assets and ensure that internal controls function as intended. Relatives of employees should not be employed on a permanent or part time basis by the charter where the relative reports directly to the employee or the employee exercises any direct influence with regard to the relative's hiring, salary placement, promotions, evaluations or pay increases.

While the governing board and all employees in the organization have some responsibility for internal controls, the founder/former executive director and family members and close associates holding key administrative positions had a fiduciary duty and responsibility to make certain that the assurances in the charter petition and the governing board fiscal policies and procedures were conducted responsibly and ethically.

Based on the evidence presented to FCMAT, there is sufficient documentation to demonstrate that fraud, mismanagement and misappropriation of the charter school funds and assets may have occurred. There exists a significant material weakness in the charter school's internal control environment, which increases the probability of fraud and/or abuse. These findings should be of great concern to the WAYS governing board and the LACOE governing board and require immediate intervention to limit the risk of fraud and/or misappropriation of assets in the future.

RELATED-PARTY TRANSACTIONS AND SIGNATURES

In accordance with Education Code Section 42638(b), action by the county superintendent shall include the following:

If the county superintendent determines that there is evidence that fraud or misappropriation of funds has occurred, the county superintendent shall notify the governing board of the charter school, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the local district attorney.

Recommendation

The county superintendent should:

1. Notify the governing board of WAYS charter school, LACOE's governing board, the State Controller, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the local district attorney that fraud, misappropriation of assets or other illegal activities may have occurred.

FISCAL CRISIS & MANAGEMENT ASSISTANCE TEAM AB139 STUDY AGREEMENT May 20, 2013

The Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team (FCMAT), hereinafter referred to as the team, and the Los Angeles County Office of Education, hereinafter referred to as the COE, mutually agree as follows:

1. BASIS OF AGREEMENT

The team provides a variety of services to school districts and county offices of education upon request. Pursuant to the provisions of Education Code Section 1241.5 (b), a county superintendent of schools may review or audit the expenditures and internal controls of any school in his or her county if he or she has reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices have occurred that merit examination. The extraordinary audits conducted by the county superintendent shall be focused on the alleged fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal fiscal practices and shall be conducted in a timely and efficient manner.

All work shall be performed in accordance with the terms and conditions of this agreement.

2. SCOPE OF THE WORK

A. Scope and Objectives of the Study

The COE has requested that the team assign professionals to conduct an AB 139 extraordinary audit of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists. Per Education Code Section 1241.5 (b), (c), the superintendent has reason to believe that fraud, misappropriation of funds, or other illegal practices may have occurred.

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School conducts business as a California nonprofit organization. In addition to the authority granted under Education Code sections 1241.5 (c) and 47604.3, the county superintendent may conduct an investigation of the charter school based on written complaints by parents or other information that justifies the review.

The primary focus of this review will be to provide the county office with reasonable assurances, based on the testing performed, that adequate management and internal controls are in place for the reporting and monitoring of financial transactions, and that fraud, misappropriation of funds or other illegal activities have not occurred.

Internal controls include the processes for planning, organizing, directing and controlling program operations, including systems for measuring, reporting and monitoring performance. The receipt of cash and/or cash transactions, payroll, purchasing, and accounts payable are high-risk areas in which potential fraud and issues such as nonexistent employees or vendors, or misappropriation of assets including cash, may be detected. This review's objectives will include evaluation of policies, procedures, internal controls and transactions performed by the charter school.

Testing for this review will be based on sample selections from the current and one prior fiscal year; it will not include all transactions and records for this period. Sample testing and review results are intended to provide reasonable but not absolute assurance regarding the accuracy of the charter school's financial transactions and activity to accomplish the following:

- Prevent internal controls from being overridden by management.
- Ensure ongoing state and federal compliance.
- Provide assurance to management that the internal control system is sound.
- Help identify and correct inefficient processes.
- Ensure that employees are aware of internal control expectations.

The team's review of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will include, but not be limited to, the items below. The team will do the following:

1. Evaluate the charter school's internal control structure, policies and procedures to test transactions and reporting processes to determine if adequate procedures are in place to safeguard assets, including physical objects, charter school data, and intellectual property.

Evaluation of policies and procedures will include the following:

- i. Review compliance with policies and procedures including, but not limited to, those related to human resources, finance, purchasing, granting agencies, and state and federal government programs and funding.
 - ii. Review document and records retention procedures to determine whether the charter school provides reasonable assurance that asset records are safeguarded and transactions are correctly recorded.
2. Evaluate the reliability and integrity of information used for internal management decisions and external agency reports.
 3. Determine if authorization procedures are appropriate and consistently followed. Review administrator and manager approvals and whether signature authority is delegated only to authorized employees.

APPENDICES

4. Determine whether proper segregation of duties exists. The team will evaluate personnel, payroll, accounts payable and cash transactions, and will do the following:
 - i. Review the authorization process for cash receipts
 - ii. Determine if protective measures are in place for safeguarding assets, processes and data.
 - iii. Determine whether safe combinations are changed periodically and anytime a staff member who knows the combination terminates employment.
5. Evaluate reporting processes. The team will do the following:
 - i. Evaluate monitoring and verify that controls are operating properly.
 - ii. Evaluate controls that prevent management from overriding internal controls and thus prevent the potential misappropriation of funds.
 - iii. Evaluate whether clearly established lines of authority and responsibility exist within and between departments for proper review and reporting purposes, and if these are shown on organizational charts.

B. Services and Products to be Provided

1. Orientation Meeting - The team will conduct an orientation session at the charter to brief management and supervisory personnel on the team's procedures and the purpose and schedule of the study.
2. On-site Review - The team will conduct an on-site review at the charter office and at school sites if necessary; and will continue to review pertinent documents off-site.
3. Progress Reports - The team will inform the COE of material issues as the review is performed.
4. Draft Reports - When appropriate, electronic copies of a preliminary draft report will be delivered to the COE's administration for review and comment on a schedule determined by the team.

APPENDICES

5. Final Report - Electronic copies of the final report will be delivered to the COE and/or charter following completion of the review. Printed copies are available from FCMAT upon request.
6. Follow-Up Support - If requested, the team will meet with the COE and/or charter to discuss the findings and recommendations of the report.

Dear Dr. Delgado:

We are responding to information and allegations contained in the FCMAT audit on this date, as you have improperly demanded. You are not following Education Code section 1241.5, in that you have not communicated any findings or recommendations for us to respond to. Rather, your staff emailed the FCMAT audit to our individual board members with no explanation or recommendations. We sent you a letter explaining that you have 45 days to report your findings and recommendations, if any, to the WAYS Board. You have not done so, and you have not provided any findings or recommendations whatsoever. Instead, your staff responded by stating that LACOE will present its report at our board meeting later this month, but demanded that we "respond" to that future report now. We cannot see into the future and anticipate what your determinations and/or findings might be—and your demand that we guess is improper. Education Code section 1241.5 requires that we respond to your determinations and recommendations within 15 days after you present them. Your initial letter from staff was correct in that regard. Your initial letter made no mention of a Saturday April 5 deadline. It correctly stated that WAYS must respond to the superintendent's report of findings and recommendations made to our board 15 days thereafter. But now, your staff is inexplicably demanding that we respond today (a Saturday no less) to findings and recommendations you have not yet made, and may never make. You are failing to proceed in the manner required by the statute, and we have stated that to you twice now.

Because we cannot respond to your findings or recommendations that you have not provided us, this letter and attachments instead are in response to the alleged deficiencies identified by FCMAT in its audit. Notably, the FCMAT audit does not conclusively state any factual findings or determinations whatsoever. Nor does the audit make any recommendations whatsoever to WAYS. Rather, the audit concludes with its starting point—a "suspicion" that WAYS and/or its officials committed "fraud" or other "illegal activities". Rather than provide any factual findings, the audit identifies billing irregularities and misstates the circumstances and/or significance surrounding several transactions. For example, FCMAT incorrectly implies that there is something illegal or wrong about a WAYS employee participating in and/or founding a nonprofit corporation that serves children who may also attend WAYS. Nothing could be further from the truth. By definition, there is no conflict of interest for such service to nonprofit public benefit corporations. Similarly, there is no "eternal prohibition" against former employees from having financial transactions with WAYS. While true that there appears to have a conflict several years ago when WAYS leased property owned by a person who was then then executive director, any such conflict was long ago cured (at the Los Angeles County Board of Education's direction and approval) when the former executive director was separated from employment. There is no unlawful conflict or "fraud" evidenced by WAYS leasing property from the former executive director; and FCMAT did not (and cannot) conclude otherwise.

Also notable is that the FCMAT audit report erroneously states that "WAYS is a tightly held small public charter school operation founded and primarily operated by one family and close associates." This statement is plainly untrue, and reflects a fundamental misunderstanding of nonprofit corporations. WAYS is a small public charter school formed and operated entirely under the California Nonprofit Public Benefit Corporations Law. It was founded by the former executive director, governed by robust nonprofit corporate board of directors composed of members of the community, and is operated by professional teachers, and administration.

Another strange item in the FCMAT audit relates to LAUSD—an allegation with no explanation or evidence. The auditor appears to not understand how Proposition 39 works, or the SB740 rent reimbursement program (not even mentioned in the audit). The FCMAT audit report states, "WAYS' governing board failed to disclose that LAUSD had awarded facilities under a Proposition 39 request for facilities on April 1, 2011. Subsequent to the approval for facilities by LAUSD that could have alleviated conflict of interest concerns, WAYS did not respond to LAUSD to indicate acceptance of the offer." First and foremost, there is no requirement that a charter school "disclose" or "accept" Proposition 39 facilities. In fact, many charter schools within LAUSD do not accept the district's Prop 39 offers, because their commercial options are more practical for the schools, especially if they serve large free and reduce meal populations. FCMAT appears to think that Prop 39 is free—it's not. It's very expensive in LAUSD. In 2011, only about half the schools that received Prop 39 offers from LAUSD accepted them. The state's SB 740 rent reimbursement does not pay for Prop 39. Often in LAUSD, Prop 39 offers are much expensive than commercial space. In WAYS case, acceptance of Prop 39 space would render us completely ineligible for SB740 rent reimbursement. So, moving to Prop 39 space would in reality be at least twice as expensive to the school's bottom line. In any event, WAYS did in fact dialogue with LAUSD about the Prop 39 space. LAUSD denied the charter renewal in March 2011. LACOE did not approve the renewal until June 7, 2011—more than a month after the regulatory deadline for Prop 39 acceptance. LAUSD acknowledged WAYS response on July 6, 2011. There is nothing "fraudulent" about any of that.

These examples demonstrate that while the FCMAT audit may provide some useful information for LACOE and WAYS to consider, much of it is incorrect or incomplete in facts and circumstances. That is why it is beholden on the superintendent to make findings and recommendations to WAYS as required by the statute. If the LACOE Superintendent believes that findings and/or recommendations are in order as a result of the FCMAT audit, he should present that in a report to the WAYS Board within 45 days as is required by statute. WAYS would very much appreciate a meaningful opportunity to consider and adopt LACOE's recommendations, if any. But at this point, LACOE has not provided any findings or recommendations whatsoever as a result of the FCMAT audit.

Attached is a table responding to statements made in the FCMAT audit. Supportive evidence is attached as exhibits.

Sincerely,

Edward Cabil
Executive Director

This allegation is unsupported by any evidence. Although FCMAT claims that "recent board documents this allegation", FCMAT fails to provide specific evidence of the alleged occurrence presented in the WAYS board meeting audio recordings and/or minutes. WAYS board minutes and WAYS board meeting audio recordings from July 1, 2013 through March 13, 2014 (Exhibit 9), do not verify the statements in the audit report. The FCMAT audit report makes this subjective statement, without providing viable evidence to support their claim. Considering that the FCMAT audit report deliberated on all information provided to them up to February 28, 2014, WAYS is surprised that the FCMAT audit report fails to bring light to the LACOE superintendent letter titled "Notice of Concern" dated December 20, 2013 (Exhibit 14), and a follow-up letter from the LACOE Charter Schools Office (CSO) coordinator dated January 24, 2014 (Exhibit 15) issued WAYS governing board, which required a response from WAYS by January 31, 2014. The LACOE superintendent inappropriately refers to the scurrilous email addressed the executive director as 'a written complaint received by LACOE from a former board member'. On January 31, 2014 the WAYS executive director, on behalf of the governing board, provided LACOE a detailed written response to the LACOE superintendent's concerns stated in the notice of concern letter (Exhibit 16). In the response letter, the executive director verified that the former board member's email that was an internal communication intended for him, not address to LACOE, and indicated that he investigated the claims asserted in the former board member's letter, as well as a grievance letter from the director of operations, which provided a different view of the incident that occurred on October 24, 2013. Furthermore, the executive director explained that the November 21, 2013 board meeting was cancelled, because the agenda was not posted in accordance with the Brown Act. To date, WAYS has not received any inquiry or response from the LACOE staff regarding this matter. WAYS management did not cancel or cause any major disruptions that ended board meetings prematurely. Evidently the statement in the FCMAT Audit Report, was based on the scurrilous email addressed to the WAYS executive director, on January 25, 2014, from a former disgruntled Board Member who was voted off of the WAYS board by a majority board vote, subsequent to the WAYS school site council recommendation to the board of directors to remove the former board member and her counterpart from the WAYS governing Board for several reasons outlined in the school site councils resolution dated January 23, 2014 (Exhibit 17). The independent audit and reports for fiscal years ending June 30, 2011, and June 30, 2012, were conducted and written by the same audit firm. Specifically: 2011) In the independent audit report year ending June 30, 2011, the audit firm identified 6 material findings. In the summary of this report auditors gave WAYS an unqualified opinion. 2012) In the independent audit report year ending June 30, 2012, the audit firm identified only 2 material findings. In the summary of this report auditors gave WAYS an unqualified opinion. WAYS changed its audit firm in 2013, to audit the fiscal year ending June 30, 2013. Audit Firms are likely to have different philosophy and approach to the audit process, all toward the same purpose of ensuring that the financial statements are fairly presented. When such change occurs, it is very possible that unusual findings will arise, which is within the intent of the independent audit report. 2013) In the independent audit report year ending June 30, 2013, the audit firm identified 7 material findings and issued WAYS a qualified opinion. The report exaggerates 15 findings referenced in the audit report, which were issued over three years. This van has been in use since the founding years of WAYS in 2006, and was finally donated to WAYS by the previous owner, Emeka Enwezor in the fall of 2012. Also previously owned by Godfrey Okonkwo until 2011, WAYS made lease payments to Mr. Okonkwo totaling $4800 in fiscal year 2010-11. Subsequently, the van was sold or transferred to Emeka Enwezor in 2011. WAYS made final lease payments to Mr. Enwezor totaling $4800 in fiscal year 2011-12, and afterward the van was donated to WAYS in the winter of 2012. The WAYS director of operations email to FCMAT dated January 10, 2014 (Exhibit 32) provides evidence that WAYS, and the back office provider, had the 2011-12 lease agreement on file. Additionally, the email the director of operation explicitly explains the prospect for missing executed leases and board approvals. The director of operations writes, “I was able to locate the Van Lease Agreement from 2011-12. However I was unable to locate a signed copy of the agreement. The WAYS financial procedures specifically identify the executive director as the person who approves checks. 2. Please indicate whether you will be at least eighteen years old by January 1 of the year in which the proposed charter school would open.

Conflict of Interest

15. Please indicate if you, your spouse or other relative (by marriage or blood) anticipate conducting any business with the educational service provider, the school, or both. If so, please describe the potential relationship.

Hon. Tolbert and Members of the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board:

Notice of Concern: Noncompliance with Law, Charter and Terms and Conditions of Authorization

This Notice of Concern (Notice) documents ongoing areas in which Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists (WAYS) has failed to comply with the law, its charter, and the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) Monitoring and Oversight Memorandum of Understanding (MOU).

Failure to Fulfill Reporting Requirements: WAYS has not been responsive to reasonable requests from the authorizer (Education Code (EC) 47604.3) for fiscal information and other reporting requirements as follows:

1. Monthly financial reporting: WAYS has not submitted its monthly financial statements for October, November, and December 2013. While there have been multiple requests from the Controller's Office for these reports, the school has been nonresponsive.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.3; Charter Element 4 Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); and MOU Section 3.4 (Revenue and Expenditure Reporting) and Attachment B (Fiscal Oversight Requirements and Financial Reporting).

2. First Interim Financial Report: The First Interim Financial Report was due December 2, 2013 (EC 47604.33). There were multiple requests from the Controller's Office, with a communication from the school on December 5, 2013, indicating WAYS would submit on December 6, 2013; it was not received. As of the writing of this letter, the signed certification for the First Interim Financial Report has not been received.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.3 and 47604.33; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); Charter Element 9 (Annual Financial Audits) paragraph 2; and MOU Section 3.4 (Revenue and Expenditure Reporting).

3. Title I Budget: The September 27, 2013 Notice of Concern Regarding Student Achievement requested that WAYS submit "...a copy of the school's Title I budget to the Charter School Office (CSO) by November 15, 2013. LACOE will review the budget to ensure funds are correctly allocated and monitor expenditures to ensure they are aligned with the SPSA/SSDP." The school's principal was reminded to submit the budget during a site visit on October 17, 2013, and again during a meeting with WAYS on November 21, 2013. To date, the budget, which must be approved by the School Site Council and Governing Board, has not been submitted. A November 20, 2013 email from the WAYS Board President states the school's Governing Board has not approved the expenditure plan and a review of board meeting agendas/minutes provides no evidence of approval.

Resulting Violations: Federal Title I Requirements; EC 47604.3; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); and Charter Element 7, Section 7.3 (Means to Achieve a Racial and Ethnic Balance: Federal Compliance).

4. Previously Documented Reporting Failures for School Year 2013-14: In addition to the current issues of non-compliance, WAYS received the following formal and informal communications regarding its failure to comply with the reporting requirements:

- a. Valid Unaudited Actual Report for 2012-13: On October 3, 2013, LACOE's Chief Financial Officer, Dr. Alex Cherniss, sent a letter to the WAYS Board regarding the school's failure to submit a valid unaudited actual report for 2012-13 by the September 15, 2013 due date.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.33(a)(4), 42100(b), and 47604.3; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); Charter Element 9 (Annual Financial Audits) paragraph 2; and MOU Section 3.4 (Revenue and Expenditure Reporting).

- b. Student Exit Reports: On November 21, 2013, CSO staff met with WAYS' principal and support staff to discuss submission of the Student Exit Reports required under its MOU. A meeting summary was sent to WAYS by email on December 2, 2013, regarding the specific reporting issues discussed at this meeting. That meeting constituted the third communication on this reporting requirement. On November 30, 2013, an email was sent to WAYS' Executive Director outlining the school's failure to comply with the reporting requirements subsequent to two (2) prior verbal communications.

Resulting Violations: EC 47604.3; Charter Element 4, Section 4.6 (Governance: Responding to Inquiries); Charter Element 9 (Annual Financial Audits – Audit and Inspection of Records); and MOU Section 3.3 (Student Attendance Accounting and Reporting).

Failure to Comply with Other Charter Terms:

1. Element 9, Annual Financial Audits: The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012 states, "Board Finance Committee will develop a contract that includes the scope of the audit and requirements in the form of a Request for Application (RFA) to seek qualified applicants." A review of WAYS Board Agendas/minutes and board meeting audio recordings do not reflect compliance with the Charter for the change in the Auditor used in school year 2011-12 to the Auditor identified for school year 2012-13. Additionally, there is no indication the board approved the contract with the current auditor.

2. Element 4, Governance:

- a. Monthly Board Meetings: The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012 states, "The Governing Board of WAYS will meet monthly." Since July 2013, the WAYS Board held regular meetings in July and September, special meetings in August and October (due to lack of a quorum on regular meeting dates), and no meeting in November or December. On November 19, 2013, at 4:45 p.m., the CSO received an email from the Executive Director that the November meeting [calendared for November 21, 2013] was "postponed." No reason was provided, WAYS did not respond to the CSO's inquiry as to the reason for the "postponement," and no board meeting was held in November. No regular meeting was scheduled for December, and no special meeting was held.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board

b. Provide Overall Oversight: The WAYS charter dated December 18, 2012 states,

The Governing Board ultimately will be charged with assessing how the school is doing overall. The President of the Governing Board will provide an annual report to the Board of Principals of the Merle Williamson Foundation in April of each year.... it will review the information [from administration] and ascertain whether recommendations need to be made or committees need to be formed to work on specific issues. These committees may examine closely the curriculum and staffing priorities for maximum effectiveness; identifying budgetary priorities involving the use of discretionary funds; evaluating the academic effectiveness of the school program, its administration and staff, and make recommendations for improvement, accordingly. These committees are established to implement the business of the Governing Board and to facilitate it's functioning. Furthermore, the Governing Board facilitates communication and team building and acts as negotiator for disagreements.

Matters that arise concerning budgets, curriculum, school discipline, and other school matters will begin at the level of teachers and parents. The Governing Board may, from time to time, establish committees and working groups to develop a policy for the school regarding specific issues and present its findings to the Governing Board and the School Community. WAYS has adapted a set of detailed procedures and policies for all fiscal matters, which are outlined in Element I. Core policies that the board will adopt include:

- Fiscal Policies – how the school's budget is drafted, approved and monitored; budget development calendar; staff roles related to fiscal issues.
- Instructional Program Policies – when necessary, establish formal policies to clarify or add specific/amend specific charter elements
- Personnel Policies – Establishes how the school recruits, hires, monitors, compensates, and dismisses staff. Policies will also be adopted that address state and federal labor laws related to non-discrimination, leaves, sexual harassment, and other matters. These policies will be adopted prior to hiring staff and will be drafted with legal consultation.
- Student and Parent Policies – how the school recruits orients, admit, disciplines, suspends, and expels students. These policies will also clarify parents' roles and responsibilities.
- Legal Policies – Board members' legal responsibilities, including conflict of interest, duty of care, confidentiality (See Appendix E).
- Internal Board Policies – Board composition and renewal/succession and to clarify any policy ambiguities
- Policy, policy – this policy will help to keep the policy development process at a minimum and describe how policies are made and revised.

The Governing Board will:

- Insure that the entire school is moving in the direction of the school vision.
- Serve as a clearinghouse for information to facilitate communication.

- Monitor committees to ensure progress toward goals and accomplishment of duties.
- Assist Administration in dealing with incoming information to the school and disseminating information to the School Community.

A November 20, 2013 email from the WAYS Board President to the Executive Director states,

... I read your email unilaterally postponing the Board of Directors' meeting; even though I emailed a draft agenda to you at 4:40 PM – in time for you to post it by 5:00 PM to meet the 72-hour deadline required by the Brown Act... However, you did find time to send out a scurrilous email requesting that the 'new' board members step down; and identifying me specifically.

a. Your administrative responsibilities do not give you the prerogative to postpone Board meetings... Moreover, you were keenly aware of the time-sensitive documents being requested by LACOE. We were to submit these documents below not later than November 22, 2013. I will list them for you:

1. Board Policy on Admissions/Enrollment/Lottery
2. Board Policy on Student Fees
3. Board Policy on Suspension & Expulsion
4. Board Meeting Minutes for September 26, 2013
5. Board Meeting Minutes for October 24, 2013

b. Interestingly enough, LACOE sent an email earlier today indicating staff had emailed these unapproved Board Policies. I requested you to place the above policies on the November 21, 2013 Board agenda for review/modification/approval for the 2013-14 School Year in order to meet the requested deadline. These policies must still be approved by the Board of Directors; similar to Board minutes.

Additionally, other matters that needed to be considered by to the Board at its November 21, 2013 meeting included:

c. The Single Plan for Student Achievement along w/ the draft Student Achievement Plan outlining the strategies to be implemented that would ensure African-American and Special Education students; who did not meet their 2012-13 AYP growth targets, would meet their 2013-14 AYP growth targets. The final Student Achievement Plan is due to LACOE on December 2, 2013. I am sure Board members would like to have this information presented in a timely manner.

d. The Title One Budget due to LACOE by November 15, 2013 that was not submitted, and has yet to be reviewed and approved by the Board. This budget identifies the funds to be used to support both the 2013-14 Single Plan for Student Achievement as well as the Student Achievement Plan.

e. An overdue monthly budget presentation from Ball Business Management explaining to the Board a line item budget increase of $118,000 from the previous school year in supplies. As you may recall, in August the Board 'conditionally' approved this year's budget in order that some funds could be used to open the school-year, although LACOE would receive a 'conditionally approved' 2013-14 budget. Since August, the Board has not had an opportunity to review the school's budget. In September, the contractor was called and instructed not to come. In October, when the contractor did come, the Board meeting was disrupted and the contractor was unable to present the budget, nor was the Board able to continue with the meeting as we were told to "get out". In fact, was directly yelled at and threatened by the employee to, "Get out and don't come back!" among his other verbal and physically menacing gestures.

f. Scheduling of Board Retreat that every board member agreed was needed for several reasons. (See Agenda)

g. Hearing critical Closed Session items

h. The review/approval of a contract for the Executive Director; if one had been provided. In fact, no contracts for this school year have been presented to the Board for review, approval or denial. Were the teachers' contracts approved prior to the end of school? I know this current Board did approve their Salary Schedule.

Since there is no scheduled Board Meeting in December, I am recommending that the Board schedule a December meeting, due to 'postponement' of its November meeting.

A review of WAYS Governing Board agendas/minutes and board meeting audio recordings documents concerns that the WAYS Governing Board is not fulfilling its responsibilities, corroborating the Board President's statements in the email cited, above. While there is evidence the Governing Board is requesting the information it needs to make informed decisions, that information is not being provided in a manner that allows the Governing Board to fulfill the duties and obligations described in the charter petition dated December 12, 2012.

The Board President's allegation (stated in paragraph "e") that a school employee's behavior resulted in the premature conclusion of a WAYS Board meeting was corroborated by the Executive Director's statement (Attachment 1) accompanying the audio recording of the meeting and a verbal report from another school employee. This is the second time we have received notice of an altercation that ended a WAYS Board meeting. In 2011, LACOE received written complaints from WAYS Board members that the behavior of another individual associated with the school resulted in the cancellation of a meeting. Those complaints were corroborated by verbal reports from parents and school staff. These incidents are serious; the WAYS Board must ensure compliance with charter Element 6, Health and Safety, Section 6.2, which states, "Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists will maintain a safe and secure environment for its students, staff, administration, school volunteers, and visitors."

The Board President's allegation that the school's Executive Director is overstepping his authority is also an ongoing concern. In an email dated October 10, 2011, the Executive Director wrote to LACOE, "I called a special meeting because a total of six board members resigned, thus leaving the board with only five active board members." While the email states, "four of the remaining board members all agreed that we needed a called meeting because of the desperate and crucial situation surrounding WAYS..." There is no evidence the board called the meeting as required by the Bylaws. The email continues, "In an October 05, 2001 [sic] email, the board VP promised the board members that she would schedule a meeting with an agenda by Friday, October 07, 2011, if not sooner; however, no meeting nor agenda items were posted as promised, thus prompting my immediate actions!" The email corroborates the administrator's history of overstepping his authority.

As you are aware, the December 12, 2012 version of the charter petition still contains contradictions and inconsistencies and fails to meet the conditions of authorization imposed by the County Board in its June 7, 2011 approval action.

Previously documented concerns reported to the County Board on May 10, 2011 (Attachment 2) and May 1, 2012 (Attachment 3) resulted in County Board action compelling WAYS to arbitration (Attachment 4). Arbitration documents have been filed; an arbitration date is pending.

Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Board

Additionally, due to ongoing fiscal concerns documented in the school's 2011-12 Independent Audit and other evidence, I authorized an audit under EC 1241.5(c) and informed the school of such on May 17, 2013. (Attachment 5)

Based on the school's continued failure to comply with law, the terms and conditions of its charter, and the LACOE MOU, I will be recommending that the County Board issue a Notice of Violation under EC 47607(c) as follows:

A charter may be revoked by the authority that granted the charter under this chapter if the authority finds, through a showing of substantial evidence, that the charter school did any of the following: (1) Committed a material violation of any of the conditions, standards, or procedures set forth in the charter... (4) Violated any provision of law.

Should the results of the audit conducted under EC 1241.5(c) provide evidence of the school's failure to meet generally accepted accounting principles or fiscal mismanagement, the Notice of Violation may be broadened to encompass EC 47607(c)(3).

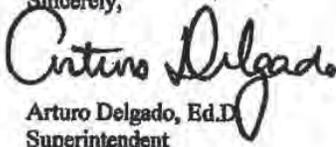

Prior to revocation, the County Board shall notify the charter public school of any violation of this section and give the school a reasonable opportunity to remedy the violation, unless the authority determines, in writing, that the violation constitutes a severe and imminent threat to the health or safety of the pupils. (EC 47607(d))

The school shall be notified of the time and date the recommendation to the County Board and shall be given the opportunity to review the evidence presented in support of the recommendation. Should the County Board approve the recommendation, the County Board and the LACOE will comply with the requirements of EC 47607(c) and the California Code of Regulations, Title 5, Article 2, Section 11965, subsections (b) - (f).

I am hopeful that the WAYS Board will take action to correct the violations documented in this letter and prevent future violations. Such a plan, and definitive Board actions that document its implementation, should be submitted to the CSO by January 20, 2014.

Should you have any questions, please contact the CSO at (562) 922-8806.

Sincerely,

Arturo Delgado, Ed.D.

Board Meeting – May 10, 2011

Item VII. Reports / Study Topics

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists, Grades K-5
Appeal of a non-renewed Petition by Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School renewal petition is presented to the Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) pursuant to Education Code section 47605. Upon denial by Los Angeles Unified School District Board of Education, the petitioner exercised the statutory right of appeal to the County Board.

Charter renewal is governed by EC sections 47607 and 47605:

Section 47607(a)(2) states: Renewals... of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in § 47605, and shall include, but not be limited to, a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed.

Section 47605(b) limits the reasons for denying a renewal petition to the following:

- (1) The charter school presents an unsound educational program
- (2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program
- (3) The petition does not contain an affirmation of specified assurances
- (4) The petition does not contain reasonably comprehensive descriptions of 16 required elements of a charter

The County Board shall evaluate the petition according to the criteria and procedures established in law and may only deny the petition if it provides written findings addressing the reasons for the denial.

Section 47607(b) states: Commencing on January 1, 2005, or after a charter school has been in operation for four years, whichever date occurs later, a charter school shall meet at least one of [5 academic performances] ... criteria prior to receiving a charter renewal....

000204

Board Meeting - May 10, 2011
Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter
- 2 -

Section 47605(b) states: A school district governing board shall grant a charter for the operation of a school under this part if it is satisfied that granting the charter is consistent with sound educational practice.

The County Board shall evaluate the petition according to the criteria and procedures established in law and may only deny the petition if it provides written findings addressing the reasons for the denial.

Summary of Key Findings:

Finding 1: WAYS met the academic performance criteria for renewal under BC § 47607(b)(1) and (2).

Finding 3: The petitioner is unlikely to successfully implement the program. The governing board has demonstrated a lack of capacity to oversee the operation of the school by allowing self-dealing transactions and other Conflicts of Interest. In addition, members of the governing board have personal and business ties to the school and/or Executive Director. The board was ineffective in responding to the Conflict of Interest concerns identified in the Notice to Cure; this ultimately led to non-renewal of the charter. Deficiencies in the renewal petition and responses by the board during the Capacity Interview indicate a continued lack of understanding and familiarity with the content of the petition and requirements of law necessary to successfully implement the charter.

Finding 5: The petition lacks a reasonably comprehensive description of eleven (11) of the 16 required elements.

- Proposed educational program lacks an adequate description of the school's target populations, overestimates the number of students to be served in the first year of the renewal charter, and provides no build-out plan to support this level of enrollment. The petition fails to indicate how the school will identify and respond to the needs of pupils who are not achieving at or above expected levels, students with disabilities, and English learners. The Measurable Outcomes and Means for Measuring Pupil Progress do not address the needs of all student subgroups the school proposes to serve.
- The proposed Governance Structure fails to provide evidence of an organizational and technical design that reflect a seriousness of purpose necessary to ensure that the school will become and remain a viable enterprise. The governance structure fails to provide adequate oversight of the school's operation and fiscal management. The governing board's lack of effective oversight has jeopardized the school's charter status and there is no evidence that the board can implement the proposed educational program stated in the petition. The Organization Chart conflicts with information provided elsewhere in the petition regarding key management positions. The petition does not commit to complying with the Political Reform Act, which is required of all charter schools, and fails to include a Conflict of Interest policy. Certain provisions of the bylaws appear to be in direct conflict with the Brown Act.

- The following Required Elements are not reasonably comprehensive: Employee Qualifications, Means to Achieve a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Annual Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, and Public School Attendance Alternatives, and Dispute Resolution Procedures.

The full Report on the Findings of Fact for the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School is attached.

LACOE staff will present the report to the County Board.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter Petition, Grades K-5
 Appeal of a Petition for Charter Renewal Denied by Los Angeles Unified School District
 Board of Education

Background Information

The Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter School (WAYS) petition seeks an application for renewal of their K-5 charter school in accordance with Education Code Section 47607.5. The school's current enrollment is approximately 250 students. The school proposes to grow enrollment to 500 students over the next five (5) years by expanding operations from its two (2) current sites (706 East Manchester 90001 and 8878 South Central Avenue 90002) to a larger facility. WAYS also applied to LAUSD for a Prop 39 site; sites were awarded on April 1, 2011.

The petition states the charter school's mission "is to create a transformational learning climate in which students become 'Empowered to be Leaders Change Agents and True Scientists.'"

The school's vision is "to create an educational program that educates the whole child." Nine (9) goals are stated under the vision.

WAYS first year of operation was 2006-07. Its Academic Performance Index (API) history (calculated as a small school with less than 100 students in Growth API) and enrollment figures are presented below.

Year	Growth API		Enrollment Figures
	Growth API	Number of Valid Scores*	Enrollment on First Day of Testing Grades 2-5	Total Enrollment Grades 2-6	Total Enrollment Grades K-1	Total Enrollment Grades K-5

*Number of students included in Growth API. Students must be continuously enrolled since Census day (CBEDS) Source: CDE DataQuest			4 additional students are included as enrolled in grade 6 although school is authorized for grades K-5 Source: CDE DataQuest

The CDE states "APIs based on small numbers of students are less reliable and therefore should be carefully interpreted." Schools with less than 100 Valid Scores on the California Standards Test (CST) do not receive Similar School Rankings or comparison schools; therefore, it cannot be determined how WAYS' API compares to schools with similar demographics.

The chart compares the demographics of WAYS and the two (2) closest public non-charter schools.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

Racial and ethnic demographic data shows WAYS does not reflect diversity of the community (LAUSD Local District 7) in which it is located or the two (2) closest LAUSD non-charter elementary schools. WAYS also enrolls fewer students with disabilities and English learners than near-by public non-charter schools. Conversely, its parents have a higher education level, which positively correlates with higher levels of student academic achievement.

Reason for Denial by the Local District

The Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) Board of Education denied the petition based on written Findings of Fact that comply with requirements for denial under the following sections of the Charter School Act:

EC § 47605(b)(2) The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program:

Conflict of interest concerns exist pertaining to members of the WAYS Board of Directors and the WAYS Executive Director and Principal. Specifically, the WAYS founder and Executive Director receives both a salary for her position and lease payments for two properties which she owns that are occupied by the school. She negotiated the leases to WAYS charter school. The WAYS governing board was asked to independently address and resolve the conflicts by the mutually agreed upon date of October 15, 2010; the WAYS Board of Directors' response failed to resolve the issues by that deadline. The WAYS governing board was minimally responsive to staff communications; the Executive Director was the primary respondent to address the Conflict of Interest issues. LAUSD considered the governing board's lack of independent and effective response to the Notice of Concern to be inconsistent with its fiduciary responsibility considering that the Executive Director was the subject of the self-dealing Conflict of Interest concerns which called into question the Board's capacity to govern the Charter School and successfully implement the program set forth in the petition. The WAYS Board failed to resolve the Conflict of Interest issues and only minimally attempted to do so in January 27, 2011.

The WAYS governing board is unfamiliar with the content of the petition and/or requirements of law. Cited examples included inconsistencies between the charter petition and the WAYS' corporate bylaws regarding compliance with the Brown Act which called into question whether the Board is familiar with and complies with the requirements of the Brown Act. Additionally, the Board allowed self-dealing transactions to transpire, even though the Board in the charter agreed to comply with LAUSD's charter school policies and regulations regarding Conflict of Interest.

EC § 47605(b)(5) The petition fails to provide a reasonably comprehensive description of 12 of the 16 required elements: The Educational Program, Method for Measuring Pupil Progress, Governance Structure, Health and Safety Procedures, Means for Achieving a Racial and Ethnic Balance, Admission Requirements, Submission of Independent Audit, Suspension and Expulsion Procedures, Identification of Retirement Systems, Public School Alternatives, Dispute Resolution, Closure Procedures.

Any of the above findings alone may be cause for the denial of a charter under EC § 47605(b).

The Findings of Fact state the academic performance criteria for renewal under EC § 47607(b) were met.

Response from the Petitioner

The petitioner provided a written response to the findings of the local board and submitted it as part of the petition package. The response was considered during the review process.

Appeal to the Los Angeles County Board of Education

The Los Angeles County Board of Education (County Board) held a Public Hearing to determine support for the petition on April 19, 2011.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

LACOE Review Process

The LACOE Charter School Review Team (Review Team) considered the petition according to the requirements of law, California Administrative Code of Regulations, County Board Policy and Regulations, and LACOE review procedures.

The Review Team included staff from the Controller's Office, Business Operations and Services, Risk Management, Divisions for School Improvement, Curriculum and Instruction, Special Education, Student Support Services, Human Resource Services, Office of General Counsel, and the Charter School Office.

Findings are based on a review of the same petition submitted to the local district and supporting documents submitted by the petitioner, and information provided through the Capacity Interview and other communications with the petitioner and other representatives of the school. The petitioner also submitted proposed changes (technical adjustments) to the petition necessary to reflect the County Board as the potential authorizer. These changes should reflect the statutory, policy, and structural differences between a county office of education and a local district. These differences include, but are not limited to, the statutory authority of the County Superintendent of Schools to investigate complaints as well as structural differences in the responsibilities with regard to special education services. Proposed changes provided by the petitioner were considered by the Review Team.

Findings also take into account the petition was initially submitted to a local district and contains specific references to that district. The Charter School Office confirmed that LAUSD requires the petitioner to include specific language or content in a petition. This requirement was considered by the Review Team.

Findings of Fact

Finding 1: WAYS met the academic performance criteria for renewal under EC § 47607(b)(1) and (2).

WAYS attained its Academic Performance Index (API) growth target in the prior year, in two of the last three years, and in the aggregate for the prior three years.

Academic Performance Criteria: Met Assigned Growth Targets
Year	API Base	Growth Target	API Growth	Actual Growth
2007-08	782*	5	774	-8
2008-09	775*	6	843	68
2009-10	843*	A	879	36
Aggregate Growth		10		96

*API is calculated for a small school (between 1 and 99 valid scores) which makes it less reliable and should be carefully interpreted.  No growth target for schools where API is 800 or above.

WAYS ranked in deciles 4 to 10, inclusive, on the API in the prior year and in two of the last three years.

Academic Performance: Decile Ranks*
Year	Statewide Rank	Similar Schools Rank
2007-08	6	N/A*
2008-09	5	N/A*
2009-10	8	N/A*

* Not calculated for small schools

While WAYS met the academic criteria necessary to be considered for renewal, there are concerns that the school has not increased or sustained its percentage of "Valid" CST scores indicating an unstable student enrollment base. Valid scores are based on the number of students tested who were continuously enrolled from norm day (CBEDS) in October through the first day of testing. For 2009-10, only 71% of tested students were continuously enrolled. At South Park Elementary School, 88% of tested students were continuously enrolled. On average, 26% of students who enroll at WAYS withdraw prior to standardized testing based the "Elementary Principal's Statistical Report" for 2007-08 through 2010-11.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

Finding 2: The petition provides an unsound educational program for students to be enrolled in the school. [EC § 47605(b)(1)]

The program is determined to be unsound for specific subgroups of students as described under Finding 5: Elements 1 – 3.

Additionally, based on enrollment data for Hispanic/Latino students, English learners, students with disabilities, and data showing the number of students who leave during the year, the school is not providing a program of educational benefit for all students the petition states the school intends to serve.

Finding 3: The petitioners are demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the program. [EC § 47605(b)(2)]

Based on review of the petition, supporting documents provided by the petitioner, documents provided by LAUSD, and the Capacity Interview with the school's leadership team, the petition does not meet the criteria established in CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(c).

1. Review of the renewal petition submitted on behalf of the WAYS board indicates the WAYS governing board lacked the capacity to govern the school.
 - A. The governing board was unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law with respect to Conflict of Interest. The submitted charter states the school will comply with Government Code 1090; however, some members of the board had prior relationships with the school and/or the Executive Director and members of her family.
 - i. The board president, a business management consultant, lists Wisdom Academy as a client on her resume, which contradicts her statement on the Prospective Charter School Board Member Questionnaire that consulting services were not provided.
 - ii. One board member stated on the Prospective Charter School Board Member Questionnaire that she is the Board President for DeDe Dance Studio, owned by the Executive Director's daughter, and is currently used by the charter school; this indicates a Conflict of Interest.
 - B. The governing board failed to comply with the terms of the charter by allowing the school to enter into a self-dealing transaction with its Executive Director regarding the school's facilities. There is no evidence that the governing board considered other sites or conducted an independent assessment of lease rates prior to entering into the agreement with the Executive Director.
 - C. The governing board allowed other conflicts of interest to exist through the hiring of members of the Executive Director's family and by permitting the Executive Director to supervise these family members while the Principal supervised other similarly employed personnel. The Executive Director's son, originally hired to oversee custodial and gardening services was promoted to Director of Operations, which involves financial responsibilities according to the Executive Director. The Executive Director's daughter, who is employed as a teacher and dance instructor, owns the dance studio used by the school.
 - D. The governing board demonstrated its inability to effectively govern the school by its failure to respond fully and in a timely fashion to the September 29, 2010 Notice to Cure regarding Conflicts of Interest issued by LAUSD. The LACOE Review Team reviewed documents received from both the district and the charter school. The documents indicate WAYS failed to provide a sufficient cure. WAYS governing board had eight (8) months (September 2010 to April 2011) to remedy the concerns in the Notice to Cure, and failed to do so.

2. The WAYS governing board continues to be unfamiliar with the content of the petition and requirements of law that would apply to the proposed charter school and lacks the necessary background to effectively govern the school.
 - A. In its response to the Findings of Fact upon which the LAUSD Board of Education denied charter renewal, WAYS submitted documents pertaining to the governance structure of the school in an effort to demonstrate that the school had taken steps to address Conflict of Interest concerns. Although these documents may not have been considered by the LAUSD Board of Education because they were submitted after the deadline to provide evidence, the LACOE Review Team considered the documents to determine whether they would substantially resolve the conflicts. The Review Team determined the documents were inadequate to resolve the Conflict of Interest concerns based on the facts presented below:
 - i. The action taken by the Executive Director, and supported by the WAYS governing board, failed to resolve the conflict regarding her ownership of the property. Documents submitted by WAYS indicate the properties were placed into a revocable trust. WAYS' attorney concurred that this action failed to resolve the conflict in that "the transfer to a holding company through a revocable trust, [was] not transferring the property ownership under California law." (page 3 of the March 25, 2011 Response to LAUSD Findings of Fact) WAYS' governing board allowed the conflict to continue by executing a lease agreement with the holding company rather than requiring the Executive Director to take action that would definitively end the conflict.
 - ii. The governing board failed to disclose that the school had been offered Prop 39 facilities, a viable option to resolving the issue. At the April 19, 2011 Capacity Interview, the Review Team inquired about the school's statement that it had requested a Prop 39 site. Neither the Executive Director nor WAYS board members disclosed that LAUSD had offered the school facilities on April 1, 2011. LAUSD received a letter of acceptance signed by the Executive Director on May 2, 2011. LACOE has yet to hear from WAYS regarding their decision.
 - iii. Changes to the governance structure proposed after the petition was submitted to LAUSD continue to be inadequate. The Organizational Chart indicates three (3) positions report directly to the board due to the Conflict of Interest posed by the familial relationships: the Executive Director, Principal, and Director of Operations. This structure places an undue burden on the board to manage the day-to-day operations of the school. There is no evidence the current board has the capacity to govern effectively under this structure.
 - iv. The governing board failed to demonstrate the ability to avoid future Conflict of Interest situations. When asked at the Capacity Interview about potential conflicts arising from the employment of multiple family members, the chain of command, and continued use of the facilities owned by the Executive Director, the board members did not explain how they would ensure that no future Conflicts of Interest would develop or how they would handle such conflicts if they did occur. The board stated that additional changes to the governance structure are being considered; these options are outside of the scope of this review as they were not available to be considered by the LAUSD Board of Education.
 - v. The renewal petition submitted by WAYS fails to comply with EC § 47607(a)(2) which requires that Renewals...of charters are governed by the standards and criteria in 47605, and shall include...a reasonably comprehensive description of any new requirement of charter schools enacted into law after the charter was originally granted or last renewed... The petition contains references to outdated laws, policies, and practices, contains significant contradictions and omissions regarding key positions of employment, and provides elements that are not reasonably comprehensive. These deficiencies, reported under Finding 5, indicate the governing board lacks the knowledge of the laws under which the charter would operate.

3. The petitioner has a history of involvement in education agencies (public or private) considered as unsuccessful.
 - A. The Executive Director is listed as the petitioner. Properties she owns and leased to WAYS were previously used to house her private school. CDE records compiled from data supplied by the private school operator indicate that enrollment declined from 60 to 20 students in the three years prior to the school closing.
 - B. The WAYS Executive Director closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school. The chronology of public records and statements made by the Executive Director during the Capacity Interview indicate she closed the private school due to insufficient enrollment. The petitioner stated she inquired about the process of becoming a charter school and was informed that the private school would need to be closed for one year prior to becoming a charter. The petitioner purposely closed the charter school as required and applied for a charter after the one year required waiting period.

The status of the Conflict of Interest issues is unclear. With the acceptance of the Prop 39 sites, the conflict regarding facilities may be resolved only if the school stops leasing its current facilities. The conflicts concerning personnel could only be resolved through a material revision to the governance structure of the charter including, but not limited to, the Executive Director's resignation or release from her current position and with the provision that she hold no future positions funded by the school. Regardless of the potential resolution to the certain Conflict of Interest issues, the Review Team considers the governing board to be ineffective in governing the school and demonstrably unlikely to successfully implement the proposed charter.

Finding 4: The petition contains an affirmation of all specified assurances. [EC § 47605(b)(4); EC § 47605(d)]

Finding 5: The petition does not contain a reasonably comprehensive description of all required elements. [EC § 47605(b)(5)(A)-(P)]

Based on criteria provided by the California Code of Regulations, Title 5, (5 CCR) eleven (11) of the 16 elements are not reasonably comprehensive.

Element 1: Description of the Educational Program. Not reasonably comprehensive

The 5 CCR § 11967.5.1(f)(1) requires the petition to address eight (8) requirements. The petition fails to meet each of the established criteria rendering aspects of the educational program deficient for specific populations the school proposes to serve: English Learners, low-achieving students, high-achieving students, and students with disabilities. The deficiencies are as follows:

1. Failure to indicate the proposed charter school's target student population, including, at a minimum, grade levels, approximate numbers of pupils, and specific educational interests, backgrounds, or challenges.
 - A. The petition overestimates the number of students to be served in the first year of the renewal charter and provides no build-out plan to support this assumption.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- ii. Provide the manner in intervention will be given to students who struggle to acquire English language skills outside of the "45 minutes during the school day for focused English language development. This instruction will emphasize vocabulary development, phonemic awareness, and oral and writing English." (page 48)
 - iii. Describe how the Individualized Education Program (IEP) Team determines placement of English learners in need of special education services, state that non-biased assessments used to determine placement must be conducted in the student's primary language under Federal law, and that the IEP must be linguistically appropriate.
 - iv. Demonstrate understanding of the difference between meeting the needs of English learners and meeting the needs of students with disabilities. The petition (page 22) indicates that to ensure the success of English learners, the school will use a collaborative approach that fosters communication between its Resource Specialist and Speech Therapist. These specialists only provide direct services to students identified as having disabilities.
- B. The element is deficient with regard to students with disabilities because it fails to specify the charter school's special education plan, including the process to be used to identify students who qualify for special education programs and services, how the school will provide or access special education programs and services, the school's understanding of its responsibilities under law for special education pupils, and how the school intends to meet those responsibilities.
- i. It does not describe accommodations and/or modifications that may be used during standardized assessments or how WAYS is responsible for students with disabilities when the IEP Team exempts them from standardized testing.
 - ii. There is no mention of how parents of students with disabilities are informed about the school's educational program.
 - iii. There are deficiencies with regard to English learners and special education services as stated in "A," above.

Element 2: Measurable Pupil Outcomes. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(2) as follows:

- I. It fails to specify skills, knowledge, and attitudes that reflect the school's educational objectives and can be assessed by objective means that are frequent and sufficiently detailed enough to determine whether pupils are making satisfactory progress.
- A. There are no identified measurable outcomes for students in Kindergarten and first grade who do not participate in Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR).
- B. There is no ongoing means for measuring English learners' acquisition of English or academic growth in content areas. The petition states the (California English Language Development Test (CELDT) will be administered "periodically" to monitor student progress of English language acquisition; however, it can only be administered annually which is insufficient to evaluate the effectiveness of and to modify instruction. The petition indicates Open Court Reading assessments will be used as formative assessments for English learners; however, they are not designed to measure progress towards English language proficiency but rather language arts skills and concepts. It fails to provide assessments to determine academic growth in other content areas.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- C. Goals cannot be measured as stated. The petition states the percentage of students achieving proficient and advanced in History/Social Science will increase on the CST by 5% each year; there is no History/Social Science CST for grades K-5.
- D. It lacks information on how students with disabilities will be assessed on making progress toward meeting their goals and benchmarks.

Element 3: Method for Measuring Pupil Progress. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(3) as follows:

- 1. It does not utilize a variety of assessment tools that are appropriate to the skills, knowledge, or attitudes being assessed, including, at minimum, tools that employ objective means of assessment consistent with the measurable pupil outcomes.
 - A. Information is limited on how stated internal assessments (text based, benchmark performance, unit level, etc.) are used as objective means to assess student progress consistent with measurable outcomes (page 98). Language is vague and fails to indicate how assessments are used in English-Language Arts, math, science, social studies, and English Language Development.
 - B. There is no information regarding assessment of K-1 students who do not participate in STAR. This is of particular concern since about half the school's enrollment is in grades K-1.
 - C. Out of date assessments are proposed in violation of EC § 47606(a)(2). The petition states the school will administer the CAT 6, which is obsolete, and proposes performance objectives based on data from this assessment.
- 2. It does not outline a plan for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data on achievement of English learners to school staff and to pupils' parents and guardians, and for utilizing the data continuously to monitor and improve the charter school's educational program. There is no mention of English learner's testing performance or academic monitoring of English language levels beyond use of the CELDT. Nor is there mention of providing accommodations and/or modifications for standardized tests for students with disabilities; tests used to determine eligibility for special education programs and services; the manner and type of data maintained for students with disabilities; or how information will be disseminated to parents of students with disabilities.

Element 4: Governance Structure. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(4) as follows:

- 1. There is lack of evidence of the charter school's incorporation as a non-profit public benefit corporation for the purpose of running a charter school. While the articles of incorporation and bylaws provide evidence of the charter school's non-profit public benefit corporation status, governing a charter school is not listed as the specific purpose of this corporation. The petitioners have failed to amend these documents to reflect the running of a public charter school. As stated above in Finding 3, 3.B, the WAYS Executive Director purposely closed her private school with the intent to use the facilities she owned to house a charter school.
- 2. There is a lack of evidence that the organizational and technical designs of the governance structure reflect a seriousness of purpose necessary to ensure that:
 - A. The charter school will become and remain a viable enterprise. The governance structure fails to provide adequate oversight of the school's operation and fiscal management. Failure of the articles of incorporation and bylaws to state the purpose of the corporation is to provide for the operation of a publicly funded charter school is further evidence that the structure lacks a seriousness of purpose. The bylaws states the board has only one regularly scheduled meeting, which is insufficient to provide for effective governing of a public charter school. The governing board's lack of effective oversight has jeopardized the school's charter status and there is no evidence that the board can implement the proposed educational program stated in the petition.

- B. The petition does not provide a clear description of the governance and management structure. It is difficult to know the duties and responsibilities of management. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) conflicts with information provided elsewhere in the petition.
- C. The petition makes no commitment to complying with the Political Reform Act (PRA), which is required of all charter schools. The petition fails to include a Conflict of Interest policy which is required under the PRA.
- D. The body of the petition states that meetings will comply with the Brown Act (page 109). However, certain provisions of the bylaws appear to be in direct conflict with the Brown Act.
 - i. Section 4.6, Place of Meetings allows for meetings outside California. The Brown Act requires that the Board's meetings be held within the boundaries of the territory within which it has jurisdiction.
 - ii. Section 4.7, Regular Meetings authorizes meetings "without call or notice" in violation of the Brown Act. The Brown Act requires that at least 72 hours before a regular meeting an agenda containing a brief general description of each item of business to be transacted or discussed at the meeting shall be posted.
 - iii. Section 4.11, Telephone Meetings, authorizes teleconferencing and video teleconferencing to constitute presence but fails to state the necessary safeguards that would render it compliant with the Brown Act such as posting agendas at the teleconferencing location and ensuring those locations are fully accessible to members of the public.
 - iv. Section 4.14, Action without Meeting, permits the Board to take an action without a meeting if all the members of the Board consent in writing to such action. This violates the Brown Act requirement that the board not take action on any item of business outside a meeting.
 - v. Section 4.7, the Board of the Merle Williamson Foundation is required to meet only once per year, on the last Friday in June; the Brown Act requires regularly scheduled meetings.
 - vi. The Agenda for the Special Board Meeting held Saturday, April 30, 2011, documents specific violations of the Brown Act with respect to items discussed in Closed Session.

Element 5: Employee Qualifications. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(5) as follows:

- 1. There is insufficient information on the general qualifications for the various categories of employees (e.g., administrative, instructional, instructional support, non-instructional support) and whether the qualifications are sufficient to ensure the health, and safety of the school's faculty, staff, and pupils.
- 2. It fails to identify those positions that the charter school regards as key in each category and specify the additional qualifications expected of individuals assigned to those positions.

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

- A. The petition fails to provide job descriptions and/or minimum qualifications for the following positions listed in the petition: Special Education Program Coordinator (page 96), Academic Co-Principals (page 112), Coordinator of Operations (page 128), and Academic Consultants and Director of Operations (Appendix B). Qualifications for Executive Director are absent.
 - B. The Organization Chart (Appendix B) is deficient. It fails to include an Executive Director, although there is a job description (page 120) outlining critical duties such as "oversee the school-operating budget...instructional program...classroom management...supervise staff...be an active member of the school board." Based on the job description, it is unclear if the Executive Director is a member of the board. Appendix B lists board members by name; the Executive Director's name is absent. The Organizational Chart includes a "Director of Operations," with no job description or qualifications provided for that position. It is unclear if it is the same as "Coordinator of Operations." The Organizational Chart identifies "Auxiliary Staff," but lacks specific corresponding positions.
3. Specify that all requirements for employment set forth in applicable provisions of law will be met, including, but not limited to credentials as necessary. Teacher qualifications (page 122) state the CA SB 2042 teaching credential is required; this will exclude teachers who hold Ryan multiple subject credentials and life elementary credentials with added English language certification.

Element 6: Health and Safety Procedures. Reasonably comprehensive

Element 7: Means to Achieve a Reflective Racial and Ethnic Balance. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(7) based on evidence that:

1. During the term of its first charter, WAYS failed to achieve a racial and ethnic balance among its pupils that is reflective of the general population residing within the territorial jurisdiction of the school district in which it is located as indicated on in the chart on page two (2) of this report. Enrollment of Hispanic/Latino students is not comparable to the two (2) closest LAUSD non-charter elementary schools.
2. The description of the student population (required under Element 1) and the proposed recruitment plan show no indication WAYS is aware that it failed to achieve the required ethnic balance and provides no corrective action in its plan. The recruitment plan is vague and lacks benchmarks that could guide the school toward correcting the deficiency.

Element 8: Admission Requirements. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(8) as follows:

1. It does not comply with the requirements of EC § 47605(d) which, by reference, includes EC § 220 and CA Penal Code § 422.55 as the other applicable provision[s] of law in its statement of non-discrimination of protected classes. The petition additionally violates EC § 47607(a)(2) because the deficiency is the result of failing to update the renewal petition. This failure could result in the school engaging in discriminatory practices in its admissions procedures and policies.
2. The process for conducting the lottery is absent from the petition.
3. The preference given to siblings is likely to negatively impact the school from attaining its stated racial and ethnic goal.

Element 9: Annual Independent Financial Audits. Not reasonably comprehensive

Report on the Wisdom Academy for Young Scientists Charter

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(9) as follows:

1. It does specify the timeline in which audit exceptions will typically be addressed or specify the timelines for statutory reporting requirements including the submission of the preliminary budget.
2. It does not specify that the school's Board of Directors will hire an independent auditor or that the auditor selected will be on the State Controller's list of educational auditors.

Element 10: Suspension and Expulsion Procedures. Not reasonably comprehensive

The petition fails to meet the requirements of CCR, Title 5, § 11967.5.1(f)(10) as follows:

1. There is no differentiation between offenses for which students in the charter school must and may be suspended and separately, the offenses for which students in the charter school must or may be expelled, providing evidence that the petitioner reviewed the offenses for which students must or may be suspended or expelled in non-charter public schools.
2. There is insufficient specificity regarding the procedures by which pupils can be suspended or expelled. It fails to provide timelines necessary to comply with due process requirements. It refers to due process but never defines it with regard to the suspension and expulsion process. No information is provided regarding how members of the expulsion hearing panel will be selected to avoid Conflict of Interest. The petition lists three (3) standards where "a student's suspension may lead to expulsion..." but lacks criteria for meeting the standards, which could result in capricious and prejudicial practices.
